Will the Miller Brothers, Big Ed and Big Bill, finally get what's coming to them in Friday night's wrestling card at Belleville Memorial Arena?

There is a very strong possibility that this will be the case for their opponents will be none other than one of the world's greatest teams, Al Costello and Ray Heffernan.

Yes, the "Fabulous Kangaroos" as they have been tagged, because they come from Australia and employ the Kangaroos' fighting tactics, will tangle with the hated Millers in the main event here Friday night.

Costello, who was champion of his homeland for eight years, and Heffernan, who was title holder for seven, are different from all other wrestlers. This aussie team has had a reputation being heralded by wrestling authorities as one of the greatest teams ever developed anywhere in the world. It's not only in name they are different from all the rest. They look different, talk different and wrestle different.

The boys will arrive dressed in something like cowboy clothes, leap over the top rope and go to work on Ed and Bill with some of their favorite holds, namely the Kangaroo Kick, rabbit punches, a special neck twist with the feet and the Kangaroo Leap. Yes, they also have a Kangaroo Dive.

There's plenty more but the main point is that the Millers may at last meet defeat in a Belleville ring.

Also featured meets Lee Henning while Timmy Geohagen tackles Tiger Tasker in the other bouts.

Kingston Edges Shoemen 2-1; Game Protested

FRANKFORD — (Special) — Kingston tallied a single run in the top of the eighth inning here last night to edge the Frankford-Bata Shoemen 2-1 in the first game of their OASA Senior "B" series. The second game will be played in Kingston later this week.

The losers announced they were playing the game under protest because of Kingston pitcher A. Carkner, whom they claim was ineligible. The Shoemen said they had learned that Carkner did not participate with the Kingston club during regular play this summer.

Frankford opened the game's scoring with their single marker in the first frame and held the lead until the fourth. Kingston tied the game in the sixth and followed with the deciding tally in the eighth.

Pitchers Carkner and Bobby Hunter for the Shoemen came up with a three pitcher duel, each allowing but four base hits. The winner nipped five on third strikes and walked two while Hunter whiffed 11, passed a pair and walked three in a 3-2-1 tiff from a national panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Patterson, who stopped Hurricane Jackson in a title defence, collected 34 first place votes and the initial frame, followed by Bill Rankin's base hit for the run.

A walk and singles by Jack White and F. Holland knotted the score while an error, passed ball, wild pitch and Don Gilmour's double netted the eighth inning markers.

Don Gilmour's double was the only extra-base hit of the contest with Jack White, F. Holland and N. Sears picking up the other Frankford safeties.

Cannifton Nips Latta 4-3 for Second Victory

Cannifton Clippers climbed back into the fight for the South Hastings baseball league championship last night by shading Latta 4-3 in the fifth game of their four-of-seven series.

Latta leads the set three games to two with the sixth scheduled for Cannifton on Wednesday night at 6.30 p.m.

Cannifton did it the hard way last night, scoring two runs in the top of the eighth and final inning to stun a 3-2 Latta lead. Latta netted all their runs in the third frame while Cannifton piled six-tallions in the second and fourth.

Gord Oliver toed the rubber for the Clippers, stopping Latta on seven hits over the distance. He struck out a pair and walked but one. Hugh Bell pitched for Latta, taking the loss.

Stan Reid toiled for the losers and was tagged for 11 safeties. He fanned three while walking but two. O. Glass was his receiver.

Latta was charged with five errors in the field, one while Cannifton bobbled but twice.

Forsythe clubbed three singles and a double to spark the winner's attack. Harvey Stollar and Oliver contributed two singles each with the others going to Sheffield, Cole and Forsythe.

Frank Ray had a double and triple and O. Glass a double to base hits for Latta. Stan Reid doubled with Steward and Wayne Glass also connecting for one-baggers.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

An overcall in opponent suit means a bid in a suit that has just been bid by an opponent. It is a bid that guarantees to partner they have at least a game of some kind in their pair.

In less than super-expert company, it should also guarantee no losers in the opponent suit. However, masters often shade the "no-loser" requirement when no better game-force signal is available.

Here is world championship deal number 119:

NORTH
♥ 4 3 2
♦ A 9 8 5
♣ 10 4 2
WEST	EAST
♠ A K Q J 9 3	♠ 7 5 2
♥ A Q 9	♥ 6 5
♦ K Q 3	♦ J 10 7 6
♣ J	♣ Q 9 7 3
♠ 6
♥ K J 10 8 7
♦ 4 2
♣ A K 8 6 5

Room one bidding went like this:

North	West	North	East
1 H	2 H	Pass	2 S
3 C	3 S	Pass	4 S

Room two bidding went like this:

South	West	North	East
1 H	2 H	Pass	3 D
Pass	4 S	All Pass

By giving opponents a trick in each minor suit, 11 tricks were taken in each room. Even if they had taken only 10 trick tricks the force signal would have been justified.

Notice that each team used the overcall in opponent suit to make sure they did not stop short of game. But one of the teams did not make the correct reply thereto.

The next player in room one replied with the lowest bid possible. It was a far cry of making a bust response. The players must have had an agreement on such a signal. But it is not the best way.

Correct reply to an overcall in opponent suit is any unbid suit with at least four cards. Why? If signaller is more than one suit it will help him make a choice on the final trump.

Hopeless tips in serial are a waste of good material.

Little Benny's Notebook

Me and Glasses Magee had a date to go to the Saturday Kan toon Kid Show with Flora and Dora the bewity looking twins, and I accidently spent prilty near all my allowance and didn't even have enough left to pay my own way in, much less me and one twin, and Saturday morning I got said to me Ray ma, all but 6 cents of my allowance is gone. I'm not limitated, ma said.

Meening, it's a law I have to make my allowance last, and I understood. Heck, maybe Glasses has enough to lend me the rest. And I ran over to Mrs Magee to ask him, and Glasses said, G, I was just coming to ask you if you could lend me some. I've only got 7 cents left. Oh boy, they'll be mad at us, what we do!

Let's pretend we had a fierce fight and decided to associate with each other, I said. Sounding like a better idea than none, and Flora and Dora were outside at their house, and we went down, and I said, I'm not this guy, and if you go to the movies with him, I wont go.

Oh yeah? Glasses quick said. Well I'm even madder at that guy than he is and I wont go anywheres he goes.

Well I've got a suggestion, Flora said. You can each take one of us and we dont even have to sit together, she said, and I wouldn't even breathe in the same place with him.

Neither would I, Glasses said, and we both walked away in opposite directions before they had time to think of another suggestion, and we met back in the alley and shook hands to congradulate each other, but we only felt pretty sorry for the account of being pritty sure Flora and Dora were mad at us for real.

Which they are.

WIN LACROSSE SEMI-FINAL

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Peterborough Monday night won their Ontario junior lacrosse semi-final registering a third straight win over Huntsville, 24-5.

Peterborough now leads the series of the Brampton - Long Branch semi-final series. Brampton holds a 2-0 lead.

Williams, Mantle Continue Tight Batting Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle enter another phase of their exciting American League batting race tonight and they likely will continue their drive toward the coveted .400 mark.

The optimism is based on the fact that Williams will be facing Cleveland's pitchers, off whom he's collected 25 hits in 47 times at bat for a .532 average. Mantle will be going against Kansas City moundsmen and he's behavered them for a .460 mark on 23 safeties in 50 tries.

Don Mossi is scheduled to face Williams and the Boston Red Sox while Ralph Terry is the As Schedule against Mantle and the New York Yankees.

NO LET UP

Neither Williams, who will reach his 39th birthday on Aug. 30 nor Mantle, a sprightly 25, shows any signs of letting up. In last week's games, Williams boosted his average to .352 with seven hits in 14 trips. This represented a five point pickup. Mantle lifted his mark six points to .35 with a 12-for-25 performance.

One of Mantle's blows was a home run enabling him to maintain his edge in this department with 32. Williams and Sievers are tied for the runnerup position with 31 home runs each.

A grand slam home run by Sievers, Washington's big gun, against Boston on Sunday put the Senatorial slugger into a tie with Mantle for the runs batted in lead. Each has 88.

LEADING NATIONAL

In the National League, Stan Musial of St. Louis Cards took the batting lead from Milwaukee's Hank Aaron. Musial gained a nine point to .333 while Aaron, who managed only six hits in 23 at bats, dropped into a third-place deadlock at .327 with Willie Mays of New York Giants and Frank Robinson of Cincinnati.

Despite his slump, Aaron got two taters runs and one in eight runs to hold the top spot in these categories. He has 34 home runs, one more than Brooklyn's Duke Snider, and 95 RBIs.

AT THE BELLE — Pat Boone, America's newest singing boy friend, in his first movie, and he's a sensation, and the lovely Janet Gaynor, returning to the screen after a 19 year absence, are co-starred with Terry Moore, Dean Jagger, and a big cast of teenagers in "Bernardine", held over tonight, Wednesday and Thursday, Matinee daily at the Belle Theatre. The De Luxe color comedy is in CinemaScope.

Remarque Writes Screen Play A Time to Love, a Time to Die

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I no longer have a lifetime to look forward to and take care of. At the most, it is 20 or 25 years. So now I can afford to take chances."

This, Erich Maria Remarque reasons, is why he agreed to write the screen play for his book, A Time to Love and a Time to Die—and act in it, too. At latest report, the film is being called There's a Time to Love—don't ask why.

I came across the famed novelist, handsome at 59, as he had finished the last pages of the screenplay and was cleaning out his desk. Among the things he found was a pair of falsies left by a previous occupant of the sumptuous office. Remarque pondered on their significance and then attended to a scotch and soda from a nearby bar.

ENVIOUS CHARM

It is easy to see how his charm has fascinated such famous women as Marlene Dietrich, Greta Garbo and Paulette Goddard.

About his screen writing—"this is another departure for me. I didn't know what to do last year when I went to Berlin to open my first play, The Last Station.

"Before we opened, the cast came to me and asked me what they should do if the audience started throwing stones. We just didn't know what they would do. Here was a story of the last days of Berlin before the fall of the Nazis. There were scenes of the rape of women and we knew that there would be women in the audience who had been through such things. How would they react?

"The play had 35 curtain calls. It was a great hit and encouraged me to attempt this screen play. After all, it wasn't too far different, since I have always written my novels in scenes and dialogue."

Why hasn't he adapted his novels before? Six of the eight have been bought for the screen.

WRITTEN IN LONG HAND

"Because I reach the point in writing of a novel when I could become violently ill if I had to look at it again," he sighed. "Although I have lived in this country over 20 years, I still write in German and have someone else translate. I couldn't stand to look at it myself, myself."

It's the first time in 30 years that he has worked in an office. The last was when he edited a sports car magazine in Germany before he took time out from his work to write a novel, All Quiet on the Western Front. Writing' times? Five weeks.

Some of the best publishing minds looked it down before it was finally printed and became a tremendous success. He has had the supreme satisfaction of an author in seeing what happened to some of his books.

Remarque writes the hard way by pencil on paper. "I never learned to type," he explained. "When I was in the First Great War, my fatherly old friend and everyone's earnings and labor was cheap. Now, of course, I never have a job in which I had to do my own typing."

Dodgers Score Run in Eleventh, Beat All-Stars

MONTREAL (CP) — Brooklyn Dodgers Monday night scored a tie-breaking run in the top of the 11th inning and held on to defeat the Baseball Writers' All-Star Stars 2-1 before 15,999 fans.

The All-Stars had scored in the third inning, but saw the National League champion Dodgers come up with the tie in the top of the eighth.

Lefthander Sandy Koufax, last of three Brooklyn pitchers, got credit for the victory. He pitched the last four innings, gave up two hits, struck out four, and walked one.

Carl Erskine started for Brooklyn but was relieved by Don Bessent after giving up the All-Star's only run on two hits. Erskine's five Bessent pitched two hitless innings and struck out one.

The loser was Lynn Lovenguth of Rochester Red Wings' little right-hander, who was tagged for only one hit—Cimoli's double—in three innings of relief. He struck out five Dodgers and passed one.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, Aug. 21, 1937

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — For the most part, this day's influences are stimulating, friendly to home and family affairs, operating to activities that require stamina and endurance. Don't neglect your energies.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — The unusual, new and progressive especially encouraged. Avoid selfishness: You can gain more by working for the common good.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — The influences are not particularly helpful in money matters or private affairs. You may have to forego some personal desires until a more propitious date, but the day will yield a goodly harvest if soundly managed.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — "Your" day if your program is well arranged and you follow through conscientiously, intelligently — as you can. There may be some complications, but keep calm, cool; all will be well.

July 24 to Aug. 23 (Leo) — Stimulating aspects. This is no time for complacency or lethargy. Get busy! Put influences for difficult tasks, unusual and practical matters, big projects, and handling the unexpected. Much can be achieved now.

Aug. 24 to Sept. 23 (Virgo) — Situations may prove more complicated than anticipated, so be more patient; work them out carefully. Often we have greater satisfaction when we have had a tussle to get things done.

Sept. 24 to Oct. 23 (Libra) — Study, investigate, promote sound matters now. Interests connected with surgery, medicine, dentistry; carpenters, engineers, barbers, trades generally; police, the military all under good aspects.

Oct. 24 to Nov. 22 (Scorpio) — Your outlook for today is heartening. Grand influences for achievement, for handling mere routine or just plain resting and having vacation fun. Necessary work should proceed smoothly.

Nov. 23 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius) — "Your" Jupiter's position warns against extremes, extravagance, carelessness. Be mindful of your obligations; keep promises; and, in free time, enjoy a hobby, sport, and healthy diversion.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 20 (Capricorn) — Mixed influences. Know your own capacity and don't attempt the unreasonable. Do your best to fulfil obligations, however.

Jan. 21 to Feb. 19 (Aquarius) — Happy indications from your Uranus, coupled with friendly rays from the Moon and Mars. Don't idle away precious hours, but don't overdo, either. Intersperse chores with some rest, relaxation. Day can be gainful.

Feb. 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Don't promise what you cannot reasonably carry out, and be careful in making decisions. Even though influences are not overly generous, you can have a satisfactory day.

You born today are inclined to idealism; are emotional and imaginative (helpful traits if well used.) You are personable; are endowed with both dignity and humor. You have the capacity for acquiring much knowledge and using it aptly. Don't become impatient with those whose minds are less active than your own. Control a tendency to live too luxuriously or to become indolent. Birthdate: Jean Baptiste Greuze, Fr. painter.

THREE BROTHERS DROWN

PHIPPSBURG, Me. (AP) — A gay family beach outing turned into tragedy Sunday when three brothers, the oldest 11, drowned just as they were about to return home. The bodies of John, 11, Wewin, 10 and Edwin, 9, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thiboeau, were recovered from the waters at the mouth of Morse River. A fourth brother, Arlington, 13, who was wading with the three youngsters, reached shore safely. He was treated for shock.

FISHERMEN MISSING

MANILA (AP) — Strong gales capsized four fishing boats off the western coast of Luzon Sunday. Eight fishermen are reported missing and feared drowned, the Philippine constabulary reported.

ON DEFENSIVE BY TAKING OFFENSIVE

Fred Meade, left, defence attorney Arthur J. Crowdley and Marjorie Meade are shown as they talk over their next move during proceedings in the trial in Los Angeles, Calif., of confidential magazine. The Meades are officers of Hollywood Research Inc., one of the listening posts that fed material to Confidential and Whisper magazines. The trial, so far, has included several well-known actors and actresses.

One of the actresses mentioned in the trial, Maureen O'Hara has declared she has a stamped passport and 10 witnesses to prove she was in Europe at the time it is claimed she engaged in a torrid, off-camera 'cuddling scene' with a Latin lover in the back row of Grauman's Chinese theatre in Hollywood.

RUSS PLANE CRASHES IN DENMARK

Workmen are looking at a wing from the Russian airliner that crashed into a power line near Copenhagen, Denmark, killing 23 persons aboard the craft. The plane was scheduled to land at the Kastrup airport after a flight from Riga, Latvia. The tower told the pilot to circle once because of poor visibility. The pilot began to climb and hit a tall chimney of the power plant, ripping off this wing. Remainder of the plane plunged into Copenhagen. Two Britons, who had been attending the youth festival in Moscow, were among the dead.

Little Benny's

Pop and ma went to the movies last night, and this morning at breakfast ma said, My, William, Jules Flandro is such a wonderful actor. I almost dreemed about him last night. Who elts could deliver such gallant speetches to the ladies and still sound so natural? she said.

Millions of other Frenchmen could, pop said, and ma said, Well yes, I suppose. I only wish the same could be said about our own men, she said.

Well, dear, do you really meen you would like to see me talking about romance, pop said. Smothering their hands with kisses and tickeling their ears with soft compliments? pop said, and ma said, Well you could leave their hands alone, but a little innocent flattery is never out of place. Goodness, it'll be the envy of every woman I know if I had a husband like that, she said.

You shall, my dear, pop said. I will start at the Janders party tonight. I'll begin with the bonjours, naturelly. I'll tell her if she looked more ravishing we would have to send for the police, he said, and ma said, Goodness, dont try to fern Mrs. Janders head. She's already the most conceeted woman on land or sea, and the next thing on the program she'll be reproducing the news that you're madly in love with her.

Then I'll just warn her in a confidential whisper not to let my little remark go any further, and said, and ma said, Oh my, that really would start the talk flying! You better leave the French touch to the Frentch and just be yourself. You're bad enough, she said.

Yes my dear, I promise not to kiss a single hand all night, pop said.

Which he probably wouldn't of anyways.

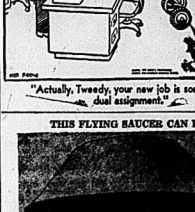
This "Flying Saucer" Is Real



This "flying saucer" is real. It made its first flight at Atlanta, Ga., covering 20 feet at an altitude of one and one-half feet. This historic grass-hopping one-man flight was made by Richard Strawn, brother-in-law of Lockheed test pilot Tony Hapeville, Ga. West's craft looks like an imaginative flying saucer in that it is made up of a doughnut-shaped bag filled with helium with an 8.5-horsepower engine and propeller in the centre. After the historic flight West decided it needed more gas and a larger engine.

New Metal Part To Prolong Life Of Snow Plows

Provincial government experts will examine a new part for snow plows developed by the federal mines department at the request of the Ontario highways department.

Development of the part — a metal shoe on which the snow plow's huge blade rides—is expected to save the Ontario government thousands of dollars annually.

Snow plow shoes are solid chunks of metal which take the wear and tear of the plow's contact with road surfaces. The blade which sweeps the snow aside does not touch the surface of the road.

Snow plowing machines have been in operation for the last ten years because of the short life of shoes.

TESTED LAST WINTER

The mines branch recently developed a shoe made of a specially hardened alloy. Its design was based on tests with a variety of shoes and the branch has just used experimentally last winter on plows working out of the Ontario communities of Carp, Stittsville, North Gower, Vernon and Cumberland.

The shoe developed by the branch has been hollowed out to reduce its weight by some 20 pounds. The alloy composition is easy to cast and comparatively easy to make and use. It is expected to replace cast iron shoes now in use.

Additional tests will be conducted next winter with a view to lightening the new-type shoe and increasing the wearing quality. Officials of the mines branch and the Ontario highways department will work out the program at their meeting.

RAGING MOB

Shouts of "Go to the devil," and "Go home scabs," were heard. Stones were thrown and six union members were injured. One was taken to hospital at Steel-Dane-des-Morts. 80 rifles were here, with facial cuts and a possible broken nose.

The police returned with the main body of visitors.

The provincial police detachment, believed swollen to 125 men and armed with night-sticks, ordered the non-striking company staff back to their quarters and rushed back picketers to the company gate.

The tear gas apparently was tossed as a warning. There was no scuffling with police and each group returned to its original position

WIRES PREMIER

Quiet returned and the labor group planned a mass meeting in front of the company gate. They later decided to gather in the parish hall.

As the group left, Mr. Jodoin sent a lengthy telegram to Premier Duplessis asking him, in his capacity as attorney-general of the province, to order an immediate inquiry into the "assault" on the strikers by what he called "professional goons" hired by the company.

Roger Provost, president of the Quebec Federation of Labor, announced the QFL plans a mass meeting of labor representatives in Montreal as a protest against the Murdochville situation. No date was stated.

Following the clash, the company issued a statement saying the labor leaders "brought this mob to Murdochville today to create a fresh disturbance and bring misery and trouble to Gaspe."

STAYS WITH STRIKERS

The labor delegation was on its way home when it learned of the raid on the union offices.

When the mob converged on the union offices, provincial police immediately set up a guard around the house of Roger Bedard, USWA spokesman who has been directing the strike since it began March 11.

Police said they invited Mr. Bedard to leave town and offered to provide an escort. They said Mr. Bedard answered he would remain in town "as long as there is a striker here."

The union polled 1,000 men off the job more than five months ago, mainly to back demands for certification.

3 Union Leaders Housed In Hotel Under Protection

Believed Men Sought By Non-Striker Group

Pour Prize Into Prizes, Get Surprise

VENTIMIGLIA, Italy (Reuters)—Three drunken goats trotted into a prize-giving ceremony in the village square Tuesday following an annual international art competition.

The goats were included among the prizes — to "wine" several 22-gallon jars of the district's notoriously potent wine.

The traditional public dance was in full swing. Local farmers, Italians and foreign tourists and painters were enjoying the revels when an artist decided the goats were thirsty. He helped them to a jar of the prize wine.

The goats suddenly went wild and rampaged around the square, horns lowered, putting the jumpy throng to flight.

As their drunkenness wore off the goats' usual sedateness returned and celebrations were resumed.

MURDOCHVILLE Que. (CP)—Two provincial police constables remained on duty outside a hotel in this strike-troubled community early today to guard against any attack on three union officials inside.

Police received a report late Tuesday that a group of non-striking employees of Gaspe Copper Mines Limited planned to raid the hotel and carry off three representatives of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC). They ordered all except those with specific business in the town's only hotel to leave and two constables armed with night sticks took up positions at the main door. The two men, part of a 110-man detachment here, said they had been told a gang plans to attack the hotel and carry off the three union men—Roger Bedard and Bruno MacDonald, who came here when the USWA called 1,600 workers out on strike March 11, and Theo Gagne, president of the unions Murdochville local.

CLASHED MONDAY

Police arrived Tuesday night that the group which planned the assault on the hotel had been warned to remain quiet. Company manager W. G. Brissenden appealed to the employees to "abstain from violence and remain within the law."

Trouble erupted twice Monday. The first clash was a rock-throwing incidents involving 200 non-strikers and a 450-man delegation of labor representatives from all parts of the province, The delegation arrived in 20 cars and three buses early Monday and set up a picket line in front of the mine gate.

THROW ROCKS

Non - strikers began tossing rocks from a nearby elevation and six union men were injured. Provincial police lobbed tear gas bombs between the groups and they dispersed without further incident.

After the delegation left Murdochville, a mob of 100 strikers and wives milled, many brandishing knives and clubs whirled through the union offices on the main street. Office furnishings and files were thrown into the street. Gagne and Jodoin was informed early Tuesday of the attack on their offices. He called it "terrorism practised by hired goons."

There was no confirmation of a Quebec City union dispatch Tuesday night that Mr. Jodoin had been assaulted into Korea by disease the Murdochville affair.

Britain's Brenda Fisher, holder of the women's cross-channel record, was reported "swimming well." Judges gave her a 45-minute handicap because she was delayed at the start by her escort boat.

There were 13 swimmers left in the water after 10 hours, as an offshoot breeze whipped white-capped figures heading for Dover's white-cliff shoreline.

TERRIFIED MAN KILLS SELF, WIFE AND ONE CHILD

Turns Home Into Inferno With Naphtha

ST. HYACINTHE, Que. (CP)—A terrified man has turned his home into a naphtha-soaked inferno that destroyed himself, his wife and a child, rather than submit to a mental examination.

Police who arrived Tuesday to take Georges Allard, 37, into custody pending a test of his sanity were held away from the house by his threats of violence to his family.

Prospects of the examination sent him into a "frenzy of fear," they said. They watched in helpless horror as he soaked the house and his clothes in naphtha and then touched them alight. An explosion sent flames leaping through the building.

Allard, his wife Camille, 34, and their son Claude, 12, could not be saved.

Michelle was described in serious condition in hospital. The Allards had four other children. Are Terre, 7, Danile, 4, Guy, 11, and Jean-Luc, 2, sent out earlier for groceries. They were returned to police from returning.

St. Hyacinthe Sergeant George Vanasse and three constables found doors and windows of the house barricaded at 2 p.m. They came to take Allard. They said a man appeared to kill his family if they tried to arrest him.

Constable Alfred Paradis was felled by a bottle thrown from the house when he tried to force the front door.

Fire Chief Lionel Gaucher said Dr. Jean Lacoursiere Allard to come out but Allard, waving a bayonet, replied:

"I'll kill my whole family if you come one step closer."

Then, said they could hear Allard singing inside until shortly after 10 a.m. Allard interrupted, pleading "Georges, don't do that—don't do that!"

Then the explosion came seconds later.

Drunken Customer Eats Spareribs While Watching Man He Struck Die

CHICAGO (AP)—Police said a drunken customer struck a barbecue stand operator with a bone and then ate a dozen of spareribs as his victim lay dying.

Police said the customer commented to patrons who followed him into the store:

"Did you ever see anybody die? Look at him. He's going to die."

The scene was enacted Monday night at the Hickory Pit barbecue on Chicago's southwest side. Leo Fitzpatrick, 23, was the victim. He died Tuesday.

A 250-foot-long balloon carrying a seven-foot manned capsule, rises rapidly into the sky at Crosby, Minn., after its takeoff from the bottom of an open-pit iron mine. Two hours after take-off, Major David Simons reported that he had reached the record-breaking altitude of 100,000 feet and was feeling fine. He later landed safely at Ellendale, N.D., after being aloft for 32 hours.

U.S. Major Back From Flight To Where Stars Don't Shine

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — Maj. David G. Simons, back from a balloon flight to a region where the stars don't twinkle at night and the daytime sky is purple-black, today slept off his vigil with outer space.

Simons, a United States Air Force doctor with a yen for the unknown, brought his huge plastic bag to earth in a flax field on the border between North and South Dakota Tuesday after an unprecedented 32-hour flight. The long ride took Simons, a 36-year-old father of four, to altitudes over 100,000 feet—19 miles—in the sky.

Upon landing Simons cut loose the gondola and the balloon ballooned up again to an altitude of about 1,500 feet. It landed three miles to the east and was overtaken later tore it to pieces.

Radar trackers estimated the balloon carried Simons to a record-breaking 102,000-foot level. If confirmed by later calibration of instruments in the balloon, this would be 6,000 feet higher than Capt. Joseph Kittinger rose in June while testing equipment Simons used.

Next step in the air force's projected conquest of space will be a four- or five-man balloon trip to similar altitudes in a large gondola.

Col. John P. Stapp, Simons' superior officer, said he will present the idea to the air force soon since the flight had proved "it is safe for man to fly to outer space."

Information gained, he said will speak forward future "manned missile" flights into the unknown regions.

Suspended in a tiny aluminum capsule beneath the block-long balloon as it was launched from an open-pit iron mine at Crosby, Minn., Monday morning, Simons climbed upward.

On his return he said he had seen some awesome sights, including a view of lightning flashing through thunderheads thousands of feet below him.

The most "splendid sight I ever saw in my life" was the sunrise breaking over the horizon in a fantastic array of color. The sun rose at 4:45 a.m. (CDT) where he flew, but didn't cast a ray on the earth below him until 6:30 a.m.

Canada's Mohawks Asked To Join Chieftain in States

CAUGHNAWAGA, Que. (CP)—The Canadian Indian chieftain sounding a blood call for Canada's Mohawks to follow him to the United States was quiet today.

He says more than 2,000 Indians from reservations in Quebec at Caughnawaga, Oka, and St. Regis, their way of life changed by the St. Lawrence seaway, may answer his call.

They would settle in New York State on the Scoharie Creek near its junction with the Mohawk River, where some of their forefathers echoed in the wilderness two centuries ago.

Chief Standing Arrow, known to the white man as Francis Johnston, 54, U.S. Navy veteran said today 400 Mohawk Indians now live on the banks of the Scoharie. He is leader of the Mohawks' Turtle clan. By next summer, he said, 4,000 will join them. He wants their Canadian tribesmen to follow.

"Quite a few" of the Mohawk Indians now living in the Scoharie Creek valley formerly lived in Canada, Chief Standing Arrow said. They reason they have settled there is because of political pressure from the Canadian government.

He said a decision by the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority to send the waterway through the Caughnawaga reservation is "unfair."

The Mohawk Indians will benefit by moving to New York state, he said, because "it is their original home and by treaty they have every right to live there."

Chief Standing Arrow visited Caughnawaga Tuesday to confer with the six longhouse chiefs on the reservation...and invite them to attend a grand council meeting of the Indian Confederacy of Six Nations Sunday in Fort Hunter, N.Y. It will be the first meeting of its kind held in the Mohawk valley for 25 years.

Out of it is likely to come a decision by the Indians whether they will join their new Scoharie Creek community. If they decide to stay, the Indians will call for a large-scale emigration from the reservations.

The Indians settling along the Scoharie have turned a deal ear to arguments presented by a farmer and the New York Thruway Authority, both of whom also have land in the same section of the state.

The settlement at present is a modest but neat collection of shacks and cabins in a valley where the Scoharie passes under the thruway.

Chief Standing Arrow said the Mohawks are a nation—and any treaties will have to be made through Washington. The Indians are asking an area eight miles long and seven miles wide, stretching along the Scoharie north of the Mohawk.

The chief backs up his people's claims with photostats of land treaties, one of which was signed Oct. 22, 1784 between the United States government and the assembled chiefs of the Six Nations Confederacy, which includes the Mohawks.

The treaty allowed the white men to roam over the Ohio River valley in exchange for rights to a 60-mile wide strip of land stretching through the heart of New York state from Buffalo to Albany.

GROUND-TO-AIR GUIDED MISSILES GIVEN TO ARMY

Officers Jubilant Over Decision

OTTAWA (CP)—The army has won the first round in its battle for the sky—control of missiles with the RCAF over control of long-range guided missiles.

This is one unannounced result of Tuesday's announcement by Defence Minister Pearkes that the army's anti-aircraft regiment will be reorganized and eventually equipped with ground-to-air missiles.

Army officers, who for some time have been gloomily forecasting the end to the army's anti-aircraft role, were jubilant at Mr. Pearkes' announcement.

The RCAF had also attempted to gain control of ground-to-air missiles, claiming that they are no more than unmanned interceptor planes.

IN FEW YEARS

The army is expected to get ground-to-air missiles in two to three years. When it does, it will play a key role in the air defence of North America. Ground-to-air missiles will supplement jet interceptors for several years but will not supplant them altogether.

This means, one informant said that the handwriting is already on the wall for the RCAF's Bomarc-type anti-aircraft missile. The army envisages simply a projection of artillery.

The main showdown is still two years away, however, as the effective long-range, surface-to-surface missile is not expected to be in operation for some 10 years.

However, Mr. Pearkes' decision was still a hard blow to the air force. The RCAF had already made tentative plans to form ground-to-air missile squadrons.

PREPARED GROUND.

But the army had prepared its ground well. Since 1952, more than 200 army officers and noncommissioned officers have been trained as guided missile experts at United States army schools.

Army officials were careful not have to be fitted with atomic warheads to enable them to blast area against attacking bombers.

Admiral Radford Makes Charge Against Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Admiral Arthur Radford has told U.S. servicemen in Japan that a gaining some Middle East countries with arms and military aid is imperiling the populations with Communist willingness to aid them.

Moreover, the retiring chairman of the U.S. Joint chiefs-of-staff told a closed session of the Senate appropriations committee.

Arguing for restoration of foreign aid funds cut by the House of Representatives, Radford said long negotiations are needed to reach agreements with allies for the furnishing of military equipment.

Repeatedly Told to Leave Town, Honest Snake Has to Settle Down

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—What's an honest self-respecting snake going to do when he's run around running him out of town?

Jo-Jo, a young law-abiding boa constrictor, got the answer Tuesday: He'll settle in a museum and settles down.

The six-foot, six-year-old reptile first got in trouble with the law in nearby Clifton last week. The board of health heard that Abraham Kievit was keeping Jo-Jo at his home. It ordered Kievit to dispose of him.

This was a crushing blow, since Kievit had raised Jo-Jo from infancy, but Kievit turned the problem over to friend Ronald Piper of South Orange.

Piper, a youth who hopes to become curator of his life's work, became attached to Jo-Jo, happily fed him rats and mice and enjoying him around his neck.

But police told the youth that Jo-Jo had to go. Even when Piper pleaded that it would be nine years before Jo-Jo would be snake enough to crush a man, they persisted.

"It'll go to see him every time I get a chance," the youth said.

Syria Army Chief Says U.S. Plotted Assassinations

'Gangsters Made in States' Were to Kill Him, He Says

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's new army chief of staff says "gangsters made in America" plotted to kill him and other Syrian military leaders.

The alleged mass assassination plan, Maj.-Gen. Afif Bizry told Western correspondents Tuesday, was part of a plot Syria claims the United States directed against the Syrian government.

"They were to send gangsters to our houses to kill us," Bizry declared. "They were gangsters made in America."

The military chief levelled the charge shortly after Syria instructed its United Nations delegation to inform the Security Council that the U.S. had conspired to overthrow President Shukri Kuwatly's regime.

Bizry said Howard E. Stone, the U.S. Embassy's second secretary for political affairs, was the intermediary behind the alleged plot. Stone was one of three American diplomats expelled from Syria last week.

TWO OTHERS

Marked for death besides himself, Bizry said, were Brig. Amin Nufoury, new deputy chief of staff, and Col. Abdel Hamid Serraj, the army's intelligence chief.

Asked whether he is a Communist, Bizry replied:

"Is it forbidden for any person to carry thoughts of socialism? I do not sacrifice the interests of my country for others. I am not a Communist, I am a Communist as any man who loves his country, then I am a Communist."

Bizry said Syrian forces in the army men from being a member of political parties.

The recent developments swinging Syria more sharply to the left have brought urgent consultations in Washington, London and the Western capitals, and especially among North Atlantic and Baghdad Pact members. Moslem Iraq and Pact members Iraq and Turkey say these courses are being studied as possible counter-moves.

1. A show of strength," such as the U.S. fleet movement in the Mediterranean when Jordan's throne teetered last April.

2. A move to isolate Middle East countries fearful of communism in a concerted move to boycott Syria.

Wally Lenser Acquires Control Of Lumber Kings

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP) — Wally Lenser of Pembroke Tuesday night acquired control of Pembroke Lumber Kings, a senior Ontario Hockey Association intermediate team.

Lenser signed a contract with the memorial hockey association which owned the club, after putting up $6,000 guaranteeing payment for team ticket holders should the team run into financial difficulties in the first two seasons.

Lenser agreed to having proceeds from advance sales put in a trust fund from which he would be paid $8 per cent of each game's receipts after the game. The commission will take 20 per cent. If it becomes necessary, season ticket holders could obtain refunds from the fund.

Jobless Number Moves Higher Instead of Lower

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians without jobs and seeking work in late July numbered about 67,000 more than a year earlier, the federal government said today.

The jobless total remained almost unchanged between June 22 and July 20, moving from 165,000 to 163,000 in that period, the government said in its monthly survey of employment.

The figures given for job-hunting unemployed were based on the 20-per cent survey of the bureau of statistics.

The total of those registered for work with the national employment service at July 18 was 257,000, up 78,000 from a year earlier but 14,000 fewer than a month earlier.

The bureau estimated that 9,-894,000 workers had jobs at last July 20, an increase of 115,000 from the previous month and an increase of 180,000 from a year earlier.

LABOR FORCE

The labor force at July 20 was estimated at 6,112,000, an increase of 222,000 from a year earlier. The increase between June and July was 116,000.

The June-July increase in the labor force was slightly less this year than last, but the increase in employment was substantially smaller.

"The usual decline in the number of persons without jobs and seeking work, therefore, did not occur during the month," the labor department said in a joint statement summarizing the figures.

Apart from seasonal changes, the joint statement said, employment in the first half of the year was almost stable in all industries except services, forestry and public service, where it was rising, and in agriculture, where it was falling.

"Since last spring, though the number of persons with jobs had increased more than in 1956, the increase had not been enough to absorb the growth in the labor force.

County Council Chambers Given New Decorations

When councillors convened for their annual summer session today they found smoke and dust darkened walls had disappeared, along with the heavy window drapes and blinds, which had been in vogue since before the turn of the century.

In place of the dark walls and ceiling new paint has had a brightening effect and new venetian blinds cover the windows. The ceiling in the council chamber is done in a soft shade with a light shade of green and the woodwork in grey.

The floor has also been repainted and the carpets cleaned. New linoleum covers the foyer, where visitors sit to view council proceedings.

And gone from the scene where they have looked down on councillors for over a century are the large oil painted portraits or former council dignitaries. These are now hung in the committee room adjacent to the council chamber. Group pictures of more recent council members which previously were bunched through the walls, have been distributed more evenly on the walls.

"The new decorations are an improvement over the old-time dingy and oil paintings" commented Warden McLaren.

Warden McLaren Says Farmers Will Enjoy Good Year, Prices

Hastings County Council this morning opened its annual mid-summer session with county warden D. Leslie McLaren welcoming members to the three-day conclave.

Members paid silent tribute to the memory of three former councillors, who have died since the last session in the spring Warden McLaren called for two minutes silence in memory of the late James Moore, for many years reeve of Elzevir township; W. E. Bateman, former deputy reeve of Hungerford, and Herbert Wallbridge, reeve since 1946 of the village of Tweed.

In the warden's address Warden McLaren expressed pleasure with the commercial exhibit adjoining dairy products of Hastings and Prince Edward counties which was seen at Belleville Fair.

"We are proud of our young people and should encourage them in every way possible," he said.

Warden McLaren noted that county agriculturists would enjoy a prosperous year with generally splendid crops and good prices.

The morning council session was filled with routine business being conducted with the exception of reading of correspondence.

JOINTLY SPONSORED

Robert Hamilton, secretary manager of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, also referred to the summer session of the Belleville fair which had been jointly sponsored by the Belleville Chamber.

He said the exhibit was to be permanently arranged at the Kinsmale Centre, where the Chamber offices are located and noted that it would be his pleasure to endeavor to sell Hastings products for the 365 days of the year.

Mr. Hamilton briefly referred to the colorful Belleville and Hastings county tourist folder of which 7,000 copies had been distributed this year. He said the folder had been entered in the Chamber of Commerce tourist folder contest and although' results had not been announced he was certain it compared favorably. Cost of the folder was just under $3,000, of which the county of Hastings had contributed $500, the balance of the cost being covered by the city of Belleville and through sale of advertising in the folder.

CONSIDERABLE INCREASE

To a query by Thurlow Reeve Alf Wickett as to whether there had been an increase in tourists into Canada this year, Mr. Hamilton said early border crossing figures indicated a considerable increase although it was expected the over-all increase for the year over 1954 and 1955 would be from three to five per cent. The year 1956 had been a bad year.

He said it would be difficult to place a finger on the reason for the increase which could have been motivated by a number of things.

Reeves Tracey Adams of Dungannon and J. V. Hoag of Stirling, noted, however, that there had been an increase in tourist business in the northern sections of the county and that tourist operators were happy this year because of the increased business.

But he emphasized, no decision has been made about further H-bomb tests there. Britain has not ruled out new nuclear devices earlier this year.

The spokesman said more than 600 troops and technicians went to Christmas Island recently to continue their work on the base in Britain, and their arrival "apparently has started rumors that we are preparing to carry out another test."

The second automobile, police said, was stolen from Kingsley, Ont., district motor company.

Belleville Men Arrested After Incident

Bail of $500 each has been set for two men apprehended this morning by city police following an alleged attempt to interfere with the driver of a milk truck making wholesale deliveries.

Police Inspector J. C. Hayes said bail had been set at $500 each. Both were still in custody at noon.

The incident leading to the arrest of the two men occurred as a Grillz Dairy truck driven by John Fudge was driving out an alleyway after delivery of milk in the Dundas Street area.

As the truck emerged from the driveway the men are said to have jumped on the side of the truck, one man attempting to grab the ignition key and the other the steering wheel.

Picketers were still picketing in front of Belleville dairies this morning but no other incidents as result of wholesale delivery by the dairies were reported.

Tuesday for the first time since the commencement of the delivery strike nearly five weeks ago, dairies delivered milk to stores and restaurants.

The strike started when deliverymen at Reid's Dairy in Belleville and Grillz Dairy plant at Trenton walked off their jobs in support of demands for higher pay, a shorter work week and other benefits. By agreement the other four dairies then stopped house-to-house delivery of milk.

Deadly Snake Sent to Toronto Has Vanished

TORONTO (CP)—Curator Norman Scollard of Toronto's Riverdale zoo said today a venomous bushmaster snake sent here by Stanley Gaetano of Toronto disappeared between New York City and Buffalo.

In a small metal box, the snake is probably in the possession of some airline manager or express agent, said Dr. Scollard. Bushmasters are known to attack rather than hide when disturbed, said the curator. Somebody is going to get disappointed.

Dr. Scollard said the three-foot snake was captured by a Royal Ontario Museum expedition near Trinidad. It was shipped by air to New York and given to an express company for delivery here.

Dr. Scollard said the airline and the zoo have made urgent queries to New York and Buffalo with no results.

Bushmasters are one of the most poisonous species of snakes in the world. They can reach a length of 12 feet and are exceeded in size only by the king cobra.

Rule Beauchamp Killed Himself

LONDON (AP)—A coroner decided today that Sir Winston Churchill's son-in-law, Anthony Beauchamp, killed himself with sleeping tablets.

After a 19-minute inquest into the death Sunday of the 39-year-old society photographer, the motive was still a mystery. Some friends had hinted that he was despondent over finances.

Sarah, who has been staying recently with her father at his country home, was reported deeply shocked by Beauchamp's death.

Timmins Bear Chases Children Around School

TIMMINS (CP) — A 200-pound bear which wandered into the southwestern residential section of Timmins and was reported to have chased children around the high school yard was felled with one shot by 18-year-old Lowell Wilson Tuesday night.

The bear chased Lowell around the back yard of his home. Police arrived and asked the lad, who own a .303-calibre rifle, to do the shooting. Lowell shot the bear from the top of the garage roof, shooting down from about 75 feet so that the bullet would bury itself in the ground.

Constable Grant Lane fired one bullet from his revolver into the bear's head to make sure it was dead. It was the fourth bear Lowell had shot this summer. The three others were killed at the family cottage at Ice Chest Lake.

MONTREAL (CP) — The mastermind behind a new confidence game appears responsible for turning the vacation plans of at least 180 Canadians into a confused mess.

About 60 persons at Montreal airport Tuesday for a chartered plane to fly them to Europe. A man calling himself Lindstrom is believed to have absconded with the money for the trip.

Earlier this week 71 Canadians or Canadian residents of European birth were stranded at Orly airport in Paris because whoever collected their money had not passed if on to the airline supposed to carry them.

The Travellers' Aid Society here said Tuesday another chartered flight has been cancelled, this one involving about 60 Canadians due to leave for home Sept. 11 from Frankfurt, Germany.

The phoney fare collector appears to be the same in all cases: a Finnish-Canadian about 40 with several aliases, one of them Lindstrom. He is said to have been involved in a court case three months ago involving a Christmas flight to Europe that also masterminded.

The missing persons bureau and the fraud squad of the Montreal police say they have received no complaints and are not working on the case.

Reports that the Canadian Embassy chartered a plane to fly the stranded Canadians home from Paris were described today as "apparently erroneous."

John Rothschild, president of the Canadian Travel Incorporated agency which arranged the Paris flight, said today a return passenger list includes 18 names not on the eastbound list. It would be illegal for a chartered aircraft to bring back persons who did not make the outgoing flight, he said. Rothschild would explain where the new names came from.

Meanwhile Travellers' Aid, trying to help the castaway Canadians home again, says even if passage money is wired to Europe, Trans-Canada Air Lines or Air France flights are doing a capacity business and may not be able to book a seat until September.

Some of the stranded vacationers are only Canadian residents, not citizens, and therefore ineligible for assistance by government aid, Travellers' Aid said.

UNION SEEKS LOWER PRICES

The proposal by Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, that the Big Three of the U.S. automobile industry join forces with the union to fight inflation makes interesting reading. Reuther says that if General Motors, Ford and Chrysler will cut car prices next year, the union will take this action into consideration in its demands for a new contract.

This is not the first action of its kind by a union, over in Britain at least one union chieftain has called for organized labor to seek lower prices, rather than higher wages, in his negotiations with management. Reuther's proposal, though, could establish a trend on this continent which might have sweeping effects on our economy, at present plagued by the distinct possibility that "creeping inflation" may be made an almost permanent part of our system. "Could" establish, we said, not "will" establish, for there are many hurdles which must be surmounted before any such proposal can be put into effect.

For one thing, Reuther's offer seems something short of satisfactorily specific. He promises that the union "will give full consideration to the effect" of any price reductions made by the companies in 1958 cars, without making any binding pledge as to what will result from this "consideration" beyond the observation that the union recognizes "you cannot wring water from a stone." Certainly there is no hint that the union would consent to a reduction of wages - - and it may well be that without a wage reduction lower prices for next year's cars would be a financial impossibility. Offsetting increased productivity per man-hour resulting from the continually increasing efficiency of machines used in the industry is the fact that every year cars are getting longer and heavier and fancier. The most that could be achieved if the union agreed to accept the same wage scale next year as this might be a maintenance of prices at their present levels.

It would probably be too much, though, to expect that any union leader would be willing to see wages be reduced. Indeed, if he did the rank and file would almost certainly revolt, and not without some reason, since such action by a single group of workers would not prevent prices for other products rising, facing those who voluntarily took a wage cut with the problem of meeting higher living costs out of reduced incomes.

The most that we can hope is that, if the Big Three in the U.S. automobile industry can reach some agreement with Reuther, prices for automobiles will be stabilized at this year's level, that the auto workers' example will be copied by other unions and that, in time, inflationary spiral having been thwarted, increased productivity will eventually reverse the trend and bring lower prices in succeeding years.

BOATING ACCIDENTS

This summer hardly a weekend passes without reports of somebody drowning, or being injured, in a boat accident.

Yet there are widespread protests against a proposal to license all operators of motorboats. The general public may ask why. The answer which boating enthusiasts opposed to such a move would give is almost certainly that licensing would be a needless inconvenience, having not any really useful purpose, and that the apparent increase in boating accidents is not as alarming as might be imagined.

For one thing, the number of people who are enjoying their recreation on the water has increased tremendously, as even the most superficial observer will realize, and the mere increase in the number of users makes an increase in the number of accidents inevitable. Then, too, newspapers and their readers have become interested in the situation and there appears to be a decided tendency, on the part of some papers at least, to "play up" these accidents.

Two fishermen have been drowned in this district recently in motorboat accidents. In one accident the motor was started while the boat was still anchored; in the other the lone occupant of the boat is believed to have over-balanced when he started the motor. Either accident could have been the result of inexperience, but without mishap could also have occurred to a fully experienced operator stricken with that momentary absent-mindedness or carelessness to which we are, alas, all prone at times.

A greater hazard is the manner in which many of those who own large motors race their craft, near swimmers or smow boats, at a time when they should be nursing their engines, but merely licensing these men would solve nothing; what is needed is an enforcement of present laws and, since the police cannot be everywhere, the only effective solution is for private persons to make complaints and lay charges.

CHOICE

Beside my chair the waiter stood
And with a smile I heard him say:
"The spinach you will find is good,
We're serving onion soup today.
If you prefer a heavy meal
Perhaps you'd like our breast of veal;
Or for the older folks
Boiled cod and ham,
Already I have served them twice,
The customers they seemed to please,
But which do you drop in to eat
Roast beef appears the favorite meat."
Although the menu card I read,
I like the waiter's helpful aid;
What he suggests I sometimes heed,
But often when my choice is made
I order, and he brings to me
The usual toast and cup of tea.

Last Day of Vacation

New York Times

Along with some reasonably good days, the average year does seem to hold up for inspection some thoroughly bad ones. In deep humility and with the utmost respect to all concerned, income tax day may be set down as one of these. The date of the final examinations at school holds a morbid interest for a large cross section of the world, and so deserves a place near the top. And then, of course, there is almost any Monday, when even a brightly shining sun fails to change the color of all-pervading blueness. But at this time of year there is a particularly nasty day, one which by comparison makes even a gloomy Monday shine forth like a good deed in a dark world. This one is the last day of vacation, and all of its twenty-four hours have the picture of an unrelieved, moonless midnight in the dead of winter. In fact, all of the twenty-four hours are dreadful. The sun may shine on brilliant lakes, fishes may rise, the mosquitoes disappear and the evening cocktour be a cheerful one — nevertheless, that last day of vacation is fearful from start to finish.

Much of the trouble with the last day of vacation is caused by the speed with which it arrives. On this, it is quite unlike the first day of vacation. That one seems to creep along, the hours going at a rate that is almost imperceptible. Then, when the first day of vacation actually arrive, what is that object just behind it? Why, it is that thing which seems to crowd along, and push where it shouldn't trying to get in front. At the head of the line, regardless of fair turn! That is the last day of vacation, and a wretched spoilsport, a selfish entity which more likely than not is the boss of the directors, or at least of the office. Why he works like things to about Utopia is that when that agreeable state comes, there will still be some who like things. There will be a first day, make no mistake, but no last day.

The last day of vacation also is the shortest day of vacation, seemingly it is crammed of about three minutes, and into those minutes there must be packed a great many things. For an example, the children had been promised a picnic on the other side of the lake, and sheer forgetfulness has postponed this several times. The mother of the children also had been promised a trip. this one to an antique shop far enough off. It was not childlessness which indicated postponements of this excursion, but rather an honest attempt to keep Colonial spinning wheels and ancient churns out of the living room. However, postponements have taken place until, on the final day of vacation, the trips can be put off no longer. Here, then, into a day compressed into three minutes there must be placed excursions to two of the farthermost ends of the earth. It is, or does it merely seem so, that the decrepit old car has no farther to go than the other side of the lake, during a picnic on the last day of vacation? Or the Colonial spinning wheels ever cost so dearly?

The last day of vacation has three short minutes. Into these must go two long trips, as well as the packing of the effects of the vacation's familiar companions, the trunk and the gladstone bag, with another to follow that, a final round of golf or set of tennis. There must be one last spin in the boat, one last turn of the bathing suit. Perhaps other things indeed on the final day vacation, and their sadness is further accentuated by the certainty of packing the car. Clothes must be put out for the last day, clothes for the first day of vacation now overflow in all directions, and it is all a mad scramble in the spinning wheel never will fit into the car. There is a temptation on this day, vacation's last, to sit down and spin out a noose, available for hanging oneself. The last day is like that, and the wheel is all too handy.

"He was quite active for his eighty years . . . To my brother I leave my golf clubs, to my sister, my tennis rackets, to my nephew my surboard.....

Lurid Words Were Wives'

BBC London Letter

"The word Billingsgate used to be the hallmark of bad language throughout the world," said Alastair Dunnett broadcasting recently. "This is Britain", a BBC program. Yet when he visited this famous fish market that lies on the banks of the Thames in the heart of the City of London, he found that the conversation there did not have caused a blush in any Sunday school. On asking one of the fishmongers what bad words had come about, he received the unexpected reply that it was due to the fact that there were no longer any fishwives working in Billingsgate. The strangest enough it had been they, rather than the fish, who in the old days had been responsible for the somewhat lurid language. (These fishwives were present at the interview to give their views on this statement).

Mr. White, the Market Superintendent at Billingsgate, said in reply that that had not been a fish market somewhere about the year 1840 as well over a thousand years, and probably in the early days the fish sold had been caught in the estuary of the Thames itself. Today no fish are caught between the way of the river; consignments come by rail and road from every part of England, and a great deal of imported fish is received as well from Denmark, Belgium, Holland and Eire.

The vehicles that bring the fish from the railway termini are parked in a large open space adjoining the market building, and there, too, the retailers leave their vehicles when they walk through the market examining samples of the day's consignments on display and placing their orders. Porters then collect the fish from the vans in the parking place and deliver it to the retailers' vans. About four hundred and fifty tons of fish are handled every day — with slightly less on Saturday's — and distributed over the greater London area. Porters carry the boxes of fish in their heads and Mr. White explained that the genuine porter has they wear each weigh about four pounds and cost about four pounds sterling to make. The leather is riveted and sewn to give a platform on the crown of the head and a rim all round it to catch the ice and the juices that run down from the box. The total weight of a full box, with about 80 lbs. of fish and ice and the sodden box itself, is nearly one hundredweight, so it is hardly surprising that porters carry only one box at a time, although they may carry a pile of empty boxes on their heads. "The porters' lists are handed down from father to son and grandson," Mr. White said. "Indeed the porter's business, and in fact the whole market life, is a family concern."

Skin Divers Wear Motors

St. John Telegraph-Journal

A cigar-shaped self-powered propulsion unit has been produced by an American inventor so that divers, in deep diving, may travel below the surface for as much as an hour.

Mobility on or beneath the surface is provided by an electric-light plastic body for a one or twelve-volt aircraft type rechargeable battery encased in a water-tight plastic body. The device is less than four feet in length and is steered by finger-tip movements.

Just Feeding Lampreys

Sault Ste. Marie Star

Next year it is probable that Lake Superior will have a new best-fed and fattest lampreys in the whole world.

According to a recent report from Washington, the United States fish interests recently took with 2,000,000 young trout, favorite food of lampreys, and like lampreys which inhabit the lake in large quantities.

This performance will be repeated each year, presumably until the people paying for the trout realize that Lake Superior is rather large for this type of experiment, and that all they have accomplished is the formation of a friendly party for the advancement of lampreys.

STRIVING FOR THE ULTIMATE

One of the great religious thinkers and writers of the past fifty years has been Miguel De Unamuno, the Spanish intellectual and mystic.

"Be ye perfect even as your Father in heaven is perfect, we are bidden, and this terrible precept is the foundation for us of the infinite perfection of the Father in whom we believe — must be our supreme rule of conduct. Unless a man aspires to the impossible he will scarcely worth the trouble of achieving. It behooves us to aspire to the impossible, to the absolute and infinite perfection, and to say to the Father, 'Father, I cannot — help Thou my impotence.' And He, Father of us, will achieve it for us."

It is hard for us to get into our more congenial.

Could Set Precedent

Milwaukee Journal

The discussion about the link between cancer and cigarette smoking has stirred Senator Bennett Prep, Utah, to ask for a bill to make a law. He wants every package of cigarets to carry this notice: "Warning: prolonged use of this product may result in cancer, in lung, throat and circulatory ailments and other diseases."

This is the kind of thing that could get out of hand. Why not let the people read all the warnings to be etched with the words: "Warning: Prolonged use of this product may result in cancer, tetanus, locomotion, wife beating, loss of pep and rude and stampedes of pink elephants"?

Or why not tar all packages with: "Warning: Prolonged use of this product may result in cancer, bad breath, failure, blisters, cold feet and pneumonia"?

The possibilities are endless if women haters, vegetarians, America Firsters, dog raisers proponents and others get into the act. Why not have the stamping all our currency with:

"Warning: Prolonged use of this product will send you to the poorhouse."

Birds Hazard For Painter

Windsor Daily Star

If you think you've been told off in the past, try painting the peak of your house dormer over the nest of the common English sparrows who have moved in. And try to ignore the mother sparrow who tells you mean sons born to her how bolshevik they are.

We found ourselves trying to paint around nests and so, with-out disturbing it. The scolding we received from the mother bird (from the safety of a nearby rooftop) couldn't be printed in decent English.

What with the baby birds screaming for their dinner, the mother sparrow whooping it up and all the neighborhood trees alive around the screeching of sympathising feathered friends, we finally came down the ladder in disgust. You can't see that dormer peak from the street, anyway!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Spurious Sinusitis

It is absurd to label ache, pain or other sensation "neuritis" if it is here today and gone tomorrow, no matter what pain-killer or sense-deadening drug or physical therapy the poor souls may be persuaded to take for the "neuritis." Oh, yes, indeed, neuritis happens, but not nearly so commonly as your trick specialist or "sticker" would have you believe.

Sinus trouble, chronic sinusitis, so-called, is genuine inflammation, infection or suppuration in one or more of the air-spaces in the skull, all of which are lined with mucous membrane continuous with the lining of the nasal passages.

In a great many instances of chronic sinus trouble the condition seems to be a manifestation of allergy, or at least allergy is the chief contributing factor.

If you are subject to chronic sinus trouble, the following report should interest you.

"Dear Dr. Brady:

For three years I have been going to doctors for sinus trouble. They give me penicillin shots. In '58 had operation on both mastoids . . . I was going for heat treatments when I saw your recommendation of calcium and D, began taking six a week. Have been to the doctor now for over two months.

Signed ——"

Now of course I don't know medical authority to date has negated the dictum of Sherman that —

"The ordinary mixed diet of Americans and Europeans, at least among dwellers in cities and towns" (where they don't get enough milk and milk products) "is probably more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element."

Oh, you're allergic to milk, eh? Well, I'm sorry to hear that, Right now I'll say it would be as sensible to say you're allergic to people.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

GO THE ROUTE

There are many starters in a race, but fewer finishers. This is a fact that applies to many of us in many another phase of life. For an example, we have our multi-divorcees where people decided not to go the route.

All of us have experienced setbacks, discouragement, and even many a failure, and have been tempted to give up the fight — afraid to go the route. But those who store away courage in the hour of emergency and who have patience, usually turn out all right. They go the route and are glad of it!

Once you have settled upon a plan of life, go the route and make it a notable achievement regardless of the material loss. You always win when you have integrity, loyalty to your friends, and you put your ideals to the very end of your life. The end of this is the earth have been those who have not lived nor the faith. And he who went ahead, and deviated not one step from their precept.

The world admires the one who goes the route, and doesn't give up, though the odds may be greatly against him. To strive is often better than to have won. Go the route and take pride in the fact. Be a proud soldier all the way! You will not lose your faith as is quite enough.

Now full of beauty and high example is that one who stays by his friends throughout life. Goes the route with them, knows their faults and virtues, but knows the high value of loyalty and honor. So deeply akin we are to such friends that we die a little when they leave us in death. But if we have gone the route with them, there is nothing to regret. Go the route. Never turn around and go back!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the department store kitchenwares floor. I was looking for some plastic cups to put in our camping outfit. But the colors had me stunned. They were garish and — well, downright ghastly blues.

"Aren't there," I asked the section manager, who was trying to help me, "any simple, attractive colors?"

"These are the only colors that sell," he said, apologetically. "I sell with you. They are pretty awful. But they are what the public that buys plastic ware has educated."

"But if you have no other colors in stock, why aren't they ordered, "how do you know?"

"We know, all right," assured the manager. "The manufacturers have brought out lines in more artistic shades, however, at the request of people like yourself. Possibly the manufacturers will have bullied them into producing quieter shades. But they don't sell. They clutter the shelves, and finally have to be got rid of in bargain sales. Our customers don't have you in your house?"

"Not very much," I admitted. "A couple of white colored canisters in the frig, and I think a red plastic thing for mixing liquids."

"There you are," said the manager. "People who want these subdued, artistic and tasteful tones in plastics don't buy plastics. They are prejudiced against plastics: not the colors. But those who do buy plastic seemingly buy anything but these few plain loud colors. It's as simple as that."

So I bought some brick red cups for my camp kit. At least they won't get lost in the undershrub as easily as soft pastel colored ones would.

"For one of the china shop in town," said the manager, as I paid for them, "you will find one dozen china shops full of the most attractive dishes, all trimmed with gilt, florid with gorgeous designs, frilled, flounced, gimcrack, showy, crude. That is the public, and by that I mean the people who buy plastics. You might say, why are there ten times more jazz and pop tunes on the radio than Beethoven? The answer is that the public likes jazz and pop tunes. So as soon as everybody wants nice subdued plastics like you do, you can have them."

So I got my new mugs my rock 'n roll mugs.

Change in the West

Russia, Iraq, Sweden and the Philippines voted in favor. Britain, France, Australia, Cuba and Colombia opposed debate. The United States abstained and Nationalist China asked to be recorded as "not participating" in the vote.

Varied Lengths For Hemlines In Fall Clothes

LONDON (Reuters)—To many women, Dame Fashion will appear to bring from ishing Sirenia during the coming fall and winter. Not for years have trends been so divided. And this goes for Paris as well as London.

For once, the almost unanimous since each designer always denies any knowledge of the intentions of any other—uniformity of basic silhouette which usually emerges from the half-yearly collections is missing this time.

Hemlines have many and varied lengths ranging from mid-calf to only a fraction below the knees; waists may or may not be worn and some of the models display an intricate mixture of arcs, circles and curves which appear entirely divorced from everyday life.

STUDIED AND CASUAL

In London, perhaps the main note of cohesion is struck by the air of studied casualness which runs through the new collections. This is achieved by a straight line from widened shoulders to the hemline with unmarked waist and only lightly blouse back and lifted fronts to jackets which fall in an arc from shoulders to the top of the hips, and by draped bodices caught at the natural waistline by a narrow belt.

Casual tops and straight or slightly tapering skirts are common to most of London's Big Twelve, as the members of the Incorporated Society of London Fashion Designers are popularly called.

Wife Preservers

To make a quick orange jam to serve over hot biscuits or pancakes, take two cups of orange pulp and juice, the pulp and juice of one lemon, and one and one-half cups of sugar. Boil the mixture quickly for about 10 minutes or until syrupy and clear. This makes two cups.

Wedding

KETCHESON — KEMP

FRANKFORD — On Saturday, August 17th, 1957, at 3 p.m. a very pretty wedding was solemnized in Frankford United Church when Carol Anne, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kemp, of Frankford, was united in marriage to Griffin McDonald, son of Mrs. L. Ketcheson of Foxboro, R.R. 1, and the late Lawrence Ketcheson. The Rev. C. E. Clarke officiated at the ceremony. The altar of the church was adorned with baskets of gladioli and the guest pews were marked with silver bows.

The traditional wedding music was played by Miss Sue-Anne Wallace, of Frankford, who accompanied the soloist, Miss Faye Smith of Frankford, as she rendered "Because" before the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a waltz-length gown of white lace over taffeta, with white mitts. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a headdress of seeded pearls and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Betty Burkitt of Frankford, and bridesmaids Miss Jean Frost, of R.R. 2, Belleville, and Miss Anne Ketcheson, niece of the bridegroom of Foxboro, were all dressed alike in waltz-length gowns of robin-egg blue crystalette with pale blue chiffon overlay in the skirts. They wore blue feathered headdresses, matching mitts and carried cascades of blue, pink and white 'mums.

The flower girl, Miss Heather Kemp, sister of the bride, was sweet in a pink crystalette dress and carried a bouquet of pink white and pink 'mums.

Mr. George Frost of R.R. 2, Belleville, was the groomsman and Messrs. Gordon Terry of Toronto and Ross Ketcheson, brother of the bridegroom acted as ushers.

For the reception in the church hall the bride's mother received the guests wearing a pale pink crystalette dress with pink jacket and white accessories, with corsage of pink, blue and white 'mums. The bridegroom's mother, assisted, wearing a dress of blue net over taffeta with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses.

For the honeymoon trips to Eastern U.S.A. and other centres the bride chose a blue sheath dress with matching duster and white accessories. She wore a corsage of colored gladioli.

Out-of-town guests were present from Rochester, N.Y.; Guelph, Quebec, Hamilton, Foxboro, Trenton and Elyria, Ohio.

Kinette Club Holds Enjoyable Pot-Luck Supper

The Belleville Kinette Club held its annual pot-luck supper which was held over 250-57 year at the summer home of president, Jean Smith, on Big Island.

There were 30 members present and all enjoyed the delicious dishes prepared by each member, as they sat at tables on the lawn.

After supper, the members moved inside to hold the business meeting, which included the secretary's report, treasurer's report and the birthday box.

Mrs. Smith was asked for assistance in paint for the pool, and in cleaning the curtains. This assistance was voted to be given them.

President-elect, Phyllis Fraser, reported on the district convention by announcing that the club won the attendance trophy with 94 per cent. The trophy was presented to district 6 by Helen Wilbor when she held the position of district convener and it was a thrill for her to be able to award it this year to her own club.

Helen Wilbur also gave a report on the resolutions which were introduced and passed at the convention. It was moved and seconded that each club pay 50 cents per member with a minimum of $5. for the district dues.

At the close of the meeting, the members thanked president Jean for having the supper at her home.

MATCH MAKES

Here is a new trick with the popular "dyed-to-match" sweater. This one is in lemon yellow cashmere, the color matching the yellow flower embroidery on the beige cotton skirt. Green leaves point up the embroidery, too. The skirt has a bone swing-ing back panel. It could be worn smartly with a dressy beige blouse to make a pretty costume. The sweater has a self tie that slips through tabs.

So-Ed Clubs Enjoy Picnic, Baseball Game

Members of the Belleville So-Ed Club and the Peterborough So-Ed Club met at Lake Mazinaw for a challenge baseball game and picnic on Sunday. Kingston So-Ed was unable to attend.

The seven-inning ball game was a real action-packed thriller. Some of the highlights were: Two home runs by Ray Dearborn, one of which brought in three runs; at the bottom of the 7th (and last) inning, with Peterborough winning 10-9 and two on bases, Diane Whitehead (Belleville), drew a line-drive to right field, bringing the score to 11-10. The final score was 14-10 for Belleville.

TEAM PLAYERS

The players on each team were as follows:

Peterborough — Ella Down, p; Gord Lupton, c; Lorne Minsforth, 1st b; Max Clarke, 2nd b; Betty Ailing, 3rd b; Joe Derpaw, ss; Jean Minsforth, rf; Austin Tingley, lf; Dick Batten cf.

The Umpire was Bert Hiles (Belleville).

After the game, several members went for a dip to cool off. (It was real cool!) A number of them tried their luck at water-skiing, with the majority being "successful!" The club would like to thank Danny Lund for the use of his boat and skis.

Following this chilling episode, everyone assembled for refreshments, at the conclusion of which Anne Tingley, of Peterborough So-Ed, thanked Belleville So-Ed for arranging the get-together and remarked on the efficiency of organization and the enthusiasm behind it. Belleville So-Ed, Bert Hiles, president of Belleville So-Ed thanked Peterborough members for coming out and for their active participation.

OFFICERS TO BE PUBLISHED

The new slate of officers for the Belleville So-Ed Outdoor Club was presented and will be published in the near future.

On behalf of the members, Bert Hiles, So-Ed president, commended Burke Swan, the retiring Outdoor Club president, on having progressed the Outdoor Club to its present standing through his hard work and co-operation. Burke has done a fine job.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

An article in a well-known magazine was brought to our attention some time ago. Since it had to do with women's articles and women's pages, a comment in this spot might be in order, if a bit late.

The point of the article was that a great change is taking place in the interests of women as is shown in the type of page presented. No longer is it enough to have a recipe and a pattern and a few household hints. Along with these now appear items that are of interest to women as people and not merely as women. We believe that the content of the article is right—there is a change of interest, or more correctly a broadening of interest.

As more and more women gain confidence in their ability to take more and more responsibility in the larger world, the demand for food for their thoughts and minds is going to increase. With the tremendous advances in communications, the world and its problems and fears are brought into our homes. It is only natural to anyone who can think to become curious and interested and then challenged.

We must now be honest enough to report that the original article continues with this information: that in many papers women's pages are being run by men so as to meet the demand for this new concept.

Here indeed is a challenge. Evidently the supply of women editors does not meet this new demand and stress is emphasis. Let's hope we meet the challenge.

One of the world problems to which everyone will some day have to give thought is overpopulation. And the speakers on people from the densely populated areas to the regions with more space. Canada and Australia are the two Commonwealth countries with the most space for settling, and both countries are growing. Australia's population is now approaching the 10,000,000 mark. The latest figures showed that at the end of March, 1957, the population was 9,591,437, about equally divided between males and females. Migration accounted for roughly one third the increase in the past year, while natural increase was two thirds. It seems likely that continued understanding, tolerance and co-operation will be necessary to effect these shifts in population which must take place.

Speaking of co-operation, may we use a quote from the monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada? "Co-operation is one of our misused words. Ignorant men 'demand' co-operation. They say: 'Your co-operation will be appreciated' when they really mean: 'Do it — or else.' Co-operation must be practised by everyone, by those who are specialists as well as by those who are supervised. It is a voluntary thing, a two-way street, a way of living in which people work together to get something done."

We would like to congratulate the Belleville Theatre Guild and its enterprise in making a special late trip available to Stratford for-a performance of Twelfth Night. For those who are unable to spend as much time as they might like, this is an excellent opportunity to see, according to the appraisal of the best critics, one of the finest Shakespearean productions, and to get a view of the new permanent theatre. This whole Stratford venture should be a source of great pride to all Canadians. This Saturday's bus trip from Belleville to Stratford will give just that many more people a chance, or perhaps an extra chance, of enjoying fine theatre.

We will not apologize for skipping shopping news this week. With the dreary August weather, this perfect holiday weather, has dulled for us the normal feminine interest in trying to compare. All we know is that the beautiful fruits, flowers and produce abound. Take your pick.

Pay Is Better For Accountants Says Member

SASKATOON (CP) — Gertrude Mulcahy of Orillia is one of the few women who have successfully invaded chartered accountancy, a profession overwhelmingly dominated by men.

There are less than 100 women chartered accountants in Canada," she said in an interview Tuesday, "and almost 7,500 men."

She is on the staff of the CICA headquarters in Toronto where she holds the titles of research associate and assistant secretary of the educational program.

WITH MORE SCOPE

"I wanted something where the pay was a little better than average, something with more scope for advancement," she said when asked why she became a CA. That was after she graduated with a commerce and finance degree from the University of Toronto in 1943.

Now she works during the week in Toronto and on the week-ends hustles up to the family home in Orillia where she spends her leisure time playing golf.

What are the opportunities for women in the profession?

"Many chartered accountants are reluctant to take women students," Miss Mulcahy admitted. "But it all depends on the woman. She must be willing to compete with men on equal terms."

Ketcheson Clan Plans Picnic

The Ketcheson family, long resident in the Quinte and surrounding area is planning a family picnic to be held at the Frankford Tourist Park at 12.30 p.m. on Saturday August 31.

The picnic is being chaired by Mr. Samuel Ketcheson of Toronto, and all Ketcheson families and relatives are invited. This is the first event of this nature since 1911 and plans for future activities will be discussed at the picnic.

Basket picnic lunches should be brought. Supervised games will be provided for the children.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

BOTH OF YOU SHOULD GO OUT WITH OTHERS

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My boy friend and I have been steady for over a year. We correspond very much, and we want to get married and have a family when I finish school, but that's three years off.

We realize that during this time he'll be drafted into the army, and he wants me to wait for him while he's gone and he says he'll be doing the same. He's afraid he'll lose my love if I go out with other boys.

But I'm used to dating a lot, and sitting home while all my friends are having fun seems unfair to me.

Should I or should I not wait for him? — Jill

Dear Jill:

Tell your boy friend that the way for you both to make sure whether or not you're going to continue to "want to get married and have a family" after you finish school and he's free to settle down is for both of you to go out with others while he's away.

If you have three years still to go before you finish school, you are very young indeed, and it would be definitely wrong for you to promise not to go out with any boys in his absence. Both of you should have other friends with whom to enjoy the normal activities of youth.

Of course you will promise to write to your boy friend frequently while he's gone, and tell him all the news about what you're doing and whom you're going with, and let him promise to do the same. If you're really meant for each other, you'll both be more sure of it all the time, even though you do have other friends, while if you find yourselves drifting apart, then you weren't ready for serious romance.

YOU CAN HAVE FUN, TOO

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 15 years old and have never had a date in my life.

Every time a boy asks me for a date I refuse him. The reason is that I simply don't know how to act on a date.

I stay home every evening reading love books or watching T.V. while my sisters go out and have fun. They always ask me why I don't go out with them and have fun, too, but I just tell them I'm not interested in boys, then I run to my room and cry as if my heart will break. I can't see them enjoying themselves while I stay home like a little child.

I'm a very cute girl and boys like me a lot, and I'm very interested in boys, so could you please give me some advice. — JM.

Dear J.M.:

You're not the first girl in the world who has had your kind of trouble. Plenty of others have had it, too, and got over it, and so will you. So dry those tears and come to make plans for getting like your sisters are having fun.

First thing to do is, next time one of your sisters asks you why you don't go out and have fun too, be honest and say you're dying to, but you're scared, because you're afraid you won't know how to act. Ask them to help you, and say you know they don't, because they go out so much and always seem to enjoy themselves. If you put it up to them in this way, I'm sure they'll give you some good practical suggestions. They sound as though they're fond of you, and want to see you have fun, too.

Another thing you can do is to go to the library and take out two or three books that tell you how to go about this business of dating.

Here are five books to start on: "Teen Talk," by Marion Glendinning.

"Teens! — How To Meet Your Problems," by John and Doralinda Oursler.

"Bryce Jackson's "Guide To Dating."

"Your Best Foot Forward," by Dorothy C. Stratton and Hirlen B. Schleman.

"Your Dating Days," by Paul H. Landis.

Good luck, and let me know how you make out.

Mother's Helper

DON'T be upset if your child presents himself with hands and face covered with stubby tar. Pat mineral oil on the black smears, and they'll come off easily with a gentle application of soap and water.

BEAUTY TIPS FOR THE OVERWEIGHT WOMAN

Not everyone wants to diet! Some women win fuller figures like it that way, and so do their husbands. If you are one of these . . . we might say, especially if you are one of these . . . it's imperative that you never "let yourself go" — sometimes a tendency with overweights.

Every woman should be known for impeccable grooming rather than for her measurements. A smooth, well-groomed look actually takes off inches from bust to hips, and a lovely complexion draws attention to face instead of figure. A perfectly fitted wardrobe, kept clean and neat, will whittle away pounds and melt centimetres, as let's discuss some no-calorie grooming tricks.

A well-fitted foundation is a "must" if you want to look firm and neat in your clothes, and an all-in-one can help give a lean torso line. You'll need several — one to wear, one to wash, and one to spare. Remember that a sturdy foundation requires laundering care. After pre-treating soil by brushing with thick soap or detergent suds, wash the garment in fresh suds, rinse, roll in a towel, pull to shape, and hang to dry away from heat.

It's bad grooming to wear a sagging hemline because careless-ness calls attention to figure faults. Choose a length that flatters your good points — like small ankles or pretty feet — and follow this hemline rule for everything. Fortunately, 1957 hemlines are slightly longer (as of now), which tends to make the wearer look slimmer. To even a new or old hemline by yourself, use a chalk marker in front of a long mirror. Set the marker, squeeze the bulb, and the chalk will "spray" onto the fabric in a straight line.

Whatever your size, take stock of clean accessories, freshly shampooed and combed hair, and a neat appearance before facing your public. Choose a dress style especially for your type figure. One flattering choice is a navy or black dress with a contrasting, washable white collar — the better to mask it often, my dear — plus washable white gloves.

Here's one no-calorie way to achieve a good complexion. Take a few minutes every morning and night to pat cleansers lavishly over your cheekbones, rubbing the lather up and outward. This helps to smooth away wrinkles and lighten the skin. Then rinse well. Now apply more suds with the stroker that radiate from the base of the neck up and out on the chin line, working with short, firm motions. This is an area where age will betray the unless you work hard to keep it a secret!

Gray or white hair can be stunning, but needs washing often. Atmospheric dust and dirt quickly cloud and dull the highlights of silvery hair. If you find it awkward to bend over to wash your locks, then shampoo under the shower. Massage a thick lather into the scalp and around the roots; two sudsings are required, plus two or three rinses. After hair is "squeaking clean," you may want a color rinse to intensify the whiteness and brilliance of your coiffure.

If you are built along "duchess" lines, chances are your feet get good and tired, and may swell. Do you know that facial lines may be caused by aching feet? To help erase them, soak your feet in soapsuds; Attach a bath pillow to the bottom of the tub, pull up a stool, kick off your shoes, choose a good book, sling your legs over the rim, and let your throbbing feet soak in t u k e w a r m suds; water. Wiggle toes and rotate ankles to stir up circulation. Hold puffy feet under a stream of alternately warm and cold water to help reduce swelling.

No matter what your age group, your best beauty formula is to emphasize your good points. Flatter them, and you'll please not only yourself but everyone you meet. So, if you don't want to count calories, (though we think you should) be sure to count on good grooming. It will make you a more relaxed, happier person.

GOOD MANNERS

Courtesy . . . one item, thank Heaven, on which we don't have to economize! And on which we don't have to pay an income tax!

HOW TO INDORSE CHECK MADE OUT TO MARRIED NAME:

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I was married very recently, and received several wedding present checks from relatives. I wrote my thank-you notes for these before the wedding, but I haven't yet deposited them because I wanted to wait to start a bank account in my married name. The checks were all made out to my maiden name. In what manner should I now endorse them? — C. L.

First endorse the check exactly as it is written . . . for example, Helena Clark. Then directly below write the full name in which she says started your bank account . . . for example, Helena Clark Lane, the customary, and very practical form of check-signing for a married woman; or, if you prefer, Helena C. Lane. Like this: —

Helena Clark
Helena Clark Lane

THEY DON'T WANT HOUSEWARMING GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have recently moved to this city, have purchased a new house, will soon be settled, and then would like to extend invitations to a housewarming. However, on the invitations we wish to make it clear that no presents are expected. What would be an appropriate form for this request? — M.

I'd so much rather you would not make this request . . . I'd like to have you give your guests the happiness and privilege of bringing gifts if they wish to. There certainly is no "must" that they bring a gift "to a housewarming, and many people make no point whatever about bringing a gift. On the other hand, many others like to come bearing a gift to salute the new home, even though the gift may be something simple and inexpensive but chosen with careful thought and good taste. Some people were brought up (I was) in the charming tradition that when they go for the first visit to a new home they take a gift to bless their good wishes to the home.

However, if you feel particularly firm against presents, the only way I know to suggest no presents is just that . . . write on the invitations "No presents, please."

Once before I was invited to their home in Ottawa and was warmly welcomed and subtly flattered by the food Wanda prepared using Esmon recipes. She did it again and I'm so glad for the reminded me how suitable spiced beef is for this weather. Hers was done to perfection and sliced thin with a professional flair by Bill.

SPICED BEEF

Buy a 5-lb. brisket point of red brand beef with excess fat trimmed off. Mix together 3/4 teaspoon salt petre and 1 tablespoon brown sugar and rub this well into the fat over all of the surface of the meat. Let stand in crock or bowl for 3 days in cool place, turning once. Sift together 2 teaspoons pepper, 1/3 cup ground allspice, 1/4 cup ground cloves and 1/4 cup mustard seed. Divide into 3 portions. Rub 1/3 of it into surfaces of meat with finger tips each day until used, turning meat over each day. Keep meat cold—preferably in refrigerator. Meat may be tied in a roll, for neat slicing, at this stage if desired. On 5th day simmer 7 hours in 2 or 3 cups water, covered. Let cool in cooking liquid, with weight on top of meat. Skim off fat. Drain. Wrap very neatly and let chill thoroughly for neat slicing. Loosen wrappings somewhat if stored more than 3 or 3 days. Have your husband sharpen the carving knife to a razor's edge for slicing thin.

On first acquaintance with Wanda you would never guess that she has a strong streak of venturesomeness. She served the most delicious gazpacho. It made me wonder if Canadians would ever be persuaded to give other cold soups Beaides consomme a real try.

Before serving it Wanda fished out the red onion rings because we were going to the theatre. I did not object to their garlic flavor either, but the total effect was delicious. Try it on your guests on a hot night as the first course for dinner. Try to remember to chill the soup bowls too.

WANDA'S GAZPACHO

Combine and chill covered for 24 hours 4 cups tomato juice, 1/4 cup wine vinegar, 1/4 cup finely chopped ripe olives, 2 cups cash cubed firm tomatoes and diced unpeeled cucumber, 1/4 cup each finely chopped or sliced onion and diced green pepper, 1 or 2 minced cloves of garlic, 3/4 teaspoon salt, shake of tabasco, up to 1/3 cup olive oil is optional. Wanda served it with a French stick sliced and sprinkled with cheese, then buttered, and heated right through.

Even with a cast on his broken foot Christopher Plummer was a surpassingly satisfactory Hamlet — and personally ingratiating and charming to his captivated audience . . . When we arrived at the Festival parking area it was raining a cloudburst. To our surprise after paying the parking attendant a man called from his car "Want a lift?" We hopped in. We were the sixth carload he had driven from parking lot to theatre door in the drenching rain. Spontaneous free - as - the - rain taxi service from portal to portal.

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY "Dr. Spock" Baby (MOTHER OF 2)

No cause for concern if baby doesn't gain as much one month as another. There are many factors that may cause variation such as ups and downs in appetite; more activity at one time than another; teething or minor illness, etc. Most important thing to remember is that most babies catch up to just about the right weight by the end of the first year. Generally speaking, that's about triple the birth weight for most babies.

• • •

new white unsmmarized nutritional value. Gerber Protein Cereal Food has a pleasant, toasted taste that appeals to both babies and toddlers . . . and a 35% protein content to help baby's growth and body development. The high protein content is derived from a combination of oats, wheat, soy beans and yeast . . . all carefully blended for easy digestibility. Like all Gerber Cereals it's ready to serve with milk, formula or other liquids. For new appetite interest, rotate with the other 2 Gerber Baby Cereals.

• • •

Make it a twosome. Games for two, between baby and you, are not only fun but play a big part in helping baby to learn the love by Co-operation. Anyone for peek-a-boo?

• • •

Ready idea. Next time you wash baby's hair, mix in a few drops of baby oil and rub it into your hair while it's still damp. Wonderful how it lustrizes locks and makes 'em behave.

• • •

It took 40 tries to get a "prize" for baby. The new Gerber Protein Cereal Food is the result of several years of study on the protein value of various grains. Before the study was complete, 40 cereal mixtures had been prepared, analyzed and evaluated. This is another example of the effort Gerber exerts to bring your baby quality products. Though she and her boy friend were targets for a gunman's bullets, Irene Thompson memorized the car licence number of their attacker and reported it to police. She and John White were sitting in his car on a Toronto street when the bandit opened the door and demanded money. He fired one shot into the ground and four more at the car.

Little Benny's Notebook

Us fellows were talking and argewing in frunt of Puds Simkins's house, and Puds said, I'm going in and drink another glass of water. Boy, I bet I drink more water than any guy alive, he said.

You dont drink any more than I do, because nobody can. Glasses Magee said. My mother says I must be a fish, and maybe I really must of been, some time at the beginning of the world, he said, and I said, Nobody can beet me when it comes to drinking a lot of water. Water is my middle name. I bet I drink 20 glasses a day, I said.

I bet I drink 30, Sid Hunt said, and Skinny Martin said, I bet I drink 40.

Aw, you guys dont know what it meens to drink water, Sam Cross said. One time I drank 200 glasses a day for 4 days, he said.

Him being the most famous liar around, and I said, Ah, like fun you did, you wouldn't even of had any room left to eat.

I wasn't suppose to eat, Sam said. I had the floating fever. As long as I kept the germs floating they couldn't bite me, because that's the kind of germs they are, shark germs. They have to float on their stummicks, and they can only bite when they're on their backs, like sharks, and if you keep them floating for 4 days they die from starvation. Oh boy, 200 glasses of water a day for 4 days, just count that up, he said.

Ah, we wouldn't give you the satisfaction, I said, and he said, Then I'll give you the satisfaction. It's 15 hunderd glasses of water, he said.

Proving he cant even count without lying.

Canada Council's First Major Effort Will Be to Aid Culture By Granting of Scholarships

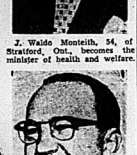
Alvin Hamilton has been appointed minister of northern affairs and national resources in the Diefenbaker cabinet. To accept the post, he resigned as leader of the Saskatchewan Progressive Conservative party. He was elected in Saskatchewan's Qu'Appelle riding.

J. Waldo Monteith, 54, of Stratford, Ont., becomes the minister of health and welfare.



David J. Walker, 52, of Toronto, has been appointed parliamentary assistant to Minister of Justice Fulton.

PRINCE DROVE DRUNK

LONDON (AP)—Prince Henry Kimera, brother of the Kabaka (king) of Buganda, Tuesday was barred from driving for a year and fined £28 after pleading guilty to drunken driving. Police said the 25-year-old African was driving in Hyde Park when he suddenly swerved and banged into the rear of another car. He is a student in Britain on an allowance from his brother, leader of a tribe within the Uganda protectorate of East Africa.

TOADSTOOLS FATAL

RUGBY, France (Reuters)—A man and his two young children died here Tuesday after eating toadstools mistaken for mushrooms. His wife and two other children are seriously ill.

"Jest a Second"

"But, Mummy, Rover HAS had kittens. He's had two of Mrs. Jones'"

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canada Council's first major effort to aid Canadian culture will be through the distribution of some 300 scholarships and fellowships a year to students, teachers, artists, musicians, writers, journalists and broadcasters.

The grants, ranging from some $300 to $5,000, don't go as far as the 1951 Massey commission recommendation that some 10,000 students be aided each year. But the council, in making its announcement Tuesday, indicated it had other plans in store.

It was working on plans to establish prizes and medals for outstanding work in the arts, humanities and social sciences. It planned to bring distinguished lecturers to Canada and was considering such other projects as ways of preserving Canadian folklore and music, aiding the publication of Canadian works, bringing art into Canadian homes and the promotion of Canadian cultural works abroad.

THE 12-MEMBER COUNCIL

At the same time it set up a 26-member national commission to co-operate with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization in the promotion of greater international cultural understanding.

Dr. Andrew A. MacKenzie, 63-year-old president of the University of British Columbia and a council member, is to be commission president. Members are to be drawn from such national bodies as the Canadian Labor Congress, the Canadian Teachers' Federation and the Canadian Arts Council.

The Canada Council, set up last April under the chairmanship of Hon. Brooke Claxton, spent two days deciding on its initial program. It concluded that accomplishments in cultural fields "depended more than anything else on the training and ability of people."

It established scholarships for those seeking a master's degree in the arts, humanities and social sciences for those seeking a doctor's degree; for teachers, journalists, broadcasters and for the experienced and younger workers and instructors in the fields of music, art and literature.

Provisions are to be made for Canadian specialists to travel abroad and for distinguished foreign scholars and workers to come to Canada.

SIFT APPLICANTS

Canadian candidates, making application through the council's offices here, are to be sifted through the National Conference of Canadian Universities, the Humanities and Social Sciences Research Councils, the Canada Foundation and other agencies.

The scholarships, to be paid out of the council's expected $2,500,000-a-year revenue, may total about $300,000 annually. They will range between $300 and $5,000 and will be granted only to those doing work in the fields of arts, humanities and social sciences.

Some of the grants to be made: Pre-master's degree scholarships averaging $1,200 for study leading to a master's degree, tenable in the graduate faculty of any Canadian university for one year subject to renewal.

Pre-doctor's degree fellowships averaging $2,000, as well as scholarships, for study leading to a doctor's degree, tenable in Canada or abroad for one year and subject to renewal.

FELLOWSHIPS AVAILABLE

Senior fellowships, averaging $4,000 and travel allowance, for persons resident outside of Canada, open to scholars, artists, musicians, writers and other workers in the fields of the arts. Candidates must have well-established records.

Junior arts fellowships averaging $2,000 and travel allowance for persons of any race in Canada or elsewhere, for young artists, musicians, scholars, writers and other arts practitioners and teachers with exceptional promise.

Scholarships or fellowships for secondary school teachers, averaging $2,000 and travel allowance tenable for one year. School boards are expected to provide successful candidates with salary allowances.

Grants of between $300 and $700 for graduate students doing advanced work or teachers doing special jobs in the summer months or for part of a year. This is subject to renewal.

Fellowships of $5,000 and travel expenses for senior foreign fellows to study in Canada. The grant is to be $2,500 for younger scholars or workers showing exceptional promise.

Fellowships averaging $3,000 for journalists, broadcasters and others. Recipients must be experienced in creative and interpretative work.

Witness Paid $650 for Three Stories to Mag

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Another Hollywood figure has testified in the contested libel trial of Confidential that she sold her alleged playmates' secrets to the scandal magazine.

Gloria Wellman, 33, adopted daughter of movie director William Wellman, said Tuesday she was paid a total of $650 for three stories.

Miss Wellman testified that she was one of six girls at the soiree. Others present, she said included actor Forrest Tucker and the late band leader, Jimmy Dorsey.

She said the two other girls, whom she identified as models, went to the upstairs bedroom to be with Carroll.

"Carroll was in the bed and a blonde was in it," the witness replied.

Was the magazine story true? She said it was.

Miss Wellman was paid $200 for the Carroll story, $300 for another and $150 for a third.

On cross-examination, she said her cheques came from Hollywood Research Inc., which the prosecution charges is the movieland front for Confidential and Whisper magazines. Hollywood Research and its operators, Fred and Marjorie Meade, are defendants along with the magazines.

Miss Wellman appeared for the defence. Earlier the defence offered the testimony of an admitted prostitute, Bonnie Quillan, who said she sold information to Confidential.

AS "FAIRY TALES"

Daniel Ross, lawyer for Confidential, testified that he felt that Confidential's stories were as innocuous "as fairy tales" as far as obscenity was concerned.

Asked on cross - examination why he felt the magazine's stories were not libellous, Ross replied:

"On civil libel, they could not be because they were true.

"On criminal libel, they were true and were published without any intent to injure anybody, and in some cases there was a justifiable cause for publication. The people were entitled to know who were false idols because of press agents and fan magazines."

Senate Probers Seek Tale Behind Hoffa's Dealings

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States Senate investigators today sought the story behind James R. Hoffa's complex financial dealings and his alleged associations with big-shot racketeers.

Chairman John McClellan (Dem. Ark.) of the Senate labor investigating committee has declared that Hoffa brought New York racketeer Johnny Dio and enemy of Dio's underworld followers into the international Brotherhood of Teamsters and used them in a scheme to enhance his own power.

Hoffa, midwest boss of the teamsters, is expected to be elected next month as president of the giant union.

Against a background of nearly three weeks of testimony linking Hoffa's name with Dio and racketeer Tony (Ducks) Corallo, the committee called Hoffa to the witness stand Tuesday.

The committee explored Hoffa's financial deals—about which he talked readily—but didn't even mention Dio or Corallo.

Kennedy said he also planned to probe deeper into Hoffa's acknowledged borrowing of between $120,000 and $130,000.

VARIOUS SOURCES

The loans were shown to have come from fellow unionists, from teamster locals, from employers who had dealings with the union. Since from men identified by Kennedy as having criminal records.

Hoffa said most of the loans from individuals were made without security. He said he figures he still owes $70,000 but has repaid the teamster locals in full—$21,000.

After Tuesday's session McClellan referred to Hoffa's testimony about financial interests with certain employers under contract with the teamsters. That testimony, McClellan said, "gives a basis for a suspicion at least of a conflict of interest." As a general procedure for labor leaders, McClellan said, that practice might be termed improper.

Police Ban Gatherings As Race Situation Worsens

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Police today banned gatherings of more than three persons in the neighborhood of this big housing development's first Negro home owner after an officer was injured by a stone hurled from the midst of a crowd of demonstrators.

Some 400 persons congregated in the quiet suburban streets near the home of William Myers, 34, and his family Tuesday night for the second evening in a row. Jeers and catcalls greeted officers who kept the crowd in check in the streets surrounding the Myers house.

Suddenly, a stone hurled from the milling throng struck Sgt. Tom Stewart of the Bristol Township police in the head. Skerpt, bleeding from one ear, fell to the ground. Some 20 state and local police quickly broke up the crowd, taking three persons into custody.

Stewart was taken to hospital where doctors said he had a possible brain concussion.

Crowds of varying sizes have been protesting the arrival of the Myers family ever since it became known that they had bought the $12,150 ranch-type home in this planned community of 60,000 near Philadelphia. Some 13 persons have been arrested on minor charges.

Picket lines were set up in front of the house during the weekend, and on one occasion rocks were hurled through two picture windows in the Myers home.

Police Tuesday night arrested Clayton Gould, 27, and William Duff, 18. Both were fined $10 plus $9 in costs on charges of disorderly conduct. Paul Sullivan, 18, was arrested on an open charge and released in the custody of his parents.

Only residents and reporters have been permitted in the vicinity of the Myers home for the last few days. Myers is a 34-year-old college-educated refrigeration technician. He and his wife, Daisy, also a college graduate, have three children.

HONOR PIUS X

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Large groups of pilgrims Tuesday attended numerous masses said at the altar of Pope Saint Pius X on the 43rd anniversary of his death. Clad in pontifical robes, the body of the "Peasant Pope," who died three weeks after the outbreak of the First World War which he vainly tried to avert, lies in a glass coffin in the Vatican.

Works Minister Says Election Before July

OTTAWA (CP) — Politically-wise Howard Green the new minister of public works, has a feeling that "things look good" for the Progressive Conservatives in the next federal election.

But the tall, 49-year-old veteran of 21 years in Parliament, now one of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's chief lieutenants, wouldn't be pinned down on just when the next election might be.

To an interviewer Tuesday he described as "just an off - hand comment" his recent remark to reporters at Trail, B. C., that a new election would be called "before next July." He said at the time it was just a personal opinion.

"Actually I don't know any more than you do," said the bespectacled, greying minister who took over his new job with others of the Diefenbaker cabinet June 21. Besides being full-time public works minister he also is acting minister of defence production and has spent some two weeks of his two months in office as acting prime minister.

WONDERFUL CAMPAIGN

The B. C.-born politician feels the downfall of the Liberals in the 18 election years due mainly to growing confidence of the public in John Diefenbaker as a leader because of the "wonderful campaign he put on." It was that and the "desire for a change" after 22 years of Liberal rule that did the trick.

Did he feel his party would get an over-all majority in the next election: "I don't want to be a prophet but I would say that things look good."

Present Commons standing is Progressive Conservative 111; Liberals 105; CCF 25; Social Credit 19; independent 2; Independent Liberal 1; Liberal Labor 1; vacancy 1—total 265. The vacancy was caused by the post-election death of Conservative Dr. W. G. Blair in Lanark constituency. A byelection has been set for Sept. 9.

GRAIN FOR EGYPT

PARIS (AP)—France will export 1,000,000,000 francs (about $10,000,000 worth of grain to Egypt in exchange for Egyptian cotton, government sources said Tuesday. The trade deal, approved recently by the French government, is independent of planned French-Egyptian trade talks in Geneva Aug. 15.

Lakeland Will Supply Gas At Gananoque

TORONTO (CP) — A natural gas franchise for Gananoque has been issued to Lakeland Natural Gas Limited of Kingston, the Ontario Fuel board announced Tuesday.

Consumers Gas Company of Toronto had also applied to distribute gas in the town.

Both companies still have applications before the board to supply gas to Kingston.

The fuel board said Lakeland offered lower residential and commercial rates. Consumers had appeared prepared to charge rates equal to those it charges in Toronto.

The franchise is the 19th won by Lakeland in the area from Port Hope to Cornwall. The company has announced it will start construction of its local systems in early September.

HONOR REPOSSESSED

MOSCOW (AP)—The name of Lazar Kaganovich, ousted from the Communist party leadership with considerable fanfare in June, has disappeared from the Moscow subways. The entire line has been named for Kaganovich subway, but now has been renamed in honor of Lenin.

French Leaders Study Algerian 'Equal Rights'

PARIS (Reuters)—The French Council of Ministers today began considering "equal rights" political reforms, which it intends to introduce in revolt-torn Algeria.

The North African territory for two years has been in the grip of a revolt by Algerian nationalists demanding independence.

The reforms, known as the new statute of Algeria, propose equal political rights and equal political representation for the country's 8,000,000 Moslems and about 1,500,000 Europeans.

The statute is France's answer to rebel demands for an independent Nationalist Algeria, and is regarded here as of great importance.

SOMETHING CONCRETE

The French want to show the United Nations General Assembly at its forthcoming meeting that they have done something concrete towards achieving the "peaceful, just and democratic solution" mentioned last February by the assembly's political committee.

It is considered necessary here too that moderate left-wing opinion in France, including a minority of Socialist members of the National Assembly, should be assured that the government's policy in Algeria is not limited to military "pacification."

Successive French governments have made it clear that they will not accept the creation of an independent Algeria. France regards Algeria as an integral part of her territory and not an overseas colony.

DIES IN CRASH

CHATHAM (CP) — George Molesworth, 50, of Lexington, Mich., was killed Tuesday night and Peter Waskin, 75, also of Lexington, was taken to hospital following a traffic accident involving three vehicles on Highway 40. The two were in a car involved in a collision with two trucks on the highway north of Chatham in Dover Township.

An opening one bid is sound only when it shows a hand with better than average in tricks, high cards, and suits. A lack in any one of these departments makes it a light opening one bid.

How does a light opener harm partner? By failing to make a free bid on the second round. This wrong call the night of this showed up in world championship deal number 120. Here it is:

NORTH	EAST	SOUTH	WEST
♠ A J 8 6 5 4
♥ 10
♦ K Q J 2
♣ J 6
	♠ Q 3	♠ K 9
	♥ Q 6 4 2	♥ 7 3
	♦ 9 3	♦ A 7 4
	♣ K 10 7 2	♣ Q 9 8 5 4

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
5 ♥	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
Pass

Room two bidding went like this:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 S	2 C	2 H
3 C	3 D	Pass	5 D

Room one south player gambled that game in hearts. But not with wrong information. He was warned by partner that the opening was light. If he could have, he would have bid only three hearts.

Room two south player hop raised to game in diamonds. He had the stuff for it if the north bid was honest. What fooled him was the second bid by north who thus said his opening was not light.

Not even many masters really know the tine decisions in bidding. For instance, east does not have enough for a raise to four clubs. But west could have raised to four clubs, if necessary.

"If I must play a system, the guy said, "no dice." He then played a system, but not so precise.

June Lockhart Unworried, Unscarred by Split-Level Self

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television has changed June Lockhart into somebody else.

The lovely young dramatic star is, however, unworried and unscarred by her split-level self.

"TV just seems to see something in me that comes through when I'm not necessarily myself," she says. "It's a certain side of me, I guess if you don't know my other side—the happy-pants comic side."

Miss Lockhart, who has roundly wide blue eyes and a flair for chic couture when herself, winds up in about four out of every five of her television dramatic appearances cast as a flat-heeled, middle-aged matron or spinster with sad problems.

But when she comes to Broadway or appears on the stock stage she is invariably the ingenuine of sleek comedy. Rarely do her acting personalities meet.

"One of my friends came to me afterwards and said 'gee, I didn't know you were such a comedienne,'" she relates.

Immediately afterwards, she was back on TV as a bewildered school teacher.

"Most actresses, when offered an over-40, dull, drab role, shudder and say 'not for me,'" she says. "I just say 'how much are you paying?' and do it."

To portray ladies beyond her own years, Miss Lockhart explains, the secret is mostly in what you do with your hair and your costume.

"The biggest thing of all is getting the right pair of heavy shoes. They change the whole posture of your body and make you move and behave differently."

Ronnie Deauville Has Not Given up Hopes of Career

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Do I pray? Sure. But the best prayer is action, I think. And I'm going to continue working as hard as I can until I'm well again."

This is the vow of handsome, dark - haired Ronnie Deauville, who a year ago had a thriving career as a pop singer. Today he is confined to a wheel chair.

But he hasn't given up hopes of a career. "I'm singing better than ever," he said, and he demonstrated his talents on Art Linkletter's TV show recently.

Life was a breeze for Ronnie until the morning of Oct. 2, 1956. He had built up a name for himself as a vocalist with Tommy Dorsey, Glen Gray, Tex Beneke and Ray Anthony. He signed with Mercury Records and was making a go of it as a soloist. He had a lovely wife, Pat, and four children.

KIDS CRASH CAR

He was driving to a recording date that morning. An early morning shower had dampened the streets, and a couple of kids on their way to school were racing their car. The car skidded and plowed into Ronnie's car.

At first the singer couldn't move his head. A few days later he couldn't move his legs. Then he had trouble breathing. Pneumonia seemed to be building up on him. Unable to communicate with hospital attendants, he was about to give up the great struggle to breathe when his wife appeared and the nurse rushed to an iron lung.

He was in the lung for five months. That gave him plenty of time to think.

"I tried to ponder why this had happened to me," he said. "Strange as it may seem, I was deluded that it probably was a good thing. If it wasn't this, it might have been something even worse. . . .

"I had been dashing headlong after my career. I didn't take care of myself and I didn't care what happened as long as I kept pushing ahead.

"Now I've had a chance to realize how lucky I am. I know even more what a wonderful wife I have, and I've gotten acquainted with my family. And I think I've gotten better acquainted with God."

Hard To Forecast Winner Of Big Four Title After Openers Tuesday

Ottawa Roughies Beat Ticats In Upset While Argos Throw Scare Into Montreal Alouettes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Looking for a formula to pick the 1957 Big Four football league champs? Going on Tuesday's opening games, just drop the names of the four teams in a hat, shake once and extract one gingerly.

And whatever team comes up, don't bet.

Ottawa Rough Riders, ignoring the press clippings of the favored Hamilton Tiger - Cats, turned back the Tabbies 29-7 at Ottawa. In Montreal, Toronto Argonauts outrushed and outpassed the defending champion Alouettes but fumbled away a chance of victory in the final minute of the game and bowed 29-28.

The big upset was in Ottawa, where a fighting Rough Rider line held Hamilton's vaunted ground attack a paltry 43 yards while Ottawa backfielders churned out 175.

LEDYARD BESTS FALONEY

Bernie Faloney, the ball-handling wizard who quarterbacked Edmonton to the Grey Cup in 1954, was expected to add Boston to the Tiger-Cats' passing attack but wound up being overshadowed by Ottawa signal-caller Hal Ledyard. Faloney completed 12 of 27 attempted passes but intercepted while Ledyard connected on 18 of 31 with no interceptions.

In Montreal, the Argos missed two opportunities for at least a tie in the last three minutes of play. After pulling to within a point of the defending champions on a touchdown by Pete O'Garro late in the final quarter, the Toronto line failed to hold and Fred Frick of the Als banged through to block the convert attempt.

Then in the last minute of play O'Garro fumbled after taking a pass on the Montreal 18-yard line —in position for a winning field goal or at least a tying single.

The Argos had a big edge statistically—outpassing the Alouettes 429 yards to 297 and outrushing them 112 to 85. Two blocked kicks by Frick, a new import, spelled the difference.

TRAWICK TRUNDLES OVER

With the score tied at 14-14 in the second quarter, Frick broke through to block a punt by Toronto's Reg Meserve. Veteran Herbie Trawick scooped up the ball on the Toronto 19-yard line and waddled over to give the Alouettes a lead they never relinquished.

Trawick was the only touchdown that did not come as the result of passing. Montreal quarterback Sam Etcheverry threw to Patterson on a 40-yard pass-and-run play for one score; rifled a 50-yarder to Red O'Quinn in the con- mer for another touchdown; and combined with Pete Karpuk for a 37-yard play that netted another six points.

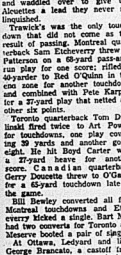
Toronto quarterback Tom Dobinski fired twice to Art Revell for touchdowns, one play covering 39 yards and another getting eight. He hit Boyd Carter with a 27-yard heave for another score. Canada's all-time quarterback Gerry Doucette threw to O'Garro for a 45-yard touchdown late in the game.

Bill Bewley converted all four Montreal touchdowns and Etcheverry kicked a single. Bart Mollard has converted seven Toronto and Meserve booted a pair of singles.

At Ottawa, Ledyard and little George Dixon put on a catoff from last year's Alouettes, sparked the Rough Riders to victory. Brancaud pulled down a long pass from Ledyard and made 46 yards for one score and set up another by pulling in a 44-yarder. Bobby Judd plunged over from the one-yard line after the catch.

The third Ottawa touchdown was the result of a 63-yard march with fullback Tommy Lewis going over from two yards out. Billy Graham scored on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Faloney for the Tiger-Cats and made good the convert. Garry Schreiber booted two out of three converts for the Riders.

A crowd of 21,522 watched the twilight game in Montreal and about 18,000 saw the night contest in Ottawa.



"I don't understand you, Charles. At home if I have fish two days in a row you have a fit!"

HENDERSON SIGNS

WHITBY (CP)—Manager Wren Blair of Whitby Dunlops said Tuesday he has signed goalie Long John Henderson for another season. The 34-year-old netminder played for Boston-Bruins of the National Hockey League last season before moving to Whitby in January.

Ebbets Field May Still Be Home of Dodgers

BROOKLYN (AP)—City engineers have been quietly surveying Ebbets Field and the surrounding area for the past two weeks, an official of Brooklyn Dodgers revealed today.

"It's possible that the city will offer to renovate the ball park and provide the parking facilities we have been lacking," said the official, who asked not to be named.

Brooklyn president Walter O'Malley, who is contemplating switching his club to Los Angeles, has sold Ebbets Field, but still has a lease. He probably would have no trouble rebuying the park if he was so inclined.

City officials meanwhile scheduled a meeting with O'Malley for the purpose of persuading him to remain in Brooklyn. O'Malley acknowledged such a meeting was held but declined to reveal the exact date.

The Dodger boss said he had no idea what sort of presentation the city officials had in mind, if, indeed, any is forthcoming.

Golden Bears Release Three

SARNIA (CP)—Sarnia Golden Bears of the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union Tuesday released six players, including three imports.

Coach Joe Zaleski said the cut was necessary to keep the team's salary bill down.

Cementmen Squeeze by Marines 5-4 In First Game of Titular Series

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Trailing 1-0 until the seventh, the Point Anne Cementmen rallied for five runs and squeezed out a narrow 5-4 victory over Belleville Goyer's Marines in the opener of their league championship series for the Bill Ott Trophy.

The second game in the three-out-five affair is slated for the CNRAA Park on Thursday evening at 6.30 p.m.

The Marines chased one run across the plate in the third frame and Tommy Thompson had the Cementmen eating out of his hand until the seventh frame. The Ox-pointers chased Thompson with four runs and made it 5-1 in the eighth. Goyer's Marines hit back hard in the top of the ninth however to score three for the final 5-4 score.

Pat Maracle scattered eight hits in going the route for Phil Lott's nine. He set five down on strikes and issued two free passes. He also put out of a ball jam in the fourth frame when the visitors loaded the sacks with none out but failed to score.

Thompson took the loss in working 6⅔ innings. He gave up four runs on six hits, whiffing one and issuing three free. Carson gave up a run and two hits over the remainder, fanning one, walking two.

A leadoff homer by Ted Batchelor in the seventh inning knotted the score at 1-1 and ignited the Cementmen rally. Dave Jones reached first on an error, moved on Jackie Wardhaugh's single, Pete Dyer's sacrifice and the second round-tripper of the inning when Wayne Bovay misjudged his long fly ball to centre, making the score 4-1. Jack Elliott's single, which caused the bachelor's pouch double in the 8th.

A base on balls to Carson with none out gave the Marines a life in the ninth. Gerry Goyer followed with a long double down to right centre field but Russell made the second out. Coach Leo Goyer sent his wiry lad to the plate to pinch hit for Bovay but the Point Anne management objected because he did not have a complete uniform. He was not allowed to bat which caused some hassling between the two clubs and the umpires. Bovay finally batted out to Jack Elliott Sr. in left field but he dropped the ball for a four-base error and the 5-4 score. Maracle got John Goyer on strikes to end the contest.

Tommy Thompson threw excellent ball, with a triple and six frames for the losers, allowing but two hits. He struck out five and sixth. Maracle never gave up more than one hit per inning with exception of the seventh.

Paul Russell pushed three singles to the centre field area to put the losers at the plate. Chuck Kingston singled twice while Gerry Goyer a triple and his cousin homer. John Green doubled and Doug Soules scored the two.

Pat Maracle was the only Cementman with two hits, both one-baggers. Ted Batchelor and Pete Green blasted homers, Dave Jones tripled, John Batchelor doubled while Pat Gilmour and Jackie Wardhaugh had singles.

THE TEAMS:

Marines: G. Goyer, Russell, Bovay, J. Goyer, Soules, Elliott, Denix, V. Goyer, Soules, Thompson, Carson.

Point Anne: Jones, Wardhaugh, D. Hull, P. Green, Gilmour, Elliott Sr., J. Batchelor, T. Batchelor, P. Maracle.

Toronto Leafs In First Place Of Int. League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League are back in first place today, gunning for their third pennant in four years.

The Leafs slipped a half game past the Buffalo Bisons Tuesday by knocking off their Canadian brothers, Montreal Royals, 6o, 8-7. The Bisons, previously tied with Toronto, overpowered Rochester Red Wings 8o on Lou Ortiz' two home runs.

In other league action, Miami outfielder Stu Locklin belted a home run, three singles and drove in three runs as the fifth-place Marlins tumbled Columbus 6-1. Havana Cubans came to bat in the top of the eighth with a 2-1 lead over Richmond and the Virginians went out. The game was suspended and will be completed tonight—starting from the eighth —before the regularly scheduled game between the clubs.

WINS 16TH

Humberto Robinson won his fifteenth—he's lost six—and allowed Montreal five hits in the shutout first game. The first Leafs to bat in the game scored and Humberto was never bothered after forward. George Barker (4-3) lost it. He lasted a third of an inning.

Jim Pearce, first of five Leaf pitchers in the second game, earned the victory. Toronto's Archie Wilson drove in three runs with a single and a triple. Mike Collat hit a Toronto homer. Jim Gentile hit two homers and accounted for five runs for Montreal. Billy Harris lost his fourth straight to the Leafs. Montreal fell into a tie with Columbus for seventh.

Glenn Cox was batted out by a four-run Rochester ninth, but gained the victory for Buffalo. He is 11-4. Dave Ricketts homered out with the bases loaded to end the game. Ray Noble also homered for Buffalo.

Miami's righthander Ray Semprosch was 10th against four losses behind Locklin's hitting. Frank Herrera and Woody Smith also homered for the Marlins.

Ray Robinson Says Fight With Carmen Basilio 'Off'

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight champion Ray Robinson made ring history when he proved that sometimes the old champions do come back and win. Now he has the fight world wondering whether he will make history of another kind by tossing away $500,000.

That is about what it will cost him if he sticks to his decision calling off his Sept. 30 title defence against welterweight champ Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium. He says the fight is off. The International Boxing Club insists it is still on.

The feeling on Broadway is that Sugar Ray won't let that much money get away from him.

Robinson tossed his blockbuster into the million-dollar fight Tuesday. He called The Associated Press and said his fight with Basilio "was off" because of a disagreement with President James D. Norris of the IBC over a short company should handle the theatre telecast. Furthermore, Robinson said he was going to sue the IBC "for plenty" for breach of contract.

The champ demanded that Telepromoter Inc. be the only closed circuit telecast because he claims he can get a "better deal." Ray brought that company into the picture in a stormy session with Norris Tuesday. The IBC boss said he has signed with Theatre Network Television and has no intention of changing.

Basilio, the man in the middle, said, "If this is another 4½ incher's prepared runouts, then I think he must be scared stiff. He was satisfied when this fight was first signed and has been behaving like a champ. I've been training hard and won't let any of his spouting off interrupt my training sessions."

Norris said he was "chagrined" by Robinson's action.

"I can't understand that man," said Norris. "I've been over backwards to make this fight. He stands to make a half-million dollars and we've arranged it legally for him to spread the money over a three-year period to lighten his tax load.

"As far as I'm concerned the fight is still on until the New York athletic commission notifies us that it isn't. Robinson signed commission contracts on July 31 and those contracts give us the exclusive right to handle the closed circuit."

HELFAND IN DARK

Julius Helfand, chairman of the athletic commission, said he has not heard from Robinson.

In his telephone conversation with the AP, Robinson said: "Before we signed for the fight it was agreed that we would accept the best television and radio offer. I have a written agreement with Norris that I must okay any deal on TV and radio that is made."

He faced only 22 batters, walked two and struck out one in pitching the only no-hitter of the major league season. He had a perfect game until two were out in the fifth when he walked Lou Berberet.

Keegan issued another walk in the seventh but that was wiped out by a double play launched by the pitcher himself.

Unlike most pitchers who deny knowledge of working on no-hitters, Keegan said after the game:

"I knew I had a no-hitter going from the first inning—the only trouble was pitching it."

HOT FIELDING HELPS

Only six balls were hit out of the infield by Washington with Harry Doby making a sensational catch on Herbie Plews' drive to left center in the first inning. Another stellar play was in the eighth when Berberet sent an apparent sure-shot line toward right but second baseman Nellie Fox cut it off and threw in time for the putout.

"You have to be lucky to get a no-hitter," said Keegan, "and I had my share of luck."

Keegan said he didn't throw a single curve and relied mainly on his sinking fast ball.

In the opener, the Sox blew a 4-1 lead, with Ed FitzGerald's homer in the eighth nailing down the win for the Senators.

LOSES TWO-HITTER

The Yankee lead over the White Sox was cut to seven games when Kansas City catcher Sam Thompson singled home Bobby Held with the only run off Don Trotter, who pitched a two-hitter for the Bombers. Young Ralph Terry was the winner. Mickey Mantle went hitless in four tries to drop his average to .321.

Gene Woodling hit a home run ... double and two singles to help Cleveland to their win over Boston. Ted Williams' batting average dropped two points to .396 as he went hitless in two official trips.

Jim Bunning coasted to the win over the Orioles as the Tigers got to Skinny Brown for five runs in the first three innings. Ray Boone had a home run and a triple to drive in three runs.

READYING FOR THE SEATTLE SLAUGHTER . . . OR SURPRISE!

Pete Rademacher

Floyd Patterson

One of the strangest heavyweight matches of all times, to be held August 22 at Seattle, Wash., will feature Pete Rademacher as an Olympic champion meeting the world's professional champ, Floyd Patterson. The heavyweight title fight will be Rademacher's first professional appearance in the ring, and the consensus of opinion is that it probably is his last, if Patterson has his way.

REDLEG SLUMP DEEPENS

Third - place Brooklyn, seven games back, took two from Cincinnati, which has lost eight in a row, winning 11-5, and 6-5 in 12 innings. Chicago Cubs, who had won six in a row, split a pair at Philadelphia, winning 5-2 after a 9-8 defeat in relief.

Musial's 28th homer, with a man on, headed the Cards from behind in the nightcap and they nailed it in the ninth against Johnny Antonelli. Bonus kid Von McDaniel won it for a 7-3 record.

Musial and Ken Boyer homered to get the Cards started in the opener, but it was Eddie Kasko's first major league home run that wrapped it up. Sam Jones won his 19th.

The Braves were held to three hits and an unearned run for eight innings by Vern Law, then went to work on relievers Luis Arroyo and Elroy Face. Warren Spahn, headed for his eighth 20-victory season, won his 15th.

Duke Snider, who had hit a three-run homer to open a five-run third in the opener, socked his 32nd home run for the Dodgers' eighteenth pitcher, Gil Hodges also homered in the second game for the Brooks with Don Drysdale getting his 11th in relief.

In the opener, Ed Roebuck, hitting his first home run in the majors, won with three-hit pitching in five relief innings.

Stan Lopata's home run won the opener for the Phils as Jurt Simmons and relief winner Dick Farrell stifled the Cubs on three hits. Home runs by Ernie Banks and Jerry Kindall won the nightcap as Robin Roberts lost his 12th.

Fighters End Training for Heavy Match

SEATTLE (AP) — While the boxing world still seethed and fumed today over Thursday's world heavyweight title fight, Floyd Patterson and champ (amateur) Pete Rademacher, the word for the two principals was "unconcerned."

Cus D'Amato, Patterson's manager, said his titleholder probably will be at his heaviest for this fight. The former middleweight weighed 183½ when he met Tommy Jackson last month.

The Olympic gold medal winner, who has no manager, and does his own talking, expects to weigh 210.

Rademacher feels the use of eight-ounce gloves, as ruled by the Washington estate athletic commission, is in his favor. Patterson's camp would have preferred mitts with two ounces less padding

CALLED MISMATCH

About the kindest thing its critics have called this fight is a "mismatch." Betting odds were being reported as 1 to 10 in Patterson's favor but as one bustness man put it, "Nobody is betting—while sober."

But criticism and lack of betting have not shortened the lines at the ticket windows. The 25,000-seat stadium has been scaled to bring in $400,000 at $20-$15-$10, prices are good for a near-capacity crowd.

The weather has been excellent all week and promoter Jack Hurley expressed no worry over the possibility of rain on fight night. "The people up here are used to rain, anyway," he said. "A little of it never hurt anybody."

And just in case of a downpour he has set Friday night as the postponement date.

For the first time since 1921 when Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier fought, there will be neither a radio broadcast nor telecast for this fight.

Promoter Hurley declared this bout strictly was for the paying customers as he lemmed listeners and viewers "freeloaders." He slapped an embargo even against using short round-by-round descriptives on radio before the bout ends.

GORDIE BELL

Gordie Bell, starry goaltender for the Belleville McFarlands in last year's OHA East Conf. Snr. "A" hockey league, today signed his contract for the 1957-58 season. This brings the number of signed players to seven. They are Bell, Ike Hildebrand, Joe Benoit, Jean-Paul Payette, Wayne Brown, Minnie Menard and Johnny Muretich. All are holdovers from last season with the exception of Brown.

On the sidelines were the five other Canadians who' ventured south for the tournament, including the pair of Westerners who squeezed Marlene out of Canadian Open honors earlier in the month.

The defending champion herself faced quite an array of obstacles —stifling California heat, fellow tournament veterans who have been coming through with top-sided victories and a group of teenagers who in some cases have been shooting sharper scores than have the favorites.

The temperature was in the high 90s for Tuesday's second round, in which Marlene seeded only 11 holes to dispose of Jan Trabbic of Los Angeles, 3 and 2. Marlene, Fonthill, Ont., native, was three-over-par for the 38-hole 74 Del Paso Country Club course.

MISS STANHOPE OUT

Failing by the wayside were Betty Stanhope of Edmonton who won the Canadian ladies' open amateur championship Aug. 11, and Mary Gay of Calgary, who eliminated Marlene in the same tournament.

Miss Stanhope was beaten 1 up by Judy Anderson of Sacramento and Miss Gay fell 5 and 4 to Mrs. Polly Cudone of Mount Clair, N.J.

Rosemary Neundorf of Toronto was defeated by Mrs. Jane Cadotte of Long Beach, Calif., 1 up while Rae Milligan of Calgary lost 1 up to Mrs. Dorothy Stamps of Pleasanton, Calif.

16-YEAR-OLD STARS

Judy Eller of Old Hickory, Tenn., a 16-yearold who won the U.S. Junior title last week, caught the fancy of the gallery by coming from behind to beat Mary Patton Janssen of Charlottesville, Va., 3 up.

The youngster beat former champion Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., Monday and got another tough one today in Joanne Gunderson, 18, from Seattle, runnerup last year to Marlene.

All 10 British Walker Cuppers Qualify in Open

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—All 10 British Walker Cup players qualified for today's first round of match play for the Canadian amateur golf championship and, by luck none was drawn against another. The second round is scheduled for the afternoon.

Leading the British contingent was veteran Joe Carr of Dublin, who tied for medal honors in the 36-hole qualifying round Monday and Tuesday with 20 - year - old George Knudson of Winnipeg. Each had a 141 total.

The field of 64 included 60 players with scores of 154 or better and four of seven players with 155. The seven played a straight knockout with two eliminated on the first extra hole and a third, Myron Hampton, 25, of Aylmer, Que., losing on the second hole when he hit two two-strokes penalty after his caddy rolled over his ball on the fairway to identify it. Hampton, a native of Aberdeen, Scotland, in Ottawa on a national research fellowship, reported the incident himself.

FOR BRITISH CHAMP

Only three players broke the 70s on the par 36-36—72 St. Charles Country Club course although the weather continued sunny and playing conditions excellent during the week of the British Walker Cup player and 1955 Canadian champion Reid Jack shot a four - under 68, matched by Winnipeg's Will Hoffman. Cousin-brothers Wally Keep of Winnipeg came through with a 69, including a four-under 32 on the back nine.

A total of 32 Canadians, 18 American and 10 Britons were in the select group.

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, who finished in a four-way tie for runner-up spot in the qualifying round at 142, faced veteran Winnipegger Mike Pidlaski, while another Englishman drew Reid Weslock of Windsor, drew Walker Cupper Michael Bonallack of Essex, England. Both matches were in the lower half of the draw.

On the Tracks

Jockey Harry Carr booted the royal-owned filly to an easy victory in the field of seven runners. Almeria won £6,939 ($19,429). She was an 11-10 betting favorite in the race restricted to three-year-olds.

FORT ERIE (CP)—Tuesday's feature here was won by a speedy but slightly erratic Top Town. Top Town, ridden by Bill Lindberg, was straight and true, taking the lead from the gate and beating Hartney by a length while Dorenes Lad finished third.

Top Town has been credited with three wins in 11 starts this season. He won two other races but was disqualified for bumping other horses.

Cornwall Ties Kenmors 12-12 In Second Game

Cornwall New Yorker Aces belted the Belleville Kenmors to a 13-13 eight-inning tie here yesterday in the second game of their two-of-three OBA midget playdown series.

The Kenmors lead the series 1-0 with the third contest scheduled for the Fairgrounds here on Thursday afternoon at 4.00 p.m.

Yesterday's game was a see-saw thriller which saw the lead change hands several times. Cornwall opened the scoring with three hot Belleville picked up five in their half of the first. The visitors finally jumped into a 12-9 lead in the sixth and the Kenmors had to come back with three in the eighth for the tie.

Don Masters started for Kenmors, lasting until he filled the sacks in the fourth. He allowed four hits, fanned three and walked nine. Glen Dalnard came on, tagged for six hits and fanning one in two frames. Larry Soden completed the chore without giving up a run. He was touched for three hits, bringing the Cornwall total to 13.

Montgomery was the Aces' starter, relieved by Lamarche in the third. They whiffed four and walked but three between them.

Glen Clarke opened the Kenmors' bight inning tally with a single, Gary Coyer tripled and scored on Rickey Locke's squeeze bunt staigle. Locke made the second out on a rundown but Jimmy Lloyd banged a sliding triple and carried home the tying marker on Lary Soden's base hit.

Jim Lloyd paced the Belleville hitters with a double, triple and single while Bill Moxam had a double and two singles. Pat Assenline collected a triple and a single. Glen Clarks two safeties and Gary Goyer a triple. Rickey Locke, Lary Soden, Murray Hunter and Jim Sheridan also hit safely.

The U.S. in all likehood will be the supplier of missiles for Canada and therefore of atomic-warheads for them. But at the moment the U.S. prohibits supplying atomic weapons to its allies.

The regiment to be reorganized the 1st Light Anti-aircraft Regiment—has its headquarters — and two batteries at Picton, Ont., and another battery at Work Point, Esquimalt, B.C.

Personnel at Work Point are to go to Picton and other Royal Canadian Artillery units in the next few months. This will make the Work Point accommodation available to the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, on its return to Canada from Germany in October and November.

DEFLATION SPELLS END OF BLIMP

Here's a close-up of a U.S. navy blimp as it began to fold into the waters of Pamlico Sound off North Carolina. The airship was ditched by its crew of 16 as a result of severe weather conditions. All men aboard were rescued by a fishing schooner

Rawdon

RAWDON — Saturday afternoon two straw stacks were burned at the farm of Mr. Ernest Grills, near Anderson's Island. The men were busy pressing straw when a spark from the tractor set the straw ablaze. By the time several concessions were notified as was the Belleville fire ball. The fire fighting equipment from the city was soon on the scene. With good supply of water and the wind blowing away from the buildings, it was possible to hold the fire to the straw and little other damage occurred. Had the wind veered it would have been impossible to save the buildings.

Princess Marks 27th Birthday Very Quietly

Although royal birthdays are celebrated in a modest way, Margaret's was even more so this year because both she and the Queen are recuperating from throat infections.

The Queen Mother, who has been staying at her Scottish home, the Castle of Mey, in remote Caithness, flew to Balmoral Tuesday to join the family for the birthday.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and relieve pain. Satisfying results in thousands have been relieved with this impressive solution right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was noted. Relief was verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—that improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of rectal troubles, conditions, some of even 10 to 50 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or surgery of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—a discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H. Suppositories or Preparation H. ointment with easy-to-use applicator. Preparation H. is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Think Arms Talks Will Recess Soon Without Accord

New Concession to Russia On Nuclear Tests Last Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials now expect the present series of London disarmament talks to recess in about two weeks without agreement for ending the East-West arms race.

President Eisenhower's new concession to Russia on the issue of suspending nuclear test explosions is regarded here as improving the Western positions for negotiating and propaganda. But it does not appear to have affected materially the basic deadlock between Russia and the Western powers.

A White House statement Wednesday announced Western readiness to accept conditionally a two-year—instead of a 5-month—suspension of tests. This statement followed by a few hours instructions by the Soviet Union toward Western proposals would constitute a big brighten the prospects for eventually getting an arms reduction and control treaty.

There has been no indication of any important Soviet gesture.

WARNS SPLIT

On the contrary, Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin told American, British and French Canadian representatives at Wednesday's meeting at London that if they insist that they must not recear tests they must renounce the link between that issue and the Western demand for an agreement to stop production of atomic explosive for military purposes.

Zorin, according to a report to the state department here, welcomed the offer for a two-year test suspension when it was formally presented by U.S. negotiator Harold Stassen and Eisenhower's personal authorization. But news dispatches from London quoted Zorin as saying the new Western proposal contains too many reservations. Correspondents quoted Zorin as saying the new Western proposal contains too many reservations. Correspondents quoted Zorin as saying the new Western proposal contains too many reservations and conditions. Zorin did, however, promise to give the proposal careful study.

Russia proposed in mid-June that tests be suspended for two years. Since then the Soviet Union has repeatedly attacked the Western insistence on the 10-months period.

SAID SIGNIFICANT

The Eisenhower statement declared the new Western offer as a significant change in U.S. disarmament policy. Before it was made public here it had been discussed with British, French and Canadian officials concurred. It also was reported to the council of the North Atlantic treaty organization.

The most important condition for suspension of nuclear weapons tests, the statement made clear, is that the suspension should be part of an agreement which will safeguard cessation of production of fissionable materials for weapons purposes and which will establish control systems to insure performance."

LAKE ERIE VICTIM

WHEATLEY (CP) — Donald Leslie Farmer, 14, of Detroit, drowned Wednesday night in Lake Erie one mile east of here. He slipped from a pier that stretches out into the lake and disappeared in the murky water despite efforts of his two brothers to save him.

Weather Station 19 Miles in Sky Could Forecast for Half Continent

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A weather station 19 miles up could improve weather forecasts for half the continent, says the air force doctor-pilot of a balloon that soared to a record 19,400 feet.

Maj. David G. Simons told a press conference Wednesday night that one forecaster at that altitude could accomplish more than a score of ground weather stations.

From his vantage point in the balloon's gondola he was able to spot numerous thunderstorms at the same time, Simons said. Ordinarily only one can be observed from earth. He reported earlier having seen the western coast of Lake Michigan from above Brainerd, Minn., a vista of some 450 miles.

Simons, fully recovered from the fatigue he showed when he landed the balloon near Ellendale, N.D., Tuesday, was asked why he undertook such a dangerous assignment.

"Because I but asked for it harder than others," he replied.

He thought it would be possible to send a balloon to 30,000 feet into the 120,000-foot level.

Simons said it is possible that the air force might devise a gondola which could carry four or five men as high as he went. He said that would enable a couple of men to relieve each other while the others watched instruments, snapped pictures and carried on experiments.

Col. John Stapp, rocket-sled expert who is chairman of the air force's "man high" operation, said Simons had been sort of a one-man band on the flight.

"He had to keep alive with one hand while watching instruments dials and snapping photographs with the other. That he was able to retain complete objectivity in these difficult circumstances is a tribute to him."

ALL NHA-ALLOWED FUNDS WILL BE USED FOR HOUSING

Govt. Moves to Aid National Economy

OTTAWA (CP) — The government plans to make the full amount authorized under the National Housing Act available for house-building loans.

The move, announced Wednesday by Prime Minister Diefenbaker, means pumping $150,000,000 more in federal funds into the house building industry as NHA loans. The former Liberal government had already lent $100,000,000 of the $250,000,000 authorized by the act.

Aims of the move are to provide employment needed now, low-priced houses and to combat winter unemployment by providing more jobs in house construction and allied industries.

The government believes the loans would be available to homeowner applicants, builders and private investors through existing approved lenders — chartered banks, insurance and loan and trust companies—who operate as agents for the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, the Crown agency that administers the act.

TO SETTLE DETAILS

Ottawa is to call a meeting of representatives of the agencies concerned to work out details.

Officials said the loans would bear the present six-per-cent interest rate. Maximum loans available had not yet been decided and might vary with location.

Mr. Diefenbaker, in his announcement, said the new housing units started were 23 per cent fewer in the first half of this year than in the corresponding period of 1956. This was attributable mainly "to a reduction in the available supply of mortgage funds, particularly under the National Housing Act."

The decision was made "to ensure that any borrower qualifying under the act and wishing to finance the construction of a low-priced house will not be prevented from doing so by the lack of mortgage funds. In the case of builders, loans will be made only as current sales warrant."

SUPPLEMENTARY

He added the government funds were intended "to supplement and not to curtail the existing programs for mortgage lending or there approved lending agencies."

Earlier, the national joint committee of the house construction had urged the government to increase the amount of money available for home building this winter. The committee is made up of representatives of business and labor organizations headed by the Canadian Construction Association.

Storm Sweeps Saskatchewan

REGINA (CP) — High winds, torrential rains and driving hail left a path of destruction across southeastern Saskatchewan Wednesday in a series of severe storms.

Details of the storms were not yet available but no fatalities were immediately reported but preliminary reports indicated crop and property damage may run into thousands of dollars. No injuries were reported.

Grounded Four-Engine Plane Spins Half-Hour Like Top

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A big four-engined cargo plane acted like a merry-go-round in a freak takeoff accident Wednesday, spinning on the ground for half an hour before catching fire.

The three-man crew escaped by sliding down a rope while the plane still was twirling. Minor rope burns were their only injuries.

Capt. Mike Moore, 39, the pilot, said the American Airlines DC-6 had just left the ground at the international airport when the right landing gear collapsed. It flipped into the fuselage and one blade came out the other side and slashed into the left inboard engine.

The plane went off the runway for 2,000 feet and the elevator while Moore and his crew frantically tried to shut off the runaway engine. For 25 minutes they fought to stop their carousel, but there was no way to shut off the power because of the damaged controls.

As the plane spun, its left dual-wheel landing gear dug a footdeep circular groove in the ground. The craft was pivoting on its right wheel.

Finally the left inboard caught fire, and Moore and his crew decided to leave—without getting the brass ring. They slid to safety down a rope dropped from an escape hatch.

The plane continued circling for five more minutes while firemen extinguished the flames. Finally the plane, like a tired and exhausted bird, came to a stop —by itself. Why, no one knows.

Dulles Has Plan to Permit 20 Newsmen to Go to China

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration is reported ready to announce soon that about 20 American news correspondents will be permitted to go to Red China on a six-months trial basis.

The announcement, expected in the next day or so, would end an eight-year blackout on eyewitness reporting from China. American reporters operating on Red China mainland—provided the Communists still are willing to let them in.

State Secretary Dulles has worked out a plan after polling newspapers and radio-television executives. This survey produced a list of news agencies which want to station correspondents permanently in Red China.

The 12 agencies which previously had men on the China mainland have told Dulles that they want to send representatives again. These include The Associated Press, United Press, International News Service, Colonial National Broadcasting Company, Mutual Broadcasting Co., New York Times, New York Herald Tribune, Chicago Tribune, Chicago Daily News, Christian Science Monitor and Time Magazine.

Flight or so others have requested permission to station reporters in China permanently.

Another list includes news organizations interested in temporary correspondents, but Dulles is understood to have decided that only the first list of information will have to wait until he gets Red China's okay first.

If all goes well, the 20 or so permanent correspondents could be on hand after the first month. Others could be permitted to make visits.

Russia, West Deeply Divided On Disarmament

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia and the West appeared as deeply divided as ever on disarmament proposals despite the West's new plan for a ban on nuclear tests.

The Western plan, presented to the five - power disarmament talks Wednesday, moved closer to declared Russian aims by proposing a suspension of test explosions for two years instead of only 10 months.

But the plan insisted on safeguards. While Russia wants an unconditional ban, the proposal the West wants the ban made conditional on a control and inspection system agreed on. The proposal must be part of a wider first-stage disarmament agreement.

American sources at the United Nations disarmament subcommittee talks said Russian delegate Valerian Zorin commented that he was "gratified" by the new proposals and would study them careful study. But other sources quoted Zorin as saying the new "offer" was a "retirement," insistence on safeguards, remained.

Cadi 'Unhappy' To Convict Man Drinking Beer

WATERLOO (CP) — Jerome Carey was convicted Wednesday of illegal consumption of alcohol because a neighbor complained about him drinking a bottle of beer in his back yard.

Magistrate J. R. H. Kirkpatrick said the only penalty he could impose was court costs. He said he was "unhappy" to convict Carey and ordered him to pay 1,000 other citizens likely were doing the same thing on the holiday.

He refused defence lawyer Roy Youngson's request that the charge be adjourned indefinitely or dismissed. He said he could not substitute his own social views for the law framed by the Ontario legislature.

However, he said, complainants in such cases should be made to appear in court.

PRIEST AFRAID TO RENT HALL FOR UNION MEET

Men Would Be in Trap If Gang Came Down

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP) Provincial police are maintaining a close watch against a possible recurrence of violence at a meeting quo quiet settles on this remote Gaspe Peninsula copper mining community.

Provincial police have two constables on duty on an around-the-clock basis at Murdochville's only hotel, where three officers of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) — Lawrence Bedard, Bruno MacDonald and Theo Gagne—are staying.

The USWA called 1,000 men off their jobs at Gaspe Copper Mines Limited on March 11. The bitter and bitterness resulted in two ugly outbursts here Monday.

Threats were heard Thursday that a group of non-striking workers intended to rent the hotel and carry off the three union officials. Police immediately alerted the provincial guard and company officials said later the non-strikers promised to take no action, unless provoked by the union.

BEDARD GUARDED

Police also are providing a guard for Mr. Bedard between the hotel and the union office, a distance of about a block.

The union officers were ripped apart Monday by a howling mob of 100 men. Seven cars and a truck were overturned and smashed when the mob left the office.

Mr. Bedard, USWA representative here since the strike started, said he will stay on the job.

He reported a request he made to parish priest Father Allard to rent a hall for a union meeting has been turned down.

Father Allard told a reporter he had decided against granting the request "as a matter of prudence."

"If a meeting was held here and a gang came down, the strikers would be in a trap," he said.

Phony Time Bomb Delivered to Plant Manager

TORONTO (CP) — A phony time bomb was delivered Wednesday to the factory manager here of the strikebound Lever Brothers Limited plant in east Toronto.

Police said the device, addressed to product-liaison Chief Charles W. Cosgrey, was handed to the guard by a small boy on a bicycle.

The gadget consisted of a stick of dynamite with a loud alarm clock. It was in a flashlight box padded with cotton and the box was wrapped in brown paper. There was no detonator, fuse or battery, police said. A piece of wood attached to the clock gave the appearance of a detonator.

Ousted Syrian Envoy Will Not Return Home

ROME (AP) — Syria's ousted military attache in Italy says the regime is changing in his country and that he probably will not return home because of the charges of participating in a purported American plot to overthrow the Syrian governmeq.

Col. Abdel Hamid Hussein confired from his diplomatic post last week after the charges were made against him. He said then he would return home, and declared he had absolute confidence in his government. Wednesday night he said: "For the time being I will not move from Rome."

He noted reports from Damascus indicating that army officers have been arrested on charges of conspiring with Egypt's president Gamal Abdel Nasser. President Shukri Kuwatly's government has denied there is any leader in the U.S. state department.

"The situation in my country has worsened in the past few days," Hussein said. "Now it is the turn of Syria to be in danger. I am guilty. The reality now is that in Syria they are building a regime. Only we what sort of justice I would find there if I decided to go back."

THINKS REDS RULE

Hussiney indicated his belief that Communists have seized power in Damascus. Gen. Afif Bizry, who became Syrian chief of staff Saturday, has denied reports that his rise to power constituted a pro-Soviet coup d'etat.

But Damascus, Salah Tarazi, secretary-general to the foreign ministry, officially called "exaggerated" the reports that Western press that Communists have taken over the government.

Government officials insist Syria is not aligned with any power bloc, but maintains its policy of positive neutralism.

URGE PENSION BOOST

TORONTO (CP) — The city's civic welfare committee Wednesday urged that the old-age pension should be raised to $70 or $75 a month. It asked for support from all Ontario municipalities. The committee passed unanimously a motion asking the provincial government to act with Ottawa to restore to the pension the purchasing power it had when the $40 pension was first introduced.

Save 2-Year-Old Saskatchewan Boy From Well After 5 Hours' Digging

BIG RIVER, Sask. (CP)—Farmer Clarence Johnson started drilling for water in his farmyard Wednesday. He reached the 17-foot mark, then turned his back for a few minutes to rest.

Minutes later, his vacationing nephew, two years old, stumbled and fell—down the well at the bottom of the hole. Johnson had used a 10-inch auger to start the shaft and little Kimdale Smith was pinned firmly at the bottom. It took almost five hours to get him out.

Prince Albert, their nirest town, called Kimdale's father. He lowed police a mile north to the farm, expecting to see a fire. Instead, he found his child was trapped, 100-odd volunteers pitched in with shovel and hoe. They dug a 17-foot excavation adjacent to the well hole, then tunnelled to where Kimdale was getting oxygen through a pipe.

It was almost midnight before the rescue was completed but young Kimdale, described by his father, Fred Smith of Saskatoon, as "a venturesome type who knows no fear," came up smiling. Doctors said "there wasn't a scratch on him."

"The men of Big River did a remarkable job," RCMP Inspector A. J. Ashwell said later. "They worked like Trojans."

The youngster was playing in the yard when his sister Beverly, 15, ran inside to get her ma's opening, stumble and disappear. His aunt, Mrs. Johnson, rushed and pinned solidly his hands at about face level. He could move only his feet and body.

Two bulldozers were used to clear a shallow trench as well. They made it about 20 feet long, then the manpower took over. The shovellers, working in relays, pushed a 15-foot-long, 24-foot-wide trench down 17 feet.

"It seemed like a lifetime," Mrs. Smith said later.

During the 4½ hours of actual digging, she stayed near the well hole, talking gently to her son. Kimdale continued wailing—"As long as he was crying, I knew he was okay."

Delirious Man Thought Key To Flight Swindle

71 Travellers Marooned In Paris With No Money

MONTREAL (CP)—A delirious man who hasn't eaten in two days is believed to hold the key to the mystery of 71 travellers suddenly marooned in Paris, France, on their way home to Canada.

The man is a patient in a St. Jerome hospital, 30 miles north of here in the Laurentian Mountains. Doctors say he is suffering from malnutrition and shock.

He is believed to be the travel agent who offered round - trip fares for special charter flights to Europe, and then arranged only to get his clients—chiefly new immigrants to Canada — to Europe.

"He's a very poor businessman but not dishonest," his wife said. "Last Christmas he had a nervous collapse and the travel charter flight he arranged didn't materialize."

The pair doesn't know how to handle a business. He has five charter flights to his credit and failed with three others, besides this last stranded trip."

The future-minded Saturday —hadn't been paid for, and the 71 passengers were stuck in Paris. Nineteen made their own way back to Canada, but the rest —many penniless—spent their holidays—are still there.

GROANS IN MANAGER

The man was found under unusual circumstances. The manager of St. Adele resort hotel, 45 miles north of here, had heard groans from a room where a "don't disturb" sign had remained for two days.

He looked in and found the guest almost unconscious. The manager said there were letters on the floor addressed to the hotel manager, another to a lawyer, and a third slip of paper listing names with money notations beside them.

One note envelope—its contents still secret—was also found.

But the St. Adele police had a different story. They said the man was found wandering dazed lessly through the resort town streets. They said he hadn't eaten for two days.

Used 100,000 Gallons Short Supply Water

TORONTO (CP)—Firemen in suburban North York Township were forced to use more than half the township's scarce water supply Wednesday to put out a blaze in a manure pile at the farm of industrialist E. P. Taylor.

Violence Flares In Labor Dispute At Stratford

STRATFORD (CP) — Violence broke out in a labor dispute here Wednesday when truck tires were slashed, a car window smashed and an air compressor damaged as employees of the John Gaffney Construction Company crossed picket lines at the new Public Utilities Commission garage and Swift Canadian Company plant.

The picket lines were set up by Local 2541, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. The union claims the Gaffney company refused to accept a majority report returned by a conciliation board March 8.

Gaffney workers reported they were stoned when they went to recover an air compressor at the PUC garage. They said they found a tire ripped off the compressor, wires cut and the valve knocked broken. While they worked to get the compressor out three of the tires on their trucks were cut.

A stone was thrown through the rear window of a car owned by J. H. Dempsey, Gaffney official, as he drove workers through the lines.

Three Services To Participate In Missile Work

FARNHAM, Que. (CP) — Defence Minister Pe a r k e s says guided missiles now under way become a tri-service effort in the future.

Mr. Pearkes, here to attend a sports program staged by 1,400 employees of A. V. Roe Canada, a press conference Wednesday that the Avro Arrow, all-interceptor fighment, to be equipped with guided missiles, will be "an experimental unit."

"All manner of weapons—Canadian, British, American—will be tried out," he said. "It is too early for us to say what kind of aircraft—ever will be operationally equipped."

Mr. Pearkes said it is not known when the CF-105 jet fighter will go into production, but he said the piloted aircraft will not become obsolete, "in my lifetime, at least."

More Wire-Taps Will Be Played

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Senate rockets guided missiles program will more wire-tapped telephone conversations today, said at a press meeting James R. Hoffa's dealings with New York racketeers.

Hoffa, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, is the odds-on choice to succeed Dave Beck as president of the giant truck drivers' union. He was recalled for a third day of questioning on ties the committee says he had with Johnny Dio and other hoodlums.

Ghana Premier To Curb Rioting By Special Bill

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah planned to introduce a special bill into the National Assembly today to deal with anti-government rioting that has exploded violently in this former Gold Coast colony during the last two days.

Riots Wednesday, in which two policemen were severely injured, came after Nkrumah announced plans for the bill because of what he called a "deplorable situation" in this newly-independent African Commonwealth state.

Riots began Tuesday to protest deportation proceedings against two critics of Nkrumah. Opponents call accuse him of totalitarian methods.

Missing Snake Finally Reaches Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — A deadly bushmaster snake, mistakenly reported lost in transit, was checked into Toronto's Riverdale zoo Wednesday night.

From New York City, where it had first been reported, the snake's whereabouts went unknown until a Buffalo stationmaster informed zoo officials here that the reptile, travelling in a metal box, was en route to Toronto.

Zoo officials had launched the search for the snake, captured in Trinidad by Toronto scientists, by sending railway express notices between Toronto and New York. The snake must be the only living bushmaster in North America, they said.

Norman Scadding, zoo curator, said that because of cool temperatures through its voyage the snake is slightly inactive but in good shape. Feeding the reptile —bushmasters are cannibals that lived in captivity—is expected to be a problem, their diet consisting of small animals, other reptiles and eggs.

The time for Miss Homan's performance is Wednesday night, August 28, starting at 5 p.m.

KATHLEEN HOMAN

The girls who are competing for Dairy Queen are required to milk a cow of one of the prominent dairy breeds, and during the process they will be judged on their appearance, efficiency and ability to handle milking equipment.

County Will Seek to Protect Interests in Annexation Application by Belleville

Along with the townships of Sidney and Thurlow, the county of Hastings will seek to protect its interests in the annexation application of the city of Belleville to take some 3,000 acres now belonging to the neighboring municipalities.

Yesterday at the summer session of county council, Reeve T. C. Graham as spokesman for a special annexation committee, told council that the county solicitor R. D. Arnold, Q.C., had been authorized to represent the county and to prepare a brief for presentation at the annexation hearing scheduled for September 25 and 24.

Mr. Graham said the committee had found that both Sidney and Thurlow had made extensive preparation to defend their own interests and noted that the committee had been authorized to represent the county in the matter.

Additional comment J. Shannon of Marmora, said the committee realized there was much at stake and was aware of the loss which could result from the annexation.

This was reiterated by Warden Earl Rogers who also added that the county solicitor had been authorized to secure any additional help if required.

A new administration of justice agreement between the county and the town of Trenton will see increased payments by the latter municipality, council was told by Sidney township Reeve Byron Harder.

PAYMENTS INCREASED

In the new agreement quarterly interim payments by the town will be increased from $1,500 to $3,000 per quarter, while the percentage of total costs to be paid by the town will increase slightly from 13.5 per cent to 13.72 per cent. Administration costs to be paid by the town will be three and a half cents per capita.

The share of administration of justice costs is based on population with the agreement to run five years, unless annexation changes the picture.

Council concurred in a Stormont-Dundas and Glengarry resolution seeking a provincial subsidy to assist farmers in the high cost of placing drainage tile.

No action was taken on an Essex county resolution calling for the extension of the Livestock protection act to put some responsibility on the producer. At present livestock losses when animals are killed by dogs are paid 100 per cent of value.

Deputy Reeve Chas. Long of Tyendinaga said he felt payments should be on a basis of 75 or 80 per cent instead of full value. "This," he said, "might tend to have livestock owners take better care of their stock."

However Reeve Irwin McCoy of Marmora township said his municipality was now paying only 75 per cent of value.

When reminded by Warden McLaren that the act said full value must be paid, Mr. McCoy said he realized owners could be paid only 75 per cent payment. However, this hadn't been done.

PAYING ALL LOSSES

Rawdon Reeve James Spry said his township had been paying all losses at valuation figure whether or not the animals had been killed by dogs. "Consequently we have been a bit slack," he said.

Several councillors said that even full value for livestock losses might still not be good for farmers whose future profits from livestock might be affected.

There was considerable discussion on a Norfolk county resolution asking for the right of municipalities to appeal assessments for high school purposes to the school board and also calling for arbitration or municipal board awards to run for two years instead of five.

No action was taken on the first part of the resolution with members feeling this could lead to dangerous ground, but approval was given to the second part.

It was noted that awards given by arbitration on high school assessment matter ran for five years and that a change in the present change fi assessment two years instead of five. This, according to Reeve B. Harder and Alf Wickett, could lead to hardships with the cost of living rising and being dealt with larger one year and might be growing at a fast rate.

CONCUR IN RESOLUTION

Council concurred in a Lennox & Addington county resolution asking that regulations be changed to allow municipalities to levy on the reserve and thus lessen the necessity of borrowing.

He felt sufficient reserve to pay school demands before receipt of taxes could be set up. But too much borrowing was a poor way of running a municipality and he felt the same was true for municipalities.

But Reeve Buskard asked what difference there was in paying interest to a bank or the other hand losing interest on money which could be invested.

Some councillors felt the answer to cut down on borrowing was installment paying of taxes. Reeve J. N. Brown, Bancroft, said his municipality had adopted this procedure "and we have lots of money now."

Council gave authority to the Lakeland Natural Gas, Ltd. to lay pipelines on county roads in the vicinity of Trenton and also at Deseronto, the gas company to pay for cost of relocation of pipeline, which might be necessary due to future road changes.

The only question which arose was whether pipelines on the county property was taxable. This matter will be looked into.

Failed to See Warning Sign For Wide Curve

In county magistrate's court this morning a Dorset man was found guilty on a charge of driving without due care and attention.

The man, Dennis Mullen, 37, testified he was driving a car owned by Howard Cassidy, a fellow worker, on the way home south on Highway 14 near Foxboro after midnight June 2, travelling "between 25 and 30," when he approached a flat curve at the north end of that village. He said he failed to see the warning sign at the entrance of the curve because a car, driven by Robert Vaughan, 20, of Bellefonte, was stopped in front of it, obstructing his view. Mullen said he tried to pass but slid on the wet pavement, smashing into the Vaughan car.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills found Mullen guilty on the charge given and fined him $50 and assessed costs of $5.50.

In other court action a 17-year-old youth was remanded until September 5 on a charge of breaking and entering. He is accused of stealing cigarette, a slot slot and other merchandise from a Read store, August 8.

Gerald Fox, 23, pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully having a dangerous weapon in his possession. He was apprehended with the gun stolen from the Read store. He testified the youth gave him the gun following the break-in. Fox was remanded until next Thursday for sentence.

Ridge Road Will Be Rebuilt by Highways Dept.

The Ridge Road, five-mile stretch of county road leading from Stirling to West Huntingdon, will be built as a development road project with the Ontario Department of Highways paying the bill.

This was revealed at the opening day yesterday of Hastings County summer council session by Reeve Earl Sager, of Madoc, chairman of the county roads and bridges committee.

Preliminary survey for rebuilding of the road is now underway, although it is not expected much work on the project will be accomplished this year. Cost of rebuilding the road to development artery standard will be borne by the province which Mr. Sager said would also pay the bill for changing hydro and telephone poles which will have to be moved to widen the right of way.

The rebuilding of the road will be the first of its kind by forces or under county supervision.

Councillors learned at yesterday's session, however, that the province will be agreeable to approve development grant for the Stirling-Madoc road. A communication to this effect was received from Highways Minister, Hon. J. N. Allan.

Work is now progressing in the construction of the new bridge at Moira Lake on the Madoc-Foxboro road. Completion three miles of the road running south from Madoc has been rebuilt, while work is progressing on the by-pass at Halloway.

Corinne Calvet Will Take Stand In Libel Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The criminal libel trial of Confidential and Whisper magazines was in session today. Actress Corinne Calvet, that the first movie star may make her appearance on the witness stand.

Defence counsel Arthur J. Crowley has indicated that French actress Corinne Calvet, subject of a Confidential story, will be called.

Miss Calvet said Wednesday that she never posed for the amorous demands on actor John Bromfield and that the actor-Jeff page was "absolutely untrue."

"Confidential magazine is a malignant, evil thing," she said in an interview, "it must be destroyed, and I will be happy to help even if it means some embarrassment."

Confidential operative Fred Meade testified Wednesday that he personally interviewed about singer Dorothy Dandridge and actress Mae West by obtaining signed statements from those involved.

Meade, who with his wife, Marjorie, operated Hollywood Research, Incorporated, said Bandleader Dan Terry gave him an affidavit about a purported affair with Miss Dandridge. Meade said this was the basis for a story entitled "What Dorothy Dandridge Does in the woods."

And Meade said he and private detective Barney Ruditsky obtained a statement from the late boxer Chalky Wright that he lived in an apartment with Miss West for a year. The Confidential story was titled "Mae West's open door policy."

Meade, 53, who is being tried along with his wife and Confidential and Whisper magazines on charges of conspiracy to commit criminal libel, said he also got a signed statement from Hollywood playgirl Gloria Wellman that she and five other women appeared in the nude at the home of actor John Carroll.

Meade stated that he "never offered any girl or woman anything to go out and entice anyone into an embarrassing situation."

Counties to Urge Extension Of Highway 41 to Meet No.2

With costs of the proposed causeway over the Bay of Quinte near Deseronto, connecting Prince Edward and Hastings counties expected to be greater than the municipalities can bear, resolutions from the two county bodies will go to Queen's Park requesting extension of No. 41 highway from Napanee to No. 2 highway west of Deseronto.

A resolution to this effect was passed today by Hastings County council during their summer session and it is expected that a similar motion will go forward from Prince Edward county.

If the county request is granted the causeway would be within the highways route and the province could be expected to bear the cost of construction.

At present Highway 41 from Picton comes to a dead end in the northeast section of Prince Edward county with traffic ferried across the bay to Deseronto by private ferry.

EXTENSION POSSIBLE

Reeve Earl Sager, chairman of the county roads and bridges committee said that at the June 5 joint meeting between officials of the two counties it was felt the best solution would be the No. 41 highway route to connect up with No. 2 highway if this route is possible and suggested the counties had a just cause to present to the government.

He said the two counties felt that even the 10 per cent share which each of the municipalities would be asked to pay would be toward the cost of the causeway under the present highways proposal would be prohibitive.

However, if the request to the department was turned down the matter would be again considered from a county standpoint.

ESTIMATES MADE

The Deseronto causeway has been suggested for many years and estimates had been made as to the possible cost of the venture. Originally it was proposed that the cost be shared by the province, the federal government and the two municipalities concerned.

However plans were allowed to lapse when negotiations with the federal government were not completed.

Reeve J. Holt of Stirling wanted to know if accurate cost figures had been obtained suggesting that before the project be considered it be too expensive that plans be prepared and tenders called.

"This was advanced far beyond the talk stage years ago," noted Reeve Graham, "but the federal government did not see fit to accept the pate."

In reply to Reeve Holt, Reeve Earl Sager noted that if the highways department saw fit to extend the highway route it would prepare its own plans for the causeway.

The resolution requesting the department to extend the highway route was carried without further comment.

Belleville Macs Booster Club Under Formation in City

A group of fans of the Belleville McFarlands Senior "A" senior hockey team gathered at city hall last night with the sole purpose of forming a "Belleville Macs Booster Club."

Only 38 persons attended the meeting but those present lost little time in laying the grounds for what should be an interesting and worthwhile project. Another meeting has been called for Tuesday, August 27, at the city hall at 7.30 p.m. and the club's organizers last night urged every McFarland fan to attend.

Team manager Drury Denyes promised that a number of the McFarland players will be on hand to greet the public at this meeting. In the meantime a committee has been formed to contact all holders of season tickets last year, inviting them to join the club.

It was stressed last night, however, that you do not have to buy a season's ticket if you join the Booster Club. The only cost to members is $1 for a membership card. These cards will be ready for next Tuesday's meeting. Across the top will be a line reading "I am a Booster of the Belleville Macs Hockey Club." a

Those present at last evening's gathering were so anxious to have the club officially formed that 21 persons paid the entry fee and are now official members in the "Belleville Macs Booster Club." Mr. Andre Mercier was the first to join and will receive membership card number one.

Claude D. Tice, arena commission chairman, got the meeting under way by introducing manager Drury Denyes and explaining briefly the reason for forming the club. He explained that the organization will be run entirely by the members, not by the hockey executive or arena commission.

Since this was the early stages, it was decided that a committee should be formed to secure members and get the ball rolling rather than to elect an executive until a large membership is formed.

Mr. Harry Rollins was chosen as chairman of this committee with Ald. Robert Temple secretary. Four advisory members are Drury Denyes, George H. Carver, Jack Sheehan and C. D. Tice. The committee to secure members consists of Mr. and Mrs. James Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Pat O'Meara, Miss Mary Gavin, Andre Mercier, Cecil Cherry, Jim Ward, Tom Boyle, Geo. Whalen, Tom Nelll and Bill Rawson. It was pointed out that all those named above are temporary officers. A full permanent executive will be elected by the members themselves at the next meeting.

WHITBY CLUB EXAMPLE

The Whitby Dunlop Booster Club was used as an example of what such an organization can do. It was explained how the Whitby club helped obtain goalie John Henderson from the Boston Bruins, how plans were being made at the present time for the members to travel with their team to Europe for the World Hockey Tournament in February.

Members of a booster club usually help the team manager by looking for homes and jobs for incoming players by obtaining fund-raising affairs such as dances, bingos and by doing other small but important duties.

The Booster club will be making numerous trips with the team for away games and will buy a block of tickets for such games, enabling the fans to stay together. Should the club feel that a particular player or the team as a whole is deserving of special attention, presentation nights can be arranged. Harry Rollins, who chaired last night's meeting, commented that "this Booster Club will serve as a public relations outlet for Senior "A" hockey here as well as having a wonderful time."

It was decided that Robert Ballard of Alex, president of the Whitby Booster Club, will be contacted as to the operation of his club. Much information will be learned from Mr. Ballard and he will be asked to attend a future meeting of the Macs' club to explain first hand how a group operates. The membership of the Whitby club is said to be in the neighborhood of 1,500.

The committee asks that all fans who are interested in the McFarlands attend next Tuesday's meeting to meet the players and learn more of the club. Don't forget the time and place, City Hall at 7.30 sharp.

POOR SHOWING

Police at Brantford gave 402 cars safety tests. They found 43 per cent of them were unsafe to drive.

These are amazing figures. We are constantly being told that accidents on highways prove that human, and not mechanical, failure causes the great majority of them. But if the percentage of unsafe cars in Brantford is representative of the condition of cars in other cities—and we know of no reason why it should not be—we are forced to regard the conventional view of the causes of accidents with deep suspicion.

It would be interesting to know how many of the unsafe cars at Brantford had recently been serviced in a garage. If none of them had received such attention, perhaps we need a law requiring every vehicle to be given a mechanic's O.K. at periodic intervals. If many of them had recently undergone work, perhaps there might be some provision for garages to make certain cars on which they have done work are safe before they are released to their drivers. The average driver presumes that when a car comes back from a garage, even if it has only had a new muffler installed or the points checked, it is in a safe condition to drive.

SCIENTIFIC APPROACH

Science - it's wonderful!

"Today's Health," published by the American Medical Association, carries an article by Dr. Donald A. Laird of Lebanon, Ind., who states that "the contact of a favorite doll or woolly animal" may help children to go to sleep.

Isn't that amazing? Just shows you what can be discovered by really scientific research. What mother would have dreamed of such a thing?

If a favorite doll or woolly animal isn't handy, a more parent will sometimes be an acceptable substitute if he or she lies down beside the child. Dr. Laird does not go into the problem of how the parent gets up off the bed without awakening the child. This can be quite a trick.

Incidentally, Dr. Laird's research was not confined to children. Physical contact can also help overcome insomnia in adults, by providing a feeling of security. Dr. Laird, though, seems to be an unromantic soul. Instead of singing the virtues of the old-fashioned double bed, he recommends 'a dog in the room."

CHRISTMAS TREES

J. D. Hughes, writing in the weekly report of the Tweed district of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, gives some interesting statistics regarding Christmas tree production. In 1955, he says, Christmas trees "harvested" in Canada had an estimated value of $7,600,000. Even more interesting is the fact that "production has shown an uninterrupted increase over the last six years from an estimated eleven million trees in 1949 to almost 17 million in 1955."

Mr. Hughes warns that "an increase in demand for Christmas trees cannot be expected to go on forever," which is perhaps just as well or we might find ourselves selling potentially valuable timber for tinsel. It would be interesting to learn what proportion of the increase in Christmas tree sales was the result of planned cropping of reforestation plots. This might give us an inkling as to how much of the $7,600,000 business in 1955 was a true "crop" harvested in the most approved manner of forestry management, as per the needs of it represented premature cutting of trees which would have been more valuable if left to attain greater size.

THEY ALSO SERVE - - -

Ald. Albert J. Frank of Guelph charged at a city council meeting the other day that employees of the light and sanitation departments are the "worst loafers among city employees." Recently, he said, he saw a man up a pole "while six others were loafing under a tree for hours." No wonder whether he watched them for hours - - - or whether he just passed the pole several times and each time found one man working and the other six loafing. Ald. Frank's indignation is understandable in the case, perhaps he might reflect that a Hydro pole is pretty crowded for more than one man. Yet, by the same token, there are many jobs that require more than one lineman. It just so happens that this is the type of work in which they also serve who only stand and wait-until their assistance is needed - - a fact which should be kept in mind by any who might suspect that it is not only in Guelph that linemen seem to loaf.

REST

For weeks you will not climb the stairs
Or drive yourself or stir about.
You'll learn your kind of grave affairs
The world can get along without.
Forget your loved ones and your friends;
On trial rest your cure depends.

Well, rest seems easy stuff to take,
A pleasant tonic for the pale,
But rest is not any snap,
Though by no druggist kept for sale.

But though of medicines the best,
There's nothing tires so soon as rest.

For all a little rest is good,
But 'gainst too much we ought to guard.
The modern mattress turns to wood,
Rest makes the softest pillows hard.
By every standard, probe and test
The world's most tiresome task is rest.

Over 1 world like to make a few comments and compare it with another one I attended.

I paid my way in and thought I could sit down on a seat or stand up, if I felt like it, and watch the stage show and what-ever was on the track. I could not afford $1 sit in the grandstand on a cement bench so I found a seat on a bench that was told to move and had to stand behind a fence in it practically a cripple and a pensioner and have to walk as best I can with a cane. Apparently they admission only entitles one to take in the mid-way. Older people do not enjoy that as much as the track events, especially horse racing, if they are not ordered around and told where they can sit down or stand up.

The horses, or all of the Belleville fair directors would visit the stables enough to and see how the directors there run the fair. Admission there entitles a person to any place on the grounds except the grand stand, three some afternoon, and a good seat. All seats are covered. Admission is 50 cents for bleachers and 75 cents for reserve seats. All races are held after 8:00 and there is no interference. There is a stage show every afternoon and evening. In order to have large crowds they have a different show every day. People, therefore, do not get tired of just one show, and they surely have big crowds every day and night.

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Any time I enter or leaving your column it has occurred to me that I should write and compliment you on your prompt service and fine method of expression.

On Monday evening Intelligencer you brought out a subject which needed to be discussed. "Trees" were left at the Fair. Several of my friends who, like myself, paid heavily to enter the grounds and see the fair, easily a couple of hundred or more adults and children calmly walking along the trees and across the grass along behind the cattle and horses and when the performance finally began these people were, true, pushed back and roped off but were not only allowed to stand in front of the grandstand but were given the extra privilege of a close-up of Lessie, the Lone Ranger and Tonto, when they graciously slowly circled around in front of the grandstand. Later in the evening mentioning this fact to a local businessman he said, "Why, I've done that since I was a boy, I've never yet paid for a grandstand performance!"

Before closing may I say it's quite possible this year's fair was bigger and better, but most of us were so concerned about how much it was costing us that we really couldn't enjoy it.

Certainly the Fair Board deserves just praise for trying, but let's face it, this is Belleville and most of the Bay of Quinte folk just can't afford to attend more than once at the prices asked this year, that's why it took the Lone Ranger to pull them out of the red.

It would be interesting to know how many other citizens at our city fair a smaller admission would be just as well received with more of the local businessmen cooperating to make things livelier and more exciting by giving away samples and balloons etc., so that one could come home with something besides tired feet and empty pockets, not to forget the disappointed kids because Dad couldn't let them on all the rides at 15c each.

Thanking you,
Sincerely,
J. Amos.

Horse Versus Machine

By Peter Lyne, a London correspondent of the Christian Science Monitor

At a social gathering in London the other day a British Overseas Airways pilot on the transatlantic run was entertaining lively views on the difference between England and the United States.

"The basic trouble with the British", said the pilot, "is the horse."

"Over there on the other side of the Atlantic", he continued, "they understand how to make the most of machinery and equipment. They flog it to get the most out of it. They don't baby it.

"Here in Britain there are too many men busy fussing over and polishing the brasswork just as their grandads used to polish the harness on the guns and artillery — whistling through their teeth as they did it.

"Machinery", said the pilot, "isn't supposed to be treated like that."

You had only to look at him to see that a machinery man and not a horse man. Also he had a thin, hard face and jutting jaw. He was around his mouth which suggested he liked pressing home his attack. He was obviously intent on proving two horse-loving women who were present wrong.

These women at once set upon the pilot. They said finer characters building experience was there, they added, than travelling through one's horse after a hard cross-country ride!

"What about Dick Turpin and Black Bess? Gats and water for Black Bess? Stolen meals at the inn for Dick. Surely", said the woman, "that made fine men!" Then one of the women declared Dick Turpin was a bad character and was finally hanged for his thieving and highway robbery.

"At any rate, he looked after his horse", said the woman defiantly.

The pilot replied that he too, was kind to his strato-cruiser. He took good care it didn't run out of gas or oil over the wild Atlantic. But he argued that in the modern world it was necessary to be ordinarily humane and ruthless with machinery and equipment for a nation to keep its place or better its position in world economy.

* * *

This reporter was able to supplement the pilot's talk with some information and figures from a recent Economic Commission for Europe report. It showed how in Britain's nationalized railway system the use of machinery was most intensively enough. The utilization level of wagons is higher than in any other country in Europe.

There are every 1,000 tons carried at a year by a British wagon a German wagon carried 4,000 tons, a French wagon 6,000 tons and a Soviet wagon 8,000 tons. The turn-around time for a British wagon is given as 3.5 days, a German wagon less than six in Germany. Twice as many men are said to be needed to handle a given amount of traffic in British as in German railways.

The transatlantic pilot thought much of the cause of this could be found in the fact that Britain is a horse tradition. But is that the whole story? Is not tradition an equally horsey background? What about cowboys and covered wagons. And old today's epic are the supreme masters of the rapidly evolved mechanized industrialism was spreading all over the earth. And is it today's belief that trash population was multiplying like flies."

"What," I interrupted, "is 'trash population'?"

"All that population which," said my friend, "cannot survive through strength, skill, accumulated means."

"That's a cold appraisal," I protested.

"Remember," he said, "I spent my years in the twenties, the jazz age, which gave me the poorest

Personal Health Talks

So Total Abstinence Is Out of Date

Last October I submitted to parents a questionnaire asking whether they kept beer, wine or liquor in the home, whether they indulge in highballs etc, registrarly or on occasions and whether they would approve if teacher, pastor, physician, coach or minister asked their children to total abstinence.

Over 95% of the replies received said no, no and yes, respectively; but 30% said yes, they keep beer, wine and/or liquor in the house for their own use and for serving friends.

About 15% said they'd regard it as an impertinence if any one other than themselves asked their children to take the pledge. Some of these added their belief that if a boy or girl is going to drink he or she will do so regardless of any pledge.

The questionnaire gave numerous correspondents an opportunity to reproach me for sneering at them if they also disapproved of my endorsement of tea and coffee as beneficent beverages. They did not mention my fondness for the water. But they seem to be more an important point, namely, that I believe and teach that tea, coffee ort tobacco is invariably harmful to growing children and children are not full grown until they are 21 to 25 years old.

The result of the questionnaire was a great disappointment. First, there was but one answer from a physician, who, it is pleasant to say, ranked me to answer pounding away. There were a dozen from pastors who applauded as many from pastors who wished they could speak out as freely . . . but, you see, they don't blame them a bit — I'm glad I'll be as cowardly if I were a pastor.

And that reminds me, alcohol now ranks with steel and food as Big Business, and neither the clergy nor the educators nor the physicians can survive if they do not get along with the Big Business men.

In today's issue of a popular magazine no less than 91 pages are devoted to alcoholic beverages and liquor — pages carefully interspersed with this and that, of course. Such an exhibit is the weakest how many millions of Americans get their living from alcoholic beverages and liquor and how many billions American capital are invested in alcohol.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WORDS THAT COME BACK

Words are busy travellers. You rend them away and they take a good report, or one that is not — and as either case, they exemplify the power of the uttered word. Kind words, and considerate ones, are the world's greatest need. That word spoken in anger, or hate, keeps coming back to give us unhappy days and nights.

It is amazing to note the influence of words in the world of today and return to bless multitudes. Years after a speaker has gone, words come back to us for meditation and prayer. There was no bitterness in the inspired words of Lincoln. The words of Churchill keep coming back to us with new courage and messages to spread among the faint-hearted and the doubtful. The right word, spoken at the right moment, has many times performed a miracle! Memory keeps returning words from our friends, and then we are blessed through the means of our hearts.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A few weeks ago, during the Norman affair, there was a good deal of remembrance of the Duplessis days, and the methods of our scholars and intellectuals became influenced in, most members of, the communist party. A friend of mine who went through that experience recently recollecting it for me. I asked him what had prompted him to it.

"I formed the idea," he said, "as a young man, that the trash of the world was the world of creasing by leaps and bounds. All the forces which, in the past, had kept the trash population in check were decaying. Plagues, pestilence, famines and wars were ceasing brought under control. The trash, therefore, was increasing by ruthless rulers, with its cruelty, heartlessness, poverty, was being rapidly replaced. Communism was spreading all over the earth. And it seemed to me that trash population was multiplying like flies."

"What," I interrupted, "is 'trash population'?"

"All that population which," said my friend, "cannot survive through strength, skill, accumulated means."

"That's a cold appraisal," I protested.

"Remember," he said, "I spent my years in the twenties, the jazz age, which gave me the poorest opinion of my fellow creatures. Then came the depression, with its meanness of the well-to-do, and then the war, which massacred thousands of people all around me. I felt that the whole basis of authority had lost their control over us. And when I encountered communism, I, at first, accepted it. I seemed the perfect system. Its brutalitarianism, its pseudo-pseudo-scientific assessment of all human character and human motives — it would sweep the masses with all that talk about The People, The People and The People, the government, the proletariat, the trash. We would take away everything from the rich and give them to the trash, distil them, employ them. We would keep them happy, but under iron control. For they were trash. The People were the herd. We were the drovers."

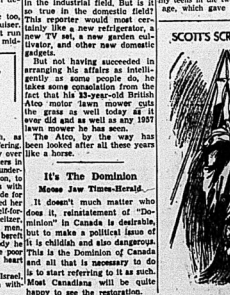
"Man," I said, "You were in deep. How did you get out?"

He smiled.

"I married," he said. "And had children. And I had the horrifying thought that somebody might consider them trash too. My children taught me that there is no trash in people."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT



Opera at Stratford

By ROBERT TANNER

From the start, three years ago, the Stratford Music Festival has been ambitious and original in its presentation of operas. - First of all, there was "The Soldier's Tale" by Stravinsky, starring the French mime, Marcel Marceau, in an unusual speaking role. Then, last year, came the Benjamin Britten opera "The Rape of Lucrece," presented by a distinguished Canadian-American cast. And now, with the composer himself in charge of a brilliant group of English artists, the Festival has brought to Canada another Britten work, "The Turn of the Screw," which received its North American premiere last Tuesday night.

Like so many of Mr. Britten's operas, this one is based on a grim theme, taken from one of Henry James' famous short ghost stories. It is some indication of the amazing talent of this great British composer that he carried the whole complicated score in his head while the cast was engaged, the dresses, decor and production planned, and only then, in the comparatively short space of three months, committed the music, with all its unusual tempos and rhythms, and its superb orchestration, to paper. The English Opera Group, which is presenting the work at Stratford, is the only one which has so far tackled it, having given nearly forty widely acclaimed performances in a number of European countries before crossing to this side of the Atlantic.

In spite of the extreme competence of the whole cast, there is no doubt that the artistry of Peter Pears, as the ghost of the villainous manservant Quint, stood out. In a part of considerable difficulty, there was never any sign of strain, even in the highest register, while his dynamic control was of a most unusual range. Oddly enough, it was the only other male member of the cast, young thirteen-year-old Michael Hartnett from Northern Ireland, who made the second greatest impression in the role of Miles, as much for his subtle and skillful acting as for his beautiful clear soprano voice.

Judith Pierce as the motherly housekeeper, instilled a rare warmth into both her acting and singing, and left her audience with a very firm conception of a very true-to-life character. Jennifer Vyvyan carried off the longest part, that of the new Governess, with competence and grace, while Arda Mandikian played the second ghost, that of Miss Jessel, the former governess, with considerable passion, although at times her diction left something to be desired. The part of Flora, sister to Miles, was taken by Olive Dyer, formerly a distinguished member of the Sadlers Wells Opera Company, whose small size, combined with charm and expert acting, allowed her to give a most convincing portrayal of a girl not yet in her teens.

CANADIAN MUSICIANS GOOD

A word should also be said in praise of the small group of thirteen musicians, mostly Canadian born, under the inspiration of Mr. Britten's baton, made even the most difficult passages sound clear and concise, and handled the lightning changes of mood which pervade the score with great experteness. Special mention should be made of the harpsichord playing of Thomas Burry, who let neither Bongo drums nor a large-size carillon defeat him, and contributed in no small measure to the evening's enjoyment. The whole production exhibited a polish and artistry which one is rarely privileged to see, and the capacity audience showed how much it had appreciated the experience by very prolonged applause. In short, this is a superb and exciting performance of a very great work, and, on its own merits, well worth a special visit to Stratford.

Six more performances of the opera are scheduled, and although it is proving an extremely popular drawing card at the box office, seats are still available for the later performances. In general, the whole Music Festival is drawing larger house than last year, and attendance percentages are in the nineties, a striking confirmation of the Board's courageous decision, after last year's rather disappointing season, to continue with the musical portion of the overall Festival.

IGNORED WARNING

KINCARDINE (CP) — A 12-year-old Kincardine girl drowned Wednesday minutes after she entered the choppy waters of Lake Huron despite warnings from lifeguards. The body of Gisela McCallum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCallum, was recovered 20 minutes after she disappeared about 100 yards off shore in 12 feet of water.

Labor Minister Will Revise Legislation

MONTREAL (CP)—Labor Minister Starr has forecast revision of "just about all labor legislation with the help of all parties concerned."

In an interview here Wednesday, Mr. Starr forecast labor legislation revisions to help the rank - and - file Canadian citizen and to reduce unemployment. These would take final form after Parliament opens Oct. 14 and after its first session.

He should not elaborate but he said nothing will be done without "complete co - operation" and agreement of employer, employee and unions.

"So far, I have personally approached by letter both labor union heads and various employers and all have expressed elation about the opportunity of expressing opinions."

In the past unions could only submit briefs, he said, when changes were required.

Mr. Starr, member for Ontario riding, was asked to comment on the strike at Gaspe Copper Mines in Murdochville, Que., where the situation is entirely within Quebec's jurisdiction and "we cannot intervene until asked to do so by the Quebec government."

DOUBLE CELEBRATION

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) Mr. and Mrs. William Young recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. It also marked the 100th year the farm on which they were married has been owned and run by the family.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Donald Harvey are pictured signing the register following their marriage in Holloway Street United Church. The bride is the former Miss Darrell Anne Cavers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Willard Cavers, of Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Wing Commander and Mrs. W. G. Harvey of Trenton.

HARVEY — CAVERS

Before a lovely background of blue and white gladioli, increased with ferns, a very pretty summer wedding was solemnized on Saturday, August 17, at 2.30 p.m. in Holloway Street United Church by the Reverend Cyril W. Coleman, pastor of the church, when Darrell Anne Cavers, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Willard Cavers, became the bride of Walter Donald Harvey, of Trenton, son of Wing Commander and Mrs. W. G. Harvey.

Mr. Charles Allen, of Peterborough, organist, rendered the wedding music and accompanied Miss June Bowerman, of Carrying Place, as she sang "Love's Coronation," before the ceremony, and "I'll Walk Beside You," during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. J. Willard Cavers, the bride was charming in her walk-length bridal gown of white shirred chiffon over satin, featuring a full skirt and fitted sleeveless bodice having a "V" type neckline in front and back. She wore matching elbow-length gloves with shoulder-length veil of silk tulle illusion, held by a flat white velvet bow, and carried a cascade of white 'mums surrounded by blue 'mums, and trailing ivy. White satin shoes and a single strand of pearls completed her ensemble.

She was attended by her sisters, Miss Suzanne Cavers as maid of honor and Miss Penny Cavers as junior bridesmaid. The maid of honor was gowned in Dior blue fashioned on lines identical to that of the bride, with blue velvet bow-type headdress, matching mitts and shoes; while that of the bridesmaid, also in Dior blue chiffon, featured a scoop neckline, puff sleeves, matching mitts and waltz-length skirt. Both carried cascade-type bouquets of blue 'mums surrounded by white 'mums and polished ivy. Their headdresses were flat, velvet bows.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the church parlors where the bride's mother, Mrs. Willard Cavers, received the guests, wearing a French, embroidered sheath over blue, French feathered hat, and blue accessories, with corsage of pale pink Sweetheart roses.

She was assisted in the receiving line by the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. W. G. Harvey, who was attired in champagne-colored nylon lace, featuring three quarter sleeves with matching accessories, and pale pink Sweetheart rose corsage.

The bridal table was daintily appointed with white linen damask and centred by a three-tier lighted wedding cake, misted about the base with white tulle and tiny blue petals. The bridal bouquets added a lovely nuptial accent.

Following the reception the young couple left by motor for northern points, the bride travelling in powder blue batiste with lace inserts on bodice, Persian powder-blue hat, black patent shoes and matching purse, with pale pink Sweetheart rose corsage. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey will reside in Belleville.

BEAMISH — POTTER

Miss Jacqueline Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph M. Potter, of Hastings, and former member of Tweed Consolidated School staff, became the bride of Samuel David Beamish, of Hastings, in a double-ring ceremony in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Warkworth, last month.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white peau de soie designed with full hooped skirt, in bustle effect, and long light sleeves. The tiara headdress held the fingertip veil in place and she carried a cascade of red and white roses.

Her attendants were her niece Mrs. Don Weatherstone, as matron of honor and junior bridesmaids, Leslie McCleary and Linda Hermiston, in pink and blue nylon chiffon, with rosebud headdress.

Mr. Murray Beamish was his brother's groomsman, and ushers were the bride's brother, Mr. George Potter, and Mr. Ray McCracken, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

MUCH POWER

Bride-To-Be Feted By Trousseau Tea

A trousseau tea was recently held for Miss June Dickens, bride-to-be, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Dickens, 169 N. Front Street.

Miss Linda Dickens, sister of the bride-to-be, opened the door for the guests, and was in charge of the trousseau book. The guests were welcomed by the bride-to-be and her mother.

Mrs. Marilyn Godbout, a cousin, was in charge of the trousseau while Miss Sandra Dickens, a sister, was in charge of the wedding and shower gifts.

The tea table looked lovely with its hand-cut embroidered cloth, pink tapers and bouquet of snapdragons and carnations.

Mrs. Margaret Johnston and Mrs. Gertrude Dickens, both grandmothers of the future bride, poured tea.

The refreshments were served by Misses Myrna Dickens, Doreen Dickens, Yvonne King, and Marlene Clapp, all cousins.

Replenishing plates and making tea were Misses Lindanee Kay Dickens, Isobell Dickens, Viola King and Mary Clapp, all aunts of the bride-to-be.

Christening Rites Held at Two City Churches

On Sunday afternoon two christening services were held, one at St. Thomas' Anglican Church, and one at Tabernacle United Church. At St. Thomas' the twin children of Mrs. Harold Zimmerman, Stephen Wilkinson, and Stephanie Margaret were christened by the Reverend Canon A. S. McConnell.

The godparents of Stephen were Mrs. Ross Druce, of Kingston, and Mrs. Don Woodcox, of Belleville, while those for Stephanie were Dr. A. C. McGonigle, of Belleville, and Mrs. John Thompson, also of Belleville.

At Tabernacle United Church Stephen Ann, and Sandra Avril, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson received the rite of christening by the Reverend R. A. Rowley. The godparents of Stephen Ann were Harry Abbott, or Sarnia, and Mrs. Harold-ee Zimmerman, of Belleville, and for Sandra, Mrs. Harold-een Zimmerman, and Mr. Ross Druce.

Following the christening rites, a reception was held at the floored-decked home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilkinson 271 Bleecker Avenue where a christening luncheon was served to approximately 50 guests.

The tea table was appropriately appointed with an Italian cut cloth, centred by tall white candles in silver candelabra flanking the christening cake. Those who poured were: Mrs. Gall, and Mrs. Clifton, both of Belleville.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE SHOULD LEAVE THIS BRUTE

Is there any reason why a wife should remain with a husband so domineering that she can't call her soul her own, and who even downright abuses her on occasions?

I can think of no reason whatever.

Some may say that if the wife is dependent on the husband for the support of herself and her children, that is reason enough. I disagree. It's quite true that the question of support presents a serious problem. But, in the event of her husband's death, the problem would have to be solved some other way, so why can't it be solved if she saves herself from a living death by leaving him?

Whatever the problems that might present themselves, I believe they would be more easily handled, and certainly with far less difficulty and suffering, than the problem of handling and suffering with the kind of husband described in the following letter:

At 19, I married a man several years older than myself. I'm now 24. The first three months of my marriage were happy, but after that everything finished. My husband made me suffer, and didn't even let me out of the house.

"Since then, his jealousy has been driving me crazy. I can't go to church or even outside my home. There is no reason for him to be this way, because I have no friends. Besides, I'm a serious woman, because I don't how I was educated by my parents.

"I went back to my home for awhile, but I had letters from my husband asking me to return to him and he promised he would change. So I returned, but since then he's made me suffer more. He even beats me in front of my children and other people. I don't want my parents to know about this, because it will create a problem. When I complain to him, his answer is that there are others who don't go out and don't complain about it. I don't care to be on the street all the time, but I do want to go to church with my two children.

"Now I've decided that if my husband doesn't change, I'll leave him in one year. I've hesitated to do this before, because of my children, but I am sick and tired, and have lost all love for him.

"Please tell me if I should stay with my husband because of my children, or if I should leave him. I feel as though I am living in a small room without any air and cannot breathe."

Now as I see it, the only wrong thing about leaving such a brute of a husband would be to wait a year before doing so, instead of leaving as soon as she can possibly arrange it. What I think this wife really ought to do is to begin immediately to make her plans, and I think she should make them without informing her husband, who might be roused to violence if he knew what she had in mind. With a man like this, she should take no chances.

So my advice to her is to write to her family, tell them exactly what is going on, and ask for money to return to Puerto Rico. I don't think she should hesitate any longer to let her people know the kind of life she is forced to lead.

If she gets the money to return to them, it would be wise, I think, if she could manage to get herself and the two children out of her husband's house without his knowing about it in advance, for I would be apprehensive of the reaction if he did know. She could simply leave a letter, saying that she could stand life with him no longer, and so had decided she must take the step of leaving him.

Once she's back in her own country, she wouldn't need, I should think, simply to live on her family. Surely they would help her make some arrangement about the children so that she could go out to work and earn the necessary money to take care of them and herself.

As I said in the beginning, there is nothing good in staying with a brutal husband. All she is doing, as long as she does stay, is to keep herself exposed to the risk of some horrible thing happening to her at the hands of her husband.

What sense is there in taking such a risk?

Our neighbor, Howard Outerbridge, was "baching" while Edna was in Muskoka so we invited him to dinner. I planned a meal pie from Sunday's roast. At 5:40 P.M. he telephoned to say he was sorry but he could not come as Edna had just arrived home. I said "Bring her too — it will be all the better" — knowing they were not prepared for dinner and that we had plenty.

I had driven Anale home and she had plucked 6 cobs of corn fresh from her tiny city garden, so with the English Pastry I had chilling in the refrigerator I was satisfied dinner would be good. The guests and my own family carried on about the pastry. Pete said "Must your readers shout about this." So before I am advertising my own products. But you know why I do it — I want your family to have the best you and I know how to make.

COMPANY MEAT PIE:

You should allow about 8 to 10 bite-size pieces of roasted meat when you are making a meat pie. It is not essential to have leftover gravy, but is desirable. First make the English Pastry: (This amount makes a pie big enough to serve 4 amply. I made 1½ times this recipe to serve 6.) Two cups plus 1 tablespoon sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup best quality shortening, ½ cup boiling water, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 small egg yolk. Sift together dry ingredients and cut in ½ cup shortening. Dissolve remaining shortening in hot water, stir well, add lemon juice, then stir in egg yolk. Add slowly to flour mixture, stirring, then knead 3 minutes. Chill thoroughly well covered. Since it is soft to roll out you can further harden by standing it in the freezer compartment for about 15 minutes. Divide pastry in half, roll out in long sheet about 5 inches wide. Cut in halves lengthwise and line sides of baking dish with these strips.

FILLING:

Trim the meat from the bones of a leftover roast and cut off excess fat and cut the pieces roughly into 1-inch cubes. Clean 6 carrots and cut into halves crosswise. Peel 4 medium onions. Put both on to boil in separate saucepans until ½ tender. If you do not have gravy make the cooking liquid from these 2 vegetables when they are cooked, up to 1 pint by adding water, then add 4 chicken or beef bouillon cubes and stir until dissolved. If using gravy make it up to 1 pint by adding these vegetable waters to it. Keep it very hot. It should be highly seasoned.

When sides of large baking dish are lined with the pastry put in meat and cooked vegetables and 4 peeled and cut up tomatoes, and some finely chopped parsley and celery if desired. Pour over the hot gravy or broth. Roll out second half of pastry to fit top, fold it to gash centre. Carefully lift to cover dish and seal at edges. Brush top with milk. Bake at 475 deg. F. 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. for 35 to 45 minutes.

Shine Silver with SODA

Cover bottom of pan with aluminum foil. Add 1 teaspoon Soda to each quart of water, heat to boiling. Immerse silver so it touches foil. Tarnish disappears quickly. Rinse and dry with soft cloth.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. SHECKMAN

NAME OF BRIDE'S MOTHER, WIDOW

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My father died several years ago, and my mother and I have never seen eye-to-eye on the correct form of name for her, a widow, to use. I don't like to seem disloyal, but I just hate to have her use the form "Mrs. Catherine Robbins," which she so often does, to my great embarrassment. Just occasionally, when I win out on the argument, she uses the correct form "Mrs. John Robbins."

Every time you write in your column about the correct form of name for a widow to use, I read it to her. But, let's face it, she's obstinate. But now I'm about to order my wedding invitations, and I just won't have them read: "Mrs. Catherine Robbins requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of her daughter." They should read "Mrs. John Robbins," shouldn't they?

As a great favor to me, Mrs. Beeckman, will you please print this plea of mine in your column, so my mother, and I'll read it to my mother, to try to convince her, persuade her? — Daughter requests the honor of your presence.

You are right, you are right. Your formal wedding invitations should read:

It's too bad, isn't it, that a person insists on being wrong on an important point like this, when it is so easy and simple to be right! I suggest you go with your mother to a really authentic stationer, or to the Stationery Department of the best local store, one who knows what's what, and ask to be shown correct forms with the correct name for a widow to use. For an item so extremely important to you as your wedding invitations, your mother should be cooperative, should agree to do what is correct.

NAMES ON WEDDING INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My prospective groom's mother is all upset that my parents are not including his parents' names on our formal wedding invitations. She insists that in the country from which they came this is always the custom. But in this country I have never seen this done. Please advise me.

Bride-to-be

This is, as she says, undecided by the custom of the country from which she came . . . it is still the c u s t o m in many European countries. But, as you say, it is not the custom here in this country, and the correct and natural procedure is for you to follow the custom here. It makes sense that since your parents are the hosts of the wedding, the invitations should be sent in their name only. Ask your bridegroom to explain this to his mother and father . . . have him explain too that they have the important position of being guests of honor at the wedding, and therefore their names should not appear as hosts also.

CORRECT FORM OF CLERGYMAN'S NAME ON WEDDING INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My bridegroom-to-be is a Protestant clergyman. He has not the D.D. or other honorary degree. What is the correct form of his name in our formal wedding invitations? — K.

The Reverend John Paul Gordon. (It is most important that "Rev." be engraved before "Reverend." And, if possible, "Reverend" should be spelled in full.)

TIPPING EMPLOYEES IN APARTMENT HOUSE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am very soon moving to an apartment house in a very large city, and in this apartment house there is a doorman. Since I don't know the rules in this country on how to tip for services of this kind, I would so much appreciate your help. Please tell me how often and how much I am supposed to tip the doorman. And also am I in obligation to give the doorman a tip the day I move in? (I am not a rich woman. I have to work.) I thank you so much for any suggestions you will give me. — E. L. M.

It is the usual custom for those who live in apartment houses to tip the doorman (or doormen if there is a day doorman and a night doorman) at least once a year, usually at Christmas time. At Christmas time too a tip (or "gift") is usually given to the apartment house superintendent and or janitor, elevator operators, if any, and any other attendants. (In many apartment houses there is a Christmas Fund for Employees, to which you may contribute if you wish.) Or some people prefer to give a definite tip every month, say, instead of at Christmas tip, and some employees prefer this. The amount of the tips depends in general on the amount of your rent . . . of course on any special service you ask for and receive . . . and, as in all tipgiving, on your tipping-inclination. I'm obliged to give the doorman a tip the day I move in? (I am not a rich woman. I have to work.) I thank you so much for any suggestions you will give me. — E. L. M.

Eggleton WMS W.A. Make Presentation

MADOC JUNCTION — The August meeting of the Eggleton W.M.S. and W. A. was held on Thursday evening at Eggleton United Church.

Mrs. Bruce Stapley presided over a program, which had been prepared by Mrs. Harry Clarke and Mrs. Clarence Pitchett and opened the meeting by reading the poem "God's Guiding Hand."

"God understands the way you take
He knows the trials of each day
And sympathizing, lends an ear
To hear you e'en before you pray
He walks with those, who trust His love,
He holds them by the hand to guide
What need to fear or be dismayed,
With His dear Presence by Your side."

This was followed by singing of "Jesus Calls us; O'er the Tumult", with Miss Joyce Stapley as pianist.

During the devotional period, Mrs. Harry Clarke read St. Matthew 13:2-12; and Galatians 6:2-10 and gave the Meditation on the Lesson.

The offering was gathered by Beverly Stapley and Diane Prest and dedicated with prayer by Mrs. Warren Harlow.

The secretary read the minutes and gave the roll call, which was answered by 11 members four visitors and four Mission Band members.

The W. A. president, Mrs. C. Bridges took charge for the business period: The September meeting will be held on the 2nd. Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker, of Stirling. Mrs. Warren Harlow was appointed to prepare the program. Discussion followed on preparation for the annual bazaar, and it was decided to hold it on Wednesday afternoon, September 25th at the church. Invitations are to be sent out to a number of near by Women's Missionary Societies and W.A. groups. Mrs. Bruce Stapley and Mrs. Clarence Pitchett were appointed to arrange the program.

PRESENTATION MADE

Mrs. Harlow and Mrs. Maurice Clancy were requested to come to the front: On behalf of the Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A. Mrs. Harlow presented Mrs. Clancy with a leather, "My Trip" book, and voiced the wish of all that she would have a pleasant and safe journey to the West Coast and home again. Mrs. Clancy thanked her friends for gift and good wishes.

Discussion followed on holding "Vacation School" here on the week of August 19-23.

A poem "The Bible" was read by Mrs. Clancy.

The chapter from the study book "The Future is Now", was given by Mrs. Pitchett. This chapter dealt with conditions in "Singapore and Malaya Peninsula, and the advancement of the Christian Church there."

Mrs. Stapley spoke a few words of welcome to the visitors and the younger members, who had attended the meeting, and also thanked the program conveners.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, cake and ice cream were then enjoyed.

Teachers Need High Degrees Federation Told

Nellie MacDonald, status convener of the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Toronto, told 400 delegates at its annual convention that teaching must remain a pseudo-profession until every teacher has a university degree.

Mrs. Russell Gow of Ottawa reported 13 Ontario students have been awarded $200 bursaries to attend Ontario Teachers' College in September. They include:

Eleanor Gateman, Chesley; Marilyn Campbell, Collingwood; Joyce Coghlin, Listowel; Marjorie Jewell, West Elgin; Nancy Yates, Walkerton; Cynthia Buell, Gananoque; Joy D. Peal, Acton; Donna Melelich, Port Arthur.

A report prepared by the status committee for presentation to the convention frowns on male teachers taking summer jobs driving brewery trucks.

"It is our opinion that such employment should be avoided if possible," the report said. However, the report also made it clear that it could not condemn a young man who wished to help support his family in this way.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

PROPER SKIN CARE TAKES PLANNING

Her "beauty chest" is as well-stocked as her household larder.

"Skin care, like good housekeeping, takes planning, up-to-date knowledge, organization, and the right supplies," says Dr. Herbert Heinrich, director of one of the world's largest cosmetic research laboratories.

In a recent interview, Dr. Heinrich said that the modern woman must learn to assemble and utilize beauty products as she assembles the many elements that keep her household pleasant, efficient and smoothly-run.

"Every woman keeps her house stocked with food, cleaning aids, luxuries for entertaining, and the things needed to keep it warm, cool, fresh and fragrant as the occasion demands," said the scientists. "In keeping her personal appearance, especially her skin and hair, always at its best, she needs to think in much the same terms."

Instead of meeting one skin problem at a time, or concentrating on one aspect of grooming, the average woman should assemble her own personal commissary of preparations to maintain a normal healthy skin the year 'round, to counteract the effect of weather changes, dieting, ageing, cream heat, hot sun, detergents and so on.

"Healthy skin on the face, neck and hands, firm, moist, soft and clear, is not limited to the young girl. It can and should stay the same as — or better than — the skin on the protected parts of the body such as the inner arm and shoulders. Exposure to the air and its countless impurities and its temperature extremes, brings dirt into the minute openings which excrete oil. Cold and heat affect the flow of oil and the moisture which must mix with the oil to give the skin its normal non-dry surface.

"Counter-attacking the erosion of time on the skin is as easy today as providing good meals in an attractive home," he continued. "Every woman needs the basic essentials of skin care, a cleanser, a cream to maintain the balance of hormones and vitamins and a moisture-balancer to replace the moisture removed by cleaning agents, by sun or cold. The individual woman will find special preparations for special skin problems, just as she adds special ingredients to her larder."

Don't forget, warned Dr. Heinrich, that the opposite of dry skin is not oily skin. Oil and moisture are secreted by separate openings in the epidermis. Oil rising to a dry surface will stand in mimic pools. When the surface is supplied with the correct amount of moisture, the oil mixes and spreads over the skin to give a dewy, fresh appearance. Absence of this balance results in oily spots, alternating with a dry, scaly and old-looking complexion.

Nicolson Clan Holds Reunion At Nicol's Oval

"OUR NAME"

N — is for the nation, to which we all belong,
I — is for the increase, to make our family strong;
C — is for the challenge, life brings to us each day,
O — is for the One, to whom we all should pray;
L — is for the little ones, each generation claims,
S — is for the Sons, to carry on our name.
O — is for the Elders, who gave us life and love;

The Nicolson clan met recently at Nicol's Oval, Peterborough, to celebrate their annual get-together. While the men visited, the ladies unpacked the food and made a bounteous display on the picnic tables. At gashere around, as the time was 12:30 everyone was beginning to feel the pang of hunger. The dinner was enjoyed by all, and much time went along to aid digestion.

The president, Alex Nicolson, of Oshawa, called the gathering to order, and extended greetings and a warm welcome to all; also his appreciation to those who came, even though it was difficult.

It was decided that the next re-union be held at Frankford Community Park, on the second Sunday in July.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The officers for the coming year are as follows: president — John Thompson; vice-president — Alex Nicolson; sec. treas. — Ruth (Nicolson) Clark.

Since the meeting of the clan one year ago, there have been two births; to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sipes, British Columbia, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Halsey, Bayside, a daughter, One death, George A. Downey, Pulteney, New York.

A prize had been previously given for the lady who had the most articles in her purse. This was the inspiration for the following.

MILLIE'S PURSE"

My faithful purse, I carry with pride,
I wonder what I can get inside.
Now here's my powder and my paint,
(This makes me look like what I ain't)
I need my pencil and my pen,
A scratch pad, sun glasses, and then
This is the bill to change my shoes, and here's my sockee's toe need.
A needle and thread I often need
I'll try and get more of this flower seed.
This piece of cloth I must match,
Because Arthur's shorts need a patch.
My little mirror, brush and comb,
The bill to pay on the telephone.
My nail-file, tweezers and hair pins.
Hair-net, powder-puff, pink earrings.
Perfume, tooth-pick, keys on chain.
Kleenex, stamp, birthday card without name.
Small piece of yarn, color brown,
I'll get some more, when I'm over town.
All these safety-pins, look fantastic.
But then, you never can trust elastic.
These shoe-laces I'll tuck in,
Because the others are worn right thin.
This piece of gum I may as well have,
These aspirin tablets and pimple salve.
My thimble I'll have, because you see
To-morow I'm going to a quilting bee.
My little book, I like so much,
Has the address, keeps you in touch
A couple of crackers, but then you know,
These afternoon teas, are such a show.
Ah my flashlight, with the fancy chain,
(At a summer cottage, there's no water-works)
And now my purse, I guess we'll stop,
Because you know, I must go and shop.

I declare, here's my change purse and wallet,
Oh well! I, can put those in my pocket!"

RACES

Races were supervised by the president and secretary-treasurer. Each child received a gift as well as prizes for the winners. A peanut scramble was enjoyed by all.

During the course of the afternoon, a letter was read, from Mrs. Spry, who is at the present time, in British Columbia. Mrs. Spry extended best wishes and glad tidings to the entire clan, and also expressed her apologies for not being present. The weather was perfect, so all decided to stay for supper.

The sun began to sink in the west and as everyone had a full day, all took their departure with a hand shake and hoped to meet again next year.

Women's Activities

SCOTT'S W.A. - W.M.S.

SIDNEY — The ladies of Scott's church met in the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Martyn on Wednesday evening for their joint meeting. There were ten ladies and some children present.

Mrs. Sine, president, called the meeting to order and the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation" was sung, followed by prayer of intercession and guidance and a blessing on the new house.

The last chapter of the study book was discussed — the rehabilitation centre and leper colony in Hong Kong and Formosa. This gave the members an idea of the good work the WMS is assisting in, making the meetings and givings worth while.

The secretary was instructed to send for the new study book on Japan to be started in September. It was decided for the next month to have the WMS meeting separate from the W.A. dinner. The dinner will be held the second Wednesday in September in the church hall with Mesdames Carman Frost and Avery Martyn as hostesses.

Mrs. C. Copeland and her group had the devotional which closed the meeting.

Teachers Want Govt. to Raise Qualifications

TORONTO (CP) — Unless the provincial government raises elementary-school teaching qualifications, a teaching official said Wednesday, the Federation of Women's Teachers' Association of Ontario might be ruined. The federation embraces 13,000 members.

Margaret Grant of Toronto, committee member for certification, said the federation could be hindered and possibly ruined.

Women were allowed to teach in a grade 11 education plus two summers of six-weeks teaching courses, a situation the federation says is caused by a shortage of staff. Miss Grant recommended that standards be revised to grade 13 plus one year at teachers' college.

Conservative Syrians Flee To Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — At least 20 conservative Syrian army officers and politicans have fled Damascus and sought refuge in Lebanon in the last four days. Their flight was caused by the increasing leftward drift in Syria marked by the elevation of a pro-Soviet officer to the post of army commander-in-chief.

CO-OPERATIVE NURSERY HAS LOWEST RATE IN CANADA

For $12 a month, 80 children of Willowdale, Ont., will attend nursery school in a $19,000 building constructed by subscription from parents. The nursery is entirely co-operative with parent committees taking the children to zoos, fire halls, parks and museums. Summer picnics and winter sleigh rides are annual features. At $12 a month, the nursery is run at the lowest rate in Canada and the parent-subscribers hope the rate will decrease when a $10,000 mortgage is reduced.

ROCKETS MAKE EJECTION SEAT SAFER FOR PILOTS

Record Wheat Exports Cut U.S. Surplus to 905,000,000 Bushels as of Last July

WASHINGTON (AP) — Record wheat exports during the last marketing year cut the United States' surplus of that grain to 905,000,000 bushels as of last July 1, the agriculture department reported today.

The record exports during the year ended June 30 amounted to 547,000,000 bushels, the department said. The 905,000,000-bushel surplus was 128,000,000 bushels less than the near-record surpluses on hand a year earlier.

A further reduction in the U.S. wheat carryover is in prospect by next July 1, the report said, with the 1957 crop yield less than that of 1956, and with exports expected to continue at a high level.

Last year's exports compared with 346,000,000 bushels the previous year and broke the 504,000,000-bushel record set in 1948-49.

SUBSIDY AND AID PLANS

A large part of last year's export, as in previous years, was moved under government export subsidy and foreign aid programs.

The department said use of wheat domestically in 1956-57 dropped to 587,000,000 bushels—the smallest since 1921-22. The reduction was mainly due to use of smaller quantities for feed and seed.

Of the total wheat carryover as of last July 1, the Commodity Credit Corporation owned more than 830,000,000 bushels. Another 22,000,000 were under loan.

The crop report issued this month forecasts a 1957 wheat crop of 915,000,000 bushels, 82,000,000 less than last year. That crop, plus the carryover and possible imports, brings the total U.S. wheat supply for the year to 1,828,000,000 bushels, 211,000,000 under last year's supply.

With domestic consumption forecast at about 600,000,000 bushels this year, and with exports expected to be about 400,000,000, the carryover next July 1 should be about 830,000,000 bushels.

Woman Killed In Car Crash

NEWMARKET (CP) — Margaret Teasdale, 30, was killed Wednesday night and five other persons were injured in a two-car collision seven miles south of here.

Miss Teardale died when her car burst into flames after overturning. Passenger Jean Fisler was thrown out. Her condition is reported to be fair. The four occupants of the second car, all from Toronto, also are in hospital.

EGYPT COURT PENALIZES U.S. CITIZEN

U.S. archaeologist Charles A. Muses of Indian Hills, Colo., centre, listens as an Egyptian judge fines him $54,000 following his conviction on charges of stealing Egyptian antiquities. He was also sentenced to 13 months in prison, but sentence was suspended. Muses was arrested as he was about to board a plane for the U.S., carrying antiquities Egyptian authorities claimed were stolen from excavations at Dahshur, eight miles south of Giza. Muses denied the charges and said he did not know he had to obtain government permission to take articles out of the country. Next to Muses is his attorney Hassan El Arroussy, and on Arroussy's right is American consul Larry Roeder.

Expect Auto Makers Will Turn Down Reuther's Plan To Cut Prices on '58 Cars

DETROIT (AP)—The three big United States car manufacturers are keeping a tight-lipped silence on what their replies will be to Walter P. Reuther's proposal that they cut prices on 1958 cars this fall in return for easier wage demands next year from Reuther's United Auto Workers.

Reuther has called it a plan to stop and reverse the inflationary trend.

The hush-hush attitude is a sign of the respect industrialists have for the forensic and bargaining talents of the UAW chief.

The best talent at General Motors Ford and Chrysler apparently is at work on the task of phrasing a reply to Reuther's 6,000-word letter. In saying no to Reuther, the companies have to convince the public that they too are against inflation.

"NO" SEEN ANSWER

Replies from the corporation heads will be coming along any day now, and it's a safe bet that Reuther will get a polite no. The impression here is that the auto industry regards Reuther's proposal as a clever propaganda manoeuvre.

Industry circles say price tags on 1958 models, when they are introduced this fall will go higher because of already-mounting labor and material costs. They say the present contracts with the UAW have built-in inflation, since the contracts provide cost-of-living and also automatic annual wage increases.

The industry has spent $1,125,000,000 in styling and engineering for 1958 models—the largest investment ever made for model changeovers in a single year.

Reuther won unanimous approval from the UAW's international executive board for his proposal to modify contract demands next year if the firms cut prices on 1958 models by an average of at least $100.

Reuther denied contentions of some critics that he was making a "grandstand" play.

Critics note Reuther sent no letters to the independent firms, American Motors and Studebaker Packard. Both have been losing money on car manufacture, and this has raised a question: What will happen to the smaller firms if the big three improve their competitive position by cutting prices?

"Jest a Second"

"Can you support my daughter on fifty dollars a week?"
"Thank you, sir. That will help."

Plumbers Will Strike Monday For More Wages

TORONTO (CP) — About 3,000 Toronto plumbers, members of Local 46, United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry of the U.S. and Canada, are to go on strike Monday to enforce demands for a 56-cent-an-hour pay increase, it was announced Wednesday night.

A union spokesman said the decision was made at an earlier mass meeting.

The 130 plumbing and heating contractors affected, who bargain collectively, have offered an increase of 15 cents. The present basic wage is $2.50 an hour.

Exempt from strike action will be all government and City of Toronto institutions, the University of Toronto and the Canadian National Exhibition. The union said that is because they can't and don't sign a contract but they pay what the general agreement calls for.

Pipeline and other national construction projects also would be unaffected.

...because of some very sound reasons. For one thing, highway travel is by far the most interesting. You really enjoy the scenery when you're relaxed in the comfort of a modern luxury bus — behind one of the world's safest drivers.

And it's so convenient. Terminals are right in the middle of town, or there's a handy pick-up point nearby. In fact, a Colonial Coach Lines bus stops at a pick-up point somewhere in the province every minute of the day! On long runs there are frequent stops for refreshment ... pleasant interludes which make the journey seem shorter. No parking problems when you get there.

And, of course, it's smart to go by bus because you save — bus travel costs much less than other forms of public transportation. Next time you're going places ... to town for shopping, or long distance ... go by bus.

...it pays to GO BY COLONIAL

FOLLOW THESE 6 EASY STEPS

PULVERIZE SOIL THOROUGHLY . . . work in humus material (such as peat moss) or sand as needed to condition the soil.

APPLY FERTILIZER . . . at the rate of 25 lbs. per 1000 square feet. Work the fertilizer into the top 2 or 3 inches of seed bed.

SOW GOOD SEED . . . you'll want a carefully selected and cleaned seed — seed that will germinate and grow well in this locality. Bishop's mixtures are top quality and purity, designed for the growing conditions in this area.

ROLL LAWN . . . for a firm soil-seed contact to assure seed germination (it takes 21 days for bluegrass to germinate).

WATER WITH A FINE SPRAY DAILY . . . until the seed germinates. Be sure to use a mist like spray.

FALL SEEDING IS BEST . . . from Aug. 20th until Sept. 20th is the best time for making lawns. Weather conditions are ideal and weed competition is small. Whether making a new lawn or re-seeding a sparse turf — See Bishop's for all your needs.

Cannifton Ties Finals With 12-3 Win Over Latta

Cannifton Clippers evened their four-of-seven South Hastings baseball league final series at three games each last night by whipping Latta 12-3 at Cannifton.

The seventh and deciding game will be played at the Belleville Fairgrounds at 2:30 p.m. on the "weekend".

The Clippers chalked up a 7-0 lead before Latta hit the score sheet last night with one in the sixth. Cannifton came back with five in their half of the inning while Latta finished with two in the top of the seventh. The game was halted because of darkness after 6 1/2 frames.

Harvey Stoliker claimed the big victory for Cannifton with a route-going seven-hit effort. He picked up seven strikeouts while issuing three free tickets to first.

Gary Gowe started for Latta, lasting until the five-run rally by Cannifton in the sixth. Garfield Hall completed the chore. They gave up 13 hits, Gowe fanning five and Hall one.

Hugh Petrie, Forsythe and Sheffield sparked the winner's offensive with a double and single each. Harvey Stoliker and Jim McDonald had a brace of singles while Gord Oliver and Cole also hit safely.

O. Glass doubled and singled in a losing cause with Frank Ray singling twice. Steward, Rollins and G. Hall had the other base knocks.

Latta helped the Cannifton club considerably by hooting the ball around on seven occasions while the victors committed but two errors.

THE TEAMS—

Latta: Parks, Hazzard, Sullivan, Ray, G. Gowe, Glass, Steward, Rollins, Meeks, G. Hall, Empson.

To See Bluebird Campbell Will Try for World Record on Reach at Picton

TORONTO (CP) — Donald Campbell, Britain's world speed-boat champion, says he hopes to notch 250 miles an hour with his boat Bluebird II at Picton some time before Sept. 15.

Campbell in Toronto for the Canadian National Exhibition, told reporters Wednesday his boat needs a new jet engine and an overhaul before he makes the attempt.

Last Friday, during a run on Lake Canadalgua, near Rochester, a wave caused by a passing boat threw Bluebird II 150 feet through the air. Engine damage totalled $40,000.

At Picton he will race the craft over the flat stretch of water at the start of the Bay of Quinte off Lake Ontario. Picton is 15 miles southeast of Belleville.

The present water speed record is 225.63 miles an hour. Campbell son of the late Sir Malcolm Campbell, set the mark on Lake Coniston in England last year.

Allan Scores 5 As Timbermen Beat Hamilton

HAMILTON (CP) — Bob Allan scored five goals for Peterborough Timbermen Wednesday night to lead them to a 13-9 win over Hamilton Lincolns and put the club within a win of the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association finals.

The fourth game in the best-of-seven semi-finals is in Peterborough Saturday.

Jim McNulty scored three for Hamilton while Ross Powless scored twice and singles went to Leo Teatro, Roger Smith, Jerry Fitzgerald and Tony D'Amico.

No Charge Filed

LINDEN, N.J. (AP) — A car driven by Brooklyn Dodgers' Don Newcombe Wednesday struck and injured a four-year-old child.

The youngster, Jon Chase, was taken to hospital with head injuries. His condition was reported as fair. Newcombe was on his way back from the ball game at which he tossed a five-hitter against Cincinnati Redlegs for his 10th win of the year.

The child, police said, ran into the street from behind a parked car. No charges were filed against Newcombe.

Braves Could Clinch Pennant By Winning Series With Brooklyn

Three-Game Tussle Opens Tonight at Ebbets Field; A's Take Series From Yanks

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Milwaukee Braves have the National League pennant wrapped up, as some folks say, this is the time to put a ribbon on it. They open a three-game series against Brooklyn Dodgers tonight at Ebbets Field.

Braves broke up the log jam in the race by winning 10 in a row and lofted two contenders in the process — plunking St. Louis Cardinals out of the lead and crashing Cincinnati out of the race.

Now they have a chance to leave Dodgers in the dust. The Brooks no longer can afford the luxury of losing.

Dodgers climbed within a percentage point of second-place St. Louis Wednesday by zapping Cincinnati 8-0 as Don Newcombe finally got back into the act with a five-hitter for his first victory and complete game since July 12. The big guy won his 10th on the seventh try. He's 10-19.

HAD WON FOUR STRAIGHT

Cardinals, who had won four in a row, were chopped down 13-6 by New York Giants.

Those were the only two games scheduled in the league and left games behind Braves.

Milwaukee manager Fred Haney has labeled New Burdette as his starter tonight against Sal Maglie. The Braves' right-hander is 11-7, but hasn't beaten Dodgers in three decisions. Maglie, 6-5, and Don Newcombe will be working with only three days' rest. He did it once effectively last season when Brooklyn stole the pennant from Braves in the last week.

Dodgers, 4-4 against Braves at Ebbets this year, collected only three from Redlegs, who now have lost nine in a row and have dropped 12½ games behind for a fourth-place tie with the also fading Philadelphia Phillies.

SIX STRIKEOUTS

Newk, last season's most valuable player in the National and the pitching stalwart of the pennant drive of '55, had lost four in a row since beating Cincinnati last month. He struck out six, walked one in his first appearance in 10 days because of a sore arm. Frank Robinson had three of the Redleg hits.

Gino Cimoli clinched it with a three-run homer, his first since June 17, in the third off Hal Jeffcoat. Dodgers, who had 11 hits, then counted five in the seventh to win their 10th of the last six.

Bonus lefty Mike McCormick gained a 3-0 record for the Giants, checking Cards on eight hits in 8⅔ relief innings. New York belted Lindy McDaniel (10-8) and four relievers for 13 hits including home runs by Willie Mays and Hank Sauer. Cards counted homers from Wally Moon, Ken Boyer, Eddie Miksis* and Stan Musial—who was 5-for-5, boosting his average to .342 with Mays 17-for-47 second at .328.

Heffernan, Costello And Miller Necks In Main Bout Friday

Literally and figuratively, wrestling teams, such as Ed and Bill Miller who will provide the opposition at Memorial Arena Friday night, which go against Al Costello and Roy Heffernan, "the Fabulous Kangaroos" can expect to get it in the neck.

Adapting some of the unusual wrestling technique from hunting methods in their native Australia, Heffernan and Costello have developed a particularly effective offensive system in which their opponents' necks are the prime target.

"The rabbit was devel-oped in Australia", explains Heffernan. "At first it was an easy and quick method of killing the rabbits that swarmed over the country. You just hit the rabbit by the ears and give him a quick, sharp blow on the back of the neck with the heel of your hand.

"It was so effective that Australian boxers started to use it in the ring and then carried it to America where it was later outlawed. But it is still legal in wrestling and Al and I have developed our own system of using it to get the most effect. Not too many men can keep their senses when it is used on them."

If the rabbit punches don't complete the trick, one of the "Kangaroos", usually Heffernan, walks up to his man and delivers a stunning neck twist with his feet, using his whole body, however, to add to the pressure applied. And when either man dives from a corner in the famous "Kangaroo Leap" that has ended many of their matches, the neck is again the target.

There just may double it, the Miller boys stuck their necks out when they accepted this bout. And its ten to one when they enter the ring Friday night, they'll get it in the neck.

Two other all star bouts are also on tap with Lee Henning meeting Joe Blanchard while popular Tim Geohagen tangles with Tiger Tasker.

Action gets under way at 9.00 p.m.

Top Britons Fall By Wayside in AmateurTourney

By AL. VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—Six British golfers who came here to play have fallen by the wayside Wednesday after two rounds of match play in the Canadian amateur golf championship, leaving four still in the running.

The six who went down to defeat over the par 36-36—72 St. Charles course included British amateur champion Reid Jack and Scottish champion Dr. Frank Deighton. The others were Guy Wolstenholme, Douglas Sewell, Michael Bonnalack and Alex Shepperson.

Going into today's morning third round were Joe Carr of Dublin, Ireland, Philip Scrutton of Kendal, England, Alan Bussell of Cosmoor, England, and Alan Thirlwell of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England.

ANOTHER WILL GO

Carr and Scrutton were drawn against each other in the bottom half of the third draw. The other two were in the top half. Bussell was to meet Canadian Wendell George Knudson of Winnipeg, Thirlwell against Canadian amateur champion Wally Keep, also of Winnipeg.

Along with the four Britons, 10 Canadians and two Americans made it into the sixteen-man bracket in the top half with Knudson, Bussell, Thirlwell and Keep. Guests included Bill Gordon of Winnipeg, Nate Jacob of Winnipeg and Doug Silverberg of Calgary.

Joining Carr and Scrutton in the lower half were Dick Weslock of Windsor, Leonard Bjorklund of Minneapolis, Minn., Bob Kidd of Vancouver, Harry Haverstick of Lancaster, Pa., and Bob Fair and Jimmy Collins, both of Winnipeg. They pair off in that order.

BIG UPSET

Twenty - five - year - old John Russell of Vancouver pulled the first major upset of the day when he defeated Reid Jack, one up. Jack had a short-lived triumph as Russell was bounced out of the tournament by Jacob by an identical margin.

MacKenzie, playing with machine-like precision, ousted Wolstenholme one up as the Briton missed a 10-foot putt on the 18th for what would have been a half.

Homemuk, who came back from almost certain defeat in the morning round after being three down to Robert Leonard of Fargo, N.D., sizzled to sub-par golf in the afternoon to down Sewell 3 and 2. Homemuk was six - under - par when the match ended.

STARTLING COMEBACK

Fair made a startling comeback in the afternoon when he rallied from four down to Shepperson on the 12th with birdies on the 13th, 14th, 15th and 17th to deadlock the match coming on home. Shepperson missed a seven-foot putt on the 18th for a possible par four and then, to the amazement of the gallery and his British teammates and captain Gerald Micklem, conceded Fair's 14-inch shot and the match.

Bill Norland of North Bay was Ontario's second casualty as he lost 4 and 3 to Carr.

Kitchener's 19-year-old Gary Cowan was defeated 3 and 2 by Mike Pidlaski of Winnipeg in a first-round match. Pidlaski then lost out in the second round 4 and 3 to Weslock.

SEGURA BEATS HOAD

CANNES, France (AP)—Pancho Segura defeated Lew Hoad of Australia 6-4, 6-4 in the World Kramer's professional tennis troupe, 6-1, 6-3 Wednesday.

Four ORFU Teams Headed For Best Season Since War

By LEN TAYLOR
Canadian Press Correspondent

KITCHENER (CP) — The Ontario Rugby Football Union opens its 49th season Saturday, having once more defied predictions of utter ruin of the senior series in the months between the 1956 windup and opening day.

The same four clubs that composed the senior league in 1956 will operate this year—defending champion Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, runners-up London Lords, Sarnia Golden Bears, and Toronto Balmy Beaches.

Survival of Beaches could be one of the sport miracles of the year since they looked to be out of business as late as last June. The club, reorganized to restore the sectional support of Toronto's east-end Beach district, plans to operate with an all - Canadian team, the first one of its kind in senior football outside the college loop.

WORKED WONDERS

Beaches, with president Don MacGregor heading a lively executive, have worked wonders in a few weeks. They have homegame expenses for the league's first Saturday underwrites for Varsity Stadium, where they make their second debut against Sarnia Saturday afternoon. Beach players are to pick up $10 for each game, plus another $15 for each victory.

Veteran Toronto Argonaut star Bill Zock is head coach and his assistants include Red Douglas, former coach of Sarnia Imperials, who now lives in Toronto. Beaches should get full results for trying but the league race appears to be between their three rivals.

One thing that will improve the ORFU this season is the addition of more imports.

CAN USE 18 IMPORTS

Pedigree to satisfaction comes with the Big Four and a proposed post-season Grey Cup rivalry with Big Four champ. The ORFU clubs this year decided to use 18 imports instead of the Canadian Union recale of 12 imports.

The difference was apparent at once. Dutchmen, after dropping a 37-9 decision to Montreal Alouettes in the Big Four opener, to outplay Hamilton Tiger-Cats and gain a 15-15 25-7 decision to Toronto Argonauts but made it to close that the Scots never had the game in hand until the last few minutes.

Dutchmen, ORFU champions for the last three years, are expected to use 10 imports backed by perennial all-star quarterback Bob Celeri. Their reserves include centre Al Romine of Chicago Bears, Green Bay Packers and Argos halfbacks Ken Ploen, Lou Cush from Akron, Ohio, Royal Bailey from Purdue University and Mike Norcia from Kent State, Ohio.

COACH CANUCK

Dutchmen look stronger than ever despite the loss of many of their key men to the Argos by playing in a new $1,500,000 stadium at Waterloo College.

London may have added the most strength.

Coach Indian Jack Jacobs has produced a largely revamped squad including veteran Lou Imports a sensational punter, Joe Thompson from Detroit.

He has Ellis Nicholson from the University of California at Los Angeles, and import Bob Reinhart, an Argo cut, battling for the quarterback spot. Lords drew 17,500 for their pre-season exhibition game with Argos and expect to set league attendance records.

Sarnia, who had as many as 17 imports in camp at one stage, also are much stronger.

NEEDED FIELD LEADERSHIP

The addition of quarterback Gene Bossi, a former Cleveland Brown last year with Beaches, has given the club the field leadership it lacked last year. Dick Gregory is a new halfback acquisition who should help. He played in the National Football League last year and started this season with Calgary Stampeders.

Coach Joe Zaleski, former quarterback understudy to Argohs in Winnipeg, claims he won't play this season. Bears, with 2,000 season tickets sold, are 1,400 ahead of any previous season. Two pre-season intersquad games attracted more than 5,500 fans.

Competitively the ORFU has never looked stronger. If Beaches can maintain the pace the outlook should be bright for the best season in the post-war history of the league.

Rademacher Ready for Fistic Ball With Floyd Patterson

SEATTLE (AP) — This is the day the self - made Cinderella man, Pete Rademacher, goes to the fistic ball with king Floyd Patterson to learn if his dreams are made of dust or diamonds.

Only the weatherman was predicting anything fair about this fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. A major lily if not quite all of the ring wise observers have protested that the big, genial farm boy at leading himself to a slaughter.

This first heavyweight title fight between an amateur (Rademacher) and a professional (Patterson) is scheduled to take over the spotlight at 11 p.m. PDT (2 a.m. EDT) but Pete may not have to wait so long for the verdict.

MAY START EARLIER

Promoter Jack Hurley said he might start the main show scheduled for 15 rounds, any time after 9:30 p.m. "if all the customers are seated." This, he said, would be a bow to readers of eastern newspapers, who otherwise would have to wait until shortly before dawn to learn the outcome.

The fight will not be broadcast or telecast.

Sicks' Stadium here is likely to be crammed to its 25,000 capacity and $400,000 gate from paying customers. Many of these disagree with the expert opinion that Rademacher's survival will be short under the impact of the champion's slashing style.

FAST AND BRUTAL

Referee Tommy Loughran, the old champ of the 1920's himself, looks for a fast and brutal contest. "These are not tired old pros," said Tommy. "These are two eager young men, one fighting to take the title, the other to keep it."

Loughran, who will be in full charge, has said he will not stop the scrap if one fighter is slightly cut or somewhat groggy. It will end, he says, after 15 rounds or "when I count 10." There will be no ringside judges.

Rademacher, 28, goes into the ring with a weight advantage of some 25 pounds. The 210-pounder has almost spindly legs for such a large man, but he is massive in torso, shoulders and biceps. He can hit—his string of more than 30 knockouts attests to that.

CAN ALSO BE HIT

He can be hit. Pete has been knocked out twice in his amateur career of 79 bouts He has been knocked down in others—and won them.

Patterson's plan? Manager Cus D'Amato says he will send the champion out to score a knockout if he can—"in 10 seconds or 10 rounds, whatever it takes."

Anyone expecting Rademacher, the farm boy from Grandview, Wash., to show signs of fear or nervousness, is in for a surprise. Pete dreamed up this fight himself, sold the idea to D'Amato and Hurley, obtained backers in Georgia who posted a $250,000 guarantee for Patterson.

MEETS AMERICAN

MONCTON, N.B. (CP)—Yvon Durelle, Canadian and British Empire light-heavyweight champion, will fight Eddie Demarsa, Springfield, Mass., light heavyweight here Aug. 29 in a 10-round, non-title bout, it was announced Tuesday night by Chris Shaban, Durelle's manager.

Nels 'Old Poison' Stewart Dies Suddenly on Vacation

WASAGA BEACH Ont. (CP) — Nels (Old Poison) Stewart, 56, a member of both of Canada's teams who won hold the National Hockey League scoring record of goals scored in a season, died suddenly Wednesday while on vacation in this Georgian Bay resort area.

Stewart, whose ability to score from almost any angle caused fans to say he was a dose of "old poison," made a surprising NHL debut for Montreal Maroons in the 1925-26 season winning the Hart Trophy, the league's most valuable player award, and becoming the first rookie to win the scoring championship.

IMPRESSIVE RECORD

Fourteen seasons later Stewart sang up his stakes, leaving an impressive record. In 1938, while playing for New York Americans, he scored his 300th goal—a feat which only three other players have since been able to manage. Conn Smythe, Richard of Montreal Canadiens, Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings and Ted Lindsay, with Wings until recently traded to Chicago Black Hawks, have been able to collect even more goals.

Born in 1902 in Montreal, Stewart moved early to Toronto. Teaming up with the late Ace Bailey, Siebert and Hooky Smith, he became a crowd-pleaser on Marconis' famous S-line.

A big, rugged, 200 - pounder, Stewart was hard to knock off stride and at the peak of his career possessed cat-like speed in front of the net.

BEST SEASON

His best scoring mark was during the 1929-30 season, when he garnered 43 points on 39 goals and 15 assists.

Going to Boston Bruins in 1932, he stayed there three seasons before heading for the Americans, where he eventually closed out his career in 1940.

After he retired Stewart coached the Port Colborne Intermediate Hockey Association Senior entry. He was named to the hall of fame in 1952.

Stewart had been working until the time of his death for a brewery in Port Colborne.

Canada's Marlene Moves Steadily To U.S. Title

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (CP)—Canada's Marlene Stewart Streit, whose icy composure is a thing of wonder, stalks comparatively small game today in the quarter-finals of the United States women's amateur golf tournament.

The pairings sent the defending champion against Carole Jo Kabler of Roseburg, Ore., whose major tournament prize was the 1955 Trans-Mississippi championship, after scrambling extra-hole victory Wednesday in the fourth round.

The 5-foot-2-inch veteran from Toronto and Foothill had to come from behind at the last tied their match with veteran Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., on the 18th hole and won on the 19th when Polly went to pieces.

Mrs. Streit needed to took a six on the par-four, 350-yard hole, conceded the dog-eat-dog match at the 19th championship, after sinking six feet from the pin on her third shot.

TWO EXTRA HOLES

Another player who made the quarter-finals the hard way was Barbara Romack Pepper of Minneapolis. The 1954 titleholder, playing on her home Del Paso Country Club course, won on the 20th hole over 18-year-old Clifford Ann Creed of Spokane, Las.

Barbara drew Ann Casey Johnstone, a former pro from Mason City, Iowa, for today, while the other quarter-final matches pit Anne Quast Decker of Cleveland, Ohio, against Anne Quast of Marysville, Wash., and Mrs. John Fernandez, 35-year-old Yonkers, N.Y., housewife, against Joanne Gunderson, 19 - year - old Seattle girl who was last year's runner-up.

Marlene's third - round victim over the 38-36—74 par course was Britain's Jeanne Bisgood, two time English champion, who bowed 6 and 4.

A quarter-final round was scheduled to start at 2 p.m. PDT (5 p.m. EDT).

EXPECT PAR BUSTING

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Practice tournament scores indicate par once again will take a pounding in the 72-hole, $25,000 Milwaukee town golf tournament starting today at Tripoli Golf Club.

Several pros, including defending champion Ed Furgol, believe Furgol's winning card of 285 last year will be bettered. The 6,350-yard course has a pair of 35-36—71.

Toronto Leafs Continue Hold On First Place

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Looks like Toronto Maple Leafs knew what they were doing when they got Archie Wilcox back from Charleston of the American Association.

Wilson, who hit .301 for the Leafs last year and clubbed the ball at a .326 clip with 20 RBIs and 19 homers in 125 games for Charleston this season, paced Toronto to a 9-4 victory over Montreal Wednesday night as the Leafs held to their half-game lead in the International League.

The 32-year-old lefthander connected with two doubles and drove in three runs as the Leafs chalked up their 20th victory in 25 games.

Buffalo, however, kept right at the Leafs' heels. The Bisons dropped Rochester Red Wings nine games off the pace with a 4-1 decision. Southpaw Walter Craddock pitched a five-hitter and struck out 11 Wings in posting his 15th victory against 5 defeats.

KINGS SWEEP PAIR

Miami lost a chance to move in on Rochester for the fourth playoff berth in the playoffs by dropping a 9-4 decision to Columbus. But Havana Sugar Kings moved within four games of Rochester by beating Richmond 4-3 in the completion of a game halted Tuesday night by power failure and then turning back the Vees 6-1 in the second contest.

Elio Chacon's two-run single in the 8th inning gave the Cubans the suspended game.

In the regulation game, the Cuban-owned outfit six errors to help Emilio Cuecho gain his 12th victory against as many losses as he hurled a six-hitter.

Columbus climbed out of the cellar by defeating Miami for the 11th time in 17 clashes. The Jets won 9-4 as Dick Hall hurled one-hit ball over the last five innings.

Norris Will Not Accept Demands Of Robinson

NEW YORK (AP) — International Boxing Club president Jim Norris said Wednesday he would do anything within his power to resurrect the Sept. 23 middleweight title fight between champion Sugar Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio but wouldn't straddle down to Robinson's demands concerning theatre television.

Robinson, who abruptly called the fight off Tuesday, said he had appealed to Senator Averell Harriman to protect his rights in the matter.

"I have telephoned the governor and asked for a conference," Robinson said.

"This now deals with human rights and I'm sure the governor, who is interested in human rights should know about it."

The New York Athletic Commission has summoned all parties concerned to a special meeting next Monday at 11:30 a.m. (EDT) to look into the whole affair.

Robinson, claiming Norris had unlawfully contracted with ships-lated no television agreement could be made without his consent, told Norris Tuesday he would not fight unless television proposition received the theatre TV contract.

He disclosed that Teleprompter had guaranteed him $250,000 as his 45 per cent cut of the TV receipts and had guaranteed 400,000 theatre seats would be made available. Theatre Network Television had guaranteed only 250,000 seats, but president Nate Blumberg Wednesday said he had signed up two more theatres to bring the total to 413,500 seats.

Bombers Keep Part of Insurance Paid on Player

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers announced Wednesday that $50,000 insurance received as the result of the death of tackle Calvin Jones in a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane crash last Dec. 9 will be retained by the club.

The insurance was paid as a result of the death of Jones who died in the crash of a North Star airliner while returning from playing in the Shrine East-West all-star game in Vancouver. All 62 others on the plane were killed.

President Jim Russell of the Western Interprovincial Football Union club said in a statement following an executive meeting that a condition under which players were made available for the game was that clubs would be properly protected in the event or loss through injury or otherwise, of any player.

Russell said the Shrine organization followed a "commendable policy" in providing equal protection for the player's next-of-kin and $20,000 had already been paid to Jones' mother, Mrs. Talitha Jones of Steubenville, Ohio.

Earlier Russell said that Mrs. Jones also received $10,000 from an independent insurance policy arranged by her son just before the Shrine game, and $8,500 from TCA.

Greta Andersen First Woman to Win Swim Race

DOVER, England (Reuters) Danish-born Greta Andersen of Long Beach, Calif., Wednesday won the international cross-Channel swimming race.

She was the first woman to win the race since it started six years ago.

The 30-year-old swimming instructor waded ashore at Dover at 6:03 p.m. local time (1:03 p.m. EDT) after 8 hours and 29 minutes in the waters

Kenneth Wray of England finished second in the official time of 18 hours 25 seconds.

Miss Andersen and Wray were the only two competitors to complete the crossing. As dusk fell, the race organizers ordered the four swimmers still left in the race to be taken out of the water. All were still three or four miles offshore.

The women's record, set in 1951 by Benda Fisher of Britain, is 15 hours and 43 minutes.

Wladichuk, to date the most successful resident of the region, will meet the runner-up trophy after losing a shoot-off by a single target.

Ticats, Rugs To Make Some Lineup Changes

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, losers in Tuesday night's Big Four football openers scrimmage Wednesday in preparation for some lineup changes in an effort to pick up wins this weekend.

Coach Hamp Pool said Dave Doane will start at quarterback when Argos meet Ottawa Rough Riders in Toronto's Varsity Stadium Friday night. Tom Dobbelaere, who called signals in the 23-22 loss to Montreal Alouettes, is handicapped with a chipped bone in his right thumb, suffered when tackled while attempting to pass. He is expected to be on the shelf for at least a week.

Doane is an under-dog contender for the first-string quarterback job, a product of the University of Missouri's split-T formation, he showed a fine arm as well as good ball - handling techniques during Argos' training drills.

In Hamilton, Jim Trimble said he was displeased with the play of some of his regulars and blamed missed blocks and tackling assignments for the club's 20-7 loss to Rough Riders.

He said Ticats' immediate needs are a large middle - a strong offensive centre and a fast halback to replace Ted Urbanschrader. Cookie Gilchrist and Ralph Goldston.

Hoping to strengthen his defence for Saturday afternoon's meeting with the Riders here, Trimble said he will use Gilchrist as linebacker and possibly centers Eddy Macon, Hal Waggoner and Goldston in the defensive backfield to bolster pass receivers Red O'Quinn and Hal Patterson.

He also hinted that Tony Curcillo may get the quarterbacking nod over Bernie Faloney.

Quinte Soccer

Bay of Quinte soccer is getting started again after the holiday season. On Saturday afternoon the fans are in for a real treat. The Eastern Ontario All Stars take on the Toronto Senior League All Stars at Batawa with the kick-off slated for 4.30 p.m.

The last two years, after a run of defeats, the local boys have managed to edge out the Torontonians, and they will be looking for revenge this Saturday so a good tussle should result.

The Eastern Ontario players are among the 14 selected to represent the Eastern Ontario outfit. They are Chappell, Gee, and VanGyzen of Belleville Northern, Dougall and Weston of RCAF, and Walsh of Batawa. The remainder of the team is drawn from the Kingston district.

This will be the plum fixture of the year and if both teams live up to their reputations some really good soccer should ensue.

Three local matches were postponed lately due to holidays and the Belleville Fair. On Monday night Trenton beat Campbellford by a three to nothing count and on Tuesday evening Batawa beat RCAF by the same score.

The game between Belleville Northern and Campbellford originally called for Saturday afternoon will be played on Saturday afternoon in order not to conflict with the All Star game at Batawa.

Sal Maglie, Dodger Hurler, To Play in Hour-Long Opus

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball star Sal Maglie is cool, calm and fairly confident about suddenly becoming television's newest pitcher.

"I know what I'm going to do, but how," he declared in the tones of a pitcher familiar with tight spots on the diamond.

Sal, sometimes known as The Barber because of his brushback pitches, steps before the NBC-TV network cameras Sunday as the baseball expert cast to try big-league dramatic acting. He will perform in The Littlest Little Leaguer, an hour-long opus.

The situation will not take Sal too far from familiar realms. The plot centers an 11-year-old lad, played by Peter Lazer, who has a burning ambition to play the game.

Although Maglie will be cast as Maglie, there will be only a few brief film clips of Ebbets Field where he performs in real life for Brooklyn Dodgers. The drama venture will be unusual for at least two reasons.

Sal will appear on camera only in street clothes and his two big scenes will require a certain minimum of emotional portrayal rather than athletic prowess.

"If I have the cues and lines I'll be all right," he shrugs with the serenity of a man with nerves under firm control. "I'm just going to try to get those words out."

Top-rated moundsman prefers to defer discussion of subsequent stage ventures until completion of the Sunday stint.

"I take this with me wherever I go this week," he says, waving the script. "And that includes into the dugout. I hope Alston understands."

"I try to learn the big ones first," explains Maglie of his rehearsal methods, and therupon reelles excerpts in a manner indicating determination to give a real performance.

As a matter of fact, Maglie, exercising a star's ancient theatrical right, has suggested certain script changes.

"That speech is too long, and doesn't sound like me," he said at a story conference. The line was changed.

Juniors Tie McFarlands 4-4 In Exhibition

Belleville Juniors battled the Kingston Flying Fleets of McFarlands to a 4-4 deadlock at Picton last night in an exhibition baseball fixture.

McFarlands were the first Kingston finishers in the Belleville and District baseball league and will advance into OBA Intermediate playdowns. The Juniors have been formed recently to represent the city in OBA Junior "A" playdowns. They did not play in league schedule.

Pitchers Dennis and Cordie Vaughan shared the mound duties for Belleville, allowing seven hits. Bob Bunton and Chuck Jones toiled for Prince Edward, giving up six safeties.

Ted Batchelor smashed a leadoff homer in the first frame for Belleville while Gerry Goyer collected two base hits on the night's play. The other Belleville hits went to Bob Hull, St. Amour and Ken Hall.

Charlie Hamilton, who stole home to tie the game at 4-4, banged two hits for the McFarlands while Marv Stacey also had two safeties.

The Juniors will hold a workout on Sunday morning at the fair grounds, beginning at 9.30 a.m.

Pontiacs Move Closer to Finals

TORONTO (CP)—Long Branch Pontiacs edged St. Catharines Athletics 13-10 in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior semifinals and moved into a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven series.

For Pontiacs, Stan Kapasky was the outstanding with five goals, Bis brothers, Steve and George, both singled. Larry Ruse scored four and Glen Passmore and Paul Henderson also notched singles.

Listowel Puts St. Thomas Elgins Out of Playoffs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Listowel Legionnaires, who played "country cousins" to St. Thomas Elgins all through the Intercounty Senior baseball schedule, turned out to be anything but pushovers in the playoffs.

Wednesday night Alex Kvashak's spirited Legionnaires eliminated Elgins from the league semi-finals with a 9-1 victory, winning the best-of-seven series 4-2.

The clubs met seven times during the regular schedule and Elgins came out on top every time. But the playoffs were a different matter as Legionnaires won the first two games, saw St. Thomas tie it up and then bounced back to capture the next two.

Jerry Hinkis was credited with his second win of the series as he tossed a five-hitter and received excellent support from his mates. Listowel batters jumped on Paul Langlois for 12 safeties.

MEET DUTCHIES

Legionnaires meet Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen in Kitchener Saturday night in the first game of the best-of-seven finals. Dutchmen knocked off Oakville Oaks in the other semi-final round. Both finalists finished behind Oakville and St. Thomas in the final standings.

Niagara Falls Kerrics took a one-game lead in a two-out-of-three series for the last playoff spot in the Great Lakes division of the Great Lakes-Niagara Baseball League, walloping Tonawanda Chicks 17-2. The winner meets Welland Swissons in the playdowns.

Bob Pirson went the route for the win, allowing nine scattered hits. Tommy Buchanan led Kerrics' 15-hit attack with two doubles and two singles in six trips.

Commercial Softball

Loblaw's handed Mead Johnson a 7-3 setback last night to capture their Commercial softball league playoff series in two consecutive games. Loblaw's took the first game by the same score.

In the other half of the "A" section semi-finals, Bakelite downed Corbin Lock 12-8 to also wrap up their set in two games.

The two winners will now meet for the right to take on the "B" section winners for the championship. Tuesday and the Frank S. Folwell trophy.

An all-star game, "A" section vs "B" section, will be played in CNRA park Sunday afternoon at 2.30 p.m.

On the Tracks

FORT ERIE (CP)—The largest daily double of the Ontario racing season was recorded at Fort Erie Wednesday when Kay Top and Lo Lo Ann won the afternoon's fifth and sixth and combined for a payoff of $1,827 for each $2 ticket. There were 15 tickets on the winning combination.

Kay Top won the first race handily and paid $28.60 straight. Lo Lo Ann, the longest shot on the board, led all the way to win the second race. Lo Lo Ann, ridden by apprentice Sam Cosentino, paid $168.50 straight, $28.50 to place and $13.60 to show.

Cosentino starts a 30-day suspension today. He was set down when he was detected grabbing another horse's saddle cloth in a race Monday.

She won by more than two lengths with Salon second. Chalk Talk was third.

Some bridge players close their eyes and plunge into a slam. Others deal around to see how it may be, if at all, and then decide it is not worth taking a chance.

You can see this contrast in world championship deal 121:

♣A K 4 2

Room one bidding went like this:

North	East	South	West
1 C	1 H	1 S	6 H

To make such a psychic opening bid, North must have had a hunch that opponents might have a slam. They really did; and they did not hesitate getting there. But fast.

They got a fortunate lead on a top club from south. West ruffed and entered east with a trump. Club jack was returned and when south refused to cover, west ducked diamond king. Six hearts made.

Room two bidding stretched out like this:

North	East	South	West
Pass	1 S	Pass	2 C
2 C	Pass	Pass	2 H
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 C
Pass	4 C	Pass	4 D
Pass	4 H	5 C	5 H
Pass	6 H	Pass	7 C

Opening lead from north was ten of clubs. West ruffed the south cover and led diamond king that lost to south ace. South return of a spade was ruffed by north. Declarer thus took 11 tricks.

Each bit in room two told an interesting story, each a revealing item to these master players. But the consensus of their opinion was that they lacked what it might take to make a slam.

Words to some wiseguys are not always sufficient.

Champion Grabs Tiger by Tail In Joey Lopes

CHICAGO (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown grabbed an unheralded tiger by the tail Wednesday night and held on for a drawn decision over Joey Lopes of Los Angeles.

Lopes, 29, of Sacramento, Calif., the No. 10 lightweight contender, offered bristling resistance all the way. He gained a favoring vote from one judge and a draw ballot from the referee and the other judge.

Brown, 31, seeking his 11th straight victory, blew a big chance in the seventh round when he staggered Lopes with a series of wicked combinations. Lopes fought back viciously in the final three rounds.

Ezio Pinza Role in S. Pacific Will Be Sung by Two Voices

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Who's singing the Ezio Pinza role in South Pacific?

You could answer Rossano Brazzi and Giorgio Tozzi and be right both times. And if you don't mind the observation—both a rhyme with Hoity-Toity.

"I have sung a little bit," Brazzi told me before leaving for the South Pacific shooting in the Hawaiian Islands. "Mostly it was on the stage in the earlier part of my career.

"The studio has worked out a method like that used by Deborah Kerr in The King and I. I'll do most of the songs, but Tozzie's voice will be used for the high and the low notes. It has worked out very well. Although he was born in Chicago, he sounds like me."

Tozzi is the operatic basso who played the Pinza role opposite Mary Martin in the local civic light opera run of Sopar this summer.

In 1958, California can add five more to the thousands who are coming to live on their shores. They'll be Pat Boone and family.

"We are definitely going to live California living," said the crooner. "As soon as I finish my last semester at Columbia University I think we'll probably come out here to live. The deciding factor will be whether my film career pans out. If so, I'll be able to commute during my TV show and making pictures at the same time."

There doesn't seem to be much doubt about his film career panning out. Twentieth Century-Fox figures him to be a film draw long after the fad for Elvis Presley dies out.

I'm sorry to say that I couldn't care less about Warners' new release, The James Dean Story. I read that it's well done, but I fail to see the need in it, except to capitalize on the waning and somewhat morbid craze over the late actor.

Why immortalize Dean thusly? Because he was a great man? He wasn't. He was a mixed-up kid with rather poor manners.

Was he such a great actor? He was. But then his performances should speak for themselves. End of peeve.

Highly recommended: The Pajama Game, as bouncy and breezy a musical as you'll find this season. John Raitt impresses as a virile singing star and Doris Day is wonderful, freckles and all.

16-Year-Old Strikes Out 19 In 11 Innings

HAMILTON (CP) — Sixteen year-old Mike Anderson struck out 19 batters and allowed five hits Wednesday night as Hamilton Optimist Cardinals claimed an 11-inning 3-2 decision over Stratford Nationals in the first game of the Intercounty Junior baseball finals.

Cards took a one-run lead in the second and Stratford tied it in the fourth. The visitors went ahead on a double steal-scoring play in the sixth but Hamilton tied it up an inning later.

Ken Chisholm with two hits, one a double, led the National attack. Vic Rosser collected two safeties for the losers.

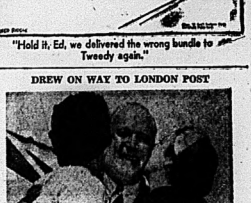
DREW ON WAY TO LONDON POST



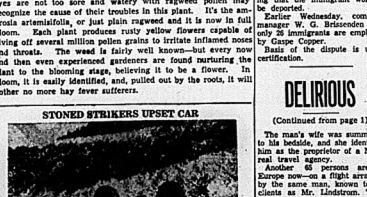
Off to London to become Canadian high commissioner to the United Kingdom, Hon. George Drew, former leader of the Progressive Conservative party, is given a send-off in Montreal by Mrs. Drew and his daughter, Sandra, 17. They will join him in England in September.

IT'S THE CAUSE OF HAY FEVER

The hayfever season is officially opened and those whose eyes are not too sore and watery with ragweed pollen may recognize the cause of their troubles in this plant. It's the ambrosia artemisifolis, or just plain ragweed and it is now in full bloom.

Each plant produces rusty yellow flowers capable of giving off several million pollen grains to irritate inflamed noses and throats. The weed is fairly well known—but every now and then even experienced gardeners are found nurturing the plant to the blooming stage, believing it to be a flower. In bloom, it is easily identified, and, pulled out by the roots, it will bother no more hay fever sufferers.

STONED STRIKERS UPSET CAR



In retaliation for being stoned by non-strikers, union men turned over this car at Murdochville, Que., where police are keeping a tight grip as tempers threaten further disturbance. The Gaspe copper plant now has an estimated 700 persons at work compared to the 900 who went out on strike last March. Most of the employees have arrived from other areas.

PRIEST AFRAID

In an earlier incident Monday, 200 non-strikers lobbed rocks at a group of 430 labor representatives from all parts of the province, who motored here from Quebec City. Police used tear-gas bombs to separate the groups. Six union members were injured.

CHARGES POLICE PARTIAL

At Montreal Wednesday night, Roger Provost, president of the Quebec Federation of Labor, said in a statement:

"We have acquired proof that the provincial police not only favored the scabs and acts of the strike-breakers but also armed them with bludgeons."

He called on the Canadian Labor Congress to appeal to Prime Minister Diefenbaker for the deportation of immigrant workers who, he said, were involved in the fracas.

Informed sources in Quebec City reported Wednesday that Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, will meet Premier Duplessis today to discuss the situation here.

Union spokesmen said here Wednesday night that Gerard Picard, president of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, has sent a telegram to Premier Duplessis today demanding that the immigrant workers be deported.

Earlier Wednesday, company manager W. G. Brissenden said only 26 immigrants are employed by Gaspe Copper.

Basis of the dispute is union certification.

The man's wife was summoned to his bedside, and she identified him as the proprietor of a Montreal travel agency.

Another 65 persons are in Europe now—on a flight arranged by the same man, known to his clients as Mr. Lindstrom. Their return flight is set for Sept. 11, but it is believed that their plane has not been paid for either.

The cut-rate flights were fixed for three organizations, Donau-Deukania, a German society, Société d'Assistance aux Immigrants and a German auto club here.

The president of Donau-Deukania, Jack Tilsch, said most of the vacationers are believed to have come from the Montreal area.

Spokesmen for the groups said each passenger paid $250 for the return trip. The total amount involved is said to be at least $60,000.

OTTAWA STUDYING

The external affairs department in Ottawa is studying the problem of getting the stranded vacationers back to Canada, but so far no decision has been reached.

To help the tourists, however, the Canadian Embassy has advanced arrangements are made for vanced some money as loans to their return.

Louis Anne, of Montreal cites his son as an example of those cheated out of an air fare to Europe Mr. Anne Sr. said his son paid $175 for a ticket on an aircraft that never left.

He said his son had belonged to the Societe d'Assistance aux Immigrants for "about one day" before buying his ticket. "This was to qualify for a group charter," He said.

Russian Tests Are Resumed With 'Substantial' Explosion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has resumed atomic tests with a blast of "substantial" power Thursday, the U.S. United States Atomic Energy Commission announced today.

"The Soviet Union has resumed testing of nuclear weapons at its Siberian proving grounds. A detonation of substantial size took place on Aug. 22."

The development came in the midst of Soviet manoeuvres in the London disarmament conference on the ostensible aim of ridding off all nuclear tests.

ANT SAFEGUARDS

The United States, while offering to call off tests for two years, insisting on safeguards which the Russians reject.

That blast was described as "one of the largest thus far in the current Soviet series." Strauss said it was the fifth in a series which began April 13. It was the 11th reported by the AEC since last March.

Altogether, the AEC has reported 16 Russian nuclear explosions. Strauss, however, has made it clear that not all of those detected are reported. He says they are announced only when there are circumstances of special interest.

NON-STRIKERS AIR GRIEVANCES AT MURDOCHVILLE

Immigrants Fearful Of Deportation Move

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP) — An enthusiastic but orderly crowd of non-striking Gaspe Copper Mine employees has aired opinions and grievances of the strike which has gripped this Gaspe community since March 11.

Discussed Thursday night by the "committee of long-standing company workers" were two outbreaks of violence here last Monday. During the first incident some 200 non - strikers lobbed stones at a 1,400-man picket line which motored here from Murdochville.

The second incident saw about 100 men rip apart the local offices of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC), who called the strike.

Thursday night's meeting almost filled the local 600 - seat theatre. Hugo Bernatchez, USWA spokesman who has been directing the strike, watched from the doorway of an adjacent hotel as the workers filed in.

Mr. Bernatchez was alone and unprotected but the workers paid no attention to him. No strikers were in evidence.

TO CLEAR AIR

Twelve men spoke at the meeting, which appeared "designed to clear the air and let the men voice their opinions."

Warner Martin, an engineer who arrived from West Germany three years ago, denied charges that immigrants had provoked and directed the rock-throwing incident.

Amid cries of "You'll never have to leave," Mr. Martin said he was afraid the union would appeal to the government to demand deportation of the immigrants. He said he hoped this would not happen.

The meeting broke up about 10 p.m. and the workers returned to their homes without incident.

Mayor Emile Dubuc said Thursday lifted an 8 p.m.-to - 6 a.m. curfew imposed Tuesday to discourage a recurrence of violence.

Provincial police Thursday discontinued their guard at the local hotel, posted to prevent the carrying-out of the bulky trunk Mr. Bedard and two other union officials would be forced out of town by company employees.

The other union men are Bruno MacDonald, and Theo. Gagne, president of the Murdochville local.

Attend Service

HAMILTON (CP) — Led by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and State Secretary Fairclough, the ruling Conservatives attended a memorial service for 12 Hamilton residents who died in the crash of a Maritime Central Airways airliner on Quebec two years ago.

The service, held in Gage Park, was sponsored by the Canadian Legion.

Stassen Plans to Amplify Latest Disarmament Scheme

LONDON (Reuters)—American delegate Harold Stassen was expected to amplify today's meeting of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee on West's latest proposals on suspending nuclear tests.

The plan was submitted to the subcommittee Tuesday. Put forward by the United States, British, Canada and France, it proposes a two-year ban on nuclear tests under certain conditions as a part of a partial disarmament agreement.

After the plan was submitted, Western sources could not agree whether the new proposals offered any real basis for agreement. But Russian delegate Valerian Zorin admitted that it was closer to the Russian position.

The new proposals announced by Western offer of a period for suspending tests conditionally from 30 months to two years. But the Western diplomats apparently still stand by their suggestions of last June for a two to three-year unconditional suspension of tests.

The Western delegates at the talks insist that agreement to halt tests must be conditional on Soviet acceptance of the first-stage partial disarmament plan which they have been outlining at the conference.

This would involve Soviet agreement to reductions in force levels and in conventional arms, with appropriate inspection, to aerial and ground inspection against surprise attack and to the ending of production of fissionable material for military purposes.

General Motors Asks UAW To Extend Contract 2 Years

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, replying to Walter Reuther's proposal for a $100 price cut on 1958 car models, has asked the United Auto Workers union to extend its GM contract two years as "contribution to economic stability."

GM President Harlow Curtice Thursday termed the "reply" to Reuther's proposal. It was the first reply from the industry.

Reuther, UAW president, had portrayed his proposal as a "challenge" to GM executives, as he called Curtice's response an "arbitrary rejection," and accused the industry of "stonewalling" on the public welfare.

The UAW chief also charged GM with intending "to go on short - changing American consumers more than it has in the past."

Curtice made his counter-proposal in a letter to Reuther describing it as a constructive step against inflation. The UAW leader answered in a public statement.

Last week Reuther proposed to the auto industry's Big Three of GM, Chrysler and Ford that they cut 1958 car prices by an average of $100 a car. In return, he said, the union would be willing to accept next year's contract demands.

Reuther has not spelled out what concessions the union might offer.

Present three-year contracts in the United States auto industry expire next spring. The union has said it will seek a substantial wage increase in new contracts.

The negotiations, if contracts expire proposed, would freeze the pay of more than 1,000,000 employees in auto plants and parent base levels, though not infringe on cost-of-living changes. The U.S. auto worker's present average pay is about $2.30 an hour.

By coincidence, the Curtice-Reuther exchange came on the same day the government announced a cost-of-living increase for the third month running.

Move Allowing Newsmen to Go To China Praised

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles has won commendation from congressional leaders for his decision to permit 34 American news correspondents to report from inside Red China.

Dulles' action Thursday allowing the reporters to be stationed there on a rotating basis, also points to an end of an eight-year blackout on direct reporting by American press from the China mainland.

Spokesmen for groups in the newspaper field called Dulles' move a step in the right direction and said it ought to go further.

Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem. Minn.) called it "a long overdue but welcome retreat from an untenable position."

MAY LIFT IT

But Red China will permit American newsmen to observe and report on happenings on the mainland. This could very well be the lifting of the Iron curtain.

This could bring profound political repercussions. The next step might well be, the release of American prisoners and a final settlement of the Korean War.

Two-Party Fight In Two Ontario Ridings Sept 5

TORONTO (CP)—Liberal and Progressive Conservative candidates have filed nomination papers for Sept. 5 byelections in two Ontario provincial ridings. There were no third-party bids.

W. A. (Bill) Stewart, Conservative, and A. E. (Pete) Smith, Liberal, are candidates for the Middlesex North seat near London created by the death on July 20 of W. L. Patrick, Conservative. Fernand Guindon, Conservative, and Jim McLennan, Liberal, were nominated in Glengarry riding in the Cornwall area. Former Conservative member Osie Villeneuve resigned this summer after being convicted of conspiracy to commit theft in the June 10 federal election.

Witness Says Family Terrorized By Two Gunmen

CORNWALL (CP)—The son of a Cornwall chain store manager has testified his family was terrorized by two men who held his father's store was robbed of $17,456.

Louis Molnar, 24, is charged with the armed robbery of a Dominion store here Nov. 26, 1955. Married to the daughter of Prime Minister Diefenbaker, of Toronto, he was arrested in Mexico.

Raymond Desgroseilliers, 17, said Thursday he and two brothers heard an argument in the gunmen, one of whom was armed with a revolver and the other a sawed-off shotgun.

Robert said a man went to the door of his father's office. He said he was told he would return.

Robert said the stranger returned at midnight and was joined by another man with a white mask on his face. The second man ordered the family to be tied up.

The witness said he could not see the second man's face.

The trial is continuing.

POLICE CHARGE MAN LINKED WITH FLIGHT MIX-UP

Travel Agent Held For Attempted Suicide

MONTREAL (CP) — Quebec Provincial Police have taken out a warrant charging attempted suicide against a 47 - year - old Finnish-born travel agent linked with a series of charter flight mix-ups.

The man is under continual police guard in St. Jerome, Que., hospital 30 miles north of here after being found Wednesday semi-conscious in a St. Adele hotel room. The two resort towns are 15 miles apart.

The officers want to question him about the cancellation of three air flights involving nearly 500 persons on both sides of the Atlantic. Seventy-two passengers who expected to leave Paris for France, last week by chartered plane were stranded when the aircraft didn't arrive.

TO CHARTER PLANE

The Canadian government is planning to charter a plane to fly 32 of them back to Canada. The rest made their own arrangements to return.

The airline said the flights were not undertaken because the necessary permit had not been paid to them.

A flight that was to leave Montreal airport this week with 89 persons bound for Frankfurt, Germany, never materialized. A third flight—set for Sept. 11—to fly 150 to Paris under the Canso-ipe—is also reported cancelled.

Most of the stranded travellers paid lower fares than required for normal scheduled flights by taking advantage of group charters. Many were recent immigrants to Canada who wanted to return home for brief visits.

The travel agent who handled the flights was arrested when the Paris travellers were stranded. He was found Wednesday in the hotel.

KEPT THEM OUT

A "don't disturb" sign kept hotel attendants from checking the man's room for two days. When they finally entered the room, the man was found lying on the floor with a note in a yellow envelope containing papers and cheques.

Detective Lieutenant Paul Coulombe, in charge of the St. Jerome detachment, said all the papers and cheques were found in the envelope addressed to his lawyer.

"We're holding them at headquarters," he said, "until the investigation is complete."

The man's wife visited him in hospital several times Thursday. She said he was a "very poor businessman but not dishonest."

Macmillan Ends Holiday Owing To Syrian Move

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan returned to London Thursday, interrupting his hunting holiday in northern England to assume charge of the foreign office and examine the extent of Russian influence in Syria.

Plane Lands With Dead Engine One Afire and Landing Gear Stuck

MONTREAL (CP) — An amphibian aircraft with one engine dead, the other afire and its landing gear stuck landed safely on Lake St. Louis Thursday with three men aboard. None was injured.

Co - pilot Jimmy Balfour of Oshawa said the airliner Canso had been circling Dorval airport here, it peeled off on the lake when the live engine caught fire.

Mr. Balfour said there had been something wrong with one engine and it was decided to ferry the Canso from Val d'Or in northern Quebec to Montreal for repairs. The engine stopped about 20 minutes out of Dorval "but we weren't very worried because you can fly this crate on a long way on one engine."

Pilot Frank Bibik and Jimmy Philipsen , of Vancouver, at the controls said "it was nothing much."

"We've had tougher moments before, but they are rare. I'm going up north on some lake where nobody's around."

Save Timmins Boy From Mine Shaft, Companion Dead

Timbers Over 1400-Foot Hole Collapse Under Five

TIMMINS (CP)—Rescuers today uncovered the body of 15-year-old Ronnie Blakemore as they dug into a mass of debris wedged part way down a 1,400-foot mine shaft.

The boy was found dead about 10 feet below the level where 16-year-old Bernard Scholes was rescued Thursday night after the pair fell into the shaft while dropping stones to hear the echo. Three other teen-agers scrambled to safety when timbers covering the hole collapsed.

The debris formed a plug-like obstruction 30 feet below the surface of the shaft. No one knew how far it extended. Below was the open shaft, with 30 feet of water at its bottom.

One of the dead boy's hands had been seen in the debris Thursday night by a companion before he climbed out. It had been hoped an obstruction would provide an air hole for him.

ONE AT A TIME

Only one man at a time went down to dig for the second boy. A companion helped put the earth into a container raised by a crane.

Both were surrounded on their precarious perch by a pile of rock measuring eight feet by 14 feet at its open ends, used to protect workers from falling rock and rocks. The cribbing had been built during the night by workers from ropes from the surface around the water.

Scholes was saved after workers lowered by rope used their hands to remove the muck that had buried him waist-deep. Dr. W. G. Binsmeister of Timmins was lowered into the shaft to give the youth a sedative and feed him intravenously.

"He behaved like- and absolute trooper," the doctor said. "He cooperated in every way when he was pulled up although he was only semi-conscious and must have been suffering pain."

The rescue crew sped to the scene when one of the three boys who scrambled out as the mine overlay collapsed sounded the alarm. He had run to the high-way a half-mile distant and been taken to Timmins by a motorist. Early reports of the names transposed at the boy rescued and the boy still down the shaft.

In the shaft with Scholes were Terry Scholes, 14, a brother; Bernard Marcoux Gauthier, 14, and Peter Burke, 14.

Maurice said he saw a hand protruding from the mass of rock and mud that fell with the boys and said he felt they had not gone on the planking covering the shaft to see whether they could drop stones down and hear them splash in water 1,400 feet below. The huge combined weight broke the timbers.

Terry and Maurice scrambled to safety while Burke was saved by a ledge just beneath the planking. He was pulled to safety by the first person reaching the scene after Gauthier gave the alarm.

Syrian Says U.S. Seeks to Bend Others to Will

DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuters)—Syria's acting defence minister, Sayed Khaled el Azem, has accused the United States of "trying to subjugate countries both big and small."

In the Arab blast by Syrian officials at "American Middle Eastern policy, Azem made his remarks in an interview with American correspondents Thursday night. It climaxed criticisms along the same line made during the day by Salah el Tarazi, secretary-general of the foreign ministry, and Salih Akil, information minister.

Azem accused the U.S. of supporting "imperialism and Zionism" and said President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles are agents of Arab aims and plans.

There is the main obstacle to understanding between the American and Arab nations.

"You never hesitate to adopt your policies and you want to subjugate nations, big and small, to your will, but you often err. These nations do not support you and will fight against your path, and then you believe that they have become your enemies before he is right.

"You know quite well that we shall not submit and will never submit to foreign domination, and yet you want to force us to become Communists or under the influence of the Soviet Union when you know quite well these are all lies."

Veteran Climber Dies on B.C. Peak Two Days After Falling 250 Feet

TERRACE, B.C. (CP) — Mountaineers prepared today to go after the body of a veteran climber who was killed in a fall and lashed by two injured companions to a rock high over a glacier.

Major Rex Gibson, president of the Alpine Club of Canada, plunged 250 feet to his death Monday during his fourth assault on unconquered Howson peak in northern British Columbia.

A falling rock struck Maj. Gibson on the head, sending him and two ruper companions off the mountainside. The two other men, Dr. Sterling Hendricks of Silver Springs, Md., and Don Hubbard of Washington, D.C., did not reach hospital here until Thursday.

Hendricks suffered a broken arm and rib injuries. Hubbard has a broken knee. Maj. Gibson, about 65, lived at Saanichton, B.C.

Six members of the B.C. mountain rescue group were to fly to the scene today to try to bring the body out by helicopter from the 6,000-foot level, about 3,000 feet below the peak.

Dr. Alex Faberge of the University of Missouri and Alvin Peterson of Washington were unhurt but exhausted after bringing aid to the injured men. Faberge and Peterson had walked at base camp while the other three attempted the peak on the 18th.

Hendricks said of the accident: "three of us were climbing the peak at 10 a.m. and were roped with Maj. Gibson leading.

"I went to get help from the others two at our base camp and Don stayed with Rex. Rex died there two days later before we could get help.

Faberge and Peterson became unable to go on. Their companions did not return to camp Monday. It was Tuesday morning before Hendricks staggered down the mountain and told them of the accident.

Maj. Gibson had been a member of the Alpine Club of Canada since 1930. During the war he taught mountain warfare to Canadian troops.

One of the calls was to Hillcrest, where on the Foxboro Road across from the cattle barns, and at noon the resis were called to the Catholic Hospital grounds on Sidney Street for another grass blaze.

The Belleville Children's Aid Society will shortly open a receiving home on Highland Ave. The new problem children and other wards of the society will be housed.

This was told to Hastings county councillors Thursday by Deputy Reeve Harold Ivans of Hungerford township, one of the county C.A.S. representatives.

Mr. Varty said the Society had recently completed purchase of the property of Albert Collier Manor and this was now being renovated to fit in with the society's needs. He said that a Belleville family would be tenants at the receiving home and would look after any C.A.S. wards at the home.

He recalled that some years ago the Society had operated such a receiving home called the Children's Shelter, which was situated on Dundas street. This building had been sold to the Belleville General Hospital and was now being used as a nurses residence.

However, with the increasing difficulty of the Society to secure foster homes, it had been decided by the board to open a receiving home. The home would have accommodation for up to 10 children, it was stated.

Tudor Reeve James Spracklett presented the juvenile and family court and C.A.S. representatives' reports to council. Cost of C.A.S. maintenance for the first six months had been $36,283.63. "As of July 31st there were 136 children in the care of the society," he said.

Tweed-Sulphide Road Under Lengthy Discussion, North Reeves Pose Many Questions

Hastings county councillors are pondering the question of what happened to their request for a development road grant for the Tweed-Sulphide Road.

And at the same time many of the members would like to know why the Ridge Road leading from Stirling to West Huntingdon had been approved by the highways department for a developing grant when the Sulphide road has been turned down.

Yesterday at council following the presentation of the road report, councillors wanted to know why the Ridge Road had been approved over the Sulphide Road, especially since the request for the Sulphide Road development grant had been made prior to that for the Ridge Road.

Council didn't get the answer but several of the members felt the high cost of the Madoc Road rebuilding was a factor balanced against East Hastings by the Sulphide road project when further development grant requests were being considered.

This was referred by Road committee chairman, Reeve Earl Sager, Tudor, to one of the northern reeves who said they had been told this when development grants for their municipalities were requested.

REEVE'S NEXT QUESTION

Reeve T. C. Graham of Tweed posed the question regarding the Sulphide road when first brought attention to an item in the road report which said the province had increased an agreement with the county creating a development road project for the Ridge Road.

"What happened to the project that a development road grant for the Sulphide road?" he asked.

"It just died a natural death," returned Hungerford Reeve J. Kinlin. "The department says the county is going to have to build the road itself."

Reeve Holt of Stirling, supported by a desire to set up parallel roads might have been the reason for choosing the Ridge Road as the county road, neer L. Langlois said the fact that the road was a continuation of the Campbellford-Stirling road may have been another reason.

Reeve Sager suggested that the high cost of the Madoc road rebuilding in East Hastings in all likelihood weighed against the Sulphide road project and said the time was coming if further development grants for other roads vase to be expected, the county must decide whether the completion of the Madoc artery was to be a development project.

"Do you mean that the Madoc road is being charged against it further development grants in East Hastings were considered.

"It isn't fair," he said. "The Madoc road serves West Hastings as much as it does East Hastings, and Belleville will benefit the most.

"There should be no more horsetrading," he said.

Road committee member Deputy Reeve H. Hamilton of Stirling said however, that Highway Minister Allan had made no mention of East Hastings. He said the impression was that Hastings was receiving too much in development grants.

Reeve Graham pointed out the fact that it is the members (M.P.P.'s) who get the credit for the grants, commented Warden McLaren. "We make the requests and the department decides. We were glad to sign the agreement with Sulphide road when brought in. It means that much more road the county is rid of."

REEVE WICKETT AGREES

Discussion swung around to whether more construction and less maintenance would give best value for money. Reeve Wickett Reeve Alf Wickett of Thurlow claiming this would be a wise move.

"If we could determine that there is a speed at which roads at a specific project we would get value for our money," he said. "We are being human and want work done in our own township first."

Reeve J. Spry of Rawdon said they had waited their turn for the development grant and a continuation of the Campbellford-Stirling road may have been another reason.

"Let's get the Ridge Road job done," said Reeve Earl Holt of Stirling. "We asked for it five years ago."

Reeve Davis said that something should be done to make more money available for roads and claimed raising of the gas tax would be an answer."

Horse, Threshing Separator, Barn, Contents Lost in Fire

A spark from a stone or a piece of metal which may have passed through the threshing separator is believed to have been the cause of a fire which Thursday afternoon completely destroyed the large barn on the farm of Mr. Ray Callaghan, 2nd concession of Tyendinaga Twp.

Also lost in the blaze was a horse belonging to Mr. Callaghan, the season's crop of hay, a quantity of grain and straw, as well as a threshing separator owned by Mr. Norman Allport. A tractor and wagon owned by Mr. Callaghan were also destroyed.

One man who sought to beat out the flames said that the smoke was overpowering, and he "I was lucky to get out", he said.

The belt to the threshing separator was cut, and the tractor operating the machine saved but a tractor and wagon being destroyed in the blaze.

The only animal in the barn was a horse, which was lost in the flames.

Belleville firemen answered the alarm but the barn was burned down by the time they arrived.

No other building was threatened.

Family of 12 Left Homeless As House Burns

A family of 12, including 10 children ranging in age from a baby of one month to 13 years, was left homeless Thursday afternoon when fire destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murray of Read, 15 miles northeast of the city.

Practically all the family's clothing and household furniture was lost in the blaze, along with the woodshed situated some distance from the house. No one was injured.

The Murray home was situated on what was known as the Lally farm. Belleville firemen who answered the call were unable to give a cause of the blaze. The Murrays have 12 children, 10 of whom were living at home. Two children are married. Mr. Murray is an employee of Hastings county.

Following the fire a call for assistance went out to the Belleville Red Cross and Mrs. Effie McCabe, chairman of the Red Cross disaster committee and coworker Mrs. Jack Marsh visited the family. Mrs. McCabe said clothing for the entire family would be provided as well as household requirements, when new accommodation was found for the family.

Call Meeting On Milk Strike

TRENTON (Special) — Representatives of all local unions in the Trenton and district area met in meeting in The Queenway Hotel, voted to call a mass meeting to air the grievances of the milk drivers on strike for the 29th day. The Trades and Labor Council gave the union every new development complete support.

Bernie Whyte, president of local 647 of the milk drivers and dairy employees (Teamsters, A. F. of L.), union, said invitations would be extended to consumers and producers involved. He said the union desired to bare the facts of any offers made during the period of negotiations and conciliations.

For the second day in succession Thursday failed to give milk delivery trucks operating out of the Riverside Dairy safe passage through the picket line. Otherwise the dairy's policy to avoid disorders by not trying to the wholesale outlets has been carried out, except that for the first day when a union businessman agent claimed he was issued a delivery truck that left him and knocked him to the pavement in front of the dairy driveway.

Quick Thinking By Housewife Prevents Fire

Mrs. Neal was preparing the evening meal for her family and was still at work, her two children, John, 1 1/2 and Daniel, 13 and nephew, Cecil Neal, 13 employed at the Bata Shoe Company.

Mrs. Neal left the gas stove with which she was cooking the meal to get something in another room when she heard a noise and rushed back to find flames around the stove. It was believed the tank, containing Naptha gas, was causing a leak. Mrs. Neal turned off the gas.

The explosion had apparently frightened John and he had rushed into the living room, where he crouched in a corner. The flames from the fire were between Mrs. Neal and her son, but still believing it a cool head she rushed out the back door and in the front to assist John to safety. Mrs. Neal then returned and extinguished the flames with a wet blanket, getting John from her right hand.

Damage to the meantime had phoned the Trenton Fire Department but Mrs. Neal had everything under control by the time they arrived. The fire caused damage to the kitchen cupboards, the floor coverings and door casings.

COFFEE SHOP ENTERED

Colin Bert's Coffee Shop on Highway 33, about 1 1/2 miles south of Trenton was broken into early this morning, for the third time since its opening this June.

Robbers gained entrance through a rear window of the service station, located at the back of the shop, forcing the window. They went to the main part of the building and pried the money container loose from the juke box. It was estimated that $175 was stolen from the container, which was due to be emptied today. Several cartons of cigarets and chocolate bars were also taken.

Constable Lorne Stinson of the O.P.P. investigated and reported that a number of fingerprints were found on the window ledge and in the coffee shop.

This was indicated Thursday at county council in the finance and public property report submitted by Reeve J. Byron Harder, reeve of Sidney township.

Indigent hospital accounts for the second quarter of the year paid by the county totalled $10,-897.

Mr. Harder said payments for the first quarter were about $2,000 under those for the first quarter last year while payments for the second and third quarter are running a bit under those of a comparative date in 1956. This, however, was not quite a true picture as late bills could boost the total slightly.

A contract for the repair of the roofs on the court house and at Shire Hall has been let to the Industrial Maintenance Co., the low tender of $2,897.50 including the removal of a chimney no longer needed on Shire Hall.

The committee had approved the appointment of Mr. Willard Keith as county court reporter at a salary of $4,500 per year. Mr. Keith comes to Hastings from Medicine Hat, Alta., and commenced duties on August 1st.

Mr. Harder commended Jail Governor Robert Scott for supervision of decorating in the council chambers which had been done at a cost of $250, including new venetian blinds costing $120.04 purchased from the Couch Newton Company of Trenton. The Trenton tender was the lowest of three received, it was stated.

Reeve T. C. Graham of Tweed also added a word of commendation for the jail governor for his supervision of the decorating but stated that Shire Hall office-ials, county clerk treasurer Eric Denyes and deputy clerk Mrs. Ruth Gould also assisted, and were responsible for choosing of colors used.

Summer Session County Council Ended at Noon

Hastings County Council wound up the business of their summer session at noon today, the session ending without any business of major importance coming up for discussion.

At the final session a grant of $250 was approved for the British Empire Dairy Show to be held in the city this autumn, while grants of $300 to Belleville Fair, and $150 each to the county rural fairs were also approved.

Council took no action on a request for financial assistance from the Plainfield Babies' Convalescent Home to help pay the cost of a new playground. In turning down the request councillors did not feel they could grant money to a private venture.

At the same time, however, councillors felt that Mr. Vellaman, the home manager, and Mrs. Vellaman were doing a splendid work in providing a home for retarded children.

There was brief discussion on a request for the county to go in with the city on a civil defence program but no action was taken. Reeve Ali Wickett of Thurlow said that some sort of a civil defence program was necessary for the immediate Belleville area.

Warden C. C. Graham reported to council on hospital board meetings since the last session, the session ended with a discussion on how the city's proposed annexation might affect the county.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Slaughter steers, heifers, in narrow demand throughout the week at the Ontario public stockyards, were steadied trading on a basis ranging from barely steady to drops of 50 cents a hundredweight and more. Stable-fed yearlings were active at firm prices. Cows, operated at prices firm to 50 cents higher, lost most of the gain at the close. Bulls were unchanged for the week.

Top quality veal calves, in

Eddy Paper and Canada Permanent Mortgage each touched 1957 lows with point losses. Gales were all fractional and outnumbered 3-to-1 by losers.

Senior base metals were fractionally lower. Uraniums were mixed with Denison up ⅛ to 17¾ and a few others ahead 15-20 cents. Losses ranged to 15 cents. Other low -priced mines were mixed to lower in a 15 - cent range.

Western oils were led down by Canadian Export in the evening fractions. Canadian Atlantic was off 6 cents at $7.25 while Scurry dipped 15 cents to $3.15.

B.C. Bowlers Entertained at Local Greens

The touring British Columbia lawn bowlers had a wonderful time in the city on Thursday afternoon. From the time they stepped on the noon train until their departure in the evening for Ottawa, the were "on the go" and the consensus on leaving was it was the finest day of the tour.

Representatives from Districts 15 and 16 under the chairmanship of Fred Rutherford of Campbellford assembled five rinks to compete against an equal number from the West coast and at the end of play the westerners had secured a 99-84 win. Skipping the Ontario 8 at Belleville skipped a rink against R. Fletcher and won 25-17, C. Houston won over Bert Taylor of Campbellford 19-14, T. Baker beat Free Bell with a 22-12, W. Kemmuir tied with Morley Cook 17-17, Kingston 18, while P. Masterman defeated Gerry Ugbi 17-15. The greens were exceptionally fast and the bowling keen. The westerners play the Ontario 8 almost entirely. The running shot is used but very little and if they want to remove a bowl they use the "ditch" weight instead of the runner. Skips: Belleville Campbellford, Cobourg, Madoc, Belleville, Kingston, Trenton and Brighton represented the district.

The local bowlers met the visitors at the station and after a drive through the city took them to the clubhouse, where luncheon had been prepared by Mrs. Leonard Walsh and Mrs. Charles Mott in charge and these women were assisted by members of the women's section of the club. After a social hour the games were commenced and at the conclusion the visitors were taken to the Golden Arrow Inn, where a banquet was held. They were welcomed by Austin Watkin, chairman of the district and by Ald. Gerald Hyde on behalf of the city. The visitors spoke in glowing terms of the fine hospitality accorded them and hoped to come back some day.

Cliff Argue, past president of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association, and when in good health the conductor of good bowling tours across the Province was also interested spectator. Cliff's health is gradually improving and he never loses his interest in this fine summer pastime.

Canada Dollar, German Mark Selling Above U.S. Dollar

NEW YORK (AP)—The American dollar is selling at a discount today in both the Canadian dollar and the German mark—for quite different reasons.

The Canadian dollar brings $1.06 in American money because the Canadian dollar is scarce and in great demand.

Americans want it for investment—Canada is booming—and prosperity. Many West Europeans are frightened by the shakiness of their own currencies and are putting their funds into Canadian or American securities or cash.

On the 90-day futures foreign exchange market the American dollar is selling at a five per cent discount from the German mark.

Speculators in foreign currency and German exporters have been expecting a revaluation upward of the German mark.

Many businessmen have put many millions of dollars into German marks, thinking to make a killing when they are forced to if the mark is revalued upwards in terms of dollars—or to escape a loss if other European nations follow France's move toward devaluation of the franc.

The foreign exchange market is also seeing a slight rise in the pound sterling to the Canadian dollar and the German mark. Talk of the possibility of devaluation of the pound has become so widespread that the British government felt compelled to deny any such intention.

INVEST IN CANADA

There is no flight from the Canadian dollar to the American dollar. What is happening is that Americans are investing millions in Canadian resources and Canadian growing industries. Canadian corporations come to New York to borrow money and float securities. While American interest rates have been rising, Canadian rates are still higher, so that borrowing is cheaper here.

But all these American funds and the fleeing currencies of Europe must be turned into Canadian dollars to be put to work there. This demand for the Canadian dollar has sent it steadily up.

The German mark is so strong because it has a balance-of-payments surplus of more than $2,000,000,000 in its foreign trade dealings with the world. Dealings with the dollar area in West Germany come to $1,000,000,000.

Bonn doesn't want to mark the value up in terms of the dollar because valuation of the German products, like the Volkswagen, more expensive here and hurt their competitive position.

Two Firemen Injured When Truck Turns Over

Two city firemen, Irvine Brewming and Robert Armitage, are in Belleville General Hospital with injuries received Thursday when their fire truck struck some loose gravel and turned over while they were on their way to a grass fire at Carrying Place.

The dump pumper which the two firemen were driving, rolled completely over coming to rest back on its four wheels. The men were said not to be seriously injured. They were taken to hospital by the Pinkston and Luscombe Ambulance.

Thursday was one of the busiest days in some time for firemen who answered no less than 11 calls, several of them for grass fires.

In the morning a transport was reported ablaze on North Front Street, but when the attennoon calls were received in rapid succession to go to a house fire at Read and to a barn fire in the second concession of Trenttaga township. Both buildings were a complete loss.

In addition there were several grass fire alarms.

Daily Sketch Still Devoting Space to Altrincham Case

LONDON (CP) — Lord Altrincham's views on royalty prompted him to remain a topic of serious discussion even after they cease probritish newspapers.

The Daily Sketch still is devoting its biggest black letters to Altrincham case. For three days the Sketch has published quotations, the Sunday Express and Daily Mail commented, many on royalist sentiments in articles purporting to defend the Queen. Altrincham's comments were replied by the Spectator as "a nice example of what royalty is not," seeks to prove that the Beaverbrook papers lose no opportunity to intermingle personal spectacles to members of the Royal Family with their protestations of loyalty to the crown.

THE COAL TO A FIRE

Sidelines comment on the affair generally followed the Spectator's lead in wasting little sympathy on the Queen's critic or the accused. There was some evidence, on the other hand, of feeling that the violence of the attack on the Queen had been supplied to a greater degree by the newspapers than by Altrincham himself. The Manchester Guardian Daily Mirror came the first London paper to call Altrincham's editorial by name of Altrincham's statements for palace reform.

The Mirror, which had previously splashed the Altrincham controversy across pages, in an editorial stand, called the 24-year-old peer's language "intemperate, even impolite." But it added that such "flock - troop tactics" are "more calculated to "stimulate the controversy that was long overdue."

THE DUST SETTLES

The even blunter language of the young Marquess of Londonderry in support of Altrincham's position, which initially appeared to have brought down on the Queen's defenders, has begun to have the opposite effect.

Many Britons, offended by Londonderry's impetuous outburst, have come to believe in the necessity of Altrincham's sober findings. The face-tapping incident and other activities by the extremist United Empire Loyalists are also arousing a reaction in popular opinion in Altrincham's favor.

As the emotionalism dies down, few Britons would disagree that royal court would be improved by a certain amount of change. Increasingly, the discussion is turning to the nature and degree of reform that would be desirable.

Peter Stevenson, friendship to Altrincham from the start, feels that the case for reform and it will be found that Lord Altrincham's intervention has performed a useful service." The dust has not cleared yet. But it is beginning to settle.

Second Wildcat Strike on at Greyhawk Mine

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—The morning shift at the Greyhawk uranium mine near Bancroft, 65 miles north here, walked out Thursday in the second wildcat strike at the mine in eight days.

Union officials claim today's lockout at the mine, where 17 men have been laid off since operations began again Tuesday after the first strike. The mine employs about 100 men.

Reg Sellah, national representative of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (ind.) said the men intend to lay a charge before the federal Labor Minister Starr accusing the company of a lockout.

Earlier, both parties in the dispute charged that the other was breaking the Mining Act. The company fired a driller who said he refused to drill a hole because it was too near a hole with an unexploded dynamite charge.

Rigidities of Tight Money May Be Eased by Loans But Interest Rates to Remain High

OTTAWA (CP) — Some of the rigidities of federal tight-money policy may be eased by the increased supply of money for housing loans but interest rates will remain high, authorities said Thursday.

They could see no early let-up in the heavy Canadian demand for investment funds. The government itself would be a big borrower next fall to refinance a lot of maturing issues. And in the midst of this heavier market for funds, the Bank of Canada would undoubtedly remain cautious in expanding the country's money supply.

Thus it appeared almost certain that when Finance Minister Fleming announces the new series of Canada savings bonds next week he would include a more attractive interest rate to keep money cheap, not for housing, but no drastic change is the policy itself.

Sales of the current 11th series end Aug. 31. Maturing in 12 years they have a graduated interest rate, starting at 3¼ per cent and scaled up in later years to four per cent. The average yield to maturity is 3.76 per cent, up from the 3.65 the 1957 issue.

HIGHER YIELD EXPECTED

Undoubtedly the average yield on the new issue, to be launched in October, will be higher. But to discourage bondholders from switching to the new issue from the old, the yield for the final few years may be unchanged. The yield on the 1957 issue for 1967 may be steeper.

As a further indication of the heavy pressure in the demand for funds, the central bank boosted its interest rate to a new high of 4.33 per cent—up from 4.31 last week. In August two years ago, the bank increased the charge to two per cent from 1½, ending a six-month "easy money" policy.

Chartered bank lending rates continue to move higher.

Their rates on top - grade loans will be boosted by one-quarter of one per cent Monday to 5¾. Rates on other grades of loans will follow the rise in the yardstick. Brokerage firms said the increase likely will be passed along to stock buyers.

NO RATE CHANGE SEEN

The interest rate on approved National Housing Act loans was raised to a high of six per cent from 5½ in January. Officials said there is no suggestion of any further increase at this time.

There would be an easing of the rigidities of the tight-money policy, at least for housing, but no drastic change is the policy itself.

CANADIANS PARE THEIR DEBTS

In recent months some concern has been expressed in various quarters about business conditions in Canada.

This concern is not without some basis in fact, but these facts do not justify some of the more pessimistic remarks which have been voiced. Conditions are most accurately described if we use the term "a lull in the business boom."

There are many signs of this lull. In recent trading large sums have been cut off the aggregate paper value of stocks traded on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Home construction, both as regards "completions" and "starts," has declined as the result of the "tight money" situation. Wednesday the Federal Bureau of Statistics reported that the number of Canadians without jobs climbed, rather than declined, between June 22 and July 20. Here, though, we see clear evidence that this is no more than a lull; the number of Canadians in the labor force increased by 221,000 over the same time a year ago; on July 20 there were 115,000 more Canadians working than a month earlier, but the labor force had increased by 116,000 in that month, which in effect means that the Canadian economy had absorbed all but a thousand of the influx of new workers who completed their schooling in June.

Now the Bank of Montreal business review for August presents informative statistics on consumer debt, which, we think, provide both an explanation for the dulled demand and a reasonable expectation that this reduction is only temporary. Towards the end of 1950 consumer credit outstanding, the debt owed by Canadians to retail dealers, finance companies and other lending institutions in connection with the purchase of goods and services, reached a billion dollars. It subsequently exceeded two billions, and at the end of last year it stood very close to two and a half billions. "As these figures indicate," says the Bank, "consumer credit outstanding has tended to double every four or five years since the end of World War Two."

That trend, though, has been interrupted. First intimation of a less rapid rate of growth came in the second half of 1956, when consumer credit increased by $162,000,000, compared with $251,000,000 in the same period of 1955. During the first quarter of each year the consumer debt normally declines - - people start paying off the debts they piled up in the Christmas season - - but this year's decline in the first quarter was $111,000,000, compared with a mere $38,000,000 a year earlier. "And," adds the Bank, "preliminary evidence suggests that the seasonal upturn in the second quarter was only about half as large as the rise of 167,000,000 which took place in the second quarter of 1956."

This slowing of the rate of increase in consumer credit obviously explains why some retail firms have found that business has not-matched that in the past few years. Indeed, if the Bank's figures are correct, consumer debt must have declined in the first half of 1957, compared with an increase of $129,000,000 in the same period last year. But this decline in consumer debt, while it cannot help but be reflected in sales during the first half of this year, provides solid reason for optimism regarding the future. It seems safe to say that the Canadian people will continue indefinitely to double their debts every four or five years - - that in order to escape bankruptcy they had to call a halt some time. That halt has now been called. Debt has actually been reduced despite an increase in population and an increase in average wages. That, we should imagine, would provide a solid base for a resumption of business activity in the months ahead, in the period of the year during which consumer debt normally expands most vigorously. The plain truth seems to be that the average Canadian is a better credit risk today than he was a year ago.

'ENGLISH EAT SEAWEED

Ever tasted birds' neat soup? Even among those Canadians who enjoy Chinese food, there are probably few who have tasted this "delicacy," and indeed most of those who have heard about it probably have wondered whether it is not more a product of somebody's fertile imagination than of the cullinde a genius base for a real chef. One wonders, though, what it would taste like, just as one wonders about fried grasshoppers, and seaweed.

Seaweed an Oriental dish? Hold on there, says the BBC, that's an English as roast beef, a fact which will probably amaze almost every Englishman reading these lines, unless he happens to come from Norfolk. It seems that in East Anglia a marsh seaweed called samphire has always been a delicacy. Occasionally it finds its way to a few of London's more expensive restaurants; reports "BBC London Letter," having just about the same appeal, we should imagine, as octopus or fried snails or the bird's nest soup which we mentioned earlier.

Just in case any reader runs into samphire in the Prince Edward County marshes, here's how it is served, according to the BBC: "You boil it and then suck it off the stem like asparagus, and very nice it is too. It is rather hard to describe the taste; it is perhaps something like asparagus and spinach mixed."

And, we presume, no salt needed.

Criticisms of Royalty

By Roger Pulford in the Ottawa Journal

That highly sagacious, civilized, and amusing relation of the Royal Family, King Leopold I of the Belgians, who knew Britain well, once observed that in England "abuse was the staff of life". And he added that nothing more unproductive could well be imagined.

The Royal Family has through history received more than its share of unintelligently salutary but certainly unproductive pellets. Indeed, without going back to the times when sovereigns were party politicians and received indiscriminate blows like any other party leader, the average person is well to be surprised by the extensiveness and outspokenness of the comments on Queen Victoria, King Edward VII, and King George V — to go back no farther in our royal annals.

When she was on a visit to the King of the French and was still in her early twenties Queen Victoria was told by the foreign newspapers that in her public appearances she was not popular for anyone to look more bored, glum, and out of humor than she often did.

The Queen was distressed by this comment and privately asked her husband, Prince Albert, how he thought she ought to behave. Albert's reply was typical than is often supposed—sprang as it seemed a pas de seul, assumed a gigantic and ghastly grin, and said: "This might satisfy them."

Later in the reign Queen Victoria had to endure attacks for her supposed partiality to John Brown, "Punch", for example, enlivened its readers by a mock court circular, dated from Balmoral, informing them that "Mr. John Brown walked on the slopes, subsequently partook of a haggis, and in the evening was pleased to listen to a bagpipe".

* * *

In the case of King Edward VII, apart from the well-known episodes when he invited attacks by his conduct, a typical publication of the 1870's — Beeton's Christmas Annual — belabored him with the scathing blend of chaff and malice. It opened its attack on the Prince of Wales with a dedication in "The Idylls of the King" style: "The cousin K—" which contained the line "dear to thy country in a double sense, and ended:

"Beyond all titles, and a hundred names,
Hereafter through all times
Guelpho the gay."

Perhaps there was a little more bite in the attacks on King George V which enlivened the ponderous pages of the "Daily Worker" in the 1930's or in the speeches made by the voluble Lansbury in the provocative 1920's, but in 1924 when he died he threatened the King with the fate of Charles I.

* * *

King George was amused rather than hurt by these jibes and squibs, though he bitterly resented gibes against the monarchy and, indeed, the form of sneers about the Court and ceremonial. The pleasure in rubbish which is hurled at this respectable and industrious section of the community — for the Court certainly merits both adjectives — is worth recalling that King George assured the members of the first Labor Government, contary to what they might have heard, that he was perfectly aware of the views of those at Court. He added: "I form by my own judgement." He may even have assured that his granddaughter would profit from such wisdom the same today.

On one other point history can illumine an old target for abuse once again as we go over the diverse opinion. Commentators on our affairs talk glibly of widening the circle of the Royal Family with the suggestion that the Royal Family might be greatly improved by mixing in the society of writers and literateurs.

Queen Victoria, to Queen Victoria this was tried: she was invited to tea at the Deanery at Westminister to meet Carlyle (whom she described as "a strange-looking eccentric old Scotchman"), the Grotes, and Browning. When her indefatigable precision she noted that speaking to them was very shy work.

Once again the King of the Belgians strikes the right note when he warned the Queen to be careful about mixing with the society of artists. He thought dealings with them required great prudence, and he added, "they are hardly ever satisfied, and when you have too much to do with them you are sure to have des ennuis".

A clever public servant once remarked apropos leakages of official information that the official cask, unlike the ordinary barrel of beer, always leaks from the top. We might well adapt that saying to add that the attacks on the Royal Family are always more deadly when they are delivered under top level, from the bottom—when they come from the Right rather than the Left.

For example, Bradlaugh's "impeachment of the House of Brunswick", which was dramatically trampled underfoot by Sir Winston Churchill's father in the House of Commons, was knocked about party stuff, but the author was at pains to point out that it was not personal. Indeed he denied that his book, which ran into many editions, was republican; his shafts, he explained, were only aimed at the "Hanoverian" as distinct from members of the Hanoverian family whom "we pay highly to uninterest and parties and to be popular princes".

Queen Victoria not unreasonably resented such observations. But they did not noticeably diminish the Royal Family's generally outraged by any criticisms of the Royal Family which came from well-to-do or aristocratic quarters.

* * *

The comment on her present Majesty which has been most widely made, come of course, from such quarters, and it has been insufficiently appreciated that they are purely conservative in character. They rank with the occasional outbursts from the episcopal bench at the time of the abdication — the sensible friend whimpering because the loved one has fallen short of some imaginary ideal.

Indeed an almost episcopal parallel to the strictures on the present Queen can be found in an attack made on Queen Victoria by that weird rabid Conservative Lord Ellenborough, as Governor-General and Viceroy of India. In a speech in the House of Lords he compared the intimacy with King George I and King George II, not, perhaps, praiseworthy sentiments for whom she cared to be reminded.

She wrote immediately to the Leader of the Conservative party Lord Derby, drawing his attention to what had been said and expressing her astonishment that he could have listened in silence while the attack was made.

In his reply to the Queen Lord Derby was able to excuse himself on the ground that though Lord Ellenborough was possessed of considerable conservative opinions he held himself aloof from any party combination and that he was a man of the most impulsive character who frequently broke from all responsibility as to the effect of what he says and on several occasions has had to say the least of it, very unguarded in his language".

* * *

No doubt if Mr. Macmillan were asked to join the Conservative party in not dissimilar terms, but the fact remains that Queen Victoria's most vociferous critics of the monarchy have derived from Conservative circles.

Those on Prince Albert, on Queen Victoria's love of her seclusion, and on George V during the House of Lords crisis are in point.

And perhaps the comments on the latest Conservative critics of the Royal Family which will most closely accord with the gentle feeling of the public is to be found in the pages of Johnson. In company with the archaic preschool in the Quaker chapel and the dog who begged for a bone are the more noble critic of the Queen draws on himself the comment of Boswell: "It is well done; but you are surprised to find it done at all."

Pay for Blessings

Cape Breton Post

The price paid by Nova Scotia for the end of what we were beginning to call a drought, was a rip-roaring storm accompanied by bolts of lightning that burned down barns and houses, killed an undetermined number of cattle, broke telegraph and telephone communications, and caused flooding and crop damage in many areas.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Driving on the highway last weekend, I held my speed to the fifty miles an hour allowed on a perfectly stretch of two lane highway. Behind me, I found myself creeping up to sixty in order to keep in step, as it were, with the prevailing speed of the passenger car traffic.

Every mile, more or four miles, I would detect in my rear view mirror the slow, inexorable approach of a large truck, or possibly trailer-tractor. Car by car, it would overhaul me. And when ever a gap in the jumpers passing me occurred, the big thunderer would shoot through it. And if I was going sixty, it was quite certainly there can be no question as to that.

Along the highway were signs saying: "Trucks 50 m.p.h."

The trucks were paying as little heed to those signs as we passenger vehicles were paying to the 50 m.p.h. signs addressed to us.

At a wayside lunch counter we overheard a truck driver at a nearby eat beside me, and I asked him about his speed.

"I don't have no trouble," he said. "Everybody makes way for me."

There was something lofty in his attitude.

I wonder if it is not time that we had a re-appraisal of truck drivers? About ten years or so ago, there was a powerful public relations drive by the trucking interests. It was widely declared and pretty widely accepted that the big professional truck drivers were the best drivers on the road of all.

They may all be dead by now; and a new crop at the wheels, a new crop of drivers who are by no means the best drivers in the world. Perhaps it is time for a re-appraisal. We know what the situation is in your neighborhood, but where I drive, the number of heavy vehicles we meet or past me at speeds in excess of sixty is increasing considerably.

And it seems to me, is the number of highway accidents in which trucks are involved, either directly or as accessories.

Apart from the accidents, the damage these giant vehicles must do pounding over our really high-ways at such high speeds could readily be estimated by a good engineer. I would suggest that the punishment the pavements take would be worth drawing to the attention to the speed plus the weight of the vehicle.

If certain experiments, it is claimed may make a significant contribution to our knowledge and understanding of human behavior under the influence of drugs.

The Citrate Situation

Sodium citrate was formerly used to modify milk for infant feeding, a grain or two of it in each ounce of milk, to prevent the formation of large curds. Then sodium citrate gave way to calcium hydrate (lime water) for the modification of milk for infant feeding. Lime water in turn gave way to oatmeal water or barley water. Today the alarmingly dwindling number of doctors who are not in the trick specialist or "clinic" racket just to dilute fresh milk with, say, an equal quantity or just a third of a quarter as much water, hand it to the young gentleman and tell him to take it or else. And do you know? He generally takes it and yells for more, so if you can keep the old grannies or the nosy neighbors away, the baby thrives on it.

For some time, readers of this column, who wanted to whip up a batch of Doc Brady's Home Made Fool Proof Cough Medicine for grown-ups or the kiddies, had only to follow the directions. The recipe calls for simple ingredients which may well be found in any well regulated home and nothing that can't be bought across the counter of any drug store, except perhaps a pint or so of good old Scotch whiskey.

But druggist never burped about selling an ounce or a pound of sodium citrate when requested. Usually there was nothing printed on the can or carton that gave the druggist an excuse for refusing to sell it.

Not until the demand of readers became so great that the vendors of ready-made cough medicine became concerned about the decreasing popularity of their concoctions — usually laden with one or another kind choice. When things came to such a pass, the businessmen went into a huddle with the U.S. Federal food and drug politicians, and presently, by golly, readers began complaining to me that they could no longer get sodium citrate without a prescription.

I said this was ridiculous, but readers told me that when they asked the druggist what I said the druggist showed 'em the label on the sodium citrate bottle to prove it.

But, not so fast. Just what does the label say? Consider the testimony of two pharmacists on that point:

"Dear sir:

"Now you are mad at the druggist for not selling items because it is against the law. The legend 'Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription' was put on the container, not by the druggist, but by a ruling of the U.S. Federal government.

"Sincerely,

(Pharmacist)

"Dear Dr. Brady:

"I am a pharmicist. I have refused to sell any sodium citrate without a prescription. Although the label on the bottle says 'For Prescription Compounding' it does not say 'Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription.'

"Sincerely received from helping people means more than the money.

"Yours truly,

(Pharmacist).

WRAPPINGS

Wrappings interest me. I like to see a clerk in a store wrap a lovely gift, especially if it is something fragile. Or when a wrap a gift for myself. I like to see it when I am loved. When received, curiosity and excitement occur. The wrappings suggest this.

No wrapped parcel so delights and stimulates my interest as a wrapped package that protects a book I may have purchased at a current catalog. But my patience has often had a test after trying to figure out a way to get at that book. It is sealed, and stapped in a bundle, but the benefit that book gives you a thrill you have to go through two or more layers of protection. Sometimes it is a kind of sack into which they drop a book, and when you get the metal slips torn away and reach for your book, the bag's substance is often more scathing your comfort and floor! Why can't publishers stick to the old fashioned way of wrapping and tied with a strong cord? It would save a lot of impatience.

Note how attractive are many of the bottles of perfumery, and this applies to other popular cosmetics. Often they wrapping is almost as attractive as the product itself. But that makes it more difficult for the wrappings to many things are works of art! It's like the bottles that contain whisky intelligently. A beautiful gift deserves a wrapping that fits its worth. But, of course, old packages and books in a home are wrappings that make a house a home.

Drug Spiders Study Webs

Manchester Guardian

Even the humble cobweb can serve the cause of scientific progress.

Reports from Switzerland describe how psychiatrists investigating the effects of drugs have obtained interesting results by administering them to spiders. The spinning of the web is normally carried out with geometrical precision and its various stages are ruled by unvarying sequence of moves. After the spiders have been drugged, however, all this is changed.

Marijuana, apparently, produces only a mild interference with standard pattern and a web that has hopeless and fragmentary.

Were at War For 122 Years

Milwaukee Journal

The Seminole Indians are finally at peace with the rest of us. Chief Buffalo Tiger came to Washington to confer and end told Florida's Gov. Collins that his people wanted to be considered citizens bound by the same laws as other Americans.

It was quite a struggle, this Seminole war. And long. It started in 1835 when the tribe revolted against plans to move it to the Indian Territory in Oklahoma.

Well, it is good to know that there is peace after 122 years. Peace is good wherever it is found. That's why we had not realized the Seminoles were still at war.

MORE THAN-EYE CAN SEE

We go out on a clear, starry night and look up into the heavens. The scene probably must appear to us as it did to our forebears. But the scene is not the same. Modern astronomications all over the country and the world are sending messages out over the air. We come into the house again and turn on the radio and strains of music and the voices of announcers and commentators fill the room. Pictures appear on the TV screen.

These five senses of ours are thoroughly inadequate to comprehend the whole of the universe. We are said to hear in eleven octaves, but there must be vibrations beyond these. The eye can only evidently take in but little of the created universe. Certainly there are visit realities that these five senses of ours can not know.

How narrow and little, therefore, is the skeptic! How pretentious is the materialist who insists that there is no reality beyond that we can see, hear, touch, taste, or smell. Modern science has revealed so many wonders that man's mind is often overwhelmed with doubt as he reads the Bible about miracles and great spiritual powers in which we are invited to put our trust. Science should not destroy religious faith; rather it should strengthen it. It need not approach with five limited senses is so marvelous, how great may be the things which our God has laid up as a destiny for those who

Gas Pipe Line Will Add $400,000 in Assessment to Three Twps. Council Told

The gas pipe line to be built through Eastern Ontario will add approximately $400,000 in assessment to the three southern townships in Hastings county, according to Assessor Cecil Geen.

Speaking at the Thursday session of county council, Mr. Geen said that the 30-inch gas pipe would be assessed at $2.90 per foot, this rate having been set by tax commissioners. Different rates apply for different sized pipes. The 16-inch Trans-Northern oil pipe line is assessed at $1.55 per foot, he said.

Earlier during the session county council granted permission for Lakeland Natural Gas to install feeder lines on county road right-of-way at Trenton and Deseronto. This would also be assessable according to Mr. Geen.

The county assessor reported that all township assessors were now busy with some having completed their work. Rolls, however, would not be closed until September 30th. Assessment totals in most townships and villages would be up slightly, he expected.

Weed Inspector Harry Coull also presented a verbal report to council noting the work which had been done to control weeds along county road rights of way. "Wild carrot was one of the most difficult weeds to control," he said.

The inspector noted that crop spraying was being done more and more by farmers and had proven successful, both in the west and in the Quinte district.

Also heard briefly at the morning session was Mr. Jack Dillon of the fire protection division of the Ontario Lands and Forests. Introduced to councillors by district forester R. C. Passmore, of Tweed, who in turn was introduced by Michael Chubb, field officer for the Moira Conservation Authority, Mr. Dillon spoke of the provincial investigation into fire incidence outside the fire districts.

He said his department was making an intensive study of forest protection across the province and was conducting instructional courses in fire fighting to which municipal officials were invited.

County Council Justice Board Gives Report

Administration of justice cost in Hastings county including Belleville and Trenton, were $47,170.13 for the first six months of the year.

This was revealed in the report of the Administration of Justice Board read by Reeve Charles Buskard of Deloro at Thursday's session of county council.

Belleville share of the above costs for the first six months was $12,340.81, and Trenton's share $7,033.27. Both amounts are based on population figures of the two centres as compared with that of the county proper.

Jail salaries at $18,216.93 were biggest item in the report covering the first two quarters of the year. Other major items were food for prisoners: $2,618; clothing bedding cleaning and medical care for prisoners $3,136; Crown Attorney $2,622; Sheriff and court clerk $1,354; court reporters, $1,719; fuel, light, insurance and water, $4,526; Stationary and telephone, $2,647; repairs, maintenance and supplies $2,292.

NEW AGREEMENT

A new administration of justice agreement between the county and the town of Trenton has been approved and will be effective for the last two quarters of the year.

Under the agreement interim payments by the town will be $2,000 per quarters instead of $1,500 as previously; there is also a slight increase in the percentage of costs paid by the town on certain items and the town's payment in administration costs has increased one cent per capita, or from 2½ to 3½ cents.

It was noted in the report that there will be no further refunds from the province on administration of justice cost, but the local municipalities will receive $1 per capita which will bring a much greater return than the old system.

Clerk Treasurer Eric S. Denyes noted Trenton would receive $11,000 back on a cost of about $13,000; while Belleville would receive about $20,000 in per capita grant from the province.

Mrs. Breithaupt Will Open New CNE Building

TORONTO (CP)—The official opening of an ultra-modern $3,-300,000 building was the scheduled highlight of today's opening of the Canadian National Exhibition for 1957.

The Queen Elizabeth Building is a new glass-and-brick structure designed to house CNE executive offices, women's activities and a 1,250-seat theatre for daily fashion shows during the two weeks—until Sept. 7—the big show is to run.

Mrs. Louis O. Breithaupt, wife of Ontario's lieutenant-governor, was to cut the ribbon in official opening ceremonies of the building, a few minutes after her husband officially opens the exhibition.

CNE president Fred G. Walsh could not be on hand for the opening at the CNE's 79th year as he is at home recovering from a heart attack suffered six weeks ago. He said he hopes to attend some events the last few days of the show.

INFLATION HITS

Although inflation has hit the CNE this year—admittedly admission prices are up to 75 cents from 50 cents — general manager Hiram McCallum said he hopes the overall attendance mark of 2,000,000 will be broken for the first time.

RAWDON — Last Saturday evening Mrs. Jack Wilson, with Mrs. Gerald Bailey as co-hostess, entertained about 20 women in honor of Miss Phyllis Wickens, bride-to-be.

Humorous readings were given by Mrs. Jack Bush and Mrs. Arthur Pryer. Mrs. Beverley Wannamaker presented musical selections on the accordion. Each guest spoke briefly on the topic, "Advice to the Bride".

Phyllis was seated in a decorated chair under a canopy of balloons filled with confetti. She was presented with an assortment of miscellaneous gifts. After opening them she voiced appreciative thanks.

The hostess served refreshments and a social half hour was spent.

Miss Wickens has taught at the Glen Ross school for the past two years.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

PUT YOUR WITS TO WORK, MR. C.H.!

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm a wealthy young bachelor and I feel it's time for me to settle down with a wife so that I can hear the patter of little feet on my plush carpets, but I can't seem to find the right girl. Just as I think I've found her, I discover she's interested in only one thing — my money. Also, I've always preferred older women.

Do you think you could find a way for me to meet an older woman whose financial situation is the same as mine so that I can be sure she's in love with me and not with my money? — Mr. C.H. Dear Mr. C.H.:

Since I don't run a matrimonial bureau, I'm afraid you'll have to take the responsibility yourself of fin ting the wealthy woman you seem to feel is your only matrimonial possibility.

It looks to me as though you'd have to try and persuade the income Tax Bureau to let you examine the returns of all the women in your town so that you could make a list of those whose financial situation is on a par with your own, then find a way of meeting them, one by one, until you came upon "the right girl."

Seriously, though, you don't sound to me very smart. You say that you discover a woman is interested only in your money just as you think you've found the one who would be right for you. If you aren't able to tell a sincere woman from a money-mad one very early in your acquaintance with her, you need guardian.

Moreover, if you really are smart, why do you let these materialistic-minded females know that you are so wealthy? You don't you just masquerade as a young man who has a good-enough job to take girls out and show them a good time without going overboard — then you spend, or whatever it is you do or say that gives your financial status away.

Come now, Mr. C.H., put your wits to work so that you can keep your money a secret until you know what kind of woman you're dealing with. It can be done, you know — if you're smart enough.

As for your having always preferred older women, perhaps you haven't ever known enough women in general to find out what age you really do prefer.

Another possibility is that you haven't looked for opportunities to meet really worthwhile girls such as, for instance, career girls who are able to take care of themselves very nicely, thank you, and who have enough sense and enough character to prefer doing so to marrying any man just for his money.

You live in a big city where there must be an endless number of such girls. Get around a bit and find proper ways of meeting them. Don't go at it, either, as if all you had on your mind was finding someone to marry. Get yourself interested and active in enough solid, substantial pursuits as well as recreational projects to make yourself into a young man who has much to offer besides money, and you won't have any difficulty finding "the right girl."

IT'S WONDERFUL what a coat of bright enamel (non-toxic type, of course) will do for That small table and chairs in Sister's room. You'll find them easy to paint if you turn them upside down and do the legs first. Then stand them up to finish the job.

Fabric News

By ALICE ALDEN

Something very new is two-toned herringbone tweed jersey and it is used with excellent effect by Tricosa-Feder of Paris for a delightful suit, the colors, navy blue and black, a striking combination.

The box jacket has a flattering pointed collar, three-quarter cuffed sleeves and a double breasted closing and the skirt is slim. An excellent suit for general wear and it should be a terrific traveller.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

Question: At this time of year, I think everyone thinks about freezing vegetables. I would like to make up meals and freeze them using individual plates . . . as I expect to be in hospital next January . . . would like to have these dinners and suppers in the freezer so my husband could just set the oven and find his meals cooked for him. What kind of plates should be used? Should the food stuff be cooked first and then frozen or should it be left raw? If left raw I think the plate would have to contain articles which took the same time of cooking . . . I imagine your answer will take some thinking and experimenting . . . but would appreciate it . . . It might be a good hint for any mother who knows when she will be away and approximately how long, or even for after she returns home and is busy with a new baby. If you should have a recipe for chicken pie made in individual dishes with just top crust on it . . . I'm thinking of one with peas, vegetables and thick sauce and those pieces of chicken meat . . . thanking you all for the trouble I know this will cause . . . I thought the freezer meals were such a good idea I couldn't resist asking your help. Mrs. Ernest C.

Answer: Your idea is excellent and will please many readers. I am glad you gave me plenty of time to answer. You are starting too early to freeze prepared food to be eaten in January. Cooked foods should not be kept in the freezer more than 2 or 3 months before using. The instructions are long and detailed but they are all clearly contained in one or two columns. First you should write for the bulletin entitled "Frozen Foods" to the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. There is no charge to residents of Ontario. I will allow you the methods for making several dinners during the next 2 months, starting now with the chicken pies you requested.

INDIVIDUAL CHICKEN PIES (to freeze if desired)

For 4 large individual pies wash a 5-lb. roasting chicken, cover with boiling water, add 1 bay leaf, 1 slice onion, some parsley stalks and celery tops and boil gently 1 hour, adding 1 teaspoon salt during last 10 minutes. When cool remove meat from bones and cut into 1½-inch pieces. Measure 2½ to 3 cups boiling liquid — amount depends on size of pie pan. Melt 6 tablespoons butter, stir in 6 tablespoons flour, then stir in the broth until thick. Season well with salt and pepper. Pour over cooked peas, chicken, cooked small white onions and small pieces of carrots. Chill thoroughly and quickly. The aluminum foil cook-and-freeze pans are perfect for freezing and baking. In later but to prevent soggy crust freeze the chilled chicken mixture in the pans until solid. Then put the uncooked well-crimped, gashed crust on the hard-frozen surface, wrap and freeze. Then the pie is ready to bake and does not require thawing before baking. It is easier than struggling with fitting tender pastry on a liquid gravy. When needed bake the pies at 375 deg. Fahr. about 40 to 45 minutes. Sanitation, rapid cooling and quick freezing are essential in preparing foods containing meat and gravies. More later.

BEAUTY

PERK UP YOUR MORALE WITH FRAGRANCE

Spirits a little wilted these days? Does it seem that the children have been particularly disobedient lately, or the housework has become rather wearing, or do you sense the feeling bored down after a day at the office? The "dog days" often affect one's morale . . . make you wish there was a magic potion to perk you up — make you feel you can smile again. There was a time when women rushed out to buy a new hat to bolster a low mood, but nowadays, the prescription is much simpler. It reads: "Wear Fragrance; Apply in the morning and re-apply every three to four hours."

Not that scent is to be worn only when you feel that you need a "lift", for certainly it should be a constant companion to every woman's good looks. But, too, it is an extremely psychological product that lifts the spirits and acts as a marvelous morale-builder. And fragrance is such fun . . . to use and wear. So, if you haven't discovered the fragrance habit, and therefore aren't aware of the nice things it does for you and for you, now is the time to begin this loveliest of feminine habits.

One of the pleasantest ways in which to start the day off is with a refreshing shower to awaken your mind and body to the brightness of a new day. And here is the perfect time to begin your fragrant beauty campaign. Before stepping under the warm spray, smooth bath oil across your shoulders. Rub it well into body, smell the fragrance from here. Follow this with an all-over dusting of scented bath powder to absorb excess moisture and pave a smoother way for your lovely lingerie.

Speaking of lingerie, did you ever stop to think that you can also use fragrance to spray petticoats and slips? And, for that ultra feminine, learn to sit so that just a hint of those perfumed ruffles peeps out from beneath your dress hem. And this reminds us of another trick you might employ with a chiffon head scarf. When you're going out in the evening, you don't have to be told that such a scarf will keep your hair wonderfully neat. Make it do double duty by adding further allure — fold cook-and-freeze pans are perfect for freezing and baking. In later but to prevent soggy crust freeze the chilled chicken mixture in the pans until solid. Then put the uncooked well-crimped, gashed crust on the hard-frozen surface, wrap and freeze. Then the pie is ready to bake and does not require thawing before baking. It is easier than struggling with fitting tender pastry on a liquid gravy. When needed bake the pies at 375 deg. Fahr. about 40 to 45 minutes. Sanitation, rapid cooling and quick freezing are essential in preparing foods containing meat and gravies. More later.

Lively Leopard

By VERA WINSTON

The mark of the leopard reaches into the new season with much use made of leopard skin. Liked, too, for late summer and early fall things is leopard print fabric. The distinctive print is used for the easy fitting blouse top of a nice evening ensemble. With it is a long skirt of white flannel with a wide panel pleat in back and unpressed box pleats from the waist in front, the two forming a delightful resort suggestion.

perfume. You'll be surrounded with an aura of fragrance for the entire evening.

But . . . back to your "dog day" routine . . . . when you are fully dressed, take your pretty perfume bottle in hand and apply the fragrance to your pulse spots — wrists, inside crook of the arms, throat, temples, behind the ears — where the heat of your pulse will warm the scent. Follow this with atomized spray of perfume all about you so that a fine mist settles on your clothes. And, voila, you are ready to tackle the day's chores with spirits soaring.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. SEECKMAN

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP . . . YOUR HEART SPEAKS IN YOUR WORDS

Words have a wonderful way of reflecting the quality of your heart. Indeed the word courtesy is derived from the French word coeur, meaning heart. As a very wise man once remarked Rousseau . . . so charmingly and inspiringly wrote, "That which cometh from the heart will go to the heart."

ACCEPTING FORMAL WEDDING INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have just received the invitation to the wedding of my niece, and on this a reply is requested. What is the correct wording of my reply? And should I use any special kind of letter paper?

Constant Reader

On the first page of double-sheet letter-paper, or note-paper of good quality, write your acceptance carefully spacing the lines. Like this:

Miss Constant Reader accepts with pleasure the kind invitation of Mrs. Miles for Tuesday, the tenth of September

(Even such a close relative as the aunt of the bride-to-be should write a formal reply to a formal wedding invitation . . . then, if she wishes, she may write a separate note to the bride's parents and one to the bride also.)

THE RULE-OF-COURTESY WHEN SIGNING GREETING-CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We realize it's very early to ask you a Christmas question, but will you please answer our question, to settle the discussion once and for all time. Having: If we send our Christmas cards together, should the husband's or the wife's name appear first in the signature — John and Jean or Jean and John? Will you also explain the "why" of your answer?

The Rule-of-Courtesy is the "why" of the answer to this question. When the wife signs the Christmas cards for other greeting cards), she politely signs her name last: John and Jean. When the husband signs the cards he politely signs his name last: Jean and John. Polite . . . right?

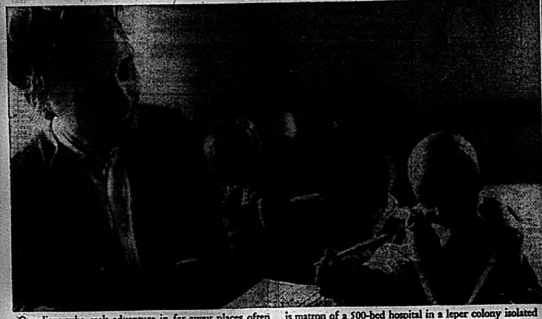
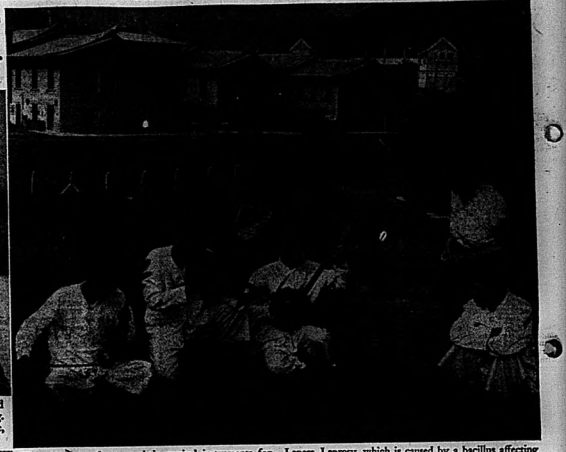
Canadian Nurse Finds Island of Happy Healing





Canadians who seek adventure in far-away places often discover unusual and interesting occupations but perhaps none of them has found a more rewarding or challenging task than Nurse Irene Moore of Bothwell, Ontario, who is matron of a 500-bed hospital in a leper colony isolated on a tiny island ten miles off shore from Hong Kong. Above, Miss Moore encourages a young patient to write, thus exercising muscles which will speed her recovery.

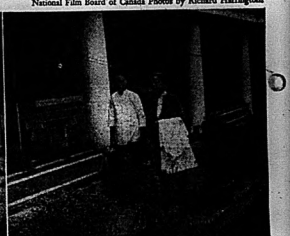
National Film Board of Canada Photos by Richard Harrington.

Hay Ling Chau—Island of Happy Healing—is the message of the Chinese characters around the moon gate. These patients are making wooden utensils and furniture for sale in Hong Kong stores.

Patients are encouraged to raise vegetables in a garden alongside the hospital. Good food, fresh air, and some light occupation are as important in the treatment of leprosy as any other disease, explains Nurse Moore.

Miss Moore brings a patient some Canadian stamps to encourage his hobby. This couple met at the leper colony, were permitted to marry and live together in the "married quarters". Leprosy is not passed on to children.



Nurse Moore takes a keen interest in medical advances for the treatment of leprosy. Sulpha drugs have replaced chaulmoogra oil and other drugs are being tested which promise new hope for those afflicted with the disease.

Kenmors Defeat Cornwall 4-1; Meet Kingston

Belleville Kenmors captured the OBA midget "A" playdown series from the Cornwall Aces here yesterday afternoon by downing the eastern club 4-1 behind Larry Soden's masterful pitching.

The Kenmors took the set two games to none with one tied. They will meet Kingston in the next round, the first game scheduled for Kingston tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Larry Soden gave up two singles in the early innings and after that retired the last 18 batters he faced in a fine hurling performance. He set nine down on third strikes while walking a pair.

Belleville never trailed as they opened the scoring with a pair in the second and added singletons in the third and sixth. Cornwall plated one in the fifth when Montgomery led off with a single which went through the Belleville centre fielder's legs, allowing the runner to go all the way. Soden then nailed the next 18 batters in order.

An error, Asselstine's single and Soden's base hit plated the winner's first two runs. Murray Hunter drove in the third with a base hit while singles by Asselstine and Soden followed by Clark's sacrifice fly, completed the scoring.

J. Murphy pitched the distance for Cornwall, tagged for nine hits. He walked but one and did not fan a batter.

Rickey Locke with a double and single paced the Kenmor batters while Pat Asselstine and Soden each collected two base knocks. The others were divided among Gary Goyer, Jim Lloyd and Murray Hunter.

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Dr. Irvin Schulz said Thursday that Milwaukee Braves shortstop Johnny Logan is expected to leave Milwaukee Hospital today and begin workouts on Monday.

Logan has been in hospital for treatment of an infected area near his shin bone which had been injured on the Braves' last stand at Cincinnati.

Dr. Schulz said it could not be determined immediately when Logan would rejoin the team.

Harness Racing

TORONTO (CP)—A game old gelding named Don McKay finally made it into the winner's enclosure at Old Woodbine Raceway Thursday night after a good deal of success elsewhere in the province but none in Toronto's 26-day meeting which ends next Wednesday.

The sorrel gelding, a veteran of 13 summers, kept his ancient nose in front of a late challenge by the Armstrong brothers' six-year-old Wes Atom and won by a whisker.

Don McKay's win—2:08.6 for a mile-pervented Harold McKinley, driver of Wee Atom, from pulling ahead in the driving competition in which he is tied for leadership with Dunc Campbell at 19 wins.

Brampton in Finals

BRAMPTON (CP) — Brampton moved into the Ontario Lacrosse Association junior finals Thursday night, scoring a 9-7 win over Long Branch. The team starts a best-of-seven final series with Peterborough, opening in Peterborough Tuesday night.

Brampton led all the way, paced by three goals by Wayne Thompson. John Ford had two and Jack Maigetz, Gord Thompson, Jim McClure and George Grasby contributed one each.

Brian O'Hearne with four goals and George McCracken, Ray Shipway and Bobby Davidson with one each were Long Branch scorers.

Brampton won the best-of-seven series in four games.

Soviet Team Ready for Meet

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet track and field team, showing confidence and a definite desire to please, takes on a British squad today and Saturday at White City Stadium.

This is the meet that was scheduled here last year but cancelled abruptly by Soviet authorities angered by the "affair of the five hats." Woman Olympic discus champion (1952) Nina Ponomareva had been arrested on a shoplifting charge just before the meet was ready to go on.

Nina didn't come back this year. Soviet coaches say they have two better discus throwers, anyway.

Ambassador Jakob Malik of the Soviet Union will present Soviet awards to three athletes.

Legalized Betting

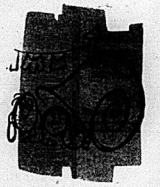
LONDON, Ont. (CP)—London will have legalized betting on horse racing Sept. 11-13 for the first time in more than 30 years when the Western Fair Association stages a two-day harness racing meeting as part of the fair's grandstand program.

In making the announcement, E. E. McGugan, general manager of the fair, said that there had been a persistent demand for betting privileges at Western Fair races for a number of years and that the committee had decided to accede to the demand of the public for at least a one-year trial.

These special prizes will be for the winner of the 2,000 metres (expected to be British), winner of the woman's high jump (per-Fair Britisb), and the best British athlete to be chosen by managers of both teams.

they'd be cheaper by the gallon

It costs to raise a family these days. But if youngsters, like your car, ran on gasoline you'd be better off.



Want to know why? Today everything costs more, including the scores of things a growing family needs. Gasoline costs more, too.

But government figures show that since 1939 the cost of living has gone up more than 120 percent while wholesale gasoline prices have risen about 40 percent—less than a third as much.

And what's more—today's regular gasolines are far superior to the premium grades sold only ten years ago.

Rademacher Floored Seven Times Before Knocked Out In Sixth Round

Patterson First Man to Hit Canvas Being Dropped by Right Cross in Second Heat

By JACK HEWINS

SEATTLE (AP)—Floyd Patterson, the cool destroyer who holds the world heavyweight championship, has cut down powerful Pete Rademacher and turned to dust the big guy's dream of stepping from the amateur ranks to the pinnacle of the pros.

Giving away 15 pounds — the champion weighed 187 to Rademacher's 203—Floyd floored the courageous challenger seven times Thursday night before Pete took the full count at 2:57 of the sixth round.

But, to the consternation of thousands who regarded this as a mismatch, Patterson was the first man to hit the canvas. Midway in the second round Rademacher crossed a right to the champion's jaw. Floyd seemed to slip as he sagged, but he went all the way down and the knockdown counter at ringside had reached the tally of four when he got up.

Referee Tommy Loughran waved off the count, ruling it was knockdown but later in his dressing room Floyd said he was bowled over by the punch.

The professional began to show his superiority over the amateur champ in the third round, leaping from a crouch to trap the latter's machine with a straight right that sent the big guy sprawling.

He took a nine count and was back on his feet at the bell, but the error of it had had its tipoff on the outcome.

It was delayed in round four while Floyd nearly severed Rademacher's left ear with a vicious slug Pete, stalking him and looking for an opening for a payoff punch. He found the range in the fifth.

Four times Patterson blasted Pete down in that round, and four times the Carnation, Wash., farm boy struggled up at the count of nine and tried valiantly to match blows with Patterson.

TIRED AND HURT

Loughran went to Rademacher's corner after the bell to ask Pete if he was all right and got a smiling nod. But Pete appeared tired and hurt, and the few blows he landed in the sixth lacked sting. He clinched and as Loughran moved in to separate them, Patterson poured home a left and then a right. It was the next-to-last knockdown.

Patterson threw a left and this time as Rademacher struggled weakly to his feet the referee waved Patterson away. Ringsiders thought Loughran was stopping the fight, but the referee said the count had reached 10 and it was a knockout.

BELOW EXPECTATIONS

The bout drew a gross gate of $246,242 short of the anticipated full-house $500,000. Rademacher's backers — a group of Georgia businessmen — put Patterson's guarantee of $250,000 and took both fighters' share of the gate—60 per cent of the $209,556 net or just under $125,500.

Patterson said this would be his last fight in 1957. Asked if he would fight again now that he has become a professional, Rademacher said that was something he would decide "later."

Loughran said Rademacher is "the most courageous fighter I have ever seen."

Loughran, who was sole judge, scored the first two rounds for Rademacher fief gave the rest to Floyd.

One Canadian To Reach Finals In Amateur Golf

By AL VICKERY

WINNIPEG (CP) — One Canadian, at least, will get into Saturday's 36-hole final for the Canadian amateur golf championship.

Assured of a coveted place in the windup of the week - long classic at St. Charles Country Club will be either Nick Weslock of Windsor or Bob Kidd of Vancouver.

The two won berths in one 36-hole semi-final today. The other semi-final had Alan Thirlwell, last of 10 British Walker Cup players in the race, up against Ted Homenuik of Winnipeg. A victory by Homenuik would make it an all-Canadian final for the title left vacant by the jump to professional ranks of Moe Norman of Kitchener.

Weslock, who lost 6 and 4 to Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver in 1950 in his only time in the final, made short work Thursday of smooth-swinging Philip Scrutton of Berks, England, by a score of 5 and 3.

Kidd, a member of British Columbia's champion Willingdon Cup team, defeated Bob Fair 4 and 2 after the Winnipeg golfer had twice taken a two-up lead early on the front nine.

Thirlwell, 1955-55 English amateur champion and considered a tough man to beat, found his putter is behaving, rallied from a three-hole deficit at the turn to defeat Nate Jacob of Winnipeg on the 18th.

The match that drew majority of the fans was the close battle between Homenuik and Royal-old Alan Bussell of Coxmoor, England, who earlier in the day had ousted co-medalists George Knudson of Winnipeg.

The good-looking Englishman was much the better shotmaker from tee to green, but his putting left much to be desired. He missed putts of five feet on the 16th, four feet on the 17th and the game-losing three-footer on the final hole.

Meanwhile Homenuik, who was scrambling at most times on the fairways, calmly was knocking down putts to keep even. He took a 1 up early two-up lead but they were all square at the turn. Birdies gave Bussell the 10th and Homenuik the 11th. From then to the 18th, they matched par.

Homenuik became the favorite for the championship early in the day when he beat Walker Cup teammate Joe Carr of Dublin, Ireland, who was co - medalist with Knudson at 144 for 36 holes; however, for the sub-par shooting of Weslock as he won only one hole—the 11th on a par three.

FOR SOUTHPAWS ONLY

PORTAGE la PRAIRIE, Man. (CP)—The Canadian Open left-handed golfing championship will be held here Sunday at the scenic Island Park course. The southpaws will play an 18-hole round of medal play.

Big Four Contests Should Answer a Lot of Questions

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eastern Canadian football clubs return to action this weekend with Ottawa Rough Riders in Toronto to meet Argonauts tonight and Montreal Alouettes playing Hamilton Tiger-Cats in Hamilton Saturday in Big Four contests.

Argos and Tiger-Cats are winless. Montreal edged Argos 29-28 and Ottawa trimmed Hamilton 30-27 in season openers Tuesday.

Both Big Four contests should answer a lot of questions. Hamilton and Montreal were picked as the class of the league during training camps and their performances in pre-season exhibitions supported a theory that Toronto and Ottawa would be left to battle for the cellar spot.

Argos upset over Hamilton, however, prompted fans to take a second look at Frank Clair's fighting crew and Argos' spirited showing against the Alouettes indicates they will be a flash-in-overs.

Jim arrived in Toronto Thursday night with Clair commenting that Argos have him "terrified" as worried."

"I understand Hamp Pool Argo coach has some big fast Loys in (Pete) O'Garro and (C.B.) Roberts but if our defence can't it did against Hamilton, we'll be ready for them."

Argos, replacing Tom Jones at tackle, and Jones, filling in for injured Jackie Hardman Gureton, are expected to be the only starting lineup changes. Dave Mann, only major change at will be quarterback Dave Doanne in place of Tom Dublinski, who suffered a thumb bone in Monteal. Guard Dalva Allen however is recovering from "flu," which kept him out of the Montreal game. If he plays halfback Tom McCormick will sit it out.

DISAPPOINTED COACH

Hamilton's showing against Ottawa disappointed a lot of people, particularly coach Jim Trimble, who felt some of his players did not go all out. He blamed missed blocks and poor tackling for the loss.

Whether Trimble has succeeded in instilling desire into Richard Seaman, when his defensive unit attempts to cope with Sam Etcheverry's passes and the elusive patterns of receivers Hal Patterson and Bob Simpson of Alouettes will not be at full strength. Joel Wells, import back from Ottawa, will be ready for Argo game, has been working out but still is not fully recovered from a leg injury. Tackle Billy Stupp has a bad leg and is a doubtful starter. Definitely out are backfielder Tony Tonegazzo and all-star defensive end Doug McNichol.

In the ORFU, Balmy Beach will field the only entirely Canadian team in senior OFU football outside of the college loops when they meet the import - laden Bears Beaches, supported by a group of east-end Toronto sports fans, are given little chance against London, Kitchener and Sarnia, who carry at least 10 Americans.

Bears are built around former Beach quarterback Gene Rosen and backfielder Dick Gregory, who also tolled for Beaches two years ago.

Buhl and Musial Sidelined For Indefinite Period, Both Come up With Shoulder Hurts

By ED WILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

Injuries moved right into the middle of the National League pennant picture today with right-hander Bob Buhl, a 16 - game winner, and first baseman Stan Musial the latest ace performers added to the casualty list.

Buhl, the Braves' ace pitcher, has a preliminary examination set for Monday at Milwaukee's climb to the top although bothered by an inflamed shoulder for a month. Musial, also of Milwaukee for treatment of a shoulder hurt as the Cardinals' batting champions, plunked second baseman Red Schoendienst with a 6-1 victory at Philadelphia.

TORN MUSCLE

Musial, the last leader at .340, who was examined by a physician, suffered a torn muscle in the chest muscle area in the Cards' victory at Philadelphia which kept them within two games of Team leading Milwaukee. Musial may be out several weeks, however. A complete examination was scheduled today by the Cards' club physician.

In other action, Cincinnati beat Cincinnati 8-3, Redlegs' 10th successive defeat, and the Dodgers set slumo of the year in the league. New York Giants defeated Chicago Cubs 8-2 as Willie Mays 3-for-4, including his 38th home run for a runnerup bat average of .332.

It was a breeze for Braves, with Hank Aaron's 20th home run a three-peg first inning shot that was all Lew Burdette needed for his 12th victory. The veteran righthander toamed a seven-hitter. Schoendienst, one of a 6-6 record, drove in two runs.

Aaron's homer, while padding his major league lead and giving him the RBI lead over Musial at 90, was his only hit in four trips for a 3-for-4 day. He's the defending bat champ

DRIVES IN TWO RUNS

Ken Boyer drove in two runs for Cards, the latter a 14th home run and bringing in the clincher with a sacrifice fly. Rookie Bill Mueller opening 3rd side in a three-run sixth and blanking the Phils on three hits the rest of the way, was given the victory by the official scorer although the starter, Larry Jackson, who pitched the minimum five innings required for a victory. Jack Sanford lost his fifth against 16 wins.

Pirates smacked 15 hits and scored five in the fourth that rattled the Redlegs for Bob Friend's ninth victory against 16 defeats. Don Gross lost it for Cincy.

Hank Sauer also homered for the Giants as Ray Crone gained a 6-7 record, although needing relief help after shutting out Cubs on five hits for seven. Wali Moryn flowed the champion for a count of four in the second round.

Tommy was allowed as referee and sole official said "Patterson is a great fighter. He could go down to Miami for another Jack Dempsey. He hits fast and hard."

Loughran added, however, that he thought 187 pounds proved detrimental. It was the heaviest ever for Patterson and Tommy commented "I think he would be faster and better at 182."

Referee Advises Pete Rademacher To Quit Ring

At the same time he said heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson could become a great fighter.

Of Rademacher, the 1956 Olympic boxing champ first bout out of the amateur ranks was thirty minutes of "pitiful" fighting, Loughran said.

"The fellow needs experience the worst way," Loughran down on turning pro. He hits hard and has the heart of a lion. He could do well with the contenders. But he is 28 and at his age it would be too late to start."

Marlene Beaten In Quarter Finals Of U.S. Open

Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto was on the sidelines today as an unseeded quarter-finalist in the U.S. women's amateur golf tournament—small consolation for the event's defending champion.

Two weeks ago the stocky concqueror who began her golfing as a caddy in her native Fonthill, relinquished her Canadian ladies' open crown to Edmonton's Betty Stanbow, stimulated before Marlene in this cream-of-the-crop tournament.

Marlene's downfall came Thursday on the Del Paso Country Club course as teen-ager Carole Jo Kabler, a University of Oregon co-ed, bounced her 5 and 4 in the tournament's biggest upset so far.

OUTWIT MARLENE

Carole Jo, 19-year-old American junior titlist from Roseburg, Ore., carned a semi-final berth against Ann Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa, by outhitting the 29-year-old champion from 20 to 50 yards a hole and making the most of a deadly approach shot.

Marlene didn't win a hole as Carole Jo fired a one-under-par 36 on the front nine and made par for the final five holes. The Oregon girl consistently placed her approach shot on the green inside the champion. Carole Jo was four up at the end of nine. She won two more holes with pars, the fourth and eighth with birdies and the 10th with a par.

ANOTHER BIG ONE

Mrs. Johnstone also turned giantkiller to advance to the semi-final round by ousting Carole Jo. She scored a 1-up victory on the 19th hole over Barbara Romack Porter, 1954 champion who was playing on her home course with Marlene at her side.

The other semi-finalists are Ann Richardson of Columbus, Ohio, and Virginia Dennison, who threw a scare into Marlene in last year's final by getting her four down with 11 holes to play.

Marlene fought back to win 2 and 1, but shouted praises of the 16-year-old Seattle girl as the pint-sized ace was bounced from tournament. It's turning out to be an accurate prediction.

Cuban Welter Risks Ranking To Meet Byars

DETROIT (AP) Cuban welterweight Isaac Logart risks his No. 2 ranking tonight against up-and-coming Walter Byars of Boston in a 10-round bout at Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

"I reesk nothing," said Logart. "I ween there one beat and then I ween champeenship — then I have beeg money."

Logart, who says he is five years younger than the 24 years the record books indicate, has a wide edge in experience over the hard-punching easterner. In 61 professional fights, Logart has won 50, lost six and fought two draws.

He is a solid 11-5 favorite to defeat the 25-year-old Byars, the six-marine who has had only 21 pro bouts. Byars has been stopped once and has won 15 of his 21 fights.

Point Anne Shades Marines 2-1 For Two-Game Lead in City Finals

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Bob Hull blazed three strikes by pinch hitter Wayne Bovyn with the tying and winning runs on base in the bottom of the ninth last night to preserve a 3-1 victory for Point Anne over Goyer's Marines at CNRAA Park.

The win gave the Ox-pointers a two-game lead in their best-of-five series for the B. and D. softball championship and the Bill Orr Trophy. No date has been set for the remaining games since both teams need OASA playdowns shortly.

The Cementmen took an early 2-0 lead in last night's keenly contested battle with single markers in the second and 4th. Meanwhile Rapid Robert Hull blanked the Marines, not allowing a base hit until the fifth. He still had a two-hitter going into the bottom of the ninth.

Leadoff batter Leo Goyer was hit by a pitch to open the frame and Keith Bertrim replaced him as a runner. John Green lined out to right field but Chuck Kingston came through with a clutch single and Leo St. Denis promptly lined a single off Hull's hands to plate Bertrim. The runners were held at first and second when Vern Goyer flied out to right. Bovyn was injected as a pinch hitter for Doug Soules but went down on strikes. Then two singles, one to end the Marine's final hope of victory.

Hull buried excellent ball for his four-hit victory although warned several times about not starting his pitch with his feet touching the rubber. He nipped five batters on strikes while walking three and hitting a pair.

Al Adams on the Marine mound also tossed excellent ball, spacing seven hits and deserving a better fate. "Bearcat" whiffed two while passing four. He was hit in his pitching arm twice during the game, once by a batted ball and once by a pitch.

Point Anne scored a tainted run in the second frame. Jerry Elliott Sr. bloaped a double down the right base foul line and continued on to third when two Marine players couldn't find the handle to pick up the ball. Dave Jones' fly ball to centre field scored Elliott.

Elliott was also the key man in his club's second scoring play. He singled in the fourth, advanced to second on John Batchelor's walk, took third on Ted Batchelor's perfect sacrifice and scored on a short passed ball. Pt. Anne had only one runner reach second base after the fourth as Adams gave but one single over the final four frames.

Shortstop Doug Hull collected three of the Point Anne safeties but Jack Elliott's double and single were the important blows. John Batchelor and Jackie Wark-haugh also touched Adams for singles.

Chuck Kingston lined half of the loser's base knocks with the others going to Leo St. Denis and Vern Goyer.

Both teams stranded seven runners while the Marines were charged with the game's lone error. Point Anne had one double play, Bob Hull to John Batchelor, while an interference call erased two Cementman runners for a Marine twin-killing.

THE TEAMS—

Point Anne: Carr, Wardhaugh, D. Hull, B. Hull, Greenman, Elliott Sr., Jones, J. Batchelor, T. Batchelor, Mulholland.

Goyer's Marines: G. Goyer, Russell, L. Goyer, J. Green, Kingston, St. Denis, V. Goyer, Soules, Adams, Bertrim, Bovyn.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rebuffed in his plea for intervention by Governor Averell Harriman, middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson Thursday reiterated he would not fight Carmen Basilio Sept. 23 unless the International Boxing Club met his terms for theatre television.

"The commission can suspend me. Vacate my title, or do what they want, but they won't get me to fight the way things are," said Robinson after hearing the news from Albany.

Robinson said that he didn't think the Monday meeting called by Judge Hofstad, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, would settle the dispute. He said he would attend the session.

Harriman's press secretary, Charles van Devander, told Robinson that the Governor involved "contractual matters which the governor could not try to interpret."

Robinson said later "it's a matter of principle with me. If the International Boxing Club doesn't meet the terms from Telesprompter, which is a better deal for me, Basilio and Norris, then there won't be any agreement."

James D. Norris, president of the IBC, said he was standing firm on using Theatre Network Television, Inc., to handle the closed circuit telecast to theatres. He also repeated that as far as he was concerned the fight was still on.

AT THE PARK — Robert Mitchum, Ursula Thiess and Gilbert Roland join in a high adventure story of rebellion and romance in the United Artists release, "Bandido," in Deluxe color and CinemaScope. On the same program in Superscope and Technicolor "Run for the Sun", starring Richard Widmark, Trevor Howard and Jane Greer. Continuous show Saturday from 1.00.

Olivia de Haviland's Side Of Feud With Sister Told

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Olivia de Haviland's side of the famed sisterly feud between her and Joan Fontaine has been told for the first time.

Relaxing in her flower-decked Beverly Hills hotel suite, the two time Oscar winner said a recent event in France prompted her to tell the story. Olivia lives in Paris with her husband Pierre Galante and her two children, and came here to star with Alan Ladd in The Proud Rebel.

"I was attending a party," she recounted, "and a woman asked me about the feud, 'wasn't it awful that your sister wouldn't shake hands with you?' I said, 'Oh, no. It was the other way around!'"

So she decided to get the story out and be done with it. She had never discussed it before "because I was very British and always played the whole thing right out front."

"Well, living in France has given me a new outlook."

The major setback occurred after Olivia's marriage to novelist Galante, she explained.

"Joan is very bright and sharp and has a wit that can be cutting. The sister said, 'Oh, Joan' and some things about Marcus that weren't nice. She was a sister but there was an estrangement between us."

Then Olivia was up for her first academy award for To Each His Own. She saw on the program that Joan was on the program as a previous winner. She thought, 'Oh, that's nice of her' and that she might meet Joan backstage. She asked the press agent to protect her against such a meeting.

The press agent didn't, she said. Olivia was ushered through a door toward a battery of photographers. Joan stood by the entrance. Olivia turned away from Joan, not the lucky photog got the shot.

The backstage snub hit the headlines, and the feud of the two

How did they make up?

"I swore that I would never reconcile with Joan and she apologized," Olivia declared "But when I returned to Hollywood after my separation from Marcus it seemed silly to demand an apology then."

So the two sisters became friends again. Just this summer they visited each other in Paris when Joan brought her family there on a vacation.

I asked Olivia about reports that she was jealous because Joan won the Oscar first. "Not at all, I was very proud of her," she said. "But I will say this: That it hurt my prestige as an actress.

"Any older sister will know what I mean. I was only 15 months older than Joan, but still I was the older sister. I had to set the example, sometimes even when I didn't feel like it. I had to be the one she looked up to, quite naturally she resented the position I had to uphold."

Champion Surprised

Underestimated Punching Power Of Former Olympic Titlist

By JACK STEVENSON

SEATTLE (AP)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, knocked down for only the second time in his pro career before stopping amateur king Pete Rademacher Thursday night gave his foe full credit.

"I don't remember going down so obviously since a 1952 Olympic bout," said the 22-year-old Floyd, who crowded dressing room at Sicks Stadium.

The general opinion was that Pete would be fortunate to last two rounds against the polished pro. Instead he knocked him down for an official count of four in the second and stopped until the sixth.

"I underestimated his punching power but not his ability," Floyd declared. "He's fresh from winning the Olympic heavyweight title, and eager. He has the qualifications of a future great fighter but he lacks experience."

NOT IN TROUBLE

Patterson said he was surprised by the knockdown but didn't feel he was in trouble. He appeared unmarked as he dropped his hands in a bucket of ice water.

"Rademacher was a much harder puncher than Hurricane Jackson but he doesn't have the stamina."

Floyd said Rademacher stung him after the second round but didn't again connect with a really stiff punch.

"I was catching him often but not catching him flush," he said of the six knockdowns that preceded the finisher.

"He was an Olympic champion. I was an Olympic champion once too and I know how tough they have to be."

WITH AN AXE

For his part, Rademacher said afterward: "Wood splitting and chopping at you with an axe, it's bound to get you."

Pete, who has bruised hands soaking in a bucket of ice, was unmarked despite the seven times he hit the canvas, the last time for the count of 10.

Rademacher, his dream of capturing the heavyweight pro title upon his first outing vanished, said he hadn't decided what would be next on his schedule.

"I would like to fight Patterson again," Pete said, "but that's a decision that I won't make for a couple of weeks. Of course, I'll have to work up to it the next time, if there is a next time."

KNOCKDOWN PUNCH

Rademacher, who floored the champion in the second round, said the punch had a lot of beef behind it.

"The knockdown didn't surprise me as much as it did Floyd," Rademacher said. "I caught him with a good punch. I know. I've got the scars to show for it. I'll have a right to the side of the head."

"I was very pleased to meet the champion," Rademacher said. "He was extremely fair and strong.

"His strongest punch is a short right to the head. Those were the shots that got me over the long haul. Each one took a little more out of me. His body punches didn't seem to phase me at all."

Juveniles Whip Peterborough on Hill's One-Hitter

Behind the one-hit hurling of Gerald "Jersey Joe" Hill, the Belleville Juveniles whipped Peterborough 10-1 in the Lift-lock City last night to grab a one-game lead in their two-of-three OBA juvenile "A" playdown series.

The second game is scheduled as the second half of a twin-bill at the Fairgrounds here Saturday afternoon. The opening game has the Peterborough peewees visiting Belleville Deseronto Quakers at 2.00 p.m. while the juvenile game is slated for 4.00 p.m.

Hill turned in a top-notch pitching performance last night to blank the Petes after the opening frame when they scored their lone run. His mates came to life with a pair in the third and wrapped it up with four in the fifth.

"Jersey Joe" was touched for a single off the bat of Pat McGarity, the only Peterborough player to manage a safety off the Indian lad's slants. He blasted third strikes by 14 batters and gave up just two free passes.

Al Wade toed the rubber in a losing effort and was combined for 12 hits by the local hitters. He, too, chalked up a fanning bee strikeout record, claiming 18 victims but had some control trouble. He walked nine.

Bill Foster led the winners with five hits, banging a double and three singles in four trips to the plate. Gord Fuller contributed a triple and double. Dennis Kerruish a double and single and Jack Elliott a brace of one-baggers. Ralph Boomhower added a triple and Graham Smith scored the 12-hit attack with a single.

The teams:

Belleville — Wright, Foster, Elliott, St. Louis, Kerruish, Boomhower, Fuller, Hurst, Hill, J. Ryan, Irwin.

Peterborough — McCarthy, Rowe, Meagher, Cavanagh, Mahoney, McGarity, Loucks, Pollock, Wade, Folley, Kimball.

Buffalo Bisons, Toronto Leafs To Lock Horns

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Buffalo Bisons and Toronto Maple Leafs, fighting down to the wire in the International League pennant race, lock horns today in their biggest test of the season.

Toronto, a half game in front after Thursday night's 7-2 victory over Montreal Royals, open a three-game set in Buffalo tonight. The Bisons, meanwhile, kept in pace with a 6-3 decision over Rochester Red Wings.

The third-place Richmond Virginians have dropped seven games back as Havana Sugar Kings completed a three-game sweep 8-1. Miami Marlins pulled to within a game and a half of fourth place with a 10-4 decision over Columbus Jets.

Bob Roselli sparked, Toronto's 13-hit attack off three Montreal pitchers with a three-run homer that broke a 1-1 tie and gave Ed Blake his eighth victory in 16 decisions.

HERD HITLESS TILL 5TH

An unearned run in the sixth inning gave the Bisons their decision. Pinch hitter Dominique Fred Bacnewski held the Herd hitless until the fifth when Mike Hazel and Ray Noble hit homers to highlight a three-run inning.

Havana's Jose Santiago hurled a brilliant two-hitter that dropped the Virginians to their fifth defeat in the last 14 games. The Cubans jumped off to a 3-0 lead after three innings and wrapped it up with four in the sixth.

Thomson Will Report to Hawks

TORONTO (CP)—Defenceman Jim Thomson, recently sold to Chicago Black Hawks by Toronto Maple Leafs, said Thursday he will report to the Hawks' National Hockey League training camp next month.

Thomson, who is in the fuel business, said if his business prospers, and he makes the Hawks, he will probably sign at St. Catharines, where the Hawks will play.

Leafs, with whom Thomson played for 11 full seasons as part of another, sold the Winnipeg native to Chicago earlier this summer for the $15,000 waiver price.

Religious Content of Program Must Be Basic and Universal

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Religion on television, says Rev. Everett C. Parker, can learn a lesson from a radio broadcaster.

The vast viewing audience, he explains, tunes in both types of program in the same frame of mind.

The housewife doesn't become a repeat buyer of some product just because it had a high-pressure story over and over," says the cleric who has been a specialist in the field of broadcast religion for 25 years. "She is smart enough to judge for herself, and make up her own mind."

MUST BE BASIC

In religious broadcasting, Mr. Parker makes two main points:

"No matter how much surface success a program may seem to have from the standpoint of size of reaching the audience it is a failure if it is sectarian in purpose. Religious broadcasting must be basic and universal.

"The other important point is that religion is not a way of life, and not try to kid people by answering it in terms of specific problems of everyday life."

Mr. Parker, director of communication of the general council of the Congregational Christian Churches and Divinity School lecturer, is currently on TV as originator, co - producer, writer and actor in Off to Adventure, a religious series aimed primarily at children.

The program is sponsored by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. The current 13-film cycle is appearing weekly on 78 television stations, eventually will be on 200.

"We say something clearly worthwhile to children, the parents will listen too," says Mr. Parker, who received the general run of juvenile programs for "insulting their intelligence."

The Off to Adventure fall-winter series takes its views on a social-cultural tour of Japan. The earlier series explored the life of American Indians, and subsequent projects will visit other sections of the globe.

"There is a religious message in every program," says the minister, "but we don't specifically teach the Bible."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Sat., Aug. 24, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This day will be much what you make it. You may run into differences of opinion, perhaps a few snags, but, on the whole, you can make some excellent progress if you put your mind to it.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Look back over the past week, or weeks, and note where you can improve for next week, where you can raise levels in any field or capacity. Give thought to home, the recreation.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Rather favorable rays for most matters — especially interests connected with medicine, inventions, music, literature and industry generally. Be ready for the unusual, should it arise. Keep your program flexible.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Try some new venture if you'd like to, but don't take on more than you can reasonably handle well. Be eager, however, to perform at top capacity, in small or big affairs. Eat sensibly.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Some intent application needed. Don't waste time on non-essentials. Consolidate past gains and present efforts. Watch your budget, and do be diplomatic in all dealings.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Don't plunge into action without sufficient facts, data, or experience. "Little things" can trip you up on this kind of day.

September 24 to October 23— (Libra) — Note Virgo. Your outlook is similar. You can do more for others perhaps than for yourself, so go along that way and be happy.

October 24 to November 22— (Scorpio) — Be diligent and watchful this somewhat tricky day. This does not mean 'suspend operations.' Rather apply extra energy to outstrip your competition. Analyze results.

November 23 to December 21— (Sagittarius) — Some matters or decisions may not please you, but this should not keep you from having a really progressive and happy day. You can help others, too.

December 22 to January 20— (Capricorn) — Follow a steady, comprehensive program. Eliminate waste motion hastens progress. Review your thoughts to high objectives and concentrate efforts only in right directions.

January 21 to February 19— (Aquarius) — Those in medicine, teaching, instructing, analytical work are under especially good influences, but all Aquarians are favored and can reach new heights. Do your best.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Tackle chores efficiently, and without anxiety. Get details straight, but don't delay over them. Use your fine mind, and go forward hopefully, confidently.

You born today are a cuspal, born on the change of a Sign — in this case, Leo to Virgo. You are versatile, roundly capable, critical; tend to domineer at times. As with all bright minds and active beings, you must be cautioned against overdoing or being overbearing. Develop your appreciation of the intellectual; curb pride; believe in the best, don't dwell on the worst. Birthdate of: Aubrey Beardsley, artist.

BELLEVILLE - KINGSTON
LOOK FOLKS!
HERE, briefly described, is the ideal home. A 3-bedroom bungalow that we have been able to offer for sale. The owner must pull up stakes and move to another city. The home has been occupied by one family from the time it was built. Well constructed, well cared for, the present owners have carpeted it throughout, have a 9 pc. living room, added storm windows and doors, have a full basement with a fine oil furnace, have added many other of the spacious grounds that surround the home. These days end we would like to sell this home to you right away for $13,500.

LOTS
WE HAVE FIVE LOTS, SIDE by side, each one with a fifty foot frontage on a paved road. The city water will be available. They are a bargain at only $400 each.

ON THE WEST SIDE
CONSIDER THE PRICE OF only $7,500. The home that can be had for this amount is a rare bird indeed. It is a 3-bedroom bungalow, with three bedrooms on the main floor, a large living room, a full dining room, fine kitchen, 4-piece bath and a floor. There's plenty of room for the family in the full basement. Furnace is new. Lot is carried in the back yard and also a garage. Attractively priced, the price and come for a look.

IN WOODLAND ACRES
WE ARE SURE YOU WILL ENJOY living and especially in a fine street like Bleecker. We know that we have for sale, at the present time, a number of homes on a pretty large lot. Some of these are bungalows, others are two storey. There's a home here we would like you to see.

FLU HITS AIRMEN

LONDON (AP) — Eighty-four cadets and officers of Addis Ababa from five United States Air Force installations in the London area are in a hospital. Another 70 American airmen at Burtonwood in the Midlands, also are in hospital as suspected cases, and others have been confined to quarters at additional installations.

KILLS BANDIT, GETS KILLED

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A drug clerk shot it out Thursday with a bandit. He killed one but was fatally shot himself. The second gunman escaped. Police said the clerk, Chet W. Gustafson, 27, got a rifle and killed one bandit. He then was felled by a bullet fired by the other.

NON-STRIKERS

The three officials Thursday blasted the record of Hedley Fortin, a 39-year-old striker who cried 36 minutes after the union officers had been released. The district coroner declared the death natural and no inquest will be held.

Meanwhile work is being cancelled at 9 companies in the city's office to handle the $184-a-week weekly strike benefits GM workers pays some 500 men.

The violence Monday had been touched off by Quebec City Thursday. Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, met with Premier Duplessis for 45 minutes to discuss the dispute.

Mr. Jodoin was one of the top labor officials in the delegation here. Others included Gerard Picard, president of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, and Roger Provost, president of the Quebec Federation of Labor.

Following the meeting with Mr. Duplessis, Mr. Jodoin said the premier had promised "a full investigation into the matter." He also said he told Mr. Duplessis the union was committed to the point of near-perfection with the purpose of provoking the union to.

Monday's violence at Murdochville was witnessed by several newspaper reporters including Gerard Pelletier of La Presse; Harold Pottras of the Montreal Star; Guy Rocheleau of The Canadian Press; and John Gray of the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

Pottras reported that while stones were thrown by non-strikers attacking UWA officers were armed with "blackjacks and knives" and the sacking of the hall headquarters occurred before the arrival of 30 provincial policemen who had been held in reserve by the non-striking anti-union group.

Pottras reported that while stones were thrown by non-strikers attacking UWA officers "they damn Canucks."

Premier Ronald police Sergeant Rene Marchand was alone in the street at the time of the raid on union offices by non-strikers with blackjacks. He said Sgt. Marchand summoned help and the non-strikers were ordered to return to their bunkhouses and stay there though no arrests were made.

TOLD OF PLAN

Rondeau reported that police Lieut.-Edouard Bolduky said he was told by Roger Bedard UWA representative, that non-strikers planned an attack on union offices.

Perry wrote that both visiting union men and the non-strikers were to blame for the violence.

He said union pickets set out from Gaspe to Mont Joli formed a line on a road where they came face-to-face with non-strikers.

Gray said after police prevented a hand - to - hand fight, union men began to shout insults at the non - strikers; stoning started; a non-striker's car was overturned; the fun began.

He said union men were "looking for trouble" and non-strikers "touched off" the day's violence by throwing rocks.

SKIPPER MISCALCULATED

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—The freighter Arica ran out of fuel 600 miles off Mexico at sea en route from Honolulu to San Pedro. The owners dispatched a tug to take the Arica in tow and explained that fuel oil costs $7.45 a barrel in Honolulu and only $2.85 in California—and that the skipper didn't want to buy any more than he needed to get from Hawaii to San Pedro. Unfavorable winds and currents in the Pacific played hob with his close calculations.

GENERAL MOTORS

Auto workers, through their "escalator clause" contracts, get a three-cent-an-hour pay raise effective the week of Sept. 1.

Curtice said his contract extension proposal would have "a constructive effect, even beyond our industry." He only specific reference to the union's weekly strike benefit was a statement that GM's prices are "not properly the subject of collective bargaining."

Saying that prices "must always be competitive," Curtice said GM will give buyers the "best possible values consistent with the continued ability of the business to make progress for all concerned."

COMMENTS SHARPLY

Reuther, in his sharply worded comment, said GM had shown "short - sightedness" toward a "practical and positive" proposal from the union.

Prices on 1968-model cars will not be announced until late in the year. Industry sources have said they may be higher in view of increased and material costs.

Reuther, commenting on GM's half-year profits for 1967, said the company's $1,000,000,000 or $481,000,000, or 21 per cent of investment, and "is obviously shedding crocodile tears when it talks about protecting the consumer and at the same time refuses to cut prices of its products."

Sunday School Lesson

Our Cocksure Confident Age

By ROY L. SMITH

There was something about the generation to which the prophet Amos preached very similar to our own age. This fact makes his message especially appropriate for us.

In the first place, it was a very religious age. Like our own generation, with its vast expenditures for churches and religious institutions, the Israelites of the eighth century were expending huge sums for sacrifices, they were supporting elaborate priestly organizations, and they were elaborating their ritual. The services at the pagan shrines were the most elaborate spectacles to be seen anywhere in the world.

In the second place, it was a religion without a social conscience. A man of power was immune to criticism, and no one seemed to associate justice with religion in any way.

In the third place, there was a popular self-righteousness which pervaded all of life — in government, in religious circles, in society, and in the cultural life of the nation. He who had any criticism to offer concerning the nation found himself shunned, ostracized, or isolated. The worst part of the whole situation was that no one could believe that anything was wrong. For that reason there was no hope of reform.

LIVING WITHOUT CONSCIENCE

The most dangerous fact with which the prophet Amos has to deal was that the nation had lost its sense of values.

Drunkenness was rife, debauchery was wholesale, injustice went unrebuked, the poor were robbed and denied their rights in the courts and the government was corrupt.

It is impossible for any nation, or people, to abandon their high respect for human personality without at the same time striking mortal blows at their social institutions.

That nation, for example, which spends more for liquor than it does for education cannot hope to long endur the burden of civilization. Nor is there any real future for a people who allow the debauchery of their youth to go unchecked.

Enormous sums of new money was flowing into the coffers of the little nation of Israel as a result of an odd economic condition in which two great empires struggled for power and were rivals for allies among the small nations. And this money was having the effect of destroying the soul of the nation.

REVELRY AND RUINS

The life of the capital of Israel was an almost uninterrupted revel. Elaborate feasts, tables piled high with food and drink, imported prostitutes from Tyre, Egypt, and Assyria, and no public outcry against the decadence of either morals or home life.

The prophet Amos, shocked by every law that is proposed for the purpose of preventing victimization is opposed by some of the most powerful forces of the nation.

There is not a municipal court, highway commission, social agency, police force, or sheriff's office in the land that will not testify that the problem of liquor is the number one in all the list with which they have to deal. More money is spent in handling drunks and drinkers, than for any other one category of public offenders.

John Barleycorn has been involved in more traffic accidents, and is responsible for more traffic fatalities, than any other one offender known to the law enforcement officers.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for August 25: "AMOS, CRUSADER FOR RIGHTEOUSNESS (Temperance)" The book of Amos.

At the moment, relatively little is being done to prevent the spread of alcoholism which has become one of the first five most serious and widespread diseases of the nation. A considerable number of communities are organized institutions designed to help the victims — but almost

2 BELLEVILLE MEN KILLED IN CAR CRASH

Two Men Shoot Constable, Steal Cruiser

New Morrisburg Policeman Has .38 Slug In Spine

Plan to Use Helicopter In Effort to Save Life

MORRISBURG (CP)—A rookie police constable was shot down and critically wounded early today in an exchange of shots with two car thieves.

Constable Ronald Pitt, 25-year-old native of Scotland who came to Canada a few months ago, was felled in a pre-dawn gun battle by a .38-calibre slug that lodged in his spine. The bullet missed his heart by a fraction of an inch.

Plans were made to remove the officer by helicopter to the Montreal Neurological Institute in an effort to save his life.

Pitt was taken to nearby Cornwall General Hospital but authorities decided that an operation would be dangerous and called for a helicopter for the Montreal trip.

HUNT GUNMEN

Meanwhile, police searched three counties in attempts to track down the two unidentified men believed to have shot the constable.

One report said a lead was uncovered and that officers were moving towards Montreal. There was no confirmation of this report.

The gun battle aroused the western residential area of this St. Lawrence River town 40 miles south of Cornwall.

Police said Pitt had blocked the path of two men from Ottawa driving a car belonging to Robert Merkley of Morrisburg.

As the two men made a get-away in their English-type car, Pitt chased them in his cruiser. He closed in. The two men leaped from their vehicle and opened fire. Pitt returned the fire, was hit and the men escaped in his cruiser.

IN POOL OF BLOOD

Residents found Pitt at 4:50 a.m. in a pool of blood on the lawn of Parker Locke. He apparently had rolled several times on the lawn in efforts to rise. His wallet and service revolver were found nearby.

Neighbors said they heard a faint cry for help after the barrage of shots. Silence followed and then there was the roar of the police cruiser as the men escaped. The vehicle ripped up part of Locke's lawn.

Earl Crober, a neighbor, said he was trying to stand up when he arrived.

SHOUTS ALARM

He rolled over three times and his wallet and keys fell from his pocket. He said: "Then it hardly able to talk, I saw three pools of blood. I stopped him from moving and then shouted an alarm."

A wave of anger swept through the neighborhood when the story was told. The town has a two man police force.

Today's Chuckle

One businessman to another: "I wanted my son to share in the business. But the government beat him to it."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A weather disturbance located over Lake Huron early today is moving eastward causing cloudy skies and scattered showers over Southern and Central Ontario. Ridges of high pressure between these showers as winds from the southwest bring more humid air into the southern part of the province. The weather is mainly clear and cooler in Northern Ontario. This cooler and drier air is forecast to move slowly southward bringing clearing skies to Southern Ontario tonight. Indications are for generally sunny weather with pleasant temperatures Sunday.

Reuther Still Wants Pact to Fight Inflation

DETROIT (AP) — President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers says he will continue to press for a joint union-management fight on inflation despite rejection by two of the automobile industry's big three of his first proposal.

Chrysler Corporation Friday joined General Motors in turning down Reuther's suggestion that the big three cut prices on 1958 cars $100 to compensate for unspecified union concessions in new contract bargaining in the spring. Reuther has billed his proposal as an attack on the inflationary price-wage spiral.

"We want these corporations and the American consumers to know that we are not giving up on this positive and constructive plan to fight inflation just because of this first refusal," Reuther said.

He said he saw in the Chrysler rejection a "knuckling under" to the dictates of the company's largest competitor — General Motors — who, the union president said, sets the major policy line in the auto industry.

Ford Motor Company, which with GM and Chrysler make up the big three, has not as yet replied to the Reuther proposal. An answer is expected during the week.

Chrysler's reply, like GM's of Thursday, agreed with Reuther of the need to halt inflation. But neither company agreed with the UAW president's view that price of products is a matter to be settled at the bargaining table.

SPECIAL TREAT

HOLYHEAD, Wales (AP)—Eight children found themselves marooned by the rising tide on the isolated rocks of Ynys-Arddun Island Friday. Their moment of terror quickly changed to delight when an RAF helicopter hovered overhead and lowered Pfc. Sgt. Eddie Fingerton to them on a rope. In his arms the eight were lowered up one by one, and flown safely home.

Collecting Scandal in Hollywood Called $100,000-a-Year Business

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Collecting Hollywood scandal is a $100,000-a-year business, a defendant in the criminal libel trial of Confidential and Whisper magazines testified today.

Fred Meade told the jury Friday that the magazines paid Hollywood Research Incorporated $150,000 for checking and supplying information for articles in issues from July, 1955, to February, 1956.

Meade and his wife, Marjorie, also a defendant, operated Hollywood Research. Mrs. Meade is a niece of publisher Robert Harrison and of Confidential and Whisper.

The final day of the trial's third week brought these other developments:

Meade identified 10 informers who were paid as much as $1,000 by Hollywood Research for information.

2. Meade charged that Hollywood studios "ganged up and tried to frame us."

3. Writer William Bradford Huie testified that Harrison was insistent upon deleting what he considered objectionable matter from Huie's stories for Confidential.

Meade spent almost the entire day undergoing cross - examination as the trial return to the stand when the trial is resumed today.

He testified that Hollywood Research went out of business last February because of newspaper publicity about a state Senate investigation of Confidential.

It was still publishing, he said that Hollywood moviemakers "tried to frame us." He did not elaborate.

Meade said the 10 informers provided information about Ava Gardner, Tyrone Power, Joan Crawford, Edward G. Robinson, Julie Wilson, Jacob Donald O'Connor, Mickey Rooney, Dan Dailey, Walter Pidgeon, George Jessel, Fredric March, Dane Clark and Denise Darcel.

Meade identified Informer Stella Shoeal as "one of the few ex-prostitutes I dealt with." He identified two $500 cheques and one for $550 paid to Miss Shoeal by Hollywood Research.

"She was prolific," he said, adding that her information concerned objects matter from Huie's stories for Confidential.

TORONTO PLANS JUVENILE CRIME DETERRENT BODY

Hopes to Reduce Adult Crime Rate

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto's police force is planning a Youth Bureau in an effort to prevent juvenile delinquency from developing here into major crime, it was announced Friday.

Magistrate C. O. Bick, chairman of the Metro board of police commissioners, said the bureau will comprise specially - trained policemen, probably but not soft, stationed in each of six Metro police districts. It was expected to be formed next year.

The bureau would handle the problems of children in the 10-to-17 age group.

Mr. Bick said there is no evidence of any juvenile-delinquency problem or that one is developing.

Preventative measures should be recognized as valuable, however, and the creation of a Youth Bureau might result in the reduction of the future adult crime rate.

The first contact a youth has with policemen in uniform can well determine whether he will become anti - social or develop into a good citizen, he said.

The police commission was formed Jan. 1 on unification of Toronto's and 13 suburban police forces.

Mr. Bick said the juvenile delinquent is not always the underprivileged child, as pictured in books and movies. He is often the pampered and spoiled child of indulgent parents.

Scouts With Flu Out of Hospital

TORONTO (CP) — Six of 11 boy scouts who developed a type of flu sight days ago while on a camping trip with 60 of the world scout Jamboree in England were released from hospital Friday night.

St. Michael's Hospital said five of the six had boarded a plane for Winnipeg and Regina. One stayed in Toronto to travel with his parents. Five had been developed complications and are to remain in hospital until Monday.

Health Minister Phillips said their illness has been diagnosed as a comparatively mild form of flu that has occurred in the province intermittently during the last five months.

ONE SAVED, ONE DEAD IN MINE SHAFT

Bonar Scholes, 16, is tended by a doctor after being raised from an abandoned mine shaft near Timmins, Ont., where he had been trapped for several hours. He and four other boys were exploring old mining property when the wood covering of the shaft gave way, pitching Bonar Scholes and Ronnie Blake-more into the shaft. Bonar was held against the side by a wire fence, but Ronnie plunged 30 feet into the shaft and was buried by rocks. A team of 100 or more miners, working by hastily rigged floodlights, carefully shored up the side of the mine as they labored to free Bonar, who suffered bruises and cuts but no serious injury.

Three Sisters, Lost 2 Days, Found Beneath Tons of Dirt

DIXON, Ill. (AP)—The bodies of three little sisters were found early today buried beneath a tree and tons of dirt in a big quarry.

The finding of the bodies came after 1,000 volunteers had searched for hours in a quagmire of mud and sand, although hopes of the girls being found alive had appeared slim. Three pairs of shoes, identified as belonging to the girls, had been found Friday night in the quarry.

The girls, three of Mr. and Mrs. John Gurnee's eight children, disappeared from their trailer home a few miles west of Dixon Wednesday afternoon. The area is surrounded by rough terrain and woods — and by a miles-square series of quarries which have been fug by a cement company.

Authorities believe the sisters—Nancy, 10, Ruth, 9, and Theresa, 8—perhaps were playing on a mound of dirt, clay and sand rising to a height of about 30 feet in the bottom of the quarry. Searchers pinpointed that the girls were buried either when a cave they were digging collapsed on them or when an additional truckload of dirt was dumped on to the pile from the quarry rim.

Maine Mother's 4-Hour Swim Fails to Save Life of Baby

SCARBOROUGH, Me. (AP)—Sobbing, gasping, Martha Cole, 24, stumbled onto a beach here Friday and told of a four-hour battle with the sea, of rising waves to get aid for her boat-wrecked family.

The lifejacket-clad woman told of how they were washed from their boat — a 16-foot outboard — in heavy seas.

Hours later the young Jenkinton, Pa., housewife heard that her son, 22-months-old Jeffery, had died in the mishap.

Her grief - stricken husband, Thomas, 25, fought tears as he told how those clinging to the boat tried to keep the baby's head above water.

All, including the child, had lifejackets. They swam to tiny uninhabited Stratton Island when the boat sank.

Mrs. Cole's battle with the sea was across a three-mile stretch of open Atlantic. She fought her way to the mainland from a point between Stratton and Eagle Islands off Old Orchard Beach.

"She certainly must have been a powerful swimmer," one coast guardsman said. "We had enough trouble getting out to the boat with our 35-horsepower boat."

Included in the picnic-bound party were Theodore Chase, 25, of Springfield, Mass., a friend of the family, and Mrs. Cole's mother, Mrs. E. T. Manley.

They said high seas breaking over the boat forced them to turn back to the mainland about noon. 30 minutes later they were swamped.

Suggests C.N.E. Should Become International

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian National Exhibition should be developed into more of an international fair for the display and promotion of Canadian products abroad, suggests Lieutenant-Governor Breithaupt of Ontario.

Mr. Breithaupt, who officially opened the CNE for its 80th fortnight-long run, said Friday the CNE might be changed to the Canadian International Exhibition.

Since Canada's International Trade Fair was discontinued two years ago, the CNE was the only organization offering the same opportunities for attracting foreign trade representatives to Canada in view Canadian products and to help ease Canada's "steep and dangerous" adverse trade deficit.

The opening day crowd was 116,000, compared with opening day last year of 121,000.

PLANS CHINA VISIT

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP)—Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike said Friday he will visit Red China in April next year. Bandaranaike said he has been urged by Chinese Premier Chou En-lai to make the visit.

FEDERAL SURPLUS DOWN SLIGHTLY DUE TO GRANTS

Tax Collections, Other Revenues Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—A rise in federal expenditures reduced the budgetary surplus by some $120,000,000 in the first four months of the current fiscal year.

The surplus stood at $210,800,000 at the end of the four months —July 31—compared with $330,400,000 a year ago, Finance Minister Fleming announced Friday.

In July—the first full month—Mr. Fleming's career as finance minister—the surplus was down $90,100,000, down $19,900,000 from last year's $110,000,000.

Tax collections and other revenues were up, but the increase was a little less than the rise in government spending.

July's revenues rose to $501,500,000, from $459,900,000 last year, boosting the total for the four months to $1,675,900,000 from $1,686,700,000 from $1,613,300,000.

GIVES REASONS

This, of course, was one reason for the over-all rise in spending. Another point was that this year payments to provinces under tax-sharing arrangements are being made on a monthly basis. Last year they were made every three months. Thus, the interim statement showed payments for four months, whereas figures covered for last year covered only three months.

Personal income tax collections $141,500,000 ($141,500,000); corporation income tax $141,100,000 ($122,300,000); import duties $45,200,000 ($40,000,000); excise taxes $28,200,000 ($18,500,000); sales tax $63,800,000 ($52,300,000).

FUND IN RED

Defence $169,100,000 ($151,800,000); family allowances $34,100,000 ($32,800,000); veterans affairs of the department $24,000,000.

In other financial transactions, the federal old age pension fund went into the red in July as revenue failed to match the higher payments in the month of the year. The pension was boosted to $46 a month from July 1.

For the first four months of the fiscal year, the fund showed a deficit of $17,000,000, down from $5,300,000 a year ago.

41 Young Americans Reach Peiping After 9-Day Trip Across Siberia

PEIPING (Reuters)—A party of 41 young Americans, looking fresh and chipper after a nine-day train trip across Siberia, arrived here Friday amid cheering crowds.

The Americans, who defied state department warnings against making the visit, were greeted by some of the Chinese when they arrived here after attending the Moscow Youth Festival.

Christian Herter, U.S. undersecretary of state, had warned the Americans that their visit violated American travel restrictions.

The party entered China on a special train with other youth delegations, including Canadians. But the Americans stole the show. As soon as they stepped on the forbidden land they were surrounded by hand-shaking, clapping, back-slapping Chinese who had been lining the platform.

About 100 Chinese, representing the All-China Federation of Democratic Youth, who are playing host to the young people, began chanting "Long live world peace" as the guests arrived.

Henry R. Canning, Donald Hurst Die As Car Overturns

T. McAvella in Hospital On Seriously Injured List

Two Belleville men were killed and a third was injured early this morning when their car went out of control on the four lane highway east of the city, struck a mail boat, and rolled over several times.

Instantly killed when they were thrown from the car were the owner and driver, James Donald Hurst, 55, or R.R. 1, Belleville, and Henry R. Canning, 47, of 20 Wilkins St.

Provincial police said the car was eastbound about 1 a.m. on the four-lane highway when about two miles east of the city the right wheels dropped onto the shoulder, the vehicle continuing down the side of the road for some distance before it clipped the mail box and then went out of control. All three were thrown from the vehicle which came to rest about 25 feet south of the south highway lane. The car was a complete wreck.

ONLY THREE IN CAR

With bodies strewn about the scene police searched frantically in the darkness along the roadside among the wreckage for possible other victims.

And when they were reported finding a torn woman's skirt the search was again renewed.

It was not until the injured man, Mr. McAvella, said there were only three in the car that police were satisfied they had found all the victims.

All three men were employees of strike-bound Reid's Dairy at Belleville, where milk delivery-men have been on strike for over four weeks. Yesterday morning the three were on picket duty in front of the dairy.

Mr. Hurst and Mr. Canning were pronounced dead by a doctor living near the scene of the crash at 1:30 a.m. They were believed to have been killed instantly.

Coroner Dr. J. Russell Scott said there would be an inquest.

He still always be known as one of the great hockey stars, that he was in the days of the late Eddie Thomas. Henry had a flair for hockey, a little on the light side, he developed a flair for taking an opponent and for many years starred for the juniors in this city. He was a boy that Hurst and Canning, made many true friends and maintained them throughout his life. To Hold Inquest In Boy's Death

TIMMINS (CP) — Coroner Dr. J. B. McClinton says an inquest into the death of Ronnie Blakemore, 16, one of two boys who fell into an abandoned mine shaft Thursday, will be held "as soon as I receive a copy of a mine inspection report."

Ronnie was one of five youths who apparently crawled within a wooden cover of the 30-foot vertical mine shaft Thursday. They were throwing stones down the shaft when a platform over the shaft's opening gave way, pitched Ronnie and Bonar Scholes, 16, later rescued, tumbling down the shaft.

Say Corn Borers Not Unusually Plentiful Here

Although the weekly farm crop report published by the Ontario Department of Agriculture notes that European corn borer infestation this usual of corn borer is evident this year in Hastings county, this was discounted today by an official of the Canadian Canners factory at Foxboro.

"Not out this way," was the comment. "We are not worried."

General dry weather has prevailed throughout the Bay of Quinte district but satisfactory plowing has been done in Northumberland county.

Rain is badly needed to boost pastures which are showing effects of the dry season. Tomatoes are being sold to the vegetable trade in fair quantity. Late tomato blight has been reported in the area of Prince Edward county.

New Teacher For Blind Folk Coming Here

Mrs. Arthur Tiessen, (formerly Miss Margaret Frowse), who has been on the Canadian National Institute for the Blind home teacher for this district since January, 1956, will terminate her duties in the Quinte-St. Lawrence district at the end of August. P. I. Timmins, district field secretary, has announced. She will be succeeded by Miss Virginia Philpott of Toronto.

After graduating from the Ontario School for the Blind, Miss Philpott decided she would like to be a dictaphone typist. She studied typing at the Brockville Business College, and took the dictaphone "Drists" course through The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. She served as a successful dictaphone typist with the C.N.I.B. and with the Macleod-Stewart Company in Toronto.

Later Miss Philpott decided that she wanted to enter upon work in which she could make a greater contribution to the blind. She entered the training course for home teachers of the blind at the national headquarters of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in October, 1956, and completed this course with high standing in June, 1957. Since then she has served as home teacher in the St. Catharines district.

Miss Philpott has proved herself to be an excellent home teacher, and Mrs. Louise Cowan, the Supervisor of the C. N. I. B. home teaching department commends her highly. She will commence her duties early in September, Mr. Timmins said.

Motorist Finds Stove on Road

Wallets, umbrellas and other small personal items are commonly listed as being lost, but yesterday city police had one for the book.

Carrying Place man reported that he had found a stove in the middle of the road and later delivered it to the police after delivering it to the police station.

On his way home Mr. Ray Jamieson spotted a large dark object in the centre of the Bay Bridge Road. He backed his car and investigation proved the article to be a medium sized oil burning stove, complete with pipe damper and shack.

Mr. Jamieson suggested a suggestion that the stove might have fallen from a truck while being taken to the city dump and later delivered it to the police station, where it awaits its owner.

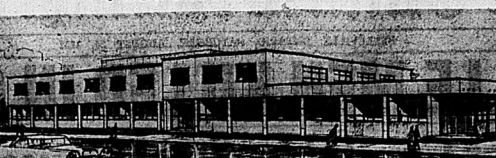
PROPOSED NEW FEDERAL BUILDING



Pictured above is an architect's drawing by the firm Watson and Wiegand of the proposed new Federal building to be built in Belleville at the corner of Station and Pinnacle Sts. Final plans for the structure have been approved and tenders for construction have been called. Low bidder and probable general contractor for the building is M. Sullivan & Son Ltd. of Arnprior, whose bid was $1,330,000. Razing of buildings on the proposed site was completed several weeks ago in preparations for construction of the new Federal building which will house post office, customs and other federal offices.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

Late one night at the 9th World Jamboree in England, Jim was sold to report to headquarters. He was questioned in detail on his activities in and out of Scouting. They inquired about his parents, habits, where they worked, what they did, uniform wear closely checked for possible spots and he was escorted by Field Commissioner Ken Moore, wherever he went. He was allowed to see the Canadian flag at the Canadian which he said he wouldn't have missed for anything. Interviews ran with the top officials in Scouts and then, the presentation.

According to Jim no pictures, movie or television gives you any idea of what the Queen is really like. He says it would be very difficult to describe the magnetic personality and beauty of Queen Elizabeth. Her charming manner relieves any tension that may exist, and there was a notable absence of any regal formalities. Quiet, pleasant and intensely interesting is how Jim describes the conversation with Her Majesty and Prince Philip.

WANTED TO KNOW LOCATION

Phillip wanted to know the exact location of Foxboro and Belleville, and all about the 9th World Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake. He was interested in the life of Canadian Scouts and how they fared in England. All the time Phillip was talking I am noticed a mischievous twinkle in his eye. He inspected the Centennial, even looking behind the stoves, but found nothing in the cupboards. Jim's opinion Prince Phillip is one of the most friendly and affable men you could meet, entertaining and continually asking questions about Canada. It is quite evident that the Royal couple regard Canada very highly.

Meeting Her Most Gracious Majesty Elizabeth II and H.R.H. Prince Phillip was a thrilling climax to the exciting adventure of the World Scout Jamboree. Jim says they are courteous, kind and most gracious.

This briefly is the story of Jim Churchill's presentation to our beloved Queen and Prince Phillip.

We congratulate Queen's Scout Jim Churchill, chosen to represent Canada from 1,040 Boy Scouts, for bringing honor and recognition to Belleville and Foxboro.

It is of interest to know just how good a Scout Jim is. He has earned 18 badges — ambulance, Public Health, Rescuer, Fireman, Pathfinder, Leather Worker, Lumberman, Metal Worker, Entertainer, Naturalist, Camping, Collector, Knotter, Missioner, Poultryman, Musician, Swimmer, Dairyman, Woodworker, Bushyman. Also three awards — Leaping Wolf, Cub Instructor and that rare Religion and Life award, all too seldom seen on our Scouts. His father and mother are both leaders in the Scout movement and his uncle "Doc" Churchill is remembered as one of our best leaders. Jim himself also has the highest efficiency rating — the Gold Cord. All in all a Good Scout.

DESERONTO — A welded steel pontoon, first built at the Dravo of Canada Limited's new Deseronto yards, splashed into the waters of Lake Ontario today in a unique launching.

Designated Hull No. 1, the boxlike vessel, which ultimately will become part of a second derrick boat built on the barge, was christened by Mrs. Ellen Broad Smith, wife of the secretary of Canada's manager and chief engineer, K. C. Cox.

Mrs. Smith smashed the traditional bottle of champagne on the pontoon before it rolled down the ways, still attached to two aircraft cranes which were used to facilitate moving the craft while it was being welded. The cranes were removed after the pontoon was in the water. Fittings for Hull No. 2 will be added at dockside.

The rectangular hull, welded throughout, is 90 feet long, 9 feet wide and 8 feet deep. Six identical pontoons are now under construction at the Deseronto yards, and plans call for them to be launched at the rate of one a week.

Whether used as barges or derrick boat hull, the pontoons will see service in Dravo of Canada's construction operations. Plans also are being prepared for construction of conventional barge hulls at Deseronto.

HERE OVER THREE YEARS

Dravo of Canada Limited, which has its main offices in Toronto, has been operating in Canada for the past three-and-a-half years. Mrs. Smith was the firm's first employee. Dravo of Canada is a subsidiary of Dravo Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa., largest builder of inland waterways equipment in the United States and a leader in the construction field.

The Deseronto installation, located midway between Belleville and Napanee, occupies the site of the former town dock and several acres of adjacent land. It has been developed by Dravo of Canada since last May. The new marine base includes Canadian Portland Cement Company dock at Picton, and the Ferguson Lake Narrows bridge now under construction at Hunterstown.

The firm also has held several contracts for jobs elsewhere, including one for Faraday Mining Company Limited near Bancroft, Ontario, and currently is nearing bottom on two deep shafts for Hanna Uranium Mining Corporation near Elliott Lake, Ontario. The Stanleigh shafts are the deepest in the Blind River area.

Hoffa Disgrace to Labor Senate Investigator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa, denounced by a United States Senate investigator as "disgrace to the unionism," has returned to his Detroit home presumably to resume control of his bid to become president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

After spending four days on the witness stand, Hoffa was abruptly dismissed Friday by the Senate rackets committee. Chairman McClellan (Dem. Ark.), came after Hoffa had said he could not remember whether he joined with New York racketeer Johnny Dio to get a certain job position in the union and give Dio a foothold there.

"My best recollection, is I can't remember."

Before hailing the committee session McClellan announced he was subpoena on Hoffa, saying the union boss may be called back for questioning in the U.S.

Under questioning, Hoffa acknowledged that he was wrong in associating with New York "thugs and criminals" like Dio. He said that if he is elected union president he will take action against racketeers the committee says have moved into teamster affairs in New York.

Committee counsel Robert Kennedy described that testimony as amazing, and said Hoffa knew all along about Dio's record.

Before his dismissal, Hoffa denied any memory as to whether Dio had supplied him with tiny recording devices with which to record conversations of a jury which investigated Hoffa in 1953.

He said he could not recall either, whether he used them to listen in on talks of union and political meetings.

Hoffa and the committee voted on the spot that it was useless to attempt to get information from Hoffa now. It agreed, however, to try again later.

Old Clock Drops In Price After Taking Fall

A rare collector's item, an old-time grandfather's clock, which ordinarily could be expected to bring $100 or more dropped rapidly in price at the auctioneer's hand at a market auction sale yesterday.

The price drop came after spirited auction sale yesterday. The clock itself dropped after being pushed and pulled by some children playing at the scene. Instead of $75 which the clock by right have brought, it was knocked down by the auctioneer for a five dollar bill.

The entire face ornamentation on the old clock shattered in the excitement, but the works were still intact and even when the auctioneer was trying to get bids on the timepiece, the escapement works were ticking merrily.

"I guess I've got quite a repair job ahead," commented the purchaser as he gathered the clock pieces in a cardboard box for transportation home.

Stories of Famous Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

I WILL SING THE WONDROUS STORY

I will sing the wondrous story
Of the Christ who died for me,
How He left His home in glory
For the cross on Calvary.

I was lost but Jesus found me,
Found the sheep that went astray;
Threw His loving arms around me,
Drew me back into His way.

I was bruised, but Jesus healed me,
Faint was I from many a fall;
Sight was gone, and fears possessed me,
But He freed me from them all.

Days of darkness still come o'er me,
Sorrow's path I often tread:
But the Savior still is with me,
By His power I'm safely led.

He will keep me till the river
Rolls its waters at my feet;
Then He'll take me safely over,
Where the loved ones I shall meet.

It is a good while since Moody and Sankey stirred America with their gospel crusades, but the influence of their soul-saving songs and sermons can still be felt and measured.

The two evangelists were holding a revival in Chicago one day in 1873 when into their meeting hall, with other worshipers, came a 21-year-old youth named Peter Bilhorn. Listening to Dr. Moody preach on the theme, "Christ Hath Redeemed Us", the lad in the pews heard the call of God. When the service was over, he knelt at the altar and asked to become a Christian.

His conversion changed h i s whole life. He resolved to devote himself to preaching and singing the gospel message which he had heard that night so that other men and women might find Christ.

When F. H. Rowley wrote his hymn, "I Will Sing The Wondrous Story", in 1876, it was taken up eagerly by Mr. Sankey who popularized it overnight in the Moody revival meetings. It caught the fancy, too, of Peter Bilhorn. Here, he decided, was a song with a glorious message for his soul-winning work. Perhaps he felt a description of his own conversion in Rowley's verses:

"I was lost, but Jesus found me,
Found the sheep that was astray;
"Threw His loving arms around me,
Drew me back into His way.

"I was bruised, but Jesus healed me,
Faint was I from many a fall:
Sight was gone, and fears possessed me,
But He freed me from them all".

At any rate he was much impressed by the hymn — so much so that he composed the music for it. The tune helped to carry the new song to even greater popularity; it is precious to many twentieth century Christians who love not only the music of the words which it was created.

Bilhorn wrote some hymns of his own, and then set them to music. One of the best of these was his "Sweet Peace, The Gift of God's Love":

"There comes to my heart
one sweet strain,
A s'ad and a joyous refrain,
I sing it again and again,
Sweet peace, the gift of God's love.

"In Jesus for peace I abide,
And as I keep close to His side,
There's nothing but peace
doth betide,
Sweet peace, the gift of
God's love.'

Days and Customs of All Faiths

St. Augustine Changed History

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Wednesday, Aug. 28 — Say the American city of St. Augustine, Fla., was named for the illustrious fifth-century Bishop of Hippo (North Africa) or that the great Augustine was a Doctor of the Church and one of the all-time giants of the Christian faith, and you won't get any argument — but neither will anyone get very excited.

But St. Augustine, who died on this day in 430, is worth getting excited about. He was and is tremendously important right now in your life and mine. If it hadn't been for him, we probably would not be living at all as we are today.

F o r Augustine, practically singlehanded, determined the course of history at one of its most crucial points. He lived at the time when the Roman Empire was falling apart, after having dominated the known world for half a millennium.

It was unbelievable that so mighty a power as Rome could break up, but it was at the same time a fact, and to the world catastrophe in Western history. It left men hopeless and bewildered, drifting without rudder or compass. With Rome dying, everything dependable and secure was gone.

HOPE FOR THE WORLD

Into this desolation stepped the great Bishop of Hippo with hope and reassurance for a terrified world. It was his book "Of the City of God" that pulled the ancient world out of its doldrums and turned it in the direction of that long period of convalescence we call the Middle Ages. In all literature it would be hard to name a more influential book.

The theme of "the City" was straight Christian doctrine: that what looks like outward failure may well be inward success — "he that loseth his life shall find it." The brotherhood of man is not affected by the rise or fall of governments. Let Rome perish — the spiritual is indestructible.

To a world sinking into darkness this was life-giving light. Here was Christianity's great gift applied to the deepest needs and fears of the time. It revolutionized Western civilization.

Augustine had been a scholar and a gifted teacher, but it was not until he was 32 years old that he became a Christian. He had also been a good deal of a rake. Baptized with him, in 387, were his mistress and his 15-year-old illegitimate son.

Ordained to the priesthood in 391, he was a bishop only five years later — bishop of the diocese of Hippo, one of the most difficult spots in the Church. He died with one heresy after another, Hippo could not have had a leader better equipped to handle it problems. For 35 years Augustine fought the good fight against all the current distortions and caricatures of Christianity and it was his successful preservation of the pure faith that earned him the title of Doctor of the Church.

Also Wednesday — Honored on the same day as St. Augustine is St. Moses — "the black," an Ethiopian. In many ways he was like Augustine. Both lived in Africa. Both were grossly immoral before being converted. And they lived at the same period in history — the end of the fourth century and beginning of the fifth.

But their differences are more striking than their similarities. Whereas Augustine was the delicate, sensitive scholar, Moses was the strenuous, even ferocious, man of action. At the peak of his pre-Christian career he was the leader of a band of robbers.

After conversion Moses did not quickly adjust to new habits of thought and action, though he certainly did his simple best to modify his old ways. He meant well. Once he was attacked by four desperadoes, whom he promptly overpowered and tied together.

Then the huge man carried all four of them on his back to a nearby monastery and dumped them on the floor, saying to the astonished monks, "I am no longer supposed to hurt anyone. What should I do with them?" It is said that the four reformed and became monks themselves.

Moses eventually became a priest, but even though the Church considered him fit for ordination, he was still plagued by the true Christian's sense of his own unworthiness. As he stood in his white vestments, the bishop said to him. "Now, Father Moses, the black man is made white." But Moses wistfully replied, "Only outside! God knows that inwardly I am still dark."

A Lift for Living

Christ Can Restore Our Nerve

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

We know what we mean when we say a person has lost his nerve. We mean he has lost his willingness to dare the difficult and tackle the dangerous.

Som etimes such loss of nerve comes in a crisis, as in the case of Joseph Conrad's character, Lord Jim. That young officer, trained in the traditions of seamanship, threw honor aside when he joined the cowardly crew in abandoning his sinking ship before waking the passengers. The memories of that deed so ate into the morale of Lord Jim that the portrayal of him by Conrad has become a classic.

Can Christ, the quickening spirit, restore a person who has thus lost his nerve in an emergency? Well, He has. Think of Peter, who on the night of Jesus' arrest went skulking among the shadows, denying he ever knew our Lord. But sometime within the fortnight following the crucifixion, Peter caught something from the Christ which transformed him from a timid, stinking disciple into a radiant, courageous herald of the new gospel. And what happened to Peter has been duplicated down the centuries.

The more dangerous loss of nerve, however, does not come in crises but by slow softening and subtle compromise. Some years ago Harold Begbie drew a devastating description of a former British Prime Minister, now dead. Begbie asked his readers to look at a portrait of the British leader when young, lean of jaw and prophetic of eye, and contrast it with a picture of the man in his mellow age, heavy of jowl, with a look of easygoing adjustment in his face. The author then asked: Could you imagine the man of the latter portrait ever tackling anything very tough for the Kingdom of God?

SHRUNK INTO SHELL

Alas, the tragedy of advancing years too often is that we thus lose our nerve. We rationalize our timidity and call it being practical or tactful or diplomatic. But in reality we have shrunken into our protective shell of prudence. And what we need is the quickening spirit of Christ to revive our ideals and courage.

But there is still another sense in which we lose our nerve. We may lose our very sensitivity to wrong as well as our courage in curing it. When we no longer feel the twinge of conscience at evils that once would have stirred us, then we are losing our nerve.

And the end of that process, according to the gospel, is the unpardonable sin against the Holy Spirit—the condition of becoming so callous we no longer feel the prick of conscience and, therefore, never turn to repentance.

And who is to keep our consciences sensitive to wrongdoing? Of course, when we commit certain flagrant sins, there are many to remind us. If I get beastly drunk, the look of my neighbors will rebuke me. If in a burst of anger, I strike my fellow man, he may stand back. But if I only refuse to help my fellow man in his trouble, no one wakes me up by striking me.

If I merely abstain from doing good, there may often be no one to remind me of my sins of omission. That is why these sins of omission are as dangerous as damning. In fact it is these which damn us, according to Jesus' picture of the Last Judgment. You remember His words, "Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of the least of these." Those were the words of dismissal into outer darkness.

THE QUICKENING SPIRIT

Who, then, is to keep us awake to our shortcomings, our sins of omission? Here is where Christ Himself comes in as quickening spirit. He comes to us in the smugness of our complacency when no one condemns us and by the purity of His sinlessness He stirs us to shame. And by His genuine goodness, our little costless virtues look like cheap stage jewelry. He touches our lost nerves of feeling and courage.

When we overstep and trespass on the rights of others, we need God to restrain and chasten us. When we come short of our duty and fail to pay our just debts to others, we need God to quicken our nerve and awaken our sense of sin.

H. G. Wells once pictured Jesus Christ as a mighty moral buntsman sweeping across the landscape of history, digging men out of the little burrows of respectability in which they had ensconced themselves.

This is the vacation season when people are getting away from the rush of things to quiet their nerves. Maybe we better consult the Great Physician to see whether we have lost our nerve.

STRIKE VIOLENCE DISGRACEFUL

There is disturbing evidence that the tendency to resort to violence in industrial labor disputes is on the increase. Hardly a week passes without some reported incident, generally a clash between pickets and non-strikers.

The right to picket a plant is one of the basic rights of which organized labor is understandably jealous. There has been abundant evidence, though, that the right has been abused in many instances. The right to picket does not imply a right to impede entrance or exit from the plant, but merely to inform those wishing to enter or leave the plant that a strike exists. Even with the clear recognition by both sides of the rights of pickets, and of the limitations of these rights, incidents would be difficult enough to avoid in the tense atmosphere which naturally arises during a strike.

There is a distinct difference, though, between scuffles on picket lines, which could arise from a temporary loss of temper by a couple of individuals, and the type of thing about which we frequently read. For instance, on Wednesday there came a report from Strasford that truck tires were slashed, a car window broken and an air compressor damaged as employees of a construction firm crossed picket lines set up by a union.

Generally it is the union which gets the blame for incidents like this, but this week we have had graphic proof that non-strikers, too, can be guilty of the most deplorable disregard for the law and order. At Murdochville, Que., picketers were stoned by non-strikers and later a union hall was raided and wrecked by a howling mob of 100 men. The Gaspe Copper Mines Ltd. strike is a highly involved affair, on which it would be presumptuous for any person to sit in judgment at this distance from the scene. There were points of law, as well as of fact. It may well be that the strikers have been guilty of resort to violence, but no previous misdemeanors can excuse the action of a mob in wrecking the union hall. This was private property, in exactly the same sense that the company's plant is private property.

The company's office was raided and wrecked, one would have expected police to lay charges. Similarly, charges should be laid against the men who wrecked the union hall. It is unbelievable that the police do not know, or cannot ascertain, the identity of at least some of the members of the mob responsible.

The atmosphere at Murdochville is perhaps best described in the following paragraph from a Canadian Press report: "Threats were heard Tuesday that a group of non-striking workers intended to raid the hotel and carry off union officials. Police immediately posted the guard and company officials said later the non-strikers promised to take no action, unless provoked by the union."

It is a sorry state of affairs when a group of men sets itself up to judge whether any set of actions is sufficient provocation to justify kidnapping.

CANADA COUNCIL'S FIRST STEP

The Canada Council has taken its first step, and Canadian culture and we in it, behoves us to make some comment. Our difficulty is that we find ourselves totally unable to reach any firm opinion on the Council's plan to distribute some 300 scholarships and fellowships a year to students, teachers, artists, musicians, writers, journalists and broadcasters.

Suspecting that culture is something we lack but would like to put off if we possessed, in the same sense that good manners would make us easier to tolerate, we are all for any program which will provide us and fellow Canadians similarly uncultured with a reasonable chance of remedying the situation. We are not at all certain, though, that culture is such a powerful germ that it can be spread throughout a whole nation by inoculating a mere 300 persons annually and we are particularly suspicious of the suitability of including two of the classes mentioned in the eligible list. We suspect that among journalists and broadcasters there is a heavy percentage of individuals as immune to culture as some flies are to DDT, though not for the same reason, prior exposure of ancestors to the product. That there are some notable exceptions to the rule we are acutely aware, but we should have thought that with only 300 scholarships to hand out the Canada Council would have been well advised to concentrate its attentions on more fertile fields.

It will be noted that the Massey Commission in 1951 recommended that some 10,000 students be aided each year. It would appear to us that more than a mere 9,700 individuals separates the Massey Commission's proposal and the Canada Council's program. There is bound to be considerable wastage in the effort to train artists into creative artists and the allowance for wastage from a mere 300 appears dangerously small.

Battle of Shipyards

Written for the United Kingdom Information Service
By Ronald Bedford, Science reporter of London Daily Mirror

Britain's brightest brains and some of her finest craftsmen are lining up for a heavyweight contest with a difference. It will be a real battle of giants, with four of the most famous firms in the United Kingdom sorting themselves into the most famous "Big Four" class ever to slug it out. At stake: prestige, the worth of which cannot be assessed in mere money values, of being the designers and builders of the world's first really big atom-powered ship. Here is the line up:

In one corner, John Brown of Clydebank, proud builders of the world's biggest liner — the Cunarder Queens. Teaming up with them, the £30 million combine of Hawker-Siddeley aviation combine, builders of one of Britain's four-jet H-Bomb carriers, makers of guided weapons, and the developers of revolutionary new propulsion units for the flying saucer-type, said to be capable of 2,000 mph.

In the other corner, Cammell Laird of Merseyside, builders of some of the Royal Navy's most famous warships. They are so confident of their shipbuilding future that they are pushing through a £17 million yard extension designed to handle the biggest vessels. Teaming up with them, the £15 million Babcock and Wilcox boilermaking firm. They have the practical know-how of Babcock and Wilcox built the 8 boilers at the world's biggest nuclear power station — the world's biggest. Having got in on the ground floor with Britain's great atomic energy program they intend to do a lot more of it as they are there. When the contracts were awarded for the Hawker-Siddeley and Cammell Laird atom station, and for its sister station, the Scottish Nuclear Annan, — 24 boilers in all — Babcock and Wilcox scooped the lot.

The shipping nations of the world will be eager ringsiders at the coming battle of giants. But how will the kingmakers of the shipbuilding world — Yankee dollars — view the line-up? Stavros Niarchos and Aristotle Onassis.

This heavyweight contest involves the design of atom engines — engines for the construction of, a Queen Mary-sized tanker of around 80,000 tons costing well over £10 million.

The Cammell Laird — Babcock and Wilcox — Hawker-Siddeley combine is in favor using atom engines that the Calder Hall graphite-moderated reactor is the best one of which they have first-hand knowledge. The John Brown — Hawker-Siddeley team are silent about their entrant in the propulsion stakes. But some scientists hint that they may back the organic moderated reactor — in which certain petroleum oil compounds — the polyphenyls — which stand up well to radiation bombardment, are used.

On the shipbuilding side there is little to choose between the firms. John Brown which has advantage of having built the biggest ships. The Queen Mary (81,237 tons) and the Queen Elizabeth (83,637 tons) are floating memorials to their brilliant know-how.

But though this argument goes down well in pubs like The Seven Seas, just outside the John Brown main gate at Clydebank's Glasgow Road, it is not an argument to use in the Merseyside pubs where the Cammell Laird men drink. There talk is of aircraft carriers like the two Ark Royals — the ones that Doctor Goebbels "sunk" half-a-dozen times, and her namesake, now the pride of the Royal Navy, which recently visited New York — battleships like the Rodney and the Prince of Wales and 35,000-ton Mauretanias, all Cammell Laird — built.

On the scientific side, too, both teams are well matched. Babcock and Wilcox have unrivalled experience in the design and construction of land-based atom power units now — and there is not so much difference in the sea-going units as far as operation and design are concerned.

Masterminding the Hawker team are two men of differing personalities, both of whom are outstanding: Sir Harold Hall, 42, Hawker-Siddeley's Liverpool-born Technical Director. The personality and drive of Britain's Royal Aircraft Establishment, Farnborough, who perfected the scientific probe that solved the mystery of Britain's Comet disasters, and the soft-spoken pipe smoker, Hall drives himself mercilessly — and he drives his subordinates, too, though they do not resent it. The other is Sir Arnold Hall, 42, chairman of Babcock and Wilcox's Renfrew Boiler Company. Dobson, a man with a humorous light in the corners of his mouth — and a no-nonsense attitude when he opens it — was the person responsible for the development of the war-winning, Hawker-engined Typhoon fighter that ripped the industrial heart out of Nazi Germany. Dobson has three inflexible maxims by which he runs his show: "Make up your mind what you want to do and then have an interesting faith in what you are doing. 2: Never let the opposition know what you are up to that the other guy cracks first.

One thing is certain. No matter which team goes out in the A-tanker race, Britain will enjoy the fruits of victory. There will not some foreign flag, shall fly at the stern of the world's first ship.

Thinks Judge Was Ball Fan

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Mrs. Raymond Neff of Detroit laid her husband's supper on the table, and then called him to supper. Raymond's supper can be come and get it. But Mr. Neff was watching the broadcast of the last inning of a baseball game, and refused to budge from the television set. So Mrs. Neff threw his supper out at the window.

Then came the last straw for Mr. Neff, who told a divorce judge his wife was temperamental, and he got a divorce.

The judge, it appears to us, was not entirely without an immovable object. There could be no greater clash in this than a man listening to the last inning of a ball game, and a wife who calls to her man that dinner is on the table and he won't come and get it.

There are some ball fans who would rather watch or listen to a baseball game than eat. Raymond Neff is one of them. But the woman isn't born who would not get mad as a hornet if her husband won't come to dinner when it is ready.

The judge in this case is probably also a ball fan and his sympathy was with Mr. Neff. If there had been a woman judge we have no doubt she would have tossed out Neff's application.

They Saved Fish First

Cape Breton Post

When fire broke out in the trailer of four fishermen returning from a jaunt to Georgian Bay, they worked quickly to save their valuables. And what, did they save first? The fish, of course.

This story came from Maple, Ont., to us via Toronto with the news. They unhitched the trailer from the car, then removed their bath in which the fish were kept. Burned along with the trailer were three outboard motors, fishing tackle and two cameras.

Faithful disciples of Izaak Walton, on the weekend of a return from the trip without fish would be hard to find, particularly the three outboard motors, the fishing tackle and two cameras can be replaced, but those particular fish — pickerel, pike, bass — were irreplaceable.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

A GREEK MYTH STREAMLINED

There is a Greek myth about a figure named Sisyphus, who rolled a heavy stone to the top of a hill and have it roll down again; and the whole labor start anew. The myth of Sisyphus is the Greek way of declaring that much of our time consists of doing the same thing over and over again. We have duties every day which are like the duties of yesterday. So many of these duties have to be repeated, such as the washing of the dishes three times a day. With the monotony of it all. Mrs. Sisyphus has to keep washing the same complaints and ills and make his home sounds every day, whether he wants to or not. The Reverend Mr. Sisyphus has 60 calls to make every week to the hilltop of Sunday; that night it rolls down to the bottom, and he begins the same labor over again.

There is a way to beat this game. As a child I heard Russell Conwell give his lecture on "The Laughter Volcano." The audience roared, and so did Conwell. He had learned the great secret of enjoying what he had to do.

Man Meddles With Nature

Sudbury Star

The creation of a bird sanctuary for geese in the southwest corner of Baffin Island has been announced. It is the farthest north game preserve in Canada and probably one of the greatest breeding ground for geese in the world.

In the past decade or more, man's experiments with game and wildlife have met with remarkable success. Canada's conservation efforts have been plentiful for the most part. But human interference with animal life has sometimes had disastrous results. Damage is sometimes irreparable.

Most people have heard of Australia's rabbit ravages. The cost of bringing rabbits into that dominion will never be known. Four hundred to 500 a day were destroyed. Australia, had another experience along the same lines.

A large bird with a harsh, screaming cry is common in that country. Farmers got tired of the incessant racket and decided to kill off the noisy birds. Too late they found the bird killed insect pests by 20 a day each — and when the birds died off the snakes increased. Result was an upheaval in the fresh meat balance so dogs, farm animals and people suffered.

The best known problem in Canada is rabbits introduced for the sparrows, although they hardly reached the pest status of Australia's rabbits or the locusts of the East.

Some misguided soul-lover introduced the bird in about 100 birds and released them in cities about a century ago. The climate agreed with the sparrow and he multiplied like flies. It was found that corn, not insects, was a sparrow's favorite food. People in many areas still are trying to figure how to get rid of them. They have created the same problem.

In another instance, in Jamaica, rats went ashore from ships and fast became a nuisance. Traps and poisons had no good, so the islanders imported six mongoose, well-known rat killers.

The mongoose willed off rats — then got down to business to killing cats, dogs, chickens, even small children. Rats became more of a problem than the rats.

Fortunately, nature stepped in again. It gave the sleek, fighting animals a healthy appetite for ticks which slowed their vitality, reduced their numbers and finally slowing down, leaving the remainder to a diet of insects.

Man would be hard pressed without Mother Nature as an ally.

Nails and Nutrition

It takes nearly four months to grow a nail, and as a serious injury or illness or malnutrition shows its effect on the condition and appearance of the nails in two months — hardly in bad or than a month.

The number of these things (serious illness or injury or ill-advised restriction of diet) are brittleness, pitting and cracking of the nails.

The application of so-called "nail polish" spoils the appearance of the nails just as it would injure the skin or the hair — because it dissolves the natural oil out of hair, skin or nails.

An adequate intake of these nutritional elements is essential to maintain good nutrition in general and a healthy condition of skin, hair and nails: Calcium, Vitamin (B-1) and ribloflavin (B-2).

Under the autocratic control of our supply it is very difficult for Americans to get adequate amounts of these elements from food, especially those who spend most of their leisure time on their bobbed tuberculosis.

And so I introduced vitamin and B complex as a supplement which, if eaten every day, will make good the deficiencies of our everyday diet. Please remember it will take two or three months of this to improve the condition of the skin, hair and nails.

NEVER LET GO!

Henry Ford, founder of the Ford Motor Company, was one of the most successful men this country ever produced. The people of Detroit laughed at his little "horseless carriage," but Ford had not only genius, but that one great quality when an idea struck him of hanging to it. He had vision and courage and imagination, and so it was natural that he kept on going on and on. He didn't know how to let go.

There have been many others with the same qualities as Henry Ford, and they have been a real inspiration to him. He never looked back. He never gave up an idea in-which he believed. This is the way that benefactors to the human race are made. Never get backward, is their motto.

If you believe in a person, or an idea, never let go of either one. He steadfast. Believe, and your faith will prove right. Pay no attention to the critics. Pay attention to yourself. You be their master of your soul. Its often disappointing, and you may meet many a failure, but failures are stepping stones to higher and better things. That is what has made America the wonder of the world, and the most coveted. Its way of life has embellished the word of Freedom and made it a household so it was natural that we

Be sure of yourself. Dismiss all fears. Father your star. Never let go. Never mind the difficulties. Leave them behind. Look to God. Trust Him. Believe. Look and to Him. Seek peace within yourself. Never look backward. Never let go. Never did anything worth while without getting discouraged at times, you go on. Never let go. Keep to this motto: I can — and I will.

Look to your influence. We are always being watched by others. Be an Example unto them! Let's attract them to our side!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In his new book on the mammals of the Great Lakes region, Prof. William H. Burt stresses the double-edged character of wild animals. A bull moose, he says, will spend the entire year apart from a little traipsing around in the mating season, all within a hundred square miles of territory. He has no curiosity about the world at large. He is entirely content with the food, shelter and security of an area smaller than the average farm.

The opossum, a curious animal if ever there was one, is not. He is without curiosity, has been found to spend its entire career, within 15 acres to bring forth seven acres.

Most of us go through our inquisitive lives without ever seeing anything of the teeming life everywhere around us. Not the field voles, moles, shrews and other abundant little mammals that are the principal inhabitants of the fields and forests that we imagine to be still and empty. Or a jay in each — and when the birds died off the snakes increased. Result was an upheaval in the fresh meat balance so dogs, farm animals and people suffered.

The best known problem in Canada is rabbits introduced for the sparrows, although they hardly reached the pest status of Australia's rabbits or the locusts of the East.

The changed pattern of living of Canadians is very noticeable, for those who sit by the side of the main highways and watch the cars go by, and those who are holiday-bound themselves and become a unit in the never-ending stream of traffic.

More and more cars, foreign and domestic are to be seen with camping equipment, either in the top of the car or taking up most of the rear-seat space.

Motorists in every province, in Ontario and the eastern provinces have raced across the Prairies and the west, and what number of American cars are carrying camping equipment. All over the continent it has become fashionable to travel in the camp grounds in the national parks in Canada, and even with the tourists who are staying longer this year than for several past seasons.

The Face on the Stamp

Friend of God's Little Creatures

By Nicholas Mika

In a little remote village in France is a beautiful garden. It is not more than two acres of land with flowering vines and shrubs, wild flowers and trees and a lot of birds. Walking through it you might not find anything unusual about it. But for nearly fifty years this garden was the hunting ground for a great adventurer. To be exact, it was the laboratory of one of the world's greatest naturalists.

Here he made his simple, but most dramatic experiments and learned the secrets of nature.

For many hours he sat still by a bush and watched a bee or a beetle or listened to a cricket. To see a spider spin his web and catch his prey kept him spellbound. It fascinated him to watch a hundred times a wasp that knew like a skillful surgeon exactly where to sting a cricket so it would be paralyzed. And he was filled with wonder and excitement when he found that a glittering moth could send messages in some mysterious way across a field to attract her mate.

In long and painstaking research he studied God's little creatures. If scientists before him had been satisfied with a fancy Latin name as a classification, he tried to reveal the secrets of the lives and habits of a thousand insects. Their everlasting battle for survival was unfolding before his eyes like a great drama on the stage.

Your Car

Special Care For Automatic Transmissions

By EUGENE MILMOE

The wise car owner takes his automatic transmission headaches to a shop which specializes in maintenance and repairs of his particular system. There he can be sure it will be put through the proper testing procedures for tracking down and remedying various troubles.

Many automatic transmission complaints are caused right from to driver neglect. Insufficient fluid, for example, can bring on erratic shifting, slippage, roughness, noise — and in a hurry. Or more common troublemakers. That's why inspection of the transmission fluid level at 1,000-mile intervals is strongly urged.

Idle speed should be watched, too. Faulty adjustments cause excessive creeping; violent transmission engagement in low, drive, or reverse; jolting downshifts; clashing.

A. G. asks : "In reading your article about generator troubles this question came to my mind. Suppose a defective regulator prevented power from recharging the battery while I am on the road at night. Is it safe to disconnect the regulator temporarily?"

(A) Yes, it is, as long as you drive at low speeds. Otherwise, the unrestricted generator can overload and damage the electrical system.

T. V. writes: "I had a wheel alignment check recently and the mechanic said he had to correct the front wheel camber. Can you give me a simple non-technical definition of camber?"

(A) Camber refers to the outward tilt of the front wheels at the top. In other words, the wheels are angled so that they are farther apart at the top than at the bottom.

From L. W.: "My 1956 engine now overheats, but not because it is leaking water. If the fan belt, radiator, water pump, hoses, thermostat, carburetor and ignition timing are not to blame — as my garage insists — then what could be the reason?"

(A) Denis, bends and dirt clogging in the exhaust pipe or muffler will cause overheating. Transmission slippage and brake drag are also possibilities.

S. U. writes: "I bought a used 1955 sedan and the day I went over to pick it up one of the service shop men was instructed to drive it out of the garage for me. As he tried to start it the engine kicked back and broke the starter. They put in a new starter and I claimed the car two days later. This was four months ago. I haven't any complaints about the car but keep worrying if an engine defect of some kind caused the trouble on that first day."

(A) Engine kickback occurs when the ignition timing is too ad-

HE LOVED INSECTS

But he not only studied and observed insects all his life, he also loved them dearly like a friend. Once he wept in joy when after a long search he had come to the conclusion that a faint sweet noise he had heard was the song of a grasshopper. For a long time he told no one about his discovery that a grasshopper could sing for fear he would be laughed at.

His mother used to scold him as a little boy when he was pinching up an insect or a piece of cork or sat for hours in the field watching his little friends. She had no time for such foolish things. And when he was an old man the village people used to call him crazy and odd, a strange fellow that would be best left alone.

He did not mind in the slightest to be left alone. People never provided the same company for him as the little insects. To sit and watch the sun go down on the horizon or listen to the chirping of a locust made happier than anything else in the world.

He had no special instruments, no laboratory in which to conduct his countless experiments. A few empty sardine tins or some cracked flower pots on a shelf in the shed behind his home were his equipment. The only thing he ever bought was a cheap microscope. First of all because all his life he was much too poor to afford anything else, and the other hand he did not need expensive equipment. Time and patience were all he took, a great love for the small insignificant, his inquisitive and nature lover's mind with her countless wonders, was his teacher.

LITTLE SIMPLE LIFE

He walked through his garden stooped over not from old age, but because his observing eyes were always searching. Indoors and outside he used to wear an old battered black felt hat. His clothes were worn and as simple as his habits. He rose before dawn and his working day was long and strenuous but full of joy and satisfaction. When it was dark he went home to his poorly furnished house with green shutters, sat down at a crude table and began to write down what he had seen. He wrote many books filled with the marvels and wonders of nature. Translated into many languages they belong to the most precious books on botany that have been written, not only for their scientific value but for the fascinating and dramatic description of nature and her creatures in a language understandable to a child.

The man who wrote these books was not only a great scientist but also a gifted poet. Today he is called the Homer of the Insects, but while he lived he remained almost unknown until his nineteenth birthday. On this day villagers saw with great amazement government officials arrive and gather around the house of the old man whom they barely knew. He suddenly had become famous, his work had been recognized and tears came to his eyes when he was presented with a gold plaque.

He died not very long after in the year 1915 — the greatest admirer of God's little creatures, Jean Henri Fabre.

Jean Henri Fabre appeared on French stamps in 1956.

WITH THE CUBS AT QUIN-MO-LAC

By C. F. Leggat

A motorcade of forty automobiles, escorted by Trenton Provincial Police, conveyed 1st Belleville District Cubs to Quin-Mo-Lac camp on August 11th.

Arriving at the camp order was soon established under the able direction of the Camp Chief, Akela Lillian Ashley, who has been in charge of seven consecutive Cub camps. The Cubs were assigned to their cabins with their leaders, who were:

Elm, Millie Townsend; Rikki, Dorothy Ward; Rakshaw, Elsie Elliott; Bagheera, Bill Kellett; Whitehood, Chris Leggat; Hare Pine, Phil Alleon; White Eagle, Bruce Hillier; Golden Quill, Nelson Banting; Black Plume, Richard Rowbotham; Grey Brother, Richard Clarke; Baloo, Lew Andrews.

A "Cubs Own" service was held in the evening. The peaceful surroundings of this "Church in the Wilderness" commands respect and the Cubs treat it with reverence. One would do your heart good to observe. The first camp fire, at which "Mr. Grouch" was duly initiated, was compact and lively quiet. Milk and cookies followed and then to bed.

On Monday Big Pine started his swimming school, which was held twice daily, and Baloo lined the ball teams up. Handicraft classes completed the day's work. Meals were well planned and well served. The Cubs did full justice to them all, which pleased the cooks.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

At the camp fire the "Calypso Kids" made their introduction and were followed by the "Cubs" assembled at each camp fire that followed. Bagheera, White Eagle, Golden Quill, Black Plume and Grey Brother formed this group and they proved very high class entertainment. Two very good singers were discovered in Cub Whitehood and Cub Edward Percy and Jeffrey Eastwood. There was no shortage of talent this year.

Tuesday was Sports Day. The Olympics were officially opened by Akela. Dennis McAuley was Cub Olympic Chief. It was an impressive sight to see the torch bearer pass the cabins followed by the Cubs who formed a large circle in the arena. All the events were keenly fought with enthusiasm that only Cubs can display. Barrie Athey "put the shot" in fine style, which made the world's champion. The Cubs had a wonderful day.

After camp fire the Coca Cola Co. provided a most welcome supper. An interesting film on baseball and cokes for the entire gathering.

The epic of our Cub Camp is Indian Day. The Cubs go all out for this like and act like Indians. This year water colors were provided which washed off easily. A big improvement on the various lipsticks. Akela opened the Council fire and then White Eagle as Master of the Council fire, attired in full Indian dress called the Council to order.

Two Indian braves, Bagheera and Grey Brother lighted two small teepee fires, the first symbolical of the Cub Law, the second the Cub promise. Festivities started with the lighting of the big fire.

Pirates' Day followed Indian Day, another day to remember. Captain Kids and Morgans by the dozen—black faces, patched eyes—a fearsome spectacle, and the stories told at the camp fire were "out of this world." Imagination runs rife on these days and the Cubs love it. Leaders Steven Christopher; Rockne Taylor; Billy Leckie; Scott Jamieson; Michael Reddick; Edward Percy.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

Price of Retirement for Average Man Is Smaller Than Anticipated

By THOMAS COLLINS

Do you have enough money to retire on?

There's hardly a soul past the age of 40 who isn't worrying over that, no matter how much income may be in prospect.

Out of the experience of a man we'll have to call Mr. B.R. Mc. you may find the answer.

Mr. Mc. has been retired for a year now. He is living in Georgia. He figures it has cost him less than $25 a week to switch from a salary to a pension.

Your figures may not be the same as his, but by using him as a guide you can pretty well figure where you will stand at 65.

"I was a $150 a week man," Mr. Mc. says. "That was $650 a month and $7,800 a year. But I wasn't really making that much money.

"I was paying roughly $800 a year in income taxes. That brought me to $7,000. I was paying $104 a year bus fare to go to job, $156 for lunches at 60 cents a day, $52 more or less for coffee breaks, $100 clothes bill that go with a job, and around $350 a year in Social Security payments and company deductions for insurance and what-have-you. That all added up to $1,462 a year, bringing my real income down to $5,538. I was knocked off the $338. I figured the clothes I had to buy because of the job and the normal depreciation, such as gifts for weddings and babies and parties for fellow workers, were costing me at least that.

AXES NOT REQUIRED

So he was now down to $6,000, or $500 a month. He had $18,000 in the bank. He found a nice small town in southern Georgia he could get a small modern cottage fit for his wife and himself for $5,000. The $13,000 difference, conservatively, would yield $650 per month in investments — for $650 a year. Added to this was $250 ir taxes paid on the city house but not required on the house in Georgia because of a homestead exemption law (other states have similar provisions)

Here was $900 saved because retirement allowed him to move. Then there were his life insurance payments of $240 a year, which stopped at 65, and the matter of a car.

"A good car seemed to go with your way of life," Mr. Mc. says. "It was costing me, with depreciation and running expenses right at $600 a year. In a small town, with no prestige to uphold, I could get as well on a 5-year-old car at a cost of $100 a year.

Thus the $900, plus the $250, plus the $500 on the car totaled $1,650, or $137 a month which he figured he could honestly declare from his net income which was now down to $500. It was all going to be because he was leaving his salary, so his working income of $650 was actually only $350.

CITY MORE COSTLY

"I don't think everybody's books would come out quite like mine, but my figures aren't far wrong—it costs a whole of a lot more to live in the city than people will admit.

"So," Mr. Mc. continues, "I now figured my retirement income as $100 Social Security, $54 for my wife (who was only three months younger) and $100 pension, for a total of $262.

"I was really $101 a month worse off than when I was working. But now I have a vegetable garden in a country with a long growing season and I didn't even have tomatoes back in the city — and I don't have to take any more of those $200 annual vacations."

Mr. Mc. hasn't touched all the figures. It couldn't be quite that good. But in the main he's right . . . you're going to be a lot better off on retirement than it looks like on the surface. Figure it up for yourself.

Polish Liner To Start Direct West Contact

WARSAW (Eastern)—A link in Poland's drive to re-establish contacts with the West after years of Cold War isolation will be made next Monday when the liner Batory sails for Montreal.

It will be the first direct transatlantic link between North America and Poland in nearly six years. The sailing of the Batory is a reflection of the new political thinking in Poland.

Poland is once again welcoming direct contacts with the West. This year there has been a considerable influx of Poles from North America revisiting relatives and friends.

Travel facilities for Polish citizens today, although still restricted, are much freer than they have been for several years.

The Batory, which can carry 1,000 passengers, will call at Copenhagen, Denmark, and Southampton, England, on its westbound trip.

(Coincidentally, The Associated Press reported from Copenhagen Fri night that 15 passengers quit the Batory there Thursday when they were called at the Danish capital on an excursion trip. The passengers said they preferred Polish tour to Denmark since the war, asked for political asylum.)

The Batory will regularly on the New York-Gdynia run from 1958. Its sister ship was completely renovated and modernized in the reconstruction atlantic cruising.

First-class fares will be $217 to $230 eastbound and $292 in the winter. Tourist fares will be from $225 up in the summer, $205 up in the winter.

The Polish press have given considerable publicity to the service to Montreal. The Catholic publication Tygodnik Powszechny reports that Poles in Canada have formed a special committee to welcome the Batory and are preparing a "rich program of welcome."

Malaria Drug Helps Patients With Arthritis

NEW YORK (AP) — A drug first made to fight malaria shows great promise against rheumatoid arthritis, says a pharmaceutical firm.

Chemically it is chloroquine, trade name Aralen. It has been under study six years as a weapon against arthritis.

It brought good results in 70 per cent of 1,000 patients who were treated during the last four years, says one report in the Canadian Medical Association Journal.

Daily tablets usually are taken for weeks before benefits appear, said Dr. Arthur W. Bagnall of the University of Pacific College of Medicine, author of the Canadian study. He said half the patients had remissions of their rheumatic arthritis pains and complications at the present time.

Some patients get skin reactions or other adverse effects, but these usually are not serious, toxic effects, he said.

Chloroquine is the prescription drug, Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp, president of the New York manufacturing firm, Winthrop Laboratories, said research findings are being sent to all U.S. physicians.

Garden Notes

Charming Your Hubby With Herbs

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Long ago herbs were thought to be endowed with magic properties that could work miracles. Should a lover be slow to declare himself, or a married man begin to become morose or unmanageable there was a herb to fix that. Today woman still finds that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. However, she does not resort to guile, she knows from experience that good cooking charms anyone into good humor. Then too good cooking may be enhanced by herbs. Herb cookery includes all the subtle magic that changes plain stew, soup, meats, beverages and deserts into special dishes without greatly increasing their cost.

Grow your own herbs and have a pleasant new hobby, fine flavoring, and a handsome addition to your garden attributes.

Select a sunny well drained spot with sandy soil, if possible. Herbs need little or no fertilizer. Poor soil produces bushy slow growth in which the oil is concentrated in the leaves. This is responsible for their strong scent. The grey leaf herbs like a soil that is impregnated with lime and plenty of sun. This group includes the lavenders, rosemary, sage and wormwood. (This includes mother-of-thyme, (thymus serpyllum) thymus vulgaris and white flowered types and those with variegated leaves.)

Plan to grow a few parsley with herbs. The aromatic oils repell insects but the chewing gland that is seen to find them attractive, but they remove only the aromatic oils, leaving the insect their honey.

Perhaps spring is the best time to start a herb garden, but mid-August is not too late for the seedlings and cuttings to get a good start before frost. Dig the soil one foot deep and mix in it to fine particles so that the roots can grow deep. Deep roots anchor the plants and develop a vigorous growth. Set the inches apart according to the size of the plants.

Cuttings can be taken of basil, vermiculite, or peat moss. Dip the lower half inch in water then in rootone to speed rooting. Rose geranium, tarragon, lemon verbena, and any of the mints may be propagated in this way.

Chives, mint, parsley and many other herbs may be potted up to provide interesting house plants and a stock of plants and flavors for the winter.

Gather the herbs for storage just before they are at their peak of growth. Buds of flowers should be picked just before they open, before their perfume has been lost in the atmosphere. The leaves should not be bruised. Choose a warm dry day, around noon when the plants are dry. The

CHRIST CHURCH GUILD
(Thomasburg)

The president, Mrs. Murray Morgan, opened the meeting. There was a two minute silence in honor of a departed member. The Scripture lesson was taken from St. Matthew 22:1-14, read by Miss Ruth Morgan.

After a short business, Mrs. Donald Geen, in charge of the program, read a poem, "Sailors Sing His Feelings"; also a reading by Mrs. Clare Grills, "I Methinks" and "Upper" by Mrs. Lewis Kellar.

A dressmaker's contest was given by Mrs. M. Morgan, which proved very interesting.

The hostess and assistants served refreshments.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Keith Baldwin.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

"If all the year were playing holidays,

To sport would be as tedious as to work."

These lines from Shakespeare's Henry IV, Part I may give some sort of comfort to those of us whose holidays are over for another year. It is doubtful if the Bard chilled spirits with them with September 3rd facing them so soon. The "pleasures" of holidays is so deep that this line from the pen of Leigh Hunt is very true: "The vagabond, the sailor, and the schoolboy, are the three beings that contrive to live beyond all the rest of the world."

We see by The Ontario Intelligencer that Miss Lisa Sergio is being brought to the city for a speaking engagement by the Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club. Just over a year ago, it was our pleasure to meet Miss Sergio, in Montreal and to have about a half hour visit with her.

This came about through our interest and admiration for Ann Batchelder, who, while she lived, was a poet, a food editor and a simple philosopher and who became Lisa Sergio's close friend and adopted mother.

Ann Batchelder was a very healthy person who never seemed to need a doctor. When she sprained her ankle, she went to a young doctor who treated her very well and said, "Then one day she slipped and fell in a newly waxed corridor of the BCA Building in New York and broke her hip. This same young doctor was called in; somehow, some way an honest mistake was made. Instead of getting better, Annie was told that she would never get out of bed. Annie only through sheer strength of spirit that she did get into a wheel chair at her home in her beloved Vermont to carry on her work and her writing.

One day when she was suf-world's humanity.

fering greatly, Lisa's fiery temper flared up against this young doctor and she held forth about what she would like to do to him. Annie looked at her and said quietly,

"Ah, Lisa, so you have never made a mistake?"

The story of how these two gifted women came together is interesting. When Lisa Sergio found that she had to leave native Italy before the last war, she turned to her mother's country, the United States. She came as a well-known speaker, news commentator and writer and was immediately employed by NBC. This company gave a dinner in her honor; Ann Batchelder was one of the guests. A firm friendship developed. When war broke out, Ann adopted Lisa legally to save her citizenship and to expedite the granting of citizenship papers. They lived and worked together at their home in Woodstock, Vermont.

One cannot mention one woman without the other.

Sponsored by UNESCO, the most ambitious and challenging project in the history of photography is being shown in Toronto from September 9th to the 22th. While at the Museum of Modern Art, in New York, this photographic exhibit called "The Family of Man," was seen by more than a quarter of a million people in three months.

It has been shown in 15 countries in Europe, Asia and South America to 2,185,000 persons. The purpose: "To sought in and selected photographs, made in all parts of the world, of the journey of life from birth to death, with emphasis on the daily relationships of man to himself, to his family, to the community and to the world we live in."

MANY RECENT BEAUTIFUL SUMMER WEDDINGS OF INTEREST

KONAREK—DIX

Christ Church, Belleville, was the setting on Saturday, August 10, at 1.00 p.m., for a lovely summer wedding when Rev. Canon J. B. Creegan, rector of the church, united in marriage Barbara Alice Dix, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dix, to Joseph Konarek, of Brantford, son of Mrs. Joseph (Eva) Konarek, and the late Mr. Konarek. Pastel gladioli adorned the altar, while satin bows the guest pews.

For the processional, Mr. Robert Bell, guest organist from St. Thomas' Anglican Church, rendered the Wedding March from Greig, and for the recessional the traditional wedding magoh from Mendelssohn, and accompanied the boys' choir at their "Brother James' Air," (33rd Psalm).

The radiant bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. William Dix, wore a floor length bridal gown of scalloped and brocaded nylon net over pink tulle and white taffeta featuring a scalloped, "V" shaped neckline, the fitted bodice coming to a "V" point at back and front over the gracefully bouffant skirt. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a hat-effect headdress in matching material and she carried a cascade of pink roses.

Miss Helen Weston, of Belleville, as maid of honor, and Miss Betty MacIlwee, of Simmons, Ontario, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in French blue crystal chain in waist-length, featuring gored, fitted bodices with portrait necklines, narrow, standup collars and short sleeves. They were matching headdresses and carried nosegays of pink roses mingled with white chrysanthemums.

Mr. Vincent Jones of Brantford attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Walter Lea, of Smithville, Ontario, was usher.

The reception, following the ceremony, was held in Christ Church parish hall, where Mrs. K. Veley, R.M.T., guest pianist, favored with a piano solo, "Fifth Nocturne," by Leybrach, and accompanied Miss Grace Wilson in a duet rendition of "Soiree de Vienne." by Schubert-Liszt.

The bride's table was daintily appointed with white linen and centred by a three-tier pillared wedding cake topped by tiny white flowers, misted with blue lace with white tulle, and flanked by tall pink tapers in candles and the bridal bouquets.

The bride's mother, for her daughter's wedding, wore a brown copper-tone suit dress with matching accessories, and corsage of yellow and bronze 'mums.

Before travelling to Eastern Canada, the bride chose a silk, printed dress of pink roses with chocolate brown straight-line duster, beige accessories, and corsage of yellow roses. Mr. and Mrs. Konarek will reside in Sault Ste. Marie, upon their return.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the honored guest at several showers in Brantford; one given by Miss Pauline Sevier, another at the home of Miss Marjorie Huff, and one at the home of Mrs. Veley Lawrence. One was also held at the home of Miss Helen Weston, Belleville.

When you see something about which you know all the facts, you can't help but laugh at the way it is written, but do not do it. This will help you to tone the showmanship and quality.

Wise Travellers Know You Can't Judge Motels By Their Signs

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

It was the biggest motel sign we'd ever seen. It was nearly as big as the motel.

Plastered all over it in neon outline were intricate symbols and cryptic initials catastrophic even for the names of organizations, none of which we'd ever heard of, which had "approved" the place.

Among the blazingbrics was a row of "A's" in a blue and white oval obviously designed so the symbol could be mistaken for the familiar and respected American Automobile Association endorsement.

Undoubtedly the proprietors would have swapped the whole passel of "memberships" for the latter which, to the experienced eye, was conspicuous by its absence.

But the sheer weight of the signatures of the other organizations stood its prisoner tight all night, while we were in the area, the motel filled up well ahead of more comfortable ones, presumably with impressionable guests who were having their first way that you can't tell a motel by its sign.

So widely has the AA's stamp of approval, as well as those of a handful of other legitimate groups been envied and imitated that the occasional traveller today is subject to all sorts of fantastic schemes designed to tempt him to sleep or eat someplace where he wouldn't if he were familiar with the place.

FAVORITE TRICKS

There is such fierce competition for the traveller's dollar these days that many have taken up gimmick can many inferior buildnesses survive. The favorite seems to be the "guide book" listing and "approved" sign. The expensive standard of which many operators are taken as badly as their customers.

The most conscientious and conscientious guide to accommodations and eating places on this continent is the AA's. Yet only about 15 per cent of the thousands of such places get the club's okay.

Most of these deserve it. A few don't because of some human failing on the part of the investigator who checks it or because of the place started out downhill for one reason or another after the inspection was published. (Many listings are dropped from the next edition.)

Moreover, the club requires payment of fee for display of its rating, which is almost necessary if the operator is to get full benefit from his approval. Thus there may be some excellent spots not listed because they do not choose, or cannot yet afford, to pay the fee.

SOME SNUB LISTINGS

Not a few outstanding places deliberately snub listings in favor of their customers, and may plaster sometimes have to wait months for an AA investigator to call.

So even the best guide in the country is likely to be incomplete or wrong some of the time. What, then, can the poor traveller expect from less complete, less attractive, or downright phony guides, and the groups that put them out?

Some excellent motels belong to quality organizations which have the sleep membership fees. Not only are room rates at these places excessively high as a rule, but there aren't enough of them belonging to allow the traveller any real choice.

A few guides are published by men who have a reputation — sometimes well-styled — in the travel field. For a reasonable fee and not always with much concern over what kind of rooms or meals are offered, they'll list a place and give it a shingle. But without the fee, nothing — which once again removes from competition many equal or better places the traveller might otherwise find for himself.

Some quite legitimate guides are compiled by local representatives of a publisher or reports from chambers of commerce. At the very least, these recommendations will reflect individual and regional tastes which may not always agree with the visitor's.

Then there are the mutual protective groups of some regional organizations, the "let's-pat-and-recommend-each-other-for-membership" associations, their only standard usually is a contribution to defray the cost of their official shingling guide (for free distribution in their own area) and membership which, it is hoped, will promote business for the entire group. Among these brand-new guides may be worth your dollar, but it's significant that few have ever been widely recognized recommendations.

What to do? Well, why not be your own guide? It's the easiest thing in the world to examine the room you're expected to pay for or look inside a restaurant to see if it's clean and busy enough to be successful.

Then you, too, can be an expert.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU'RE REALLY GOING TO PIECES AS I SEE IT

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm dating a boy 32, and I'm 23. He's divorced and has a daughter seven years old.

He comes to see me real often and he tells me he loves me. I try to get him to stay away and I try to forget him, but I can't seem to do either one, because I love him very much and don't want to lose him.

My parents don't know that this fellow has been married before and if I told them they'd make me quit seeing him. I know it is not wise to keep it a secret, but I have to at the present time.

If you could help me, please do. I'd do anything you say.

— Joey Ann

Dear Joey Ann:

You really mean that! That you will do anything I say?

Then tell this "boy" of 28 that you realize now that a divorced man with a daughter is not an appropriate candidate for romance with teenage girl, and from now on he can keep his love life in his own age group where they belong.

I'm sure you didn't find this fellow among the boys with whom you usually associate. And if you'll pause to think, you should also realize that a young man of 28 is not a "boy", as you call him, which may help you acquire the proper prospective on this thing.

I don't deny that occasionally there may be a successful marriage between a young man of such an age and a girl in her late teens but it's very much frowned and, as a rule, the young man in any such case has not been already married and divorced. A fellow who has this experience behind him doesn't usually look for a second wife among teenagers. If he does, he's by then being as immature as both his age and his experience should have made him.

You're associating with the wrong sort of people, and I can't see anything but trouble ahead for you if you keep on doing it.

Now are you going to keep your promise and do what I say?

DON'T BE IN A HURRY FOR KISSES

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

About eight months ago, a boy I've known all my life and I suddenly decided to go steady. I'm 15 and he's nearly 17.

He's told me he likes me more than any other girl he's ever gone with, but if this is true, I think it is funny he hasn't ever kissed me.

Why don't he kiss me?

—Cynthia

Dear Cynthia:

Do you have to be kissed to believe that this boy is really fond of you? If you've known him all your life, you ought to have very good idea by now whether he's sincere or not, and I'll tell you that I'm sure his Number One girl if he didn't mean it.

Don't be in such a hurry for kisses. Just be content with things as they are. If a boy like that does eventually get around to kisses, you can be sure he'll really mean them.

Isn't that worth waiting for?

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

SHARE BEAUTY ROUTINES WITH YOUR DAUGHTER

According to leading psychologists, a good habit will be of little or no benefit to a child if it is properly formed in the first four years of existence. So mothers, don't wait until your daughter is through the "awkward age" before you bother to instill in her the rudiments of good grooming. The basis of loveliness, of course, is always cleanliness — cleanliness of skin, hair and clothes. Today let's concentrate on skin and hair.

Youngsters love nothing better than imitating grown-ups in an honest-to-goodness "grown-up" activity. You've noticed the rapt expression on your face when Daddy lets him a bit of his shaving lather. His sister will be just as delighted if you invite her to partake of your sudsy facials.

A beautiful smooth-flat water and your favorite soap worked into a dense lather are the ingredients for your twin beauty facials — and how the pint-sized "Glamour Girl" will love to dabble in the suds! Show her how to pick up two handfuls and massage it into her face, starting at the chin and stroking firmly outward over the cheekbones.

While mother is "ironing" away the tension lines on her forehead and using a "butterfly" pat around the fine laugh creases in the delicate tissue around the outer corner of the eyes, her small imitator will be doing a less technical but just as cleansing a job on her own visage.

Both "beauty specialists" can let the soapsuds set on their faces a few minutes while they turn their attention to the neck, massaging suds into the skin from the base of the neck to the chin line in free sweeping strokes. If the small fry solemnly pats away at the lather, it should be done in a way like Mummy — what harm is done? Unconsciously she will remember the fact that a firm chin and a high bold head are something to be admired and desired. She is far less likely to be susceptible to the usual teen-age posture problems as a result.

The suds facial is climaxed by dipping a clean towel in hot water and pressing it to the face. After the last vestiges of lather have been gently wiped away, turn on the cold water and scoop handfuls of it under the glowing skin to close the pores and make the blood tingle.

Plan double hair-sessions, too. For example, when a home permanent is needed, make it a joint undertaking. Pick an easy-do permanent . . . one with a self-setting rolling wave lotion. Smooth the creamy white lotion on the hair, wind it up on curlers and go about your chores. Ditto for daughter. When the lotion dries, you'll both be curly-haired beauties. Just an occasional set will keep the style in shape. Shampoo locks together weekly, and share your nightly brushings. You can have a lot of fun chatting as you faithfully go through those 100 strokes.

The last who learns her beauty routines in this fashion will not forget them as long as she lives.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

GLORIOUS PLANS FOR DIAMOND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are to celebrate our grandparents' Diamond Wedding Anniversary in October. We are planning a dinner in their honor in a private suite of a large hotel here, where many such occasions take place. Our grandparents are music-lovers, and so we are planning to engage a small orchestra to play before, during, and after dinner. We have three questions on which we would like your advice, please.

1. Speaking of the music, one of my brothers has suggested that after the dinner by singing a favorite song of our grandparents, and at the end of the dinner sing another of their favorites. Do you think this would be proper? If you should we ask our grandparents for their suggestions for these songs, or should we keep this idea a surprise for them?

2. Because of our grandparents' age, we thought it might be a plan to have the dinner given at, say, 5 p.m. on Sunday rather than in the evening, when they might get too fatigued by this festivity. Would you approve of this? If so, please tell us how soon before the dinner we should arrive at the hotel.

3. Is it proper to have place cards for this occasion? Also my sister thinks you would advise our having an Anniversary Cake. What would you? — S.G.

1. Glorious plans for this glorious occasion, and a perfect idea to have your grandparents' favorite songs played and sung at some time during the festivity. Very often, such an occasion, the orchestra will play "Here Comes the Bride!" as the "bride and groom," after they have received all the guests, go toward their places at the head table. And very often "Auld Lang Syne" is sung at the end of the dinner. You might consult with your grandparents about their choice of songs . . . and you might choose some of their known favorites to be a gala surprise.

2. Your thought about day and hour is, I'm sure, a very practical one. Wise and considerate for the guests of honor, doubtless also most convenient for all others concerned. Your grandparents, guest of honor, and the members of the family who are arranging details of this dinner should arrive at least a half hour before the hour set for the dinner. Once one, I should say the oldest son, should lovingly and unceremoniously escort your grandparents to the hotel.) There should be ample time allowed to get wraps off, see to last-minute arrangements, and decide where the guests of honor will stand (or sit, if this is thought wiser) to receive the guests. All these are usually "early birds" arriving at such an important occasion, and this time-leeway allows for greeting them.

3. Please do have place cards . . . they are appropriate, will be most convenient for this important occasion, and you can choose handsome and festive ones which guests may take with them as "memories." And yes, please do have the so-important Anniversary Cake . . . to be placed in front of the bride and groom (they sit side by side at the dinner, the "bride" at the right of the "groom"), or, if you prefer, as the centerpiece of their table, then later to be placed in front of them, when your grandmother ceremoniously cuts the first slice of the cake and shares it with your grandfather. While the orchestra plays (and the guests merrily sing) "The Bride Cuts the Cake!"

meant nothing to me and I am sure did her no good. I would have felt very disappointed if I had received such an answer to an enquiry of mine. I have slightly more to feed my family per week — approximately $8 each and find that with a bit of imagination and hard work and planning I get by. There are the points I would mention for you to pass along to her. Milk is the greatest help in keeping on a low budget. Rolled oats are good food value and can be used to stretch ground meat, in porridge and for cookies. Margarine is also a big help. If this person lives alone small tins of dipsoned snacks, bottle tuna or the pink salmon are wonderful. Pork liver is good and of course, eggs supply the best food value you can have and can be used in so many ways. She should never forget them. Cornstarch is excellent in puddings and cheaper than the prepared kind. In most large stores bread is sold half-price when a day old and is better for one than fresh bread anyway. Also, many bakeries both large and small sell day-old cakes at a great reduction if the budget can be stretched as far as this luxury. It is wise to become known to a small bakery near her . . . a great variety may be added at low cost . . . buy fruit each week buying what is in season . . . an apple, banana or an orange at least . . . never hesitate to buy one piece of fruit . . . more variety and less spoilage . . . canned soups make excellent lunches and 1 10-oz. can provides 2 ample servings . . . often cans with dents can be purchased at reduced rates . . . one should list meals for a week and plan to fit in odds and ends to make the meals nutrition and appetizing . . never get into the habit of hot bread and tea for supper . . . it may keep you alive but you will never feel lively . . . preparing meals is an adventure and a challenge and becomes more interesting and oils taken on new meaning . . good luck to our $4 a week friend. — F. F.

ANSWER:

You scored, J. F. Your constructive criticism was deserved. Primarily I was trying to show our $4-a-week friend what low cost food to depend on. I hope other readers will send in their pet economies, and that Mrs. C. B. sees your letter above. I hope too that she saw last Monday's column giving homemade soup and rolls. All the meat recipes I have given this week have been economical.

Thank you very much for your sound help F. F.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

BLACKBIRD CONCENTRATION

Blackbirds are so classish! Redwings seldom live as single couples; they breed in colonies in marshy spots, but on bushes or reeds, suspended over water, the nests are often placed quite close together. Once family life is over, all wander in groups, and these, too, join flocks, so that a flock becomes very large. At this period of their existence redwings feed on the kind of insects that, if left would destroy crops.

Late summer is the redwings' only time of moulting. For their first year, young ones are similar to their mothers, sparrow-like, brown with well defined stripings below. However, the young males show indications of the scarlet epaulettes which are to develop later, though for the time being these are more like mottled orange patches. In autumn the huge flocks vary their diet, feeding on weed seeds and cultivated grain.

Very soon now we might see large concentrations of various kinds of blackbirds; as grackles, starlings, rusty blackbirds, and cowbirds passing overhead, travelling in close formation. It is not extraordinary that young cowbirds brought up by foster parents, should now keep company to accompany their own relations? By this time paths lead over southern border, the flocks have gathered such strength that there may be 10,000 birds in the group. Although the height of their migration happens earlier, Canada is in September, the flight continues until the end of October.

EASIER BOUT

Blackbirds start on little side trips, and they are the most travelled and the longest flyway in the Western Hemisphere. It extends from the Mackenzie Valley, past the Great Lakes, and down the Mississippi River. It is easy to understand the reason for its popularity. The whole course is through country of friendly and genial folk. Although a generally keeping strictly to their own species, redwings are sometimes joined by other blackbirds along the same route. But no strangers fill in the ranks.

Right down to the states bordering the gulf of Mexico they fly. Redwings that spend there (more very little, but are joined by all of the Mississippi. Finally, they separate into other flocks, males and females, and remain there for the winter. Thousands may land in one marsh to rest. What a vast amount of blackbird must be concentrated in the southern states!

Elegant Costume

By ALICE ALDEN

The costume effect is a noteworthy feature of the new sartorial season, as is the monochrome effect, one color from head to toe. A suit just doesn't rate unless it comes equipped with its very own blouse as does this beauty. Adele Simpson uses ultra violet tweed for the short box jacket and slim skirt. The dead-blouse is of taffeta and has a buckled front and softly draped neckline. It matches the jacket lining and is a lighter shade of violet.

New York Yankees Find Going Tough On Road In American League

Indians Whittle One Game Off Lead as Ex-Yank Beats Champions in Tenth Frame

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What goes here? New York Yankees, who seldom let a good man get away, suddenly have lost three or four with ex-mates doing the damage while their American League lead has dipped to 5½ games.

It's all come on the champs' last 1957 trip through the west, the tour that was supposed to nail the pennant, but good.

So what happens? They lose two of three at Kansas City, with ex - Yankees Ralph Terry and Jack Urban the winning pitchers and ex-Yankees Woody Held, Bob Cerv and Billy Martin outdoing in or scoring the big runs.

Then ex-Yank Gene Woodling took a crack at them Friday night, rapping a two-run homer and two singles in his first four trips before doubling home the winner as Cleveland made off with a 5-4 decision in 10 innings.

WINS HIS 17th

In other games, Connie Johnson beat Kansas City with a three-hitter for a 3-1, 12-inning Baltimore victory and Detroit pounded Washington 13-4 with Al Kaline driving in five runs.

Yankees, who wrap up the western trip with three games at Chicago before leaving Tuesday, scored three in the ninth, starting with Gil McDougald's home run, for a 5-4 win over Tex Narleski. But Mike Garcia came on and killed the rally by striking out Mickey Mantle, who was 0-for-4 and skidded to .373.

WALK GIVES IT

Pierce, the majors' top winner struck out seven and walked two while keeping Ted Williams hitless in his trips and taking the major league lead in complete games with his 19th. Williams, who like Mantle has been shut out three times in the last four games, sank to the bat bottle with .362.

Sox, who trailed by 5½ a week ago, too, locked it up against Frank Sullivan in a seven-run rapfest second on a walk, error and singles by Larry Doby and Sherm Lollar that made it 3-0.

Johnson beat the A's for the fifth time without defeat, fanning up ten hits and a run in the first on a double by Gus Zernial, who had two safeties, Bob Hazle homered off Alex Kellner in the first, but the Braves couldn't win it until Willie Miranda singled off Wally Burnette, who came on in the third.

Kaline and Charlie Maxwell hit three-run homers for Tigers, who hit their season high on runs. Clint Courtney's two homers rounded off the Nat runs off Dick Mazz, now 9-9. Pete Ramos lost it.

OUT WITH SORE SHOULDER

BROOKLYN (AP) — Milwaukee Braves' Friday night announced that right-hander Bob Buhl, who has won 15 for the National League leaders, will not be able to throw for at least seven days, perhaps 10.

Buhl, who has beaten every team in the league, returned to Milwaukee Thursday for treatment of an inflamed shoulder.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We had the game won and I threw it away."

Rookie relief pitcher Don Mc-Mahon's terse explanation of Milwaukee's 3-2 defeat by Brooklyn Friday night just about told the story.

Summoned from the bullpen to protect a 2-1 lead for Gene Conley in the ninth inning, the young Brooklynite heaved Junior Gilliam's high two - out chopper wildly past first base and Charley Neal raced home with the tying run. A minute later Gino Cimoli singled to centre scoring Carl Furillo with the winning run.

So, instead of 75½ games, the Braves still own a 6½ game lead over St. Louis.

PHILS RALLY

Philadelphia rallied for a 3-2 decision over the Cards with ex-Indian Rip Repulski driving in all the Phillie runs. Cards now cling to an edge over Cincy and Brooklyn.

Cincinnati finally shelved the longest losing streak in the league this season—10—beating Pittsburgh 6-0 on Joe Nuxhall's four-hitter. New York Giants defeated Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 16 innings, matching the longest game in the league this year while Milwaukee's Lew Burdette set the longest stint in the majors.

The defeat may have prevented Braves from obtaining a position in the Junior Baseball League pennant race but it failed to detract from Conley's superb performance. Until he faltered in the ninth, the skyscraping right-hander had not allowed a run the season—even better than his 19 victory crown Dodgers in Milwaukee three weeks ago.

Over the first eight innings Conley allowed only four hits and no runs. He walked two and struck out five. A double by Sandy Amoros in the ninth followed by Neal's single produced Brooklyn's second run of his after 17 consecutive runless innings.

Don Drysdale won his 12th with a hitless ninth after Ed Roebuck had fanned Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock with the bases loaded in relief of Sandy Koufax.

By WILF GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Coach Frank Clair herded his Ottawa Rough Riders into Toronto for Argonauts' home opener saying he "wasn't too worried" about the outcome. He shouldn't have been.

Riders survived an early case of jitters Friday night to spoil the rejuvenated Argos' Big Four Football League home debut by winning 22-17. The victory, second in a row for the league's Cinderella kids, sent them into first place, a spot they haven't occupied for any length of time since 1951.

The defeat tumbled Argos into last place with no wins in two outings. Argos dropped their league opener 29-28 to Alouettes at Montreal Tuesday night, just a couple of hours before Riders thrilled a hometown gathering with an upset 20-7 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Tonight, Alouettes move into Hamilton for a game with Tiger-Cats. In the afternoon Toronto Beaches open the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union season at home against Sarnia Golden Bears.

FAST, LIGHT TEAM

A crowd of 21,556 thronged Varsity Stadium Friday night to be peered to forgive Argonauts for their shocking home showing in 1956. But Ottawa, light, fast and alert, started to roll in the second quarter after a scoreless opening session and before the half ended had a 17-7 advantage. At three-quarter time they increased it to 22-10 and that was the game.

The fans saw some weird football. There were five touchdowns, two of them by the red and white shirted Riders, were scored with some circuitous ways.

The Ottawa six-pointers went to three different players — Tommy Lewis, Al Pfeifer and Bobby Simpson. The touchdown passes were counted by Art Powell and Pete O'Garro.

Lewis' touchdown was as orthodox as any football fan will see. He crashed over from the one-yard line to top off an advance of 79 yards. O'Garro took his on an 11-yard end zone pass from quarter Dave Doane on a third-down gamble.

The crowd was brought to its feet by the sudden unexpected. Simpson took the ball on the opening touchdown and the odd-est of the lot, scored by Simpson on 12:31 of the third quarter.

Quarter Tom Dimitroff threw a pass to Powell, standing on the ball hit Boyd Carter, Argo defensive back, bounced off Judd's fingertips to Simpson who, for the second time in his career, made success in the American League. He was twice voted the league's most valuable player at Providence.

Logart Wins Easily

DETROIT (AP)—Cuban Isaac Logart outboxed Walter Byars for a unanimous decision Friday night in a dull 10-round welterweight match at Olympia stadium. Logart weighed 146, Byars 146½.

Logart, 24-year - old veteran, who resembles Kid Gavilan, drew blood from Byars' nose in the sixth round and the 25-year-old former marine had trouble breathing the rest of the way.

It was the third straight defeat for Byars, who has won 16 of 22 fights. Logart was a winner for the 31st time. He has lost six times and fought to five draws.

Youth, Veteran In Finals for Amateur Crown

The long-hitting 18-year-old Joanne fought her way into the final for the second year in a row with a 2 and 1 victory over Anne Richardson of Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Johnstone, 34, clobbered University of Oregon coed Celie Jo Kahler 7 and 6 in the other semi-final. Miss Kahler had eliminated defending champion Marlene Stewart Streit of Toronto and Penthill, in a quarter-final match Thursday.

The finals pickes up as a rematch of last year's semi-final when Joanne beat Mrs. Johnstone 1 up. The Seattle girl lost in the final to Murlene.

45-Mile Swim Said Record

SOREL Que. (CP)—Bill Mellor, a 23-year-old chemist, clambered ashore Friday night after a 45-mile swim down the St. Lawrence River from Montreal and claim to the Canadian long distance swimming record.

Mellor, with a helping current, completed the swim in 14 hours and 30 minutes. He was tired, exhausted at the finish but walked up on shore unassisted.

Mellor, a native of Fort William, plunged into the water at 5:45 a.m.

His managers said the swim broke the old Canadian record by 13 minutes. The longest recorded swim, they said, was 33 miles by Marilyn Bell when she crossed Lake Ontario.

Johnny Bower Sold to Barons

The player involved was not disclosed. The player is Ed McGregor, who played defense and right wing for the American Hockey League team last year.

Bower, from Prince Albert, Sask., played one full year with Rangers but has had considerable success in the American League. He was twice voted the league's most valuable player at Providence.

Ken Venture Leading in $35,000 Tourney

Venture, who finished with a 71 to lead the pack of 150 pros and amateurs, was the only one to break par on the 6,355-yard Tripoli course for the first round of the 144-hole event.

Breathing down his neck with 72s after beating par and some of the worst weather of the tour were Al Balding of Toronto, Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, and Don Whitt, another Californian from Modesto.

ESCAPES BAD WEATHER

High winds, which reached gusts of 40 miles an hour, and heavy rains fell during the second round. Venturi, whose 33-33—66 was the second round of the day, was among the early players who escaped the brunt of the bad weather.

Many slipped out of immediate contention for the $6,000 first prize because of the weather. Among the latter group was Milwaukee's Lloyd Mangrum. Terra, who was the tournament leader after 18 holes with a 69 and a 138 total. He took a 75 and fell back to a four-way tie for 14th place with a 214 total.

Venturi, ex-Walker Cupper who turned pro last November, won his first tournament at St. Paul, Minn., last Sunday. He came through in others, however, and already has winnings of more than $13,000.

Four Canadian Track Records Broken at Meet

TORONTO (CP)—Four Canadian track records were broken unofficially Friday as the Canadian championships, senior and field championships opened at the National Exhibition Stadium.

The two-day meet concludes a three-day track and field session of the Canadian Olympic Training Plan.

The school is sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association.

Diane Matheson of Montreal Y.W.C.A. broke the women's and men's Canadian 220-yard dash records, and Jackie Pretlow of Canada's last Olympic team.

Other new breaking times were recorded in the juvenile girls' 440-yard relay, by Hamilton Olympic Club and by John Passmore of Richmond Hill, Ont., who set the fourth unofficial mark in the men's 440 - yard hurdles.

Officials held little hope that the records would be accepted as the CNE track does not meet international standards.

Miss Matheson, 20, ran the 220 in 24.1, bettering the mark set by Gerry Bemister of Vancouver by 1.1 seconds.

Pontiacs Top St. Catharines In Semi-Finals

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Long Branch Pontiacs rapped St. Catharines Athletics 11-5 Friday night to sweep their best-of-seven Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior A playoff semi-final round in four straight games.

Pontiacs now meet the winner of the Hamilton - Peterborough series for the Ontario championship.

Polly Henderson, playing his first game of the playoffs, led Long Branch with four goals. Steve Kapasky and Larry Ruse added hat tricks. Red McCracken, Florie Tomlishen and Bert Russell singled.

BETTING MARK

TORONTO (CP) — The $4,000,000 mark in wagering at a single meeting was passed for the first time in Ontario harness-race history at Old Woodbine Raceway here Thursday night.

A total of $4,107,836 has been wagered by 119,979 fans since the meet opened July 15. Raceway officials last week decided to extend the meeting from 36 to 39 days. Racing will now end Aug. 28.

Heffernan, Costello Sensational; Thump Miller Boys in Debut Here

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The reign of the hated Miller Brothers is over. Long live the new kings of the Belleville wrestling ring, Roy Heffernan and Al Costello.

1,700 overjoyed fans witnessed the end at Memorial Arena last night as the swashbuckling team from Australia, the fabulous Kangaroos, hammered Ed. and Big Bill to defeat in two consecutive falls, snapping the Millers' undefeated string.

Costello and Heffernan did it the hard way. They asked no quarter and gave none. It was strictly a battle to the end and Mr. Bert Maxwell, alleged referee, might just as well have been back in his house dick's chair at the Royal York. He came through with two good deeds during the entire match, disqualifying the Millers in the first fall and counting three over Ed. in the second.

The second fall was one of the most exciting seen here in many a moon. Heffernan and Costello were in no mood for play after Costello had been injured in the opener. They came out ready for action from the sound of the bell. Thump Miller used the ring rope for strangling all night suddenly found themselves the victims.

Costello wrapped the rope around Ed's neck while Heffernan fastened Bill in the ropes. One Kangaroo picked on one Miller brother and hurled his buddy off the ropes, straight through the air to the fast-approaching dive of the land with terrific force in a Miller sandwich. The popular pair quickly got to their feet with Bill nix mercy for minutes on end. Ed. finally pulled a choke out the Millers down like axe-felled timbers.

But all good things must come to an end and finally the villains trapped Heffernan in their corner. After a working over, Roy was lifted shoulder high and passed back and forth, a sure finisher in all previous cases. Suddenly Costello sneaked across the ring, chopped one Miller to the mat and gently lifted his sidekick off the other Miller's shoulders. Thinking it was his brother behind him, Ed. passed Heffernan and Costello.

That was definitely a mistake. Costello carried Roy back to the fast friendly corner. Over rushed a Miller, directly into a series of chops which left the boy on the back. Heffernan tagged, leapfrogged over the top ropes onto one Mr. Miller for a three count and the match.

The opening fall was also a dandy as the Kangaroos displayed their neat twist with the feet and a rough and ready brand of wrestling that caught the fancy of the crowd immediately.

They entered the ring in special Australian jackets and hats and carrying boomerangs, smiled ones to the customers and large one to demonstrate their judo chops.

The Millers, too, had their fun while Mr. Maxwell spent his time looking in the wrong direction. They used everything available on the heroes' eyes, but when a lit cigaret butt was being passed from one brother to another, it mentioned brother latched onto the wrong hand.

Costello was lifted high and dropped in a pulverizing splash on the ropes, rolling to the cement floor in obvious pain. Heffernan then tied in the ropes and hammered senseless, but again the Millers made one mistake.

They decided Mr. Maxwell needed a few swats on the head. They swung at Ed and Bill on that point, but Bert did. He disqualified the Millers.

The ring was immediately surrounded by fans, attempting to aid the heroes, who were both in bad shape at this point. The Miller boys finally fought their way to the dressing room and Costello was helped in by Ed Wenger and others. It was feared Costello would be unable to return, but he came back and got his know the rest.

Let's have plenty more of this team, one of the most colorful to appear in years.

Promoter Jean Tiger Tasker to slumber land with his Irish Sleeper after 19 minutes of wrestling and Ed. Tasker in the first bout. Timmy was called back to bring the sleeping Tiger around.

Joe Blanchard won over Lee Fullerton when his abdominal stretch in the second bout 'to ty Bolotnikov was third in 14:01.4 and Jean Cherbjavsky won fourth in 14:30.0.

At the end of the first day, Joe Blanchard led with 37 men's division and the Russian women led 37-25.

Two Canadians To Compete for Open Golf Title

By AL VICKERY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Canadian amateur golf championship winds up today with veteran campaigner Nick Weslock of Windsor and youthful Jerry Allan Thirlwell of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England.

Neither Weslock nor Homenuik have ever won the coveted title, won the last two years by Moe Norman of Kitchener who has since turned professional.

Both semi-final matches over the par 36-36—72 Assiniboine course were highlighted by gallant comeback attempts by the eventual losers.

Thirlwell, down nine holes at the halfway mark, added lustily to his total in afternoon round to cut Homenuik's margin to four up at the end of 36 holes before Englishman, last of the 10-man British Empire team to enter the championship, failed to win a single hole in the morning session then held Homenuik to a winning side until the 31st hole—but that one hole spelled the finish as Homenuik had clan five up and five to go, and he ended the match on the next 5 holes with a four for four.

The other matches, which much closer at the finish, featured Canadian pattern. Weslock was out in front by four holes at the ninth, 1st hole at Kildonan Park course of the next four—the other was halved in par. Weslock then won the easterner's lead to one. Weslock then dired three successive holes with a four for three to lead to four holes, clinching the match on the 34th.

Briton Crushes Russia's Best Metric Milers

LONDON (AP)—Ken Wood of Britain crushed Russia's best metric milers with a 3:43.6 record last quarter to win the 1,500 metres Friday night.

It was the start of the Russia vs British track and field meet. A crowd of 20,000 was watched.

Wood's winning time was three minutes, 43.6 seconds, a mark for the world record. Jonas Pipyne was second about 20 yards back in 3:44.4, and Boris Shchelokov, the second Russian, came home in 3:47.4. Britain Brasher of Britain limped home last in 4:01.6.

Gordon Pirie, world record holder in the 5,000 metres, nosed out Chris Chataway, another fastest miler, to give Britain the first two places in the 5,000 metres.

Pirie won in 13:58.6 and Ibbotson came second in 14:00.4. Chataway — Bolotnikov was third in 14:01.4 and Boris Cherbjavsky was fourth in 14:30.0.

At the end of the first day, Joe Blanchard led with 37 men's division and the Russian women led 37-25.

Another Winner

Swims Instructor Bill Sadlo Fourth to Swim Lake Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Swimming instructor Bill Sadlo, 27, touched a Toronto breakwater Friday night and became the fourth person to swim across Lake Ontario.

Observers said he was the freshest - looking swimmer ever to complete the 32-mile grind from the mouth of the Niagara River to Toronto. Sadlo, a high school teacher in New York City's Harlem district spent 23 hours and 10 minutes in the water.

"He swam every inch of that way," said Sadlo's coach, Pat Hosch of Toronto. "The worst stretch was the last four miles. Some of the waves were 10 feet high."

The veteran marathoner — he entered the 1927 Wrigley swim at the National Exhibition Stadium here and has entered almost every CNE marathon since — left Hamilton, N.Y., at 9:45 p.m. Thursday and reached the foot of Bathurst St. in Toronto at the foot exact spot of the CNE grounds, at 10:55 Friday night.

WATER WARM

The water temperature was 65 here for Lake Ontario.

"I didn't even shiver when I got out of the water," Sadlo said. He said he could have landed earlier but wanted to keep at the task for which would have made him an unofficial opening day swimmer.

Sadlo's progress was unreported for most of the journey. He passed Toronto. A police launch picked him out of the water. Sadlo swam to the side of the National Yacht Club. He dressed quickly, left the launch there and talked to reporters.

"I had no idea of making money," he said. "I will teach some youngster learn how to swim across Lake Ontario. Any people to get into the water, that's all I want. And I'm not going to make any money."

No, he didn't notice 'currents of Gibraltar Point which have hindered other swimmers in the last two miles of their crossing. He's a stempler. He's short, burly, 245-pounder, received no medical attendance on the swim.

"He doesn't need it," Hosch said.

WOULD SWIM AGAIN

Sadlo, who doesn't smoke or drink, said he'll swim the lake again if CNE officials stage a race.

One observer of the late stages of the swim said he hit the cement breakwater at the foot of Bathurst at if he wanted to push it over."

Sadlo commentated on Sadlo's rapid pace over the last few hundred yards of the swim, "I never finished like he did," a reporter said.

Sadlo had a rowboat and the 30-foot cruiser — accompanied the U.S. swimmer — Canadian swimmer Fred Higgins of Guelph paced for about four hours off the U.S. shore.

ROWED BOATS

Bob Burke, 19, and Jack Walshe, both of Mimico, a Toronto suburb where Sadlo trained, were motor - launch operators. Burke, rowed Hosch and Goring Bell, owner of the Niagara Falls Aquarium, was Lake fisherman, were the other two on the trip.

Their boat was Wayne Boddie, who played Junior B hockey Owen Sound last year, and Barrie Playgoer, who played for a Juvenile team in Kirkland Lake.

Dutchmen After Bill Durnan as Hockey Coach

KITCHENER (CP) — Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen hope to sign Bill Durnan, former National Hockey League goalie, as their coach for the 1957-58 hockey season.

man said Friday that a director's meeting Tuesday night approved the opening of negotiations with Durnan to succeed Bobby Bauer as coach of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A team. Gorman will meet with Durnan next week end to discuss a contract.

Durnan, 37, was one of the greatest goalies of the postwar era. He won the Vezina Trophy as top goalie with Montreal on five occasions and was selected to the NHL all-star team the same number of times.

Joey Pal May Play With Als

MONTREAL (CP)—Joey Pal, all-star Big Four flying wing-man, may go to the Montreal Alouettes, it was learned Friday night.

Pal, transferred to Toronto by his employers this year, has contacted the club officials here and is trying to arrange a three-month leave of absence from his job to play football.

Although Toronto and Hamilton clubs have been reported negotiating Pal, Gorman Kennedy, general - manager of Alouettes, has refused to confirm or deny by other clubs to suggest a concrete deal for him."

Harness Racing

TORONTO (CP)—A change of drivers worked wonders for the six-year-old pacer, Jimmy's Champ, as Old Country Boy-way's featured class A and B event Friday night.

Given the experienced hands of Dunc Campbell, the gelding held off a charge by the fast three strong Brothers' filly, Debora Breakwater and finished with in 10 starts. Richard Hal D was third.

Campbell had not driven Jimmy's Champ since July 19 when the gelding finished last. Dunc switched to Norman McIntyre of Charing Cross, had won the win for Campbell was his 200th of the season and broke a tie with Harold McKinley. It gave the wheat farmer from Chatsworth the lead in the driving race for the leading driver trophy and a cash prize of $100.

18 hours, 50 minutes. Toronto's Marilyn Bell was the lake's first conquerer in September, 1954, in 21 hours, 56 minutes, there's only 16.

John Jaramey, a Toronto steamfitter, did it July 28 last year in 21 hours, 13 minutes.

On the Tracks

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. W. Thorn Rissel's Louis d'Or sped to victory in the 45th running of the $18,025 Sanford Stakes at Saratoga Friday.

Louis d'Or, ridden by Raul Sterling, moved to the lead midway of the home stretch and pulled away by 2½ lengths in a 1:12 1-5 clocking for the six furlongs.

Also at Saratoga, Whitewood Stud's Fleeting Heels annexed the $10,000 added Lovely Night Hurdle Handicap by a neck over Eternal Son. Arpys was clocked in 2:51 for the about two miles.

TYPHOON PASSES

SEOUL (AP)—Typhoon Agnes, with much of its force spent, moved on toward Siberia today after battering the southern tip of Korea. The storm hit Korea Wednesday and left at least one dead, 2,000 homeless and damages estimated at $500,000.

Little Benny's Notebook

I was watching ma getting din ner reddy, and she took a hold of a pot handel and burnt up her go of it again, saytin Owtch, it dear, shaw, shucks.

Being the nearest she ever comes to swearing, and I said, What's a matter, ma, did you burn yourself again?

Yes I did, and the people that manufacture new pans ought to be outlawed from bizness for makin handels that get red hot, ma said, and I said, Well G, ma, that's the same handle you bernt your hand on the other day.

Do you think that's any consolation ma said, and I said, No ma'am, but why didn't you use a pot holder this time

Because I have a strusting nature and I expect big rich corporations to have some allis regard for their millions of customers instead of laying traps to injure them, ma said, and I said, But jimminies, ma, the other day was not the first time, either, and I've heard you say you were never going to touch that handle again without a pot holder. So why did you, ma? I said.

Because I can never believe other people aren't as much to be trusted as I am, but what do I get for my pains? ma said.

Meening more pains, and I said, Well maybe they expect you to use a pot holder without trusting them, I said, and ma said, Then their expectations will be realized from this moment, ha far as I'm concerned.

And she put some salve on her fingers, saying, This is the last time, the very last time.

Room two bidding went like this:

South	North
1 S	2 D
2 S	4 C
3 C	4 D
5 NT	6 S

In each room the opening bid by south was with a light hand. Room one was able to slow down his partner to a game. But room two did not know how to stop his rampaging partner from going to a slam.

In room two, the west opening lead was a heart. Dummy finessed the queen and lost to east king. Return of a club from east went to west king when south ducked. Loss of a diamond set the slam two tricks.

In room one, west picked out the worst lead for his own side. It was a small club. Dummy hopped up with the queen that held. This gave declarer the timing for taking 12 tricks.

After trumps were pulled, a diamond was given up and all losers were then shuffed on long diamonds. Thus, four spades took 12 tricks and six spades took only ten, tricks.

There must be a way some of these masters could be more accurate. A few simple rules would help.

Viewers May Be Trampled By Adult Westerns This Year

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Intoxicated by the sweet smell of success, Warner Brothers is putting three more cowpokes on the road to—ll is hoped—TV fame.

The studio started out in the TV field with hour - long dramas based on three old movies—Casablanca, Cheyenne and King's Row. Only Cheyenne proved to have the go-power, as they say in TV, to succeed. It made a star of towering Clint Walker.

Now Warner is entering three new lads in the horse opry sweepstakes. The new shows are Colt 45 with Wade Preston, Maverick with James Garner and Sugarfoot with Will Hutchins. Viewers may be trampled by adult westerns this season.

OFF-BEAT TEXAN

I visited one of the fledgling western heroes the one named Hutchins. Watching him in a courtroom scene, I observed that he was sandy - haired, slim, tall (six feet even, but boot heels raise him further) and slightly off-beat.

"What part of Texas are you from?" I asked.

"I'm sorry, but I'm from Los Angeles," he replied — and east Los Angeles at that. But he did go to college in the western part.

He studied drama at the Westwood campus, did a role on Matinee Theatre over NBC and was chastised by Warner. Now he is learning to be a cowpoke — the hard way.

"When I did the first film, I felt ridiculous on the horse," he said. "Oh, I had been on a horse before — once when I was 10 and at camp. I remembered what I'd been told, but the horse wouldn't co-operate. Since then the studio has given me lessons."

He has fired guns before, however. The army saw to that.

Will is 25 and a bachelor. He's a refreshing change from the usual young leading man of today —the intense, neurotic scenery-chewer. The guy might well start a whole new trend in acting.

Let's hope so, anyway.

ON FIRST-CLASS ONLY

MONTREAL (CP)—A railway spokesman said Wednesday night that the 10-per-cent increase in passenger fares authorized Monday by the board of transport commissioners will be applied only to first-class fares. Coach-class fares will be increased by a maximum of five per cent, he said.

AT THE PARK — Beverly Tyler and Rhodes Reason in "Fort Yuma" now in the Doris Day - Richard Widmark film which will open Monday at the Park. The film is a United Artists release. On the same program as "Fort Yuma" is "Pharaoh's Curse." Horror films always bring out the crowds for special matinees Monday at 2.00 p.m.

Two Horror Films Slated to Open Monday

A twin horror film bill is slated to open Monday at the air-conditioned Park Theatre. The two United Artists features, "Voodoo Island" and "Pharaoh's Curse" are both chillers of the first degree. Howard W. Koch and Aubrey Schenck produced both films; Richard Landau authored both screenplays and Les Baxter composed and directed the scores for both pictures.

A special matinee Monday starting at 2.00 for these two spine-chilling horror hits.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR MONDAY, AUGUST 26, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Hold all reins tightly so you won't make foolish and avoidable errors. But if you do make a slip (as we all do at times), quickly mend and go forward; don't waste time regretting.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Very auspicious aspects. You should be enthused, even inspired. Look for fresh gains, advances in whatever you must, and can, do.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—You are among those who have one of the most stimulating days in an especially friendly month. What you do with time and effort now will spell success or not. It's up to you. Be happy.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Be sensibly careful but not anxious. There are always problems. A strong will can meet and cope with them, however, and they can be made stepping-stones to success, stability. Some new benefits now.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Better move cautiously so as not to ask for difficulty. Maintain an even pace. Don't let little things annoy you, but look tolerantly upon all; you will see their many fine qualities this way.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Especially strong, helpful influences for those of you who plan, act and speak with measured dignity and selflessness; who are sufficiently flexible. Don't forget your sense of humor in irritating moments.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Take some, give a lot. But do not deplete your energies or misuse talents. Aim to increase credit, originality, cement partnerships.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—An unusual day, planetarily speaking. Difficult tasks may be handled easily while the seemingly simpler situations may require extra care.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Excellent influences for handling difficult situations; for dealing with plumbers, machinists, construction workers, etc. Be diplomatic, you can gain much now. Be sagacious in all things.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — You should be keen mentally and do a swell job now. Odd matters — those apart from the usual humdrum —especially favored. Where you can, add new twists and a touch of glamour; it will pay.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Don't delay in getting your week's schedule started. There is much that can be accomplished, and many lines of endeavor are freshly favored. Stick by your special duties; don't deviate "just for the change."

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—Good returns now for all smart action and clever management. Enter into the spirit of things; don't anticipate trouble. Have faith in your productive ability.

YOU BORN TODAY possess good mentality and mechanical ability; are generally clever and above pettiness. Being shrewd, you could hold a diplomatic post. Don't permit your better judgment to be swayed by flattery. You are ambitious, sincere and tireless worker; are proud and will maintain a dignified demeanor in spite of suffering or sorrow. Try not to worry; have your share of fun and keep your health in good condition. Let others bear their share of responsibilities; don't make their decisions. Cultivate your many fine talents. Birthdate: Antoine L. Lavoisier, noted Fr. chemist; Sir Robert Walpole, Eng. statesman.

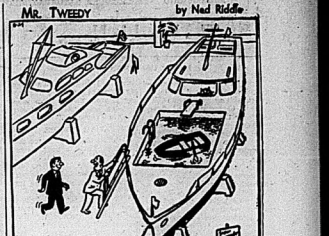
HOME-TOWNERS HOLD REUNION AWAY FROM HOME

When Prime Minister John Diefenbaker was in Hamilton, Ont., he spotted two familiar faces, OS Jan St. Amand, left, and AB Cliff Hawkes, who are taking summer training at HMCS Star. They live near Mr. Diefenbaker in Prince Albert, Sask., and they lost no time in renewing acquaintanceship when they found he was in Hamilton.

MR. TWEEDY

by Ned Riddle

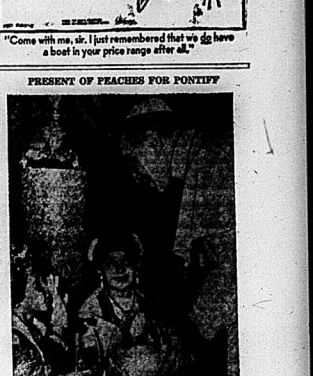


"Come with me, sir. I just remembered that we do have a boat in your price range after all."

SIMULTANEOUSLY CANADA'S BIGGEST EXHIBITIONS RUN

Largest and most colorful parade in the 47-year history of the Pacific National Exhibition passed before an estimated 300,000 spectators in Vancouver on opening day. Fifty-six floats and 40 bands took almost two hours to traverse the three-mile route. The fair runs to Labor Day, Sept. 2.

PRESENT OF PEACHES FOR PONTIFF



In celebration of the town's annual Peach Festival, two native girls present Pope Pius XII with baskets of fruit at his summer residence in Castelgandolfo, Italy. One of them is holding up five fingers to let the Pontiff know how many peaches she has for him.

RESCUED AFTER FRANTIC EFFORT

At Big River, Sask., Kindale Smith is safe and sound with his mother after being trapped for 4½ hours in a well on his uncle's farm. Rescue workers, digging too fast to "play" dug a pit alongside the well, then tunnelled horizontally to where the boy was trapped. He was fed oxygen through a pipe while the pit was being dug.

U.K. MISSILE MAY REPLACE PLANES

The "Bloodhound," Britain's new surface-to-air supersonic guided missile, may replace fighter planes as the nation's "first line of defence." Now in full production, it reputedly has a speed of over 2,000 miles per hour and is powered by a Thor-type ramjet engine. It tracks down any "enemy" air weapon by radar, thus earning the name "Bloodhound." Rockets give it its initial boost and the missile attains a speed over 1,000 miles mph a few seconds after release.

Running concurrently with the Pacific Exhibition in Vancouver is the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto which has comedian Bob Hope as a festure attraction. Hope, living up his reputation for rapid-fire gags, was overwhelmed by children on his arrival. They arranged a demonstration to thank him for addressing a fund-raising YMCA banquet. For his two-week CNE effort he expects to gross more than $100,000.

RED IN CONTROL OF SYRIAN ARMY

Appointment of Gen. Afif E. Bizri, reputed Communist, as Syrian army chief of staff, is but one of the pro-Soviet actions reported from Damascus The moves are causing serious concern in Washington and London.

PEACEFUL WATERS

The Pacific Ocean, largest ocean in the world, has an area of 63,801,700 square miles.

Well. I'll tell you, pop said. On my way to lunch I stopped to look at the window display of an expensive clothing store, and a handsome young man with a soft spoking voice came out on the sidewalk and hipnotized me and induced me to go inside with him. The next thing I knew I was surrounded by a strong force of men including the manager. Escape was impossible unless I got reinforcements, so I fought my way to a telefone booth and called your mother and begged her to come and get me out of there. And the brilliant woman rushed to my rescue and saved me from buying something I didn't want and couldn't afford, he said.

G, ma how did you do it? I said, and ma said, The way I always do it. The important thing is, your father has a nice new gray suit, I'm glad to say. Eat your vegetables, she said.

Which I did.

STRANGE SPECIES

Dingoes, varicolored wild dogs in Australia, stretch about five feet from nose to bushy tail.

SEARCH FOR BODY

KEANSBURG, N.J. (AP) — Coast guardsmen and police continued searching the waters of Raritan Bay today for the body of a third person believed to have died in the crash of a twin-engined plane here Wednesday night. The mutilated bodies of pilot Alex Hillman, 50, and a passenger, Hans Jacob, 60, were recovered shortly after the plane, a Beechcraft Bonanza, sank into the bay 300 yards off shore. Both were from Ridgewood, N.J.

INVESTMENT SOARS

WASHINGTON (CP)—The department of commerce reported Wednesday that United States private investments abroad soared to a record last year, totalling $33,000,000,000 with a Canadian figure of $7,800,500,000. The report said direct U.S. investments increased by $1,000,000,000 in Canada, $800,000,000 in Latin America and about $500,000,000 in the United Kingdom and Western Europe.

DO AS ROMANS SAY

ROME (Reuters) — Foreign tourists seen in Rome streets in improper dress — such as brief shorts, flimsy, sleeveless blouses and on the part of male, bare torsos—will be politely invited to don more modest garments, police headquarters, said Wednesday. If they refuse to accept the invitation, they may be charged with "indecent behavior in a public place."

WILL OPPOSE

WHITEHORSE, Y. T. (CP)—The Liberal party in Yukon constituency announced Thursday it will oppose a Progressive Conservative court petition to void Liberal Aubrey Simmons' election to Parliament last June. The petition, filed last month in Yukon territorial court by unsuccessful Conservative candidate Erik Nielsen, charged irregularities. It is expected to be heard sometime next month.

CATHOLIC YOUTH MEETS

ROME (AP) — Youths from many parts of the world poured into Rome by plane, train and bus today for a rally and congress of Young Christian Workers, a Roman Catholic youth organization. Thirty thousand persons from 72 countries are expected by Saturday when the rally begins officially. Highlight of the congress will be an address Sunday by Pope Pius.

IDENTIFY BODY

BRANTFORD (CP) — A body found here on the bank of the Grand River was identified Thursday as that of a youth who escaped from Burtch Industrial farm, nine miles north of here, last Sunday, Aug. 18. Authorities said the youth, Ferricio Capozi, 18, of Toronto, was drowned and foul play is not suspected. He had been serving a year on a theft charge.

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma was giving me my lunch, and the telefone rang, and it was pop for ma, and I heard her say, My G, it is a William, you should of known better. Now dont do anything silly, I'll be right down.

And she started to put her hat on to go out, and I said, G, what is the matter, ma?

Your father is in truble, I will have to take the car and hurry downtown, ma said, and I said, Gosh, what happened?

There's no time to explain, every minute counts, ma said. And she quick went, and tonight at dinner I said, Jimminies, pop, what happened to you today?

The Week's News

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Syria's volatile government moved close to, if not within, the Soviet orbit as an extreme leftist officer, 43-year-old Afif Bizry, took over the army.

Western observers seemed taken by surprise, although Syria has been known as pro - Soviet throughout the Middle East ferials.

None suggested a counter move. President Eisenhower summoned up the West's position; the Syrian situation will bear close watching but does not justify intervention at the moment.

DISARMAMENT

The West proposed a conditional two-year ban on tests. This would entail the setting up of inspection posts.

Russia had previously suggested a two- to three-year moratorium on tests without conditions. Russian delegate Valerian Zorin said the West's insistence on conditions makes it appear the West doesn't want a disarmament agreement.

Meanwhile, two new test explosions were reported, by Russia in Siberia, by the U.S. in Nevada.

WANTED RATTLER BUT GOT A BITE INSTEAD

A bite on the arm is Bobby Drake's reward for collecting snakes. The 15-year-old resident of Hamilton, Ont., seen above receiving antivenin bite serum from nurse Kay Sullivan in Hamilton hospital, was bitten by a four-foot long rattler which he wanted to keep alive for his collection. A friend, who discovered the snake in the bush on the outskirts of the city, suggested it be killed. Drake vetoed the idea saying he wanted to take it home and as he lifted a corner of the box which was thrown over the snake to trap it, the rattler buried its fangs in the boy's arm. It then fled into the bush.

UNLESS PLAN RECIPROCAL, U.S. NEWSMEN BARRED

China Charges Plan to Spy

HONG KONG (AP)—Plans to send American correspondents into Communist China appeared stalemated today by a Peiping demand for reciprocal U.S. admission of Chinese reporters. The state department promptly rejected the demand.

Radio Peiping announced the day night that the state department's decision to allow 24 U.S. reporters to work in Red China for six months "is completely unacceptable to the Chinese people."

The Chinese government "expects Chinese correspondents to be given reciprocal treatment to go to America to report," the broadcast quoted a statement from the official People's Daily said.

State Secretary Dulles' announcement in Washington Thursday permitting American correspondents to visit Communist China for the first time in eight years said the United States "will accord reciprocal visas to Chinese bearing passports issued by the Chinese communist regime."

WON'T CHANGE

State department officials said the policy Peiping broadcast this stand will not be changed and they are not interested in negotiating a deal.

Eleven of the 24 Americans were waiting here for answers to visa applications when the Peiping broadcast threw cold water on hopes of getting into Red China soon. Their passports were filed with U.S. consulate to remove the standard state department restriction against travel in China.

The broadcast did not say specifically no visas would be issued until the state department changed its stand, but that appeared to be its implication.

Informed U.S. officials said the change suggestion may have been made primarily for propaganda purposes and might be dropped later.

Lord Londonderry Apologizes For Criticism of Queen

LONDON (AP)—The Marquess of Londonderry today apologized publicly for his personal criticism of the Queen and her royal court.

The teen-age peer who joined Lord Altrincham in attacking the trappings of royalty in Britain issued a statement apologizing "for my bad manners."

He made his apology to The Press Association which distributed it.

Londonderry said criticism of the monarchy must always be on a general level "and any attempt to make the Royal Family a target for personal criticism merely degrades the attacker in every one's eyes and sets him up as an object of contempt.

"I have been guilty of the latter crime and for that I am truly contrite. I fully comprehend and appreciate the resentment of those who accuse me of cowardice in publicly attacking someone who cannot retaliate.

"For any personal attack on the Royal Family I am sincerely sorry and humbly apologize for my bad manners."

Londonderry wrote a letter two weeks ago to Peter Eckersley-Maslin, New Statesman, in which he applauded Altrincham's criticism of the monarchy as outdated.

A few days later his grandmother, the Marchioness of Londonderry, rebuked her grandson, a jazz-loving marquess, for being vulgar and childish.

Gales of 60 Miles an Hour Rip Around Isles During Weekend

LONDON (AP)—Gale winds of 60 miles an hour ripped around the British Isles during the week end, toppling trees and houses and sending small ships scurrying for shelter along the coastline.

The French liner Liberte, the world's fourth largest ship, set off for New York Sunday after having become stranded in a steel cable holding a buoy near Southampton.

Two tugs steadied the 51,839-ton giant against the force of the gale winds threatening to blow it aground late Saturday night while the ship's starboard propeller was being freed from the entangled cable.

A 64-ton Danish yacht disintegrated on the rocks just off the beach at the big seaside resort of Brighton. One man was hauled to safety by a lifeline shot from shore, but two others disappeared in the stormy sea.

The high winds and rainy gales added to the weather troubles. The big tent at a North Wales exhibition was blown down, thirteen pretty models, hired to show some valuable jewels, were thrown from Paris, paraded instead in rubber boots helping with the salvage work.

Heavy rainfall around the coast were kept busy. The crash-rescue launch answered one call-out boats. Six sea cadets were rescued after their cutter was blown away from their summer camp at Deptford.

Three officers and 31 sailors from the Dutch naval frigate Van Speijk were forced to spend another night ashore at IJs. Heller, Jersey Eleven of them had been marooned Saturday as one of their small boats capsized while carrying them for a shore visit.

Drew Starts Third Career Hour After Reaching London

LIVERPOOL (CP) — George Drew arrived in Britain today to begin his third major career at the age of 5.

Looking bronzed after a five-day sea voyage, the new Canadian high commissioner to the United Kingdom said: "I hope I may be able to contribute something to the excellent work that has already been done to maintain and stimulate trade between our countries."

Drew...said it has never been more important that Canada and Britain should work in new Canadian money. He looked on Canada House as a useful channel for such efforts.

Drew, who turned from law to politics in 1943 when he became premier of Ontario, waited so time in "getting his feet wet" as a diplomat.

Less than an hour after his boat train arrived in London, he was scheduled to make his first public appearance as the British unveiling of the powerful, Canadian-built Orenda Iroquois jet engine.

Drew was on the bridge of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain for more than an hour watching the delicate manoeuvres necessary to bring the ship into her Liverpool dock in the strong wind. He stayed until the ship was tied up.

As a result, there was a brief delay when he discovered on reaching his cabin that his passport was in a briefcase sent ashore ahead of him.

Later, in a shipboard interview, he told reporters he cannot subscribe to recent pessimistic reports published in Britain about Canada's economic outlook.

"Canada offers greater economic opportunities than ever before," he said. "I think Canada is only at the beginning of its real period of expansion."

He said Canada still offers "splendid" opportunities to British immigrants, including many skilled workers now beginning to be demobilized from Britain's armed forces. But it was important that prospective immigrants weigh their plans carefully and get as much preparatory work as possible.

Drew said he is looking forward to the day when the pound and the dollar are freely convertible. This would greatly facilitate trade.

Drew, 59, is remaining in Canada to continue his studies at McGill University.

Communist Posing Ticklish Problem for Britain in Guiana

LONDON (CP) — A self-admitted Communist is again possible British problem in the colony of British Guiana.

The progressive People's Progressive Party with Cheddi Jagan at its head has taken 26 elected in the colony.

Britain must decide what to do about the party and its leader which the British government has twice thrown out of power because of Red leanings.

The man responsible for solving the problem is Sir Patrick Renison, governor of British Guiana, who now is back in talks on the formation of a new government on the colony.

Sir Patrick has devoted half of his 46 years to overseas service in the tropical areas.

On his appointment in July, 1955 he succeeded Sir Alfred Savage as governor of British Guiana, he found himself in a country with a suspended constitution and controlled by emergency regulations.

Barely two years before his appointment British Guiana had brought into power the party of Marxist Communist to being a Marxist. The British government took steps to eliminating the newly-formed cabinet, deposing Jagan on allegations of plot to set up a Communist-dominated state.

Renison introduced a new constitution providing for election of members to the legislature combined with empowering the government to nominate as many members as it liked. This was the counter-balance a clean sweep at the polls by Jagan's extremist elements.

The "Renison constitution" was rejected by all British Guiana political parties.

He finally decided that elections should be held in British Guiana in August and the people's progressive party, with Jagan still at its head, was returned to the power it had lost two years ago.

Now the decision to form a government with Jagan as chief minister is not clear, nor the outcome of the talks with the governor.

Prime Minister Visits Toronto To See Circus

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker is scheduled to visit the Canadian National Exhibition here, primarily, he says to see the circus.

Steady, all - day rain Saturday put a dampner on events at the exhibition's annual day. Officials had hoped to break last year's record 340,000 attendance with a 305,000 but found only 272,000 passing through the turnstiles.

Ted Westfield, the Canadian ever to parade in the Miss America contest, Premier Frost is also a guest of the at the exhibition and presented six trophies to winning units of the 25 marching bands and more than 190 Canadian Legion units in the Canadian Legion Legion's Warriors' Day parade. More than 9,000 veterans from the First War to the Korea War took part.

Mr. Frost said in a luncheon speech at the new Queen Elizabeth Building that the reduction of the Canadian dollar to par with the United States dollar might be the answer to how to overcome the "very serious handicap" of the present six-per-cent premium on the Canadian over U. S. funds.

The province of capital into Canada from abroad was primarily responsible for the high premium, he said, but he believed he better to devalue the Canadian dollar than to apply restrictions to check the growth by restricting foreign investment.

Fire Chief Bill Sorrie said the fire was brought through the roof building in a few minutes, fed by grain dust.

LABOR LEADERS APPEALING FOR CLERGY SUPPORT

Ask Churches to Take Stand in Strike

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que. (CP) The Quebec Federation of Labor has called for the support of the clergy and high university officials in a long labor struggle at Murdochville, Que., and textile disputes here and in Sorel, Que.

The unusual request for priests, ministers and edifications to take a stand in the disputes was made at labor rallies here and in Sorel Sunday by Roger Provost, president of the QFL, and Roger Mathieu, the federation's secretary.

Mr. Provost said it is time for the "elite" of the province to come down from their ivory towers and help the poor and needy.

"If they want to be considered the elite of the province, they must realize they have responsibilities," he said. "I am disappointed that those who at other times preach justice and right from high pulpits prefer to remain mute now."

IN SUPPORT

The rallies were intended as demonstrations of support for the Textile Workers Union of America (CLC), which is in the fifth certification at two plants of Canadian Celanese Ltd. But the speakers quickly shifted their talks to the more violent Murdochville dispute.

All those who addressed the meetings held in Murdochville last Monday when a protest demonstration by labor officials flared into a riot — throwing a battle between strikers and non-strikers at Gaspe Copper Mines Ltd. That night a group of non-strikers smashed equipment in the offices of the striking United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and overturned several cars.

Gerard Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, scheduled to be the main speaker at the rallies, telephoned that sickness prevented him from coming.

Union officials said they had decided to hold the bringing Roger Bedard, director of the strike in Murdochville, from the strife-torn peninsula town for the rallies.

SITUATION TENSE

"With the situation as tense as it is it was feared that if he left some excuse might be found by provocateurs for not permitting him back into Murdochville," said Jean Marchand, president of the Textile Workers Union who was chairman of the meetings.

Provincial police guard gates on the only road into Murdochville, which is located in a provincial park in the Gaspe area.

Mr. Provost and Gerard Picard president of the 100,000-member Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, blamed "irresponsible government" and the provincial police for the violent Murdochville dispute, which has been marked by shots exchanged between strikers and company employees, three dynamite blasts and numerous beatings and the death of two strikers.

Mr. Provost said the principle of the free right of association is at stake in all three labor disputes. He said in the union which represented the majority of workers should be given the right to obtain certification.

"I think," he said, "we are reaching the point where workers will have to take a more active part in politics to protect our rights."

5 KILLED IN BREAK

MANILA (AP) — Police today killed five of 15 prisoners who escaped in early - morning break from an overcrowded prison at Basilan City, on Basilan Island off the southwest coast of Mindanao.

Municipal Assoc. Likely To Oppose Phone Rate Boost

Unmarried Women May Be Charged Poll Tax

BIGWIN INN, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario Municipal Association is expected to oppose the application of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada for permission to increase its rates.

A resolution from the City of Brantford opposing the raise has been placed before the association's resolution committee and will be dealt with today. The 600 members of the OMA are meeting at this Muskoka area resort this week.

Last week Mayor Nathan Phillips of Toronto voiced strong opposition of the rate boost. The Bell announced recently it had applied to the board of transport commissioners for, permission to increase its rates in Ontario and Quebec.

Among resolutions already approved by the committee is one asking Ontario to permit a municipality to charge unmarried women a poll tax. Only single men who do not maintain a residence are currently subject to the tax.

Other resolutions being considered include a proposal to allow municipalities to collect taxes before completion of assessment roll; a request for legislation permitting fire districts to be amalgamated at the discretion of the municipalities; a recommendation that all immigrants be given a complete medical examination and a request that the province pay the cost of liquor referendums.

TV Pictures Just Shrink, Then Vanish

The pictures on their screens grow smaller and smaller just as the heroine of the Lewis Carroll book did after drinking a magic liquid.

But unlike Alice, who stopped shrinking at inches, the television picture continues to shrink until they disappear altogether.

It happens each night between 8:30 p.m. and no amount of knob twisting. It will stop older sets in the area going through the stage.

The Midlands electricity board ordered an investigation. Local technicians blame it due to over - loaded power lines at certain hours.

Morrisburg Policeman Still Critical

MONTREAL (CP)—Constable Ronald Pitt, 26, of Morrisburg, Ont., remained in critical condition today from three bullet wounds inflicted Saturday by two unidentified men.

Officials of the Montreal Neurological Institute said Pitt's condition is "unchanged."

The constable was flown here Saturday by helicopter from Cornwall where he had been taken following the Morrisburg battle in which he intercepted two men believed intent on auto theft.

The men escaped. Pitt was paralyzed from the waist down. One of the bullets narrowly missed his heart and lodged in his spine, six inches from the spinal column. The other two struck his midsection.

He underwent a long operation shortly after he arrived at the institute, weak from loss of blood. He had arrived in Canada four months ago from Glasgow, where his wife and two children remained.

WIFE NOT SURPRISED

GLASGOW (CP) — Mrs. Margaret Pitt, 30-year-old wife of the wife of a rookie policeman shot down in Morrisburg, Ont., by gunmen's bullets, said today her husband always wanted to be a policeman.

"I'm not surprised he tackled the gunmen," she told a reporter in Glasgow where she has lived for her two sons. "I only hope this doesn't the end of his short police career. He was really happy in his job."

Constable Pitt, 26 - year - old Ronald Pitt, went to Canada four months ago. Saturday he was shot three times by gunmen. He was flown by helicopter to a Montreal hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Pitt said her husband spoke to her four times a week, and has already sent money which would enable her and the children, Ronald Jr., 4, and Jean, 3, to join him in Canada. In one letter, Pitt described Morrisburg as a "real tough town."

Bright Colors for Singing in Rain What Britons Want in Their Coats

LONDON (AP) — One of Britain's leading retailers of raincoats says the up-to-date man in the rain will wear gay colors in the coming season.

"Men want light colors," said F. W. Watson, whose store is on exclusive Regent Street. "They are much less concerned about practicality than they were even 12 months ago."

Exhibiting some of the new models for coming cloudbursts, raincoats in silver white, oatmeal and pale blue, with brilliant satin linings, Watson said men buy rainwear to "get some fun out of life."

Traditional favorite among the new models was a hip-length, shower-proof oyster-colored jacket with a high neck and zip and cloaked with a snappy tie belt. The jacket would be perfect for low slung sport cars.

But still popular are what is known to the staff as the "foreign intrigue" raincoat — the old fashioned trenchcoat with two brass rings in the back. The rings are for swords or billycans, a fashionable if unlikely conception. Actors are among the chief buyers of the foreign intrigue.

Fifty American House Trailers Are on Tour

A caravan of approximately 50 American cars hauling streamlined house trailers passed through the city this morning caused downtown shoppers to wonder just what traffic town was on the move.

A brief chat with one of the drivers during a stop light halt at one of the city's intersections revealed that the caravan was part of a planned tour being taken by trailer owners through northeastern United States and Canada.

The gimmick is that the purchaser of one of the house trailers is entitled to join one of the company planned tours.

This morning's caravan passed through closely grouped, some travelling individually while others went through six or seven to a group.

21st Battalion Member Honored

By "The Observer"

The spacious hall at the Army, Navy and Air Force club rooms was packed to the capacity on Saturday evening. By 8.15 there was not a vacant chair for all those who were to honor their comrade, Company Sergeant-Major Robert Logue D. C. M., M. M. who is visiting his native land after 38 years residence in farther Belgium.

Bob enlisted in Belleville in January 1915 with the 39th battalion. In May of that year the 39th. was on its way to England. After some months of severe training, he was sent on the first draft from the 39th to the 21st Battalion then in the front line in Belgium. And Bob stayed in the game right through to the victorious march into Germany, which commenced on December 1, 1918. En route back from Germany the Battalion was billeted in a small Belgian town by the name of Hamsur-Sambre where they "put in the time" for two long months. And it was in this town where he met a lovely Belgique maiden — and he married her. And on May 24, 1919 the Battalion landed back in Quebec City and was demobbed.

After almost a year, Mrs. Logue became very homs sick— and back to Belgium she could went — right through until August 1 of this year when Bob through the generosity of his 21st comrades was enabled to return to his native village of Fourbon. And Bob admits that the welcome the local unit 201 gave him will always remain in his memory.

The gathering was called to order by President Ken Edgecombe, who requested Fred Hart to introduce the guest of the evening. Fred mentioned that he was indeed proud to have served in the same Company and in the same battalion, the 21st., with Bob. He described his long service and the honors and promotions which came to him so deservedly. Visibly affected by the magnificent ovation which greeted him the latter thanked all present for their welcome and Unit 201 for the generous donation which helped to make his return home possible.

SPORE OF COMRADESHIP

He spoke of the fine comradeship which existed in the old 21st. and he was just longing for September 21 to roll along so that he could meet many of his old comrades at the 21st. Battalion's 39th. annual reunion at Oshawa. And he went on to briefly sketch some of the harrowing experiences he went through in the last World War. When the Germans invaded Belgium in 1940, Bob and his family left everything except what they could carry and tramped to Dunkirk, through, upon arrival was in flames. The army came first and no civilians could be evacuated — so back on the long tramp back to Ham-sur-Sambre. There the Logue family found their home occupied by German soldiers and Bob was arrested as a prisoner-of-war.

For the duration he was held captive in various prisons and concentration camps and had to labor in coal and salt mines. He managed to escape and was in hiding in a wood for six weeks — and the Allied bombs around pals brought him food during the darkness of the night. And then he was told that nothing less he gave himself up to the military, his wife and daughter would be sent to a German concentration camp — so rather than have that happen to them —Bob surrendered.

Soon after the war ended and Bob went to a home which was just an empty shell for the enemy had taken everything of any value whatsoever —he remained there for years of repair. And now Bob Logue has a great yearning to live the rest of his life back here, in Canada, for this homecoming has taught Bob what a great and glorious land this is. He will return to Belgium in October, but not for very long if he can convince his wife and daughter that the friends of ours life is the place to live. And during this memorable evening an old 21st comrade showed Bob the 21st Battalion Historical Calendar and they pored over the data published therein.

It was shown that 30 officers and 793 other ranks were killed in action. Decorations awarded were one D.S.O. with bar, nine Distinguished Service Orders, five Military Crosses with bar, one and 46 Military Crosses, 18 Distinguished Conduct Medals, 14 Military Medals with bar, and 215 Military Medals while 15 foreign decorations were also awarded. This is the proud record of the 21st Battalion C.E.F. in which Bob Logue served so well and for so long. And there were six officers present at the Club that wonderful Saturday night — Bill Holway, Fred Hart, Whitmore, G. A. McCaw, Bill Shepherd, Alf Wessels and Fred Hart.

IN MEMORIAM

BRICKMAN.—In ever loving memory of our dear mother, Emma Brickman, who passed away August 26th, 1956.
We little knew when we woke that day
That you would be called so far away.
To part with one we loved so dear,
Is hard to bear, but we must endure.
Why some things have to be,
God only knows and He planned
God gave us strength to fight it,
As we journey on life's way
But what it cost to bow you dear,
He only knows and He saw
You loved and always remembered by daughter, Mrs. Ethel Bonter.

MITTS. — In loving memory of our dear mother, and grandma, Mrs. Elizabeth Mitts, who passed away August 26th, 1956.
Dear mother, you are not forgotten,
Though with us, you are not near,
Still in memory you are with us,
As we journey year by year.
Ever remembered by James, Roy, Harry, Mary and children.

MITTS. — In loving memory of my dear mother, Elizabeth Mitts, who passed away August 26th, 1956.
Many days we once enjoyed,
Many days we shared,
But now those days are numbered,
The world cannot fill.
So you rest, mother dear,
And I soon to hear Grandma say
"Come home, child, I'll rest.
Ever remembered by granddaughter Elizabeth Ann Kennedy.

McFARLAND. — In loving memory of Mrs. John McFarland, who passed away August 26th, 1956.
Sweet memories of a wonderful mother, woman and friend.
One who was better, God never made.
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true,
One in a million, that Mother, was you.
Just in your judgment, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by many, loved by all whom you knew,
Our wonderful mother, that, Mother, was you.
—Sadly missed by son Stanley, daughter-in-law Ethel and grandchildren.

Veterans Honor War Dead at Two Cemeteries

Approximately 75 veterans of two world wars, members of Army, Navy, and Airforce veterans of Canada, and the Canadian Legion, turned out Sunday for the annual Decoration Day services at Belleville cemetery where wreaths were laid honoring war dead.

The address at the Cemetery was by Canon A. S. McConnell, M.B.E., rector at St. Thomas Anglican Church, while the dedication was by President K. Edgecombe of the A. N. and A. F. and President W. Heasman of the Canadian Legion.

Berated veterans attending the service formed up at the Armouries and marched along Bridge street to the foot of Bridge street hill where they entered buses for the balance of the trip to the cemetery.

Opening prayer was by George Kilarky, followed by the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers" and Canon McConnell's address. The assembly then sang "O God Our Help in Ages Past", followed by Bugler Sandiford playing Last Post and Reveille was by trumpeter D. A. Carmichael.

The Salvation Army Band headed the parade to the cemetery and provided music for the service.

Michigan State Girls Turn up Safe From Bush

Two young Michigan State girls, 17-year-old Beverley Ellis and her 19-year-old sister Norma, threw a scare into Corydova district residents late Sunday afternoon when it was feared they were drowned in Deer River.

Books, lunch and other personal articles owned by the girls were found at the edge of the river but there was no sign of the girls.

Police were notified but just as a search party was being formed the girls turned up safe.

It seems that while on a picnic the two sisters had attempted to walk through the woods to Moduville Lake and had lost their way. They turned up at the home of Mr. Percy Ball, who drove the two girls home.

Valiant Made Record Flight Across Atlantic

OTTAWA (CP)—A Valiant jet bomber has made the Ottawa-to-London transatlantic flight 38 minutes faster than the record time established in 1953 by a twin-engine Royal Air Force Canberra jet bomber.

The RAF said in London its four-engine Valiant, which left Ottawa's Uplands airport Saturday night, could not claim a speed record because there were no observers on the flight.

The plane, built to carry atomic bombs in long-range attacks, covered the 3,300 miles in six hours and four minutes—an average speed of 544 miles an hour.

The Canberra's record flight was made June 28, 1955 in six hours, 42 minutes and 15 seconds —an average speed of 496.8 miles an hour.

Of the Valiant's flight, an air ministry spokesman said in London:

"It was not intended that this flight should be an attempt on the record. It was a routine flight from Ottawa with Sqdn. Ldr. Richard Collins in command."

Born on a farm in Hastings County, Mr. Richardson served in Bay Bulls, Newfoundland with Churches of Canada in Port Dover, Peterborough, London, Moosejaw, Edmonton and Petrolia.

He retired in 1929 after seven years as minister of the First United Church in Port Credit.

He is survived by his wife and two sons.

Detroit Papers All Publish

DETROIT (AP)—All three major daily Detroit newspapers were on the street Sunday for the first time since 1955 when a dispute interrupted publication eight days ago.

Sunday editions were thinner than usual. Newsboys made their rounds a little later. But newspapers were on doorsteps and the man of the house caught up on reading.

The afternoon News and Times both published Saturday editions. The morning Free Press joined them in publishing Sunday papers.

The dispute between mailers and publishers ended Saturday following intervention by James R. Hoffa, a teamsters union vice-president.

Hoffa, who arrived from Washington after testifying before the Senate rackets committee, was credited with playing a major role in ending the dispute.

Three Training Command Records Broken in Meet

TRENTON (Special) —Three new Training Command records were established in a two man triathon here Saturday in a command track and field meet with 250 airmen and airwomen from 10 air stations in competition.

F/O Ron Day of Saskatoon with 14 Training Group at Winnipeg set a new mark for the hop, step and jump event while AW 1 Helen Jackson broke standing records in the 100 yard dash event and the broad jump.

Day covered 44 feet three inches to exceed the 42 feet 10 inch mark he established in the 1956 meet. Airwoman Johnson from Alert Bay, British Columbia, now on course at 1 Radio Station Clinton, dashed the 100 yards in 13 seconds for a new record and in the broad jump at eight and three quarter inches in the best effort of the day for second record breaking performance.

A product of Halifax who lives in Belleville was the only member of the Trenton team to take two firsts in the meet. A distance runner who has been competing in Service circles since he was sixteen he romped home leading the field in the three mile event with a time of 15 minutes and 41 seconds. In the gruelling mile race he covered the distance in 4 minutes and 33 seconds. In his earlier trips he captured the Canadian championships in the half mile run and the six mile cross country field annually at—Hamilton. Married, he resides with his family at 255 Charles Street in Belleville. At Station Trenton he is a member of the station recreation staff.

The other Station Trenton athlete to win highest laurels for his team is LAC Ernie Harris, also with the Station recreation section. He took the high jump award by soaring over the bar at 5 feet eight inches.

Athletes from Camp Borden gathered up four firsts while Centralia, Clinton, Winnipeg and Trenton teams each took two firsts in the top honours. The Station Aylmer team took two firsts back with them.

Individual trophies were presented to the winners by Group Captain R. R. Cox, RCAF, AFC, CD, Commanding Officer RCAF Station Trenton, and Group Captain E. Clarke, Staff officer Personnel Administration, Training Command, Trenton.

New Laos Chief Will Negotiate With Red Group

HONG KONG (AP)—The West has suffered a serious setback in the tiny but strategic Kingdom of Laos.

After 2½ months of crisis, the National Assembly has installed Prince Souvanna Phouma as premier, at the head of a coalition of the two political factions—the Independents and Neutralists—it represents.

The country thus has come full circle since Souvanna Phouma resigned as premier May 24 after a vote hostile to his policy of negotiation with the president, Communist-inspired Pathet Lao.

It was an open secret in Vientiane the day Souvanna Phouma fell that the United States, France, Britain and neighboring South Viet Nam looked forward with satisfaction to the prospect of a new government that refuse to accept the Pathet Lao into a coalition.

But two Western-minded former premiers, Katay Don Sasorith and Phoui Sananikone, failed to win assembly approval.

Katay resigned as a member of Souvanna Phouma's new cabinet. One of Phoui's men was appointed minister of defence to ensure that the Pathet Lao, which controls two northern provinces, will participate in a coalition government to be formed within two months.

General elections in which the Pathet Lao will take part are scheduled for January.

Seeking Clues In Slaying Of Schoolgirl

CHICAGO (AP) — Detective squads combed a set side street neighborhood for clues today in the mutilation slaying of a 15-year-old schoolgirl, whose dismembered body was found floating in Lake Michigan's Jackson harbor.

Police said the body of Judith Mae Andersen had been chopped, mutilated and was waterlogged. Boyle said identification was definitely established Sunday night when fingerprint experts matched their report. Crime laboratory technicians said a series of 20 photos taken from the girl's personal belongings matched those of a severed hand.

Earlier, police had assumed the girl to be Judith Mae, missing from her home since Aug. 16. Their assumptions were based on a dental chart identification of the severed head. The head contained a single, small-calibre bullet hole, reported.

FIND REMAINS

The girl's father, Ralph Andersen, 45, disputed police fingerprint identifications and the report of two police surgeons and charts taken from the office of the family dentist.

"There's some doubt in my mind," said Andersen, a foreman at a rubber-shoeing company. Then he added, in a voice choked with emotion:

"But . . . I don't say fingerprints never lie."

The case marked the third sensational and apparently motiveless slaying of youngsters—homeward bound from school trips around the city. All the crimes are unsolved.

Girard Denies Jap Charges He Killed Woman

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—WILLIAM S. Girard today denied Japanese charges that he lured a woman from a scavenger to her death on a U.S. firing range.

Japanese prosecutors entered a new accusation that the army specialist from Ottawa, Ill., shot four other Japanese before an empty cartridge case fired from his grenade launcher killed Mrs. Naka Sakai on Jan. 30.

"The facts in the indictment are not correct," the 22-year-old soldier told the three judges as his trial on a manslaughter charge opened in the Japanese district court here.

In a brief statement Girard told the court Mrs. Sakai's death "was an accident as far as I'm concerned and I'm sorry it happened." The prosecution charged that he threw empty shell casings to entice the scavengers onto the firing range, then shot at them.

RENEWS CLAIM

Moving that the indictment be dismissed, the soldier's chief Japanese counsel, Izuru Hayashi, renewed the claim that Girard was carrying out his official duty and therefore, is not subject to Japanese jurisdiction.

This argument originally set off protracted legal arguments and press criticism in the United States of the army's decision to let the Japanese bring Girard to U.S. Supreme Court finally upheld the Japanese claim, ruling that a Japanese trial would not violate the soldier's constitutional rights.

In accordance with the Japanese custom of extended recesses between sessions, the trial was adjourned after today's hearing until Sept. 6. It will move then to the Sagamihara firing range, where the fatal shooting occurred.

Clue on Ragweed To Lessen Hay Fever

TORONTO — The hay fever season is now getting ready to swing with half a million residents of Ontario beginning to sneeze, sniffle and feel generally miserable. This is because the air is laden with ragweed pollen to which these unfortunate people are allergic and the condition will continue until the first frost, which can be expected toward the end of October, reports the field crops brabch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

It is too late to feel a series of inoculations which, in any event, are not always successful and the only real relief now is in escape to a safe area. Ragweed is found everywhere except in Ontario, even in the heart of the largest cities. Fortunately, however, northern Ontario provides a haven for Hay Fever sufferers and the cities, particularly, have reduce the pollen count in the house. The hay fever sufferer can help by keeping himself a reasonable rest by keeping his bedroom tightly closed all day. This will allow any pollen in the room to settle, and relief can be expected for most of the night.

Rejection Made Unanimous by Ford Company

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Company Saturday made unanimous its 1956 auto car makers' rejection of Walter Reuther's proposal that they grant prices on 1958 models in a union-management move to combat inflation.

Replying to the United Autoworkers' plan, Henry Ford II said the company's pricing policies were not a subject for collective bargaining.

The Ford Motor Company president agreed with Reuther that inflation is a serious problem but Ford said, "We will not solve many serious problems by propaganda broadsides."

Ford's refusal to go along with Reuther's plan was based on similar reasons previously offered by General Motors President Harlow Curtice and Chrysler President L. L. Colbert.

"The UAW," Reuther said, "is giving up nothing but fighting inflation because of these first reports of the 1958 models next week. We shall not abandon our crusade to protect our members and their families and all other American consumers against the danger of inflation which seriously threatens all of us."

Dutch Labor To Plug Dike

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—All able bodied persons in the island town of Hekelingen worked desperately today to plug a widening gap in a dike pounded by the stormy North Sea.

The villagers hoped to plug the hole with sandbags before tonight's high tide. Hekelingen is on the Island of Putten, where 1,800 persons were killed when dikes gave way in 1953.

Flooding was reported also in The Hague itself. Two feet of water covered some streets.

'Confidential' Agent's Friend Loses Her Job

LONDON (AP)—Patsey Morgan-Dibben, girl friend of Confidential magazine's London agent, Lewis Hastings Hamilton Reed, has been dropped as manager of a smart West End nightclub.

"In recognition of Patsey," Baron Knopka, owner of the club, told a reporter today, "but we had a long chat about the Confidential setup and decided it would be better if she left."

Meanwhile, a man who tipped off the United States scandal magazine's agents to a number of stories about Londoners was refused further admission to a club which he frequented in the past. Three operatives of the magazine's London operations, some of our famous patrons have been wary of coming around," a club spokesman said.

The Sunday newspaper The People said it had cabled the Los Angeles district attorney a statement by London model Pat Steele that she sold the magazine Whisper a false story about film director John Huston and his blonde secretary.

WHEAT EXPORTS COMPARED

Last Tuesday a story from Ottawa reported that Canada's wheat exports dropped from 309,000,000 bushels in the year ending July 31, 1956, to 260,000,000 in the year ending July 31, 1957.

Thursday there came a report from Washington that U.S. wheat exports during the twelve months ending June 30, 1957, were 547,000,000 bushels, compared with 346,000,000 bushels during the preceding twelve months.

The difference between the periods covered by these figures, a mere month, is irrelevant. It is obvious that Canadian wheat exports declined while U.S. exports climbed. No reasonable person, we suggest, would dispute the claim that the reduction in Canadian sales was largely the result of the increase in U.S. sales. Canadians would have no legitimate cause for complaint if U.S. sales had been increased by the adoption of normal methods of competition, by better salesmanship, or by pressing prices to a lower price. But, and we quote the Associated Press story from Washington, "a large part of last year's export, as in previous years, was moved under government export subsidy and foreign aid programs." The insertion of the phrase "in previous years" is an obvious attempt to imply that U.S. wheat sales during the past year followed a normal pattern. That, we think, can be disputed. There seems little reason to doubt the claims, indignantly voiced on more than one occasion in the past twelve months, that subsidies by the U.S. government played an increasingly important role in the marketing of U.S. wheat during the past year.

Sales abroad at lower than the domestic price, or at a level below the cost of production, have generally been regarded as a reprehensible trade practice and most countries protect domestic producers against such competition by imposing special "dumping" duties. Where there are trade to governments, though, as is the case with much of the trade in wheat, purchases at abnormally low prices can materially benefit, rather than harm, the national economy of the importing nation. It would be unrealistic to expect that such countries which can acquire wheat at a bargain price would refuse to do so, especially since many of these countries, if not actually facing a threat of famine, are certainly plagued with economic problems of their own.

But, while importing countries may benefit from the U.S. subsidy program, it certainly harms Canada's economy. This country has every right to protest. If certain nations need the assistance which subsidized sales of wheat provide them, there ought to be some provision for international co-operation, so that wealthier nations share in providing the subsidy and producing nations share in supplying the wheat. The difficulty with this proposal, which we think is reasonable in theory, is that the U.S., as the world's wealthiest nation, would almost certainly be called upon to provide most of the subsidy, while her share of the sales would be much smaller because she has strong rivals in grain growing. It is not surprising that the U.S. taxpayer feels that, if he is to subsidize wheat sales, this subsidy should be earmarked for the marketing of the U.S. carryover.

This means that mere protests are unlikely to provide Canada with protection from a continuance of this unfair competition. Since our grain production represents a much higher proportion of our national income than the production of the much larger gross national product of the U.S., we cannot hope to match the U.S. subsidy plans. It seems to us that it follows that, if Canada is to persuade the U.S. to modify her subsidy program, it will be necessary for her to discover levers in other fields. The only attempt to use U.S. dependence on Canada as a source of supply for a wide variety of raw materials would be dangerous in the extreme must be immediately conceded — but it would also be most damaging to our national economy to permit ourselves to be shouldered out of the world wheat market, which plays such a large role in maintaining our economic health.

CHANGED ATTITUDE

The U.S. State Department's attitude towards travel in Communist China gets stranger and stranger.

A few days ago it was reported considering charges under the Trading With the Enemy Act against a group of young Americans who set out on a tour of Red China after attending a youth festival in Moscow.

Now State Secretary John Foster Dulles has worked out a plan which will result in some 24 American news correspondents being permitted to go to China on a six-month trial basis if China accepts them.

It would be rather amusing if the trials of the young tourists commenced at about the same time as the trials of the news correspondents sailed for China. If they arrived there in time, perhaps they could do some "color" stories about the Chinese reaction to the trials. If not, U.S. newspapers wishing such coverage will have to depend on Canadians, Britons and others, who are more footloose than reporters from the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave.

ENVIRONMENT

"You've a very pretty garden," said a stranger passing by. "I am proud to have you praise it," was the owner's brief reply.

"The neighborhood is better in the time on gardens spent."

"Yes," he answered, "men and women must improve environment.

"Where no one cares to plant them, flowers you'll very seldom see,
Neglected, poor and shabby the environment will be.

But when one who lives a garden all the thistles there removes,
By the labor of the gardener the environment improves."

Corn Sneers At Etiquette

By Cornwall Shetland-Freeholder

Garden corn, or sweet corn, believes, if we are to picture a status and standing in the community. Both the staple food and delicacy fall in the stuffy manners that some made eating corn on the cob slightly vulgar. They combined to make this cereal much more refined than it was. We believe that stuffy manners never declined in a better cause. There can scarcely be any food, at least any available to ordinary folk, to better the best sweet corn with a little good butter on it.

Moreover, there is little to do with sweet corn in preparing it for the table. It is boiled furiously for a short time, then served as hot as possible. The only seasoning is a small amount of butter, "applied only to the two, or at most, three rows, eaten at the moment, according to an etiquette expert.

It is a trifle surprising to find etiquette experts tampering with the eating of sweet corn at all, for it is a question if etiquette has much place in the use and enjoyment of it. Rather freshness and tenderness are the important qualities.

Fortunately, no serious devotee of sweet corn as a food product would be interested in the removal of the kernels from the cob. You will notice that even etiquette ladies allow eating it from the hand, even though handling it that far at each end of the cob may sometimes be perilous.

By and large, though, the spikes are so well dispensed with that they are not necessary for the common man and such etiquette experts can take place in its proper enjoyment. The place for sweet corn is in a generous eating of sweet corn at its best, with a reasonable supply of butter. Whether you like it with salt or still if the corn patch, its wavering tassels promising further treats, is a matter entirely your own. The closer the cornfield, the better the corn. That is the only valid rule.

This Stunt Not Funny

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Newlyweds are legitimate targets for practical jokers a bit after they leave the church or home at the start of their honeymoon, but there are times when that kind of playfulness is carried too far. Fun is fun, but there comes a time when people go to extremes of embarrassment and physical inconvenience, it is enough to make them start off feeling distressed, and even resentful, instead of gay.

Recently a couple emerged from a church to find that their "friends" had been "having fun" during the ceremony. They had covered the car with soap and left a strong adhesive substance, then sprinkled it with "just enough flour" in confetti letters more than a foot deep on both sides of the car. The ground tried to get the stuff off with hot water, but it was found necessary to scrub the dust off the sides if he tried to do so.

Later on arriving at their destination it was found that the "friends" had locked their suitcases and taken the keys! Doubtless back home the perpetrators of these silly acts were chuckling at their cleverness and rejoicing over the embarrassment and inconvenience they had put the young people to.

Those who do that kind of thing have a queer sense of humor and should have their heads examined.

Life Is Cool In Salt Mines

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

"Not worth his salt," said Petronius 19 centuries ago, and we say it to this day in high praising compliment to the value we attribute to salt, affection in our daily lives. Havelock Ellis even told of primitive tribes which would exchange a fine daughter for the coast and give themselves up into slavery in order to get salt to eat. So it would be expected that in this country, with salt produced in nearly half the states, we would spend prodigious amounts of money for salt, and we do: $1.30 a year for the average family.

Of course American shakes about six pounds of salt a year out of his salt shaker and consumes another six pounds in foods salted before they get to him. Nutrition experts tell us all the salt consumed in the United States is used, not in the home, but in industry, which has an estimated 14,000 uses for it. Salt is used in leathering, paper making, livestock, agriculture, leather tanning, dyeing, farming, ice control on highways and railroads refrigeration, canning, preserving, butter, cheese, soap making, fish curing and textile processing. Chemical industry is the biggest single consumer in this country, using 40 per cent of the total consumed in the United States in 1956, next is

Canniffon Wins South Hastings Baseball Title

Canniffon Tilppers captured the South Hastings baseball league championship and with it the Dr. Bateman Trophy by defeating Latta 2-1 before a large crowd at Belleville Fair grounds over the weekend.

The victory climaxed a terrific comeback for the Canniffon nine, who trailed in the series three games to one at one time. They took the series four games to three.

Latta opened the scoring in Belleville with a single run in the third but Canniffon tied it in the fourth and went ahead 2-1 in the sixth. They added to the lead with a pair in the seventh and one in the eighth while Latta made a desperate bid for victory with a pair in the top of the ninth.

Gord Oliver came through with the championship victory, allowing eight hits while tossing the route for Canniffon. Hugh Petrie was his battery mate.

Stan Reid tolled all the way on the Latta mound, allowing 12 hits. O. Glass was his receiver.

Wynn Harder spearheaded the winner's attack with three hits while John "Shaker" Baker, Harvey Stoliker and Forsythe each had a pair. Petrie, Oliver and Sheffield contributed one safety each.

Wayne Gowe, Stan Reid and Parks were best for Latta with two hits each, while Frank Ray and Steward had the others.

The teams: Latta — Parks, Ray, G. Gowe, Glass, Sullivan, Steward, W. Gowe, Meeks, Reid, Empson.

Maracle Two-Hits Brockville 8-0, Point Anne Takes Int. 'A' Opener

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Pat Maracle, veteran of many OASA battles, hurled a two-hitter Saturday night as the Point Anne Cementmen blanked Brockville Fenlons 8-0 in the opening game of their Intermediate "A" series.

The second game will be played in Brockville tonight at 8.15 p.m.

The Co-pointers came up with a winning combination of pitching, hitting and fielding for this first win in their quest for another OASA crown. They scored single markers in the first and second, two in the fourth and finished strong with four in the eighth.

Pat Maracle handled the Brockville crew with ease, finding himself in trouble only once. He retired the first 13 batters he faced before allowing a single in the fifth, later allowing another one-bagger. He nipped five on strikes, including the cleanup batter three times, while walking three.

Maracle lost his control briefly in the seventh when a hit batter and two walks loaded the sacks with two out but the next batter popped to the catcher. This was the only occasion when the Fenlons threatened.

Claude Carr doubled to open the winner's first frame. He took third on Jones' sacrifice and scored on Doug Hull's ground ball to first base. John Batchelor singled and Maracle drove him in with the second run on a shot to left.

Maracle also drove his club's third marker with a base hit after Ted Batchelor's single while the fourth crossed the plate on the game's lone error.

The winners consolidated the victory in the eighth with their final four runs. A pair of walks after two were out opened the rally and after Claude Carr safely stole second and third, Doug Hull, Point Anne left fen runner, scored on a base. Brockville strandling six.

Wally White, buzz-baller, hurled for the visitors, allowing 13 hits. He walked four and did not strikeout a single batter.

Point Anne distributed their 13 hits evenly with every player except Mulholland sharing the clouts. Peter Green had a solo homer and single, Claude Carr a double and a single while John Batchelor, Ted Batchelor and Pat Maracle each contributed two safeties. Pat Gilmour, Doug Hull and Dave Jones added singletons.

Second baseman Bud Anson and shortstop Ron Ealser collected the only Brockville hits, both line drive singles.

The teams:

Brockville	— Anson, Baker, Clarke, Pearce, Easter, McDonald, Fraser, Chevrier, White, Gould.
Pt. Anne	— Carr, Jones, D. Green, Gilmour, Mulholland, J. Batchelor, T. Batchelor, Maracle.

Umpires —Bill Hamlin (Brockville) and "Shud" Ethier. Time — 1.24.

Must Combat Class Warfare Pope Declares

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope Pius, addressing the biggest international labor rally ever held in Rome, has told young Catholic workers to beware of false prophets who "sow the seeds of hate and rebellion, deluding the workers with deceptive promises."

The Pope delivered his address to 30,000 young workers from 34 countries packing St. Peter's Square Sunday.

The workers are here as the first world rally of the Young Christian Workers movement known as J.O.C. (Jeunes Catholique Ouvriere). A Canadian delegation of 175 was led by Jean Marc Lebean and Germaine Lachance of Montreal and Douglas Conklin and Trudy Sedgworth of Toronto.

ON EUROPEAN TV

A pageant staged by the young workers and the Pope's address were transmitted to millions of viewers in Europe by Eurovision, the all-Europe television network, and by radio to listeners in countries around the world.

Vatican sources had predicted that the pontiff would make a pronouncement of fundamental importance on the Catholic Church's social teachings.

But he limited himself instead to exhorting the members of the J.O.C., whose members range in age from 14 to 25, to intensify their efforts to spread the Christian ideal in the field of labor.

"People sometimes imagine quite wrongly," the pontiff told them, "that young Christians regard the world's future with suspicion: that they are saddened and discouraged when faced by scientific and technical advances which might become a hindrance and onstacle to their faith: that, in a word, they are weak and powerless in the presence of poverty, social injustice, and all those forms of oppression which exist in contemporary society, resigning themselves passively to accept a fate which overwhelms them.

"Because you are Catholics you are much stronger than others, you have the unfailing assurance of final triumph. Undoubtedly you refuse to use those means of violence, deceit and all those methods which, instead of respecting the rights of man, diminish or even suppress them."

New Softness Seen in Fall Fashion Show

TORONTO (CP)—Sigh no more ladies, whether you be slim or fat—this fall's silhouette is lending a new softness to the feminine figure.

A preview of the fall fashion picture for young and old was presented Friday at the Canadian National Exhibition in the luxurious fashion theatre of the new Queen Elizabeth Building.

Fashion experts say Canadian women will be comfortable, as well as elegant, for the first time in their life.

Fabrics are supple and extremely drapable with crepe the leading favorite—it flows beautifully over relaxed or chemise silhouette.

Wools, velvets and velours are plushy, all glowing with a deep rich pile. Tweeds were shown accentuating soft brushed nubs and including plaids in bold designs.

Vibrant reds, bright blues, royal purple, and golden amber are predicted for rich bronze, browns and sparkling topaz stand out as bright choices reflecting the richness of new fall fashions.

The show also appeared on most of the suits modelled. One was a fur fabric of avocado green featuring the Chanel influence. It was by Bilin and Blin of France. Another, a black and taupe tweed twosome suit, was called "kissing cousins." It is a fur fabric that looks and feels like the Hudson seal.

A dressier look was noted in many of the suits trimmed with white fox and silverblue mink collars.

SHAPE NEW HAIR GLAMOUR FOR YOURSELF

Like it or not, girls, your casual spree's over. Summer's end sounds the death knell for rich hairdos. It's time to spruce up . . . to strike out for school, job or homebase activities with a more planned, ladylike look. In a word, nothing is more miraculous than a crisp, new hairstyle.

We've all felt the frantic, unsatisfied young look of a soft, casual hairdo but the kind we have in mind takes a little more doing than you've been giving it. The first step is a good hair shaping. You shudder at the idea? You prefer to retain the bulk and length as it is? You refuse to have your hair touched by a scissors or razor? Well, girls, confidentially the performance is painless, and once you undergo the operation, you'll wonder how you ever managed before.

"A thick, unconfined mop of hair is neither beautiful in itself nor workable for a hairstyle," says New York's famous coiffure designer, Eddie Senz, "and the thing that shapes your hair . . . means only short hair is a notion that has no basis in fact. The length of hair requires a certain amount of shaping and tapering.

"Look about you. See that teen with the bush of hair hiding her neck; overshadowing her small face, and completely camouflaging the shape of her head? Or the girl with the pony tail that descends to her shoulder blades? Or that older woman with the short hair that is cut straight around and stands inches away from the head? They're the worst offenders. But the others with less obvious extremes are suffering from scissor-fear, too."

Continues Mr. Senz, "Just as a bush needs pruning, occasionally to bring out its full beauty, so, too, does every woman's hair. Where individual hairs are tapered to blend . . . to fall in varying lengths throughout the head, the hair is more manageable . . . the shape of the head itself is part of the beauty, and whatever the hairstyle preferred, its lines will be more interesting and rhythmical. Even if a girl insists on wearing long, flowing hair, a careful removal of the bulk need not destroy the length. A pony tail, with ends brushed to different lengths, falls more gracefully.

"The hair on the head should fit the skull like a custom made cap. If you take a piece of material and attempted to design such a cap, you wouldn't have much luck in getting it to fit perfectly if you did not cut into the material, remove parts of the bulk here and there. It is the same with hair. If curls and waves are to fall into place easily and stay put, the hair must be shaped to provide for these details. If you go in for page-boy styles, a much prettier effect will be possible if the hair is thinned and shaped to give the head form — to eliminate any unwanted fullness that would cause locks to take on when locks are turned under and the hair's straight and shapeless."

"To those of you with thin hair, Mr. Senz points out that short, feathery hairdos bulk up the hair to give it a more luxuriant look. Convinced or not, give it a try, and find out how much careful hair cutting can help you to attain and maintain more hairdo glamour.

Tomorrow this famous expert will reveal his personal secret for designing a really attractive and flattering pony-tail hairdo.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

GIVE HIM THE ABSENT TREATMENT

Twenty-three years ago, Mrs. A. D. and her husband separated. She was then 36 years old.

Sixteen years later, she became interested in a man eight years younger than herself, whom she's been hoping to marry.

Here is the story of the problems that have developed:

"When I first met this man he was a very heavy drinker and very nasty to my children. But two years ago he stopped drinking, bought a beautiful car, and has been very good to me. My daughter, who lives with me had a baby, and it seems that the car and the baby together took his mind off drinking.

"The trouble is, though, that where a few years ago he was talking of marriage, now he does not.

"I want this man to marry me, and he has enough money to pay for my divorce, but I don't want to go on with things the way they are. Just what do you think he has in mind? And what can the other woman give him that I don't ?

"He has $300 in the bank, saves $40 a month and has put things in my name, so I think he really wanted me badly he'd get my divorce for me so we could be married. Maybe he's scheming something up. What do you think? And do you think he loves me or not? I intend to leave him if he doesn't make definite plans for marriage."

If Mrs. A.D. has made up her mind that she is going to leave this man if he doesn't come through soon with marriage plans, I think, perhaps, she might be wise to do so immediately. For what she says about him is that he has been very much concerned about marrying her. Contrary, I wonder?

It may be, of course, that, being now 51 years old, he has turned into one of those contented bachelors who find they can get all the comforts of life without taking on the responsibility of matrimony. It may also be that he has become interested in somebody else, is afraid to say so, and is just letting things ride, in the hope, perhaps that Mrs. A.D. will get tired of insisting and decide to cut the cords between them that would end in his being free.

The latter possibility suggests itself because she mentions "another woman." So, while she gives no details to clarify this, it seems as though she must have reasons for suspecting he might have another interest.

It seems to me she has herself put her finger right on the crucial point of the situation when she says that she thinks it he wanted her badly he'd get her divorce for her. I don't necessarily go along with the idea of his putting up the money for the divorce — I'm not this a matter for her to work out for herself — but I heartily agree that any man who is really eager to marry a woman would make it very clear.

Frankly, Mrs. A.D., I think it would be better if you were to decide that nothing was likely to come of all this and let the man know it by going about your business in a way that doesn't include him.

If he's been accustomed to making your house a second home, to which he comes whenever he pleases and eating his meals like one of the family, make a point of being away when you know he's coming. Let him get a little curious about where you are and whom you may be with. If you happen to see him, off or no information on these points and try to keep out of his way entirely.

If you keep this up long enough, it should bring matters to a point where he will either become definite about marrying you or else it will become equally clear that he doesn't care whether you're around or not, in which case your indecision about the whole thing should be at an end.

POLITE VISITOR WRITES THANK-YOU NOTES TO FRIENDS OF HER HOSTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For the last three weekends I have visited friends, two at the sea-shore, one in the country, and I've had wonderful times! During all these visits friends of my hostess and host included me in their invitations to buffet luncheons (after swimming), cook-out dinners, cocktail parties, and so forth. Of course I thanked each of these hostesses and host most enthusiastically for their hospitality to me. Now I'm wondering if I should write each a note of appreciation. Should I? — L.M.

Yes, you should for five excellent reasons. First, you will make your own hostess and host mighty proud of the good manners of their guest. You may be sure your hosts' friends will tell them something like this, "We had such a charming thank-you letter from your delightful friend Linda Martin." Second, your thank-you note courtesy will please your hosts' friends who generously included you in their hospitality.

And third, you'll make yourself proud of yourself . . . won't you? . . . by showing you're a mannerly person, an appreciative guest, willing to take a few minutes to write notes that show you deserve those "wonderful times" your good friends so generously gave you. Nice going lady, on the Thruway-to-Courtesy!

wards: "Rub an earthenware casserole with a clove of garlic, which should then be crushed and left on the bottom of the casserole. Allowing 6 or 7 oz. of rich Canadian cheese, grate it. Add a nut of butter and pour over the whole ½ to¾ cup dry white wine per person! Place the casserole over a moderate flame and stir with wooden spoon. The cheese forms a thick mass continue to stir and it will soon be re-absorbed. As soon as mixture begins to cook stir in a liqueur glass of good kirsch (or whisky) you have dissolved a teaspoon (for 4 persons) of potato or corn flour and a little grated nutmeg. Salt and pepper to taste. A knife-point of bicarbonate of soda at the last moment will make the fondue lighter. Place the casserole on a spirit lamp which may be regulated with the flame just high enough to keep fondue cooking gently. Serve with bread cut in large pieces with plenty of crust. Spear a piece of bread with your fork, dip it into the fondue and . . . good appetite!" Is it any wonder I decided that a dry white wine and liqueur had me stumped. I didn't have them and the newspapers were down. The thought of dipping a crusty hunk of bread in that hot rich sauce sent me scurrying for a cheese recipe.

My paternal grandmother made what we call

GRANDMA'S CHEESE DISH

After not tasting it for nigh on to 40 years I thought it was high time I found out what it was the same heavenly nectar I knew as a girl. Could it compete with Swiss Fondue? It beats it hands down for cost, and I guess that is why Grandma made it so often. Six slices of white bread, 3 eggs, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon Worchestershire sauce, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard (see a note on made mustard below), dash of paprika, 1 cup grated old Cheddar cheese. Cut bread into strips. Place in greased 9x10x3-inch baking dish. Beat eggs until foamy. Add milk and seasonings. Pour over bread. Sprinkle cheese on top. Bake at 375 deg. F. in pan of hot water tap 30 minutes or until when knife is inserted it comes out clean. Serves 4. Delicious with broiled crumbed tomatoes and broccoli.

The next recipe if from Margie. She says this makes a good fairly hot mustard to serve with cold meat. I think I'll just like a little mustard mixed up on the spot does.

MARGIE'S MUSTARD SAUCE

Mix 1 cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1 egg, well beaten, salt, dissolve 1 beef bouillon cube in ½ cup hot water. Add, with 1 cup vinegar, to dry ingredients. Mix. Add 2 beaten eggs and cook in double boiler over hot water until cooked like a soft custard.

Yankees Only Four Games On Top Invading Lair Of White Sox

Chicago Wins Pair From Birds As Yanks Take It on Chin; Hazel Keeping Braves Alive

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those Chicago White Sox do as hard, who know? They might just manage to stay alive.

After sweeping a pair from Baltimore, 6-2 and 3-0, while New York lost a single game at Detroit, 7-2, Sunday, the White Sox are only four games behind Yankees in the American League chase.

In the other games, Kansas City defeated Boston 3-2 and Cleveland swept Washington 3-2 and 6-4.

YANKS SLIPPING?

They knock White Sox' chances. Yankees are only 5-5 at Detroit, and have lost four of six on the final western trip. At Chicago, the champs will pitch young Johnny Kucks, Tom Sturdivant and an ailing Bobby Shantz (if his injured finger is okay).

Against Yankees, White Sox have Jim Wilson, Billy Pierce (who has overcome ready—with Bob Keegan the No. 1 relief man.

It was Keegan who helped get the sweet sister Sixties, throwing a three-hitter in the opener as a follow-up to Thursday's no-hit job on Washington. The 35-year-old righthander, now 9-6, walked none and struck out the first 18 batters Bob Boyd's triple and an infield out in the ninth inning. Then Al Pilarcik homered in the fifth, but the Birds didn't get another hit until Billy Goodman singled in the ninth.

TWO UNEARNED RUNS

Sox, getting two first-inning runs without a hit and pocketing a pair of unearned runs in the second inning of the opener, were blanked on two hits by Bill Wight until the seventh, when Jim Sherm Lollar's two-run single and a wild pitch nailed it. Billy Pischer won his fifth, striking out six and walking one in a five-hit relief job after Jack Harshman strained his back in the second.

Al Kaline had half of Detroit's eight hits, including his 15th and 16th homers, both two-run shots. Bob Turley, now 11-9, and Frank Hoeft, who won 20 last season, gained a 6-6 record with an eight-hitter.

TED HITLESS

Yankee Mickey Mantle was 2-for-4 pushing within two points of Boston's Ted Williams, who was hitless as his bat average skidded to .378. Mantle lost a tie for the home run and RBI lead, however, when Roy Sievers cracked his 33rd homer for Washington right behind Mantle's 34 for an 89 total.

Vic Power, Hector Lopez and Woody Held homered for Kansas City against Tom Brewer, who had beaten Cy Ja 14 in a row since 1954. Tom Gorman won with a six-hitter.

Indians came from two runs back in both games, reining the opener on homers for Gene Woodling, Al Smith and Jim Hegan as Mike Garcia went the distance and struck out seven. Ray Narleski saved the nightcap for Garcia, getting the side with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Track Short, Records Made Do Not Count

TORONTO (CP)—Track conditions and organization of the interprovincial track and field meet came under fire by athletes after the two-day event ended Saturday at the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand.

Track distances were measured incorrectly, a check showed Saturday, stating that five records which were believed set.

Diane Nicholson of Montreal was thought to have set a Canadian record in the 220 yards but a check showed she ran at least four yards short.

The track itself did not measure up to international standards said Kay Ewing of the Canadian Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

NEEDS IMPROVEMENT

"For any records to be recognized here they have to put a permanent railing on the inside track and have the track surveyed again," he said.

The other "records" were set by Stan Levenson of Toronto in the 100-yard dashes, by the Hamilton Olympic Club in the Juvenile girls 440-yard relay, by John Passmore of Toronto in the men's 440-yard hurdles and by Eleanor Haslam of Saskatoon in the women's 100-yard dash.

CNE officials said at the time the marks probably wouldn't be accepted as official.

The meet marked the week-long Canadian Olympic Training Plan, sponsored by the CNE and the Canadian Legion.

Hamilton Ticats Take Als 22-6 on Rain-Soaked Field

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Montreal Alouettes quarterback Sam Etcheverry showed Saturday night he is far from his best in a wet field.

The Rifle had one of his worst games since coming to Canada five years ago as Hamilton Tiger-Cats toned down Als in the 22-6 Big Four victory before 18,000 rain-soaked fans in Hamilton's Civic Stadium.

A charging Hamilton defensive front wall kept Sam on the run all night and limited him to 19 completions in 36 attempts. It was generally small hands for a quarterback Etcheverry appeared unable to control the soggy ball.

He lost ground on four occasions attempting to pass, three up'possession on three third down gambles and during the third quarter went running for three and had two successive tosses intercepted.

OTTAWA ON TOP

The win tied Hamilton with Montreal for second place with 4-3-1 records. Ottawa Rough Riders beat Toronto Argonauts 25-17 Friday night for their first win, second and sole possession of first place. Eastern section ends Sept. 2 unless in two tries.

Ticats turned one of three pass interceptions into a touchdown and capitalized on a pair of fumbles for a more modest margin.

In the first half Cam Fraser's kick into the end zone gave Hamilton a 1-0 lead before Montreal had Hal Patterson's three-yard sweep gave the Als a margin by halftime.

Hamilton rallied in the third quarter when Ed Bevan picked up Bill McCoy's fumble of Fraser's punt on the Montreal nine and Bernie Faloney fired to Paul Dekker for the score.

FUMBLES KICKOFF

Patterson fumbled a kickoff on the ensuing possession on the Als 31 and Faloney passed to Ron Howcroft to set up a touchdown strike to Jim Hinsley from the nine.

Cookie Gilchrist intercepted a Etcheverry pass on Montreal's 19 and in three plays Cats barged over with Steve Oneschuk carrying. Oneschuk also kicked a convert and Cam Fraser two more singles.

Montreal had an edge in the statistics department. They had 15 first downs, 15-13, yards rushing 178-168, and yards passing, 164-96. Etcheverry's passing attack also was hindered by the weather and Faloney could manage only six in 20.

Al Balding Ties for Second, Gets $3,500

MILWAUKEE (AP) — For a golfer who maintains money is secondary, Ken Venturi of San Francisco is doing all right for himself.

The 26-year-old pro pocketed a $4,000 cheque Sunday for finishing the $25,000 Milwaukee Open tournament by five strokes with a 13-under-par 267 at the 6,825-yard Tripoli Golf Club.

Toronto's Al Balding and veteran Sammy Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., tied for second place with 272. They collected $3,500 apiece.

STARTED FAST

Balding, who began his final round trailing Venturi by five strokes, cut loose with a pair of birdies on the first two holes of the par 35-35—70 course, then came a couple of over-par hits and his chance of overtaking Venturi virtually disappeared.

He had rounds of 33-35 while Venturi turned in nines of 34-34. Snead put together two rounds of 35.

Venturi turned pro last November and in the nine months has won his winnings add up to around $30,000.

Not bad for a guy who says: "My main purpose is to see how much I can win tournamentwise, not moneywise. I figure if I play to win and not for money, the money will take care of itself."

MAYBE JUST ONE

"I truthfully believe that if I didn't have that attitude, I would not have won at St. Paul, Minn., last month either, too. Maybe I would have won only one of them. This is no business to be in if you have to depend on making money."

Venturi, an auto dealer when he isn't playing golf, carded rounds of 68-66-65-68 in the 72-hole event. Last week he won at St. Paul, Minn., by 3 under-par 285.

In a tie for fourth place, were Howie Johnson of Houston, Tex., Bob Rosburg of San Francisco and Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass. They had 278s or $1,866 each.

BELL INJURED

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati Redleg officials said Sunday that centerfielder Gus Bell will be out of action up to 10 days after suffering an ankle sprain in a game with Milwaukee Friday.

Bell was flown back to Cincinnati Saturday after the veteran outfielder was injured sliding into third base.

Sarnia Beats Toy With Beaches In 58-12 Win

TORONTO (CP) — An experiment of fielding an all-Canadian football team by Toronto Balmy Beaches flopped Saturday as Sarnia Golden Bears trampled the Beaches 58-12 in the opener of the 1957 Ontario Rugby Football Union season.

About 300 fans sat through a steady rain and watched the Bears open a 23-0 lead in the first quarter and then try to help the Beaches for the remaining three quarters.

The loss, however, was to be expected. Toronto coach Bill Crawford said before the game that he would be happy if Beaches won two or three games this season.

"We are in the midst of building for the future," he said. "But, in order to keep the league operating we consented to play this year. We knew the team wouldn't be able to be too much against the other three teams and their imports but we'll give it a try."

IMPORTS STAR

Sarnia used 12 American imports—the maximum allowed by the league—in the first quarter but after that there were no more Yankees playing on the same side of the field.

The Toronto team held its own with fairly well in the second quarter, when Bears outscored it 7-6 for a 20-6 halftime lead. In the third quarter Sarnia went ahead 49-6.

Halfbacks Bob Hill, Tom Hinchcliffe and Archie McAffer and Tom Dwinnell, with two, and Bob Phillips scored the Sarnia touchdowns. Hinchcliffe added a convert and Tom Fraser two more singles.

Flying wing Sam Laverty and halfback Al McKenna scored the Toronto touchdowns, both unconverted.

FUMBLES COSTLY

Sarnia scored costly to Beaches. Golden Bears took advantage of four Toronto bobbles for touchdowns and another for Dowswell's single. An intercepted pass by Hill, who ran 60 yards, was responsible for the first Sarnia touchdown.

Beaches' strongest offensive power was displayed at the start of the second quarter when they marched from their own 29-yard line for their first touchdown. Their second one was set up by a 51-yard pass from quarterback Jerry Wilson to end Ron Herceg. A Sarnia fumble gave Beaches the ball to start the drive.

The next game is to be played in Sarnia Saturday with Indian Jack Jacobs' London Lords visiting Beaches.

Lincoln Burners Beat Timbermen In Tight Game

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) Hamilton Lincoln Burners defeated Peterborough Timbermen 17-16 Saturday night in a Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association game that went into overtime.

The win staved off elimination for Hamilton in the best-of-seven semi-final which Peterborough lead 3-1. The loss for Timbermen ended a three-year home winning streak.

Three times in the game Peterborough had four goal leads, but Hamilton fought back each time to tie the score. At the end of regulation time, the score was tied 14-14.

Burners were led to the win by the two goals of Tony D Amico and a pair by Ross Powless.

High scorers for Hamilton were Powless and Bobby Main, each with four goals, Jerry Fitzgerald, three, Leo Theatro and D'Amico two goals each. Ivan Thomas and Jim McKinnon each had one.

For Peterborough Bob Curtis and Bud Archibald had four goals each, Jim Hefferman scored three, while Jim Gilbert had two. Curly Mason, Lou Nickel and Steve Morrissey each had singles.

The fifth game will be played in Hamilton tonight.

COWAN WINS TOURNEY

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Gary Cowan of Kitchener Rockway Sunday won the annual golf tournament at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club with a two-over par 142. Cowan combined a two-under-par 68 in Saturday's round with a 74 Sunday.

Ted Scrivens of Toronto scored next with 144. Ed Nerlich of Thornhill totalled 147 and Bill Edmonds of Islington and Doug McKellar of Toronto carded 148s.

Buffalo Rowing Club Winners Of CNE Regatta

TORONTO (CP)—The Westside Rowing Club of Buffalo walked off with four firsts and two seconds in the eight events on the Canadian National Exhibition rowing championships Saturday.

The Buffalo crew found the toughest competition in the Big Canadian Rowing Club which finished second in the unofficial team standings, with two firsts and three seconds.

Unofficial standings gave the Leander Boat Club of Hamilton third place, Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto fourth, Don Rowing Club, Toronto fifth, Brockville Rowing Club sixth and the London Ont., Rowing Club last.

CLOSE FINISH

St. Catharines and Buffalo were in a photo finish in the 125-lb. eights, won by a length by St. Catharines.

Ralph Roche of Hamilton put on a fast sprint at the finish to win the Junior 165-lb. singles over Jay Stocks of the Don club. Third was Stan Murdza of St. Catharines and fourth Jim Joy of Toronto.

The featured heavyweight eights were won by Buffalo with three-quarters of a length over St. Catharines.

Buffalo again nosed out St. Catharines in the 125-lb. fours, the lightweight fours with Cox swain, while the last race, the heavyweight fours, a close finish between Buffalo's winning first and Leander's second-place second crew. Brockville was third and St. Catharines fourth.

The featured heavyweight eights were won by Buffalo with three-quarters of a length over St. Catharines.

Yvon Durelle To Meet German In Detroit

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Chris Sidman, manager of Canadian and British Empire light heavyweight champion Yvon Durelle, said Sunday he expects to have Durelle sign today for a fight with Willie Besmanoff of Germany in Detroit Sept. 25.

Sidman said Detroit fight promoter Nick Londes arrived here Sunday to discuss terms of the bout.

Londes said in Detroit Saturday that he planned the Besmanoff bout and also wanted to give the Bale Ste. Anne, N.B., boxer a shot at the light heavyweight title regardless of who wins the forthcoming fight between champion Archie Moore and Tony Anthony.

Durelle fought Anthony to a draw when they met in Detroit in June. He goes against Eddie Demaras of Springfield, Mass., in a 10-rounder in Moncton Thursday.

Harness Racing

TORONTO (CP) — An all-day rain that continued to fall through eight races Saturday sending dust to deter harness-race fans at Old Woodbine when Clark Herber turned a splashing finish into victory in the featured seventh race, a class B pace.

The six-year-old rean, owned by Vern Evans of Brantford and driven by Jiggs McFadden, finished it eight in the mud and was shooting water like a miniature fire hydrant down the stretch to overtake Hal's Bomb, with driver Hugh McLean, and Single Chips, owned and driven by Clarence Lockhart, to win by a head.

The victory was McFadden's 48th of the meeting, and left him only one behind leader Dunc Campbell. The meeting concludes Wednesday.

In Saturday's trot feature, Speedy Cannon, a five-year-old chestnut owned and driven by Bill Madill of Shelburne, upset favored Sweet Boy slogging home to a three-length victory.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged, a 15-to-1 shot, raced to an upset victory in the $50,100 Saratoga Handicap Saturday.

After forcing the early pace, he moved to the front approaching the stretch turn and held on with determination to beat Christiana Stable's Ricci Tavi by a length. Career Boy was third, a length and a half farther back.

Reneged, earning a purse of $40,000, covered the 1¼ miles in 2:04 3-5.

SECOND HOLE-IN-ONE

BARRIE (CP)—Wilmar Rowell shot his second hole-in-one at Barrie Golf and Country Club Saturday.

The Barrie man got his ace on the 135-yard second hole. His first ace was on the 151-yard fifth hole a few years ago.

Detroit and District Fans Loyally Support Tigers

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP) — Chances are good that Detroit Tigers will have their biggest home attendance in fifteen seasons despite the fact the 1957 baseball club has never been in contention for anything better than third place in the American League.

The Tigers passed the 1,600,000-mark a week ago. With 12 more home dates on the schedule, they are almost certain to play before 1,750,000 home fans—the biggest total since the club finished second in a torrid pennant race in 1950.

Baseball people everywhere agree this is probably the finest franchise in all baseball. Still, the Tigers have been mired in the second division for six long seasons and will require a fast finish in order to avoid a seventh straight.

Certainly, then, have the Tigers drawn more than 1,000,000 fans to Briggs Stadium in 13 of the last 13 seasons!

SOLID SUPPORT

First, Detroit is a tremendous baseball centre that solidly supports big league football, hockey and basketball. Professional basketball is having a new start this season after an absence of a decade.

The Tigers draw from a population of about 2,000,000 in the metropolitan area. Fans in other Michigan centres are solidly behind the club and the new owners that took control of the tigers last October have launched a new promotional work. The club also draws many fans from Canada—just across the Detroit River—and from northern Ohio.

Detroit is primarily an industrial city and there are few attractions that conflict with big league baseball.

Brantford Wins Over Marines

TORONTO (CP) — Brantford Tiger - Cats defeated Toronto Balmy Beach Marines 20-0 Sunday in the first game of the Ontario Rugby Football Union Intermediate playoffs.

The Hamilton Tiger-Cat-sponsored Brantford club took a 14-0 lead in the first quarter and added six more points in the second quarter.

Brantford touchdowns were scored by D. Slater, T. Hryako and J. Sardo. Pat Glenney converted twice.

game, dominated by ground play, was a one-sided affair. Beaches offered only one offensive threat, a brief rally in the fourth quarter.

Nick Weslock New Amateur Golf Champion

WINNIPEG (CP)—Experience triumphed over youth in the final of the Canadian amateur golf championship as Nick Weslock of Windsor, a 40-year-old veteran of amateur tourneys, captured the title with a lopsided 9 and 8 victory over Winnipeg's youthful Ted Horsenail.

Weslock, who was born in Winnipeg, said after the match Saturday: "I've been knocking at the door and now I've finally broken it down. It's a great thrill."

Horsenail, 23, said: "Charge is right."

Weslock, who played each shot with deep concentration, was approximately four-under-par when the scheduled 36 - hole match ended on the fifth green of the St. Charles Country Club.

A gallery of about 2,000 followed the two finalists.

MATTER OF TIME

There was little doubt which way the match would finish after the morning round of 18 holes. It was just a matter of how soon. Weslock dropped putts with deadly accuracy, and hit straight woods, long irons and sharp short iron shots, to take a seven-up lead on the first 18.

Horsenail felt apart and won only two holes. He was continually in trouble in sand traps and unable to drop long putts in the afternoon round.

Weslock's only other time in the final was against Bill McCurdy of Vancouver at Saskatoon in 1950 when he lost 6 and 4. That year, he was runner-up to Chuck Stanley

Juveniles Drop Playdown Game To Peterborough

Peterborough evened the OBA Juvenile "A" playdown series at one game each then on Saturday evening by shading Gordie Bell's Belleville crew 3-1 on the strength of a couple home runs.

Belleville outhit the Peterborough club 8-4 but could not bunch the hits into a rally.

The third and deciding game will be played in Peterborough tonight under the lights.

The Petes jumped into a 1-0 lead in the fourth frame and made it 3-0 in the next frame on a solo homer by pitcher Cassidy. Belleville got one back in their half of the same frame but Peterborough added their third in the following frame on another circuit blast, this one by first baseman Tetlock.

Jackie Elliott and Gerald Hill shared the pitching duties for the locals and gave up just four hits. Elliott lasted until the sixth, fanning ten in five frames. He whiffed the first five men he faced and also got the side in the fifth. Elliott walked nary a batter, Hill struck out four and passed one.

Casey and Wade hurled for the winners, allowing eight hits. They set 13 down on strikes and walked five.

A base on balls to Dick Hurst with two out paved the way for the lone Belleville scratch. Gordie St. Jean clouted a solid base knock, sending Hurst all the way home from first base.

While the Belleville club collected eight hits, six of them went to two players, Gord St. Louis and Bill Foster, each with a pair of blows. Dick Hurst had the other safeties while the bottom five men in the lineup were held hitless.

Casey honored and dodged for Peterborough, Tetlock also honoring and Al Wade singling.

Belleville had all the chance in the world to win it but left 13 runners stranded on base and hurt their own cause also by committing five errors.

THE TEAMS—

Peterborough: McCarthy, Tetlock, Rowe, Wade, Cavanagh, Kimball, Copping, Luvsic, Casey.

Belleville: Wright, Foster, Hurst, St. Louis, Kerruish, O'Neil, Fuller, Boonhower, Elliott, Hill, Ryan.

Umpires: H. Pointer and D. Dolan.

Kenmors Drop Series Opener To Kingston

Belleville Kenmors blew a 1-0 lead in the sixth inning in Kingston on Saturday and went down to a 5-2 defeat at the hands of the Kingston Royals in the first game of their OBA midget "A" series.

The second game is slated for the Fairgrounds here this afternoon at 4.00 p.m.

The Kenmors scored a single marker in the fourth frame Saturday for a 1-0 lead but in the bottom of the sixth the club fell apart, committing four errors. The Royals picked up two hits and took the lead 1-1.

Belleville cut the margin by one in the top of the eighth but another miscue a walk, single and home run gave Kingston four more tallies in the bottom of the same frame.

Glen Dalnard started for the Kenmors and tossed two-hit ball over the first five frames. He fanned four and walked one before being lifted for Don Masters in the seventh. Masters walked two, whiffed none. They gave up seven hits between them.

Buddy Aylesworth and Joe Kotowych shared pitching duty for Kingston, allowing six hits over the full nine.

Larry Soden had two of the Belleville safeties while Gary Gorys tripled and Don Masters doubled. Rickey Lock and Glen Clarke each had one single.

The game was much closer than the final score indicated. Both clubs had a bad day afield with the losers bobbling six times and the winners four times.

TRYOUT FOR TROUT

CHICAGO (AP) — Baltimore Orioles announced Sunday that Paul (Dixy) Trout, 42-year-old former ace pitcher of Detroit Tigers, will be given a tryout with Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League.

"If he can all right out there" said manager Paul Richards, "we'll keep him as soon, because it looks like he might be able to help us in short relief appearances."

Trout has been out of the majors since 1953 when he had 9 wins and 11 losses.

AT THE BELLE — Fred Astaire and Cyd Charisse team for love, laughter and dancing in a scene from "Silk Stockings," new musical romance in color and CinemaScope. Janis Paige and Peter Lorre are also featured.

Deacon's Split With Petes But Drop Series 2-1

Belleville Deacon Quakers were eliminated from the OBA peewee playdowns on Saturday when they dropped the second half of a twin-bill to Peterborough 9-2 after winning the first game 5-4.

The 5-4 victory evened their series at one game each, forcing the third game of the set.

Ted Spafford pitched the victory game despite the fact they managed just one single during the seven-inning affair. They scored four runs in the third and added a singleton in the fourth as Peterborough struck back one in the fifth and a trio in the sixth but fell one run short of tying the game.

Ted Spafford hurled for Deacons, allowing three hits and fanning 10 batters. He issued no walks.

Flaher hurled for the losers, fanning nine and passing three.

Peterborough 001 012 1—5 7 1
Belleville 004 100 x—5 1 4

Peterborough took a commanding 5-0 lead the first two frames before the Belleville hurlers could settle down and were never pressed while winning the deciding tilt.

Deacon's scored their two markers in the fourth but were only able to collect two hits off Peterborough pitcher Jack Stabbler. He fanned ten and passed one.

Bob Jeffrey, Fred Spafford and Brian McBride all saw action on the loser's bill, allowing five hits between them. They fanned 12 and walked seven.

Peter Whitney doubled, and Brian McBride singled to account for the Belleville hits. Stabbler's trinle was the big blow for the Petes.

On the Tracks

FORT ERIE (CP) — Nearctic, reputed to be the fastest colt ever foaled in Canada, proved that he can carry his speed over a distance when he won the $7,500 International Stakes handicap at Fort Erie Saturday. He spralled the track record of 1:42 3-5 for a mile and one sixteenth over the grass course.

It was his first victory at a distance of more than 6½ furlongs. The brilliant three - year - old, owned by E.P. Taylor and ridden by Aveline Gomez, coasted in a six-length win. Stinson's Boy ran evenly to be second while Our Sirdar was third.

Gomez had another brilliant afternoon on riding a pair of speed up four wins. He won the first race with Daring Spirit, the fourth on Beau Bunty, the sixth on Foxy Phil and the feature on Nearctic. Gomez has won 20 winners in 27 days of riding at the Fort Erie summer meeting.

The meeting closes next Saturday afternoon with the running of the $10,000 Niagara Stakes. The horses will move immediately to Toronto where the fall autumn meeting at Old Woodbine will open on Labor Day.

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Hartack, the leading U.S. jockey, spurred Jewel's Reward to 13-to-1 shot, a blazing finish which overhauled the odds-on favorite Alsab's Heiress for a 1¼-length triumph in the $144,550 Washington Park Futurity Saturday.

It was the 22nd stakes victory of the year for Hartack, who is shooting at Eddie Arcaro's record of 40 in a year.

Alsab's Heiress, favorite, ridden by Arcaro, moved in front at the eighth pole in the six furlong dash for two-year-olds and seemingly was headed for his seventh win in as many starts.

But Hartack got Jewel's Reward right down to the wire in the stretch and the Maine Chance Farm colt went winging past Alhambra. Third was Strong Rider.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)— This should be a pleasant and fruitful day. Mental work, industry, trades, manufacturing, building, railroading, mechanics highly favored.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)— This could well be a prize-winning day, with so many favored interests and activities sponsored. Use your special qualities to better and improve present holdings; also add to your assets.

August 24 to September 23— (Virgo) — Stimulating and helpful trends throughout the day should help you in difficult matters. Study, research, mechanical trades, businesses servicing the public, places of recreation all under fine aspects.

September 24 to October 23— (Libra) — A time for uncommon achievement in your specific work, enterprise or assignment. You could try some new venture to add to income, knowledge, finances, sound investments slated for gain.

October 24 to November 23— (Scorpio) — Merits, benefits, new advantages can result from good effort and faithfulness to duty. It will not be necessary to overload yourself with work, but do keep sensibly busy.

November 24 to December 21— (Sagittarius) — You should find no scarcity of opportunities to advance and benefit on this generous day. Vision activities are favored, too. Good influences generally.

December 22 to January 20— (Capricorn) — Don't depletе energy or strength by burdening yourself with more work than you can reasonably handle or making more promises than you can fulfill. A grand day for new interests; also for familiar matters.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Necessary expansion favored if it does not require too lavish an outlay of money. A good time to add to your assets, further your interests. Sound investments, wise saving advised.

February 20 to March 20— (Pisces) — You may not accomplish all that you wish, but the day will reward generously if you do your best in what you must, or should, do. Fresh opportunities abound. Don't be indecisive; have faith in you.

You born today are endowed with enthusiasm, warmheartedness, intuition and fine analytical ability. Your sincerity and honor are noteworthy. Innately you like to get to the core of things, and will not betray a confidence. You could succeed at either a profession or a trade. All this, of course, if you are living true to your finer nature. Curb anxiety and a tendency to be too exacting.

Birthdate: Theodore Dreiser, noted novelist; Charles Dawes, Amer. statesman.

Study Hoffa Testimony for Perjury Signs

NOVEL SHIP IN USE

LONDON (Reuters)— A new Soviet "flying ship" powered by under-water wings which lift it above the surface of the water has reached a maximum speed of 48 miles an hour on a journey from Gorki to Moscow, Moscow radio reports. The ship completed the 566-mile journey to Moscow in 14 hours with 70 passengers on board.

ARREST BAND LEADER

CONCORD (Reuters) — A band leader Cab Calloway and a member of his orchestra were arrested Friday for speeding on the Garden State Parkway in separate cars. Police said each was travelling at 70 miles an hour. The parkway has a 60-mile limit.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. justice department officials will be asked to testify, for possible perjury prosecution, teamster leader James R. Hoffa's testimony that he failed to recall his many meetings with mobster Johnny Dio.

Chairman John McClellan (Dem.-Ark.) of the Senate rackets committee, disclosing this Saturday at a press conference, conceded that it would be difficult to prove Hoffa lied when he pleaded memory failure.

But he said many of Hoffa's mental blanks were almost too much for any reasonable man to believe.

"Therefore" he said, "I am going to send this (Hoffa) transcript to the justice department to pursue that phase of it."

EXCLUDED TO SAY

McClellan declined to say that he thought the man seemingly headed for perjury charges if teamsters union lied during his four-day stay on the witness stand.

However, he did say: "There are strong circumstances here that indicate he may not have been telling the truth when he said he couldn't recall."

Hoffa's most frequent memory breakdowns during the hearings occurred during questioning about his negotiations with Detroit underworld figures and the New York labor terrorist, Johnny Dio.

QUEBEC (CP) — Wilbrod Bherer, president of the provincial highway safety committee said Friday that Quebec traffic fatalities are increasing. He counted 246 deaths in the province in the first six months of 1957, compared with 230 last year. Traffic accidents totalled 26,363, compared with 23,940.

Cub Pack No.1 Spent Weekend At Salmon River

MELROSE — Melrose Cub Pack No. 1, with their leader, Mrs. Agnes English, and assistants Mrs. Thomas Howard and Mrs. Vincent Pascoe, spent a pleasant weekend in camp along the Salmon River, near Long dale.

Mr. Phil Stewart of Belleville kindly lent his time as a leader in arranging the sleeping quarters and entertainment of the 18 boys who had the privilege of enjoying this experience of living in the open.

The boys were divided into groups for both work and play, the work consisting of gathering firewood, getting a water supply, airing their bedding and later making up their beds. The play, or leisure time, was devoted to games, rambles, storytelling and swimming.

An interesting closing exercise each day was the time spent around the camp fire. The leader told stories, songs were sung, skits were acted and finally, the Vesper Hymn brought the day's activities to a close.

Despite the chill of the night air and the barking of a prowling dog, a refreshing night's rest made everyone ready for a hearty breakfast served on the flat rock along the river bank.

Those who camped this year are looking forward to a similar experience in the summer of 1958.

How to Combine Business With Pleasure Told

With almost cold deliberation, the British Travel Association has set about distracting the Canadian businessman who visits Britain.

Working on the theory that there's nothing quite so attractive to the hard-pressed businessman than to brighten the usual "commercial round," the Association has published a booklet entitled "Business with Pleasure."

The writers go to some pains in the introduction to point out quite clearly that the title is not intended to indicate that it is pleasure to do business. They frankly admit to a purpose of showing the visiting businessman that the old saying about all work and no play still holds true.

In some 70 pages, the booklet defines the localities in which Britain's many industries are situated, and the interests, entertainments and attractions which can be found within, or within easy reach of, these localities.

Most major towns and cities in the U.K. are listed with additional information on population, exact location, historical notes, and other important facts — not to mention early closing day for shops (in case the wife is along) and the golf club.

The booklet may be obtained by writing to the British Travel Association at 90 Adelaide St. W., Toronto.

Syria President Flies Home To Join Anti-West Chorus

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—President Shukri Kuwatly has returned from Egypt to add his voice to the growing anti-Western campaign of Syria's new left-wing command.

Kuwatly, who flew to Cairo a week ago amid reports he was stepping down in the face of the leftist army takeover, declared on his return Sunday night Syria would stand fast "despite pressures and plots of imperialism, the West and America."

Looking drawn but tanned after his week of conferences and medical treatment, Kuwatly told correspondents here that Egypt also is determined to resist imperialist pressures. The situation in Egypt, he added, is "good and strong, the same as in Syria."

Kuwatly held a final two-hour conference in Cairo with Egyptian President Nasser, who saw him off at the airport. Earlier, before leaving Alexandria, where he had been in hospital, the Syrian president told correspondents his country looks forward to unity with Egypt "in a union which will be the nucleus for total Arab unity."

"All Arab nations unite in time of danger thereby giving us confidence we never will be defeated or harmed," he said.

Gen. Afif Bizri, the army's new chief of staff, and a group of high army officers greeted Kuwatly at the airport.

Damascus Radio earlier broadcast an interview by Bizry with Lebanese reporters in which he said Zionism rather than communism poses the biggest threat to Syria.

Bizry also declared that Syria's position is one of non-alliance with either capitalism or communism.

Non-Communist Arab leaders in the Lebanese capital of Beirut speculated that Kuwatly's return to Damascus indicated Syria had not yet slipped completely into the Soviet orbit. Otherwise, they declared, he would not have gone home.

Kuwatly has been considered a major force keeping Syria from becoming a full - fledged Soviet satellite.

Loy Henderson, U.S. state department Middle East expert who flew to Istanbul during the weekend for consultations on the Syrian crisis, reportedly has had found the talks "most helpful."

TALKS WITH KINGS

Henderson conferred with Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes and had separate talks with King Hussein of Jordan and King Faisal of Iraq in the Turkish capital.

Three London newspapers report that Gen. Vera Sotov, chief of Soviet security forces, spent part of July in Syria, checking on the Left-wing monarchy.

"A full report on the plans has been sent to the Jordan government," it adds.

Accidental Toll Across Canada Moderate 34

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cool and rainy weather in many points of the country kept people home during the weekend and Canada's accidental death toll was a moderate 34, a Canadian Press survey showed. The toll was 47 last week and 49 the week before.

Wet highways made driving hazardous and numerous died in traffic mishaps. Four persons were drowned and six died in miscellaneous accidents.

The survey started at 6 p.m. local time Friday and continued to midnight local time Sunday.

Ontario led with 13 deaths—10 on the highways, one drowning and two miscellaneous. Quebec had nine deaths and Alberta with eight and Quebec with seven followed.

Newfoundland reported three, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Alberta one each and Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick and Saskatchewan recorded no fatalities.

FOUR IN AIR CRASH

The most serious accident was near Penticton, B.C., where four members of a Lethbridge, Alta., family died in the flaming wreck of their light plane after it crashed into a mountain.

Other deaths:

Murray Rose, 21, of Sutton died when his truck left the road near Toronto and hit a tree Saturday.

William Jamieson, 40, of Springfield and Victor Brown, 40, of Detroit died Saturday when two cars collided on the crest of a hill on Highway 3 near St. Thomas. Jamieson was driver of the car and Miss Brown a passenger in the other.

Petty Officer Doris Lichfield of HMCS Star, Hamilton, died Saturday when his car collided with an automobile transport on a bridge on Highway 3 near Jarvis.

DIES ON HIGHWAY

Andrew Virag, 19, a Hungarian in Canada one week, was killed early Sunday when a car in which she was riding overturned on Highway 20 near Niagara Falls. Miss Viragh was thrown from the car and pinned beneath it. Police said Joseph Molnar of Welland, the driver, suffered a fractured collar bone.

Wilson-McCollough, 59, of Toronto was killed when struck by a car while walking on a street in the suburb of North York Township Saturday.

Inspector Raoul Desjardins, 42, of the Ottawa police force was killed when his car struck the side of control and hit a grocery store on downtown Bank Street Saturday.

The detective is believed to have suffered a heart attack. He died in hospital about two hours after the accident.

DROWNED BY CAR

A pedestrian, Louis Borgsault, 32, was pinned between the power line and the front of the store. He suffered body cuts and bruises and a possible fracture of the right leg. The death brought to 19 the number of traffic fatalities in Ontario this year. There were 15 in 1956.

Peterboro, Ont., 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donat Tremblay of Edwards, was killed when struck by a car while waiting on the road near his home about 22 miles from Ottawa. Constable Gerard C. Kelley, 23, of Billings Bridge, Ont., told police he was blinded by the lights of three cars approaching cars.

W. Burt of Winnipeg was killed when the train on which he was fireman, collided with a freight on the Canadian National Railways main line at White, near the Ontario-Manitoba border.

Charles Kippel, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kippel of Toronto, wandered away from a cottage at vacationing and was drowned in Long Lake in the Muskoka district Sunday.

Survey of Youth Gangsterism Shows More Delinquency, Upswing in Serious Violence

NEW YORK (AP)—A policeman's son, caught in the middle of a youth gang war outside a tavern, is beaten and kicked to death.

Three youths flirting with two girls think that two other boys are laughing at them. They stab one to death and the other flees.

A crippled boy, unable to run from a gang of young hoodlums, is stabbed fatally. Said one of the attackers, a 16-year-old boy:

"I wanted to get the feeling of a knife going through bone."

These eruptions of teen-age terror all occurred within one recent week in New York city. The sudden, unexpected outbreak focussed new attention on the youth crime problem in New York as other juvenile crimes broke the surface around the globe.

VIOLENCE INCREASES

An Associated Press survey of youth gangsterism shows a general increase in juvenile delinquency and in many places an upswing in serious violence. Some cities, like Boston, Detroit, Paris and Rome, seem to be holding their own or improving.

Here are some of the reports:

Los Angeles—Arrests up by 5 per cent over last year.

Chicago—About the same number of arrests but the nature of the crimes is becoming more serious.

Detroit — With youth gangs broken, arrests are on the downgrade.

West Berlin—About the same as last year.

France — Juvenile crime is not a problem.

Rome—The first danger signs have appeared in the last six months and juvenile court authorities are watching. However, organized youth gang crime as such has not reached Italy yet.

The three New York slayings raised to 22 the number of homicides attributed to youngsters under 21 in the city since the year began. There were 29 such cases in all of 1956.

To meet the danger, the city threw in 536 rookies from its police academy to patrol danger areas on foot from 6 p.m. to midnight. Incidents declined immediately.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner called for an educational campaign aimed at parents "who let their children run wild." Wagner said that a hard core of three per cent of the city's youth was the heart of the problem.

What leads this minority into gang action and crime?

Milton Wilkens, director of clinical services of New York's Berkshire Industrial farms, said boys who join gangs feel unwanted by their parents or foster-parents.

In Los Angeles, Capt. James Glavas, head of the police juvenile division said:

"There are organized gangs here in the sense that they identify themselves with groups, frequently wear distinctive clothing such as motorcycle boots and black leather jackets.

"There should be no assumption, however, that these groups are banded together for the specific purpose of committing crimes. They do frequently become involved in criminal acts because whenever youngsters get together without proper supervision the threshold for misconduct is lowered."

Detroit police said there are no organized gangs in their city operating in crime. In fact, the juvenile division reported a 14-per cent decrease in teen-age crime in the first six months of this year compared with a corresponding period last year.

In both Philadelphia and Detroit young hoodlums have stopped wearing uniform clothing, believing that this attire attracts police attention.

While the youth crime rate has held nearly steady in Chicago, police note that there are more strong-arm, burglary and rape cases. Police flies list such gangs as the Rebels, Apaches, Red River Rats, Hell's Angels and Royal Hoodlums.

Most groups wear uniform windbreakers or jackets and copy dress, hairstyles and mannerisms.

The low youth crime rate in France attracted the attention of New York Police Commissioner Stephen Kennedy during his visit there this month. After talking with French police Kennedy said:

"They told me that juvenile crime is not an issue in France. I think the strong family integration and religious feelings in French families work against juvenile crime."

In Rome, police recently rounded up 70 children and said they had smashed three gangs of automobile thieves and small-time burglars. Juvenile court authorities said the case was "not representative" and that most youth crime is individual and in the field of small thefts.

In London, Scotland Yard said the teen-age Teddy Boy, with the frock coat, boot-lace tie and a razor in his vest pocket, looms largely behind the upsurge in juvenile crime.

Statistics show 10,833 persons under 21 were arrested during 1956 for virtually every crime except murder.

In Tokyo, 18,216 crimes were charged against juveniles last year—an increase of more than 5,000 in three years.

West Berlin police arrested 10,810 juveniles last year and expect this year's figure will be about the same. Of this number, only 80 cases involved groups of teenagers, the rest being individuals.

HEALTH MINISTER AIMS AT EARLY HOSPITAL PLAN

Mental, TB Patients May Be Included

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's new health minister says he aims at speedy launching of a National hospital insurance scheme.

J. Waldo Monteith, member for the Ontario riding of Perth and a resident of Stratford, Monday had this to say on the subject:

"As far as I am concerned, it will not be retarded in any manner, shape or form—I will certainly try to speed it up in any way."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced the appointment of the 54-year-old accountant to the health portfolio only a week ago. Mr. Monteith told reporters he had not yet had time to study all aspects of his new job.

MAY EXTEND PLAN

The health minister said he assumed the government will look into the possibility of extending the hospital plan to incremental and tubercular patients.

The Progressive Conservatives had asked in the last Parliament that the project be extended to cover such patients but the Liberals opposed the idea.

Mr. Monteith also said there will be no reductions in any existing programs.

However, he said he did not want to comment — beyond acknowledging that Prime Minister Diefenbaker during the election campaign had said he would raise the old age pensions, increased to the $55 a month budget figure of $46 monthly, effective July 1.

FEDERATION APPROVED

Parliament approved legislation for a national hospital insurance scheme before June 10 election, while the Liberals were in power. The federal government plans to pay one-half the plan's cost if a majority of provinces representing a majority of the population joined in the scheme.

British Air Chief Does Not Take Red Claim 'as Gospel'

LONDON (Reuters) — Commonwealth air chiefs do not take the gospel Russia claims that it has an intercontinental rocket capable of reaching any target in the world, Air Chief Marshal Sir Dermot Boyle, chief of Britain's air staff, said today.

He told reporters at the opening of a two-day conference of Commonwealth chiefs of air staff that "we do not expect to discuss specifically this new Russian rocket during the conference; but we realize the threat to the free country will develop at some date, and we are not ignoring it."

"We do not take as gospel that this weapon can reach any place in the world. We have taken into account degree to exist but that has been taken into account. We are watching it all the time."

The British cabinet met today and was believed to have considered the rocket claim. No official statement was made.

A British aircraft industry spokesman said it did not doubt Russia's claim: "It is very probably true. After all, there was some skepticism as to whether the Russians had managed to produce a jet airliner in the time they did, but 18 months ago the TU-104 landed at London airport."

Another aviation spokesman said: "We believe that the Russians have probably launched a very big rocket, but the question is: How accurate was it?"

Describing the rocket as Russia's "biggest surprise," a correspondent of the Beaverbrook Daily Express says the weapon will come as a severe shock to Western defence planners.

"It strengthens the fear that the Russians are far ahead of Britain and America in the race to develop the 'finale missile.'"

The political correspondent for The Daily Sketch says the announcement will constitute a warning to the rest of the world that it is better to agree to cut arms than to risk a clash with Russia."

Reds Claim Successful Test Of Intercontinental Rocket Able To Reach Any Target

Some Experts Skeptical But Others Believe Report

MOSCOW (AP)—The Kremlin has come forth with the first claim of successfully testing an intercontinental rocket missile capable of hitting "any spot on the globe."

The announcement Monday night marked the most important Soviet military advance claimed since Russia exploded her first H-bomb in August, 1953. It put into mass production the nuclear-armed missile would seriously affect the world balance of power, ac there is no known defence against such a weapon.

The statement broadcast to the world said the "super - range, multi-stage" rocket was tested several days ago. The missile flew at a record altitude, the statement said, covering a vast distance in a brief time and homed in on the target area.

The announcement did not say that the test rocket carried a nuclear warhead, but it suggested that a series of successful blasts of nuclear and thermonuclear (hydrogen) weapons had been held in the Soviet Union in recent days. The United States said in Washington it has learned the Russians had resumed atomic tests in Siberia.

U.S. SKEPTICAL

(Some members of the U.S. Congress were skeptical of the Russian rocket claim, some believing it propaganda. But Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.-Mo., former air force secretary) said that in the past such Kremlin announcements had usually turned out to be fact. In Canada, Defence Minister Pearkes said he doubts that the Russians are ahead of the West in development of an intercontinental rocket.)

Moscow Radio said the missile can reach any "distant area without the use of strategic air bases, which is at present vulnerable to anti-aircraft defence."

Tass said the test proved the rocket may be fired at any selected area of the globe."

The U.S. has referred to such a missile as the "ultimate weapon." It has been known in the West as the intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) with a range of about 5,000 miles.

No other country has claimed to have developed an intercontinental missile. However, Maj.-Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, chief of the U.S. air force ballistic missile program, indicated last week that the U.S. has virtually completed the prototype of its ICBM.

Stranded Canadian Tourists Forced Back by Bad Engine

MONTREAL (CP) — A plane carrying stranded Canadian tourists from Paris was forced back to Santa Maria, in the Azores, Monday after developing engine trouble.

Officials of Maritime Central Airways said a second plane left here for Santa Maria Monday night to pick up the 30 passengers, stranded for the second time in 24 hours on the Atlantic half an hour out of the Azores field when the pilot spotted the overheated engine.

The plane was chartered by the Canadian government after the tourists were marooned in Paris Aug. 17 when the charter plane that was to bring them home never arrived. It developed that the airline had not been paid by the travel agent who organized the flight.

Other flights arranged by the same travel agent, Jean Nyman, were cancelled before they left Montreal's Dorval airport. Nyman's firm the Ulysses Travel Agency, went in debt $40,000 last week.

Nyman, Finnish-born doctor of law, was found unconscious in a Ste. Agathe, Que., hotel last week.

Provincial police obtained an attempted suicide warrant against Nyman and transferred him this weekend to the mental wing of Bordeaux jail here from a hospital in St. Jerome.

Suggests Plan For Development Of Province

BIGWIN INN, Ont. (CP)—City solicitor Alan S. Stewart of Owen Sound has suggested new legislation to provide a master plan for the future development of Ontario.

Mr. Stewart told the Ontario Municipal Association Monday that under such a plan "future generations would be protected from the menage of overcrowded urban areas" and lakeshore lands would be preserved for recreational use "free from the menace of the ribbon of sewage and industrial wastes."

He added the plan would also guarantee a proper balance in the use of land between agricultural and industrial needs.

Mr. Stewart said it might be advisable to put a ceiling on the size of metropolitan Toronto and restrictions on the conversion of Niagara Fruit land into industrial sites.

WIDE VARIANCE

William G. Warrender, Ontario municipal affairs minister, reported that one-third of Ontario municipalities are assessing properties at wide variance with standards established by the department of municipal affairs.

His report, given by his deputy, K. Grant Crawford, said during 1956 and 1957 the department of municipal affairs carried on corpare assessments made by municipalities and selected areas.

"Twelve hundred 18 per cent of municipalities were assessing at less than 80 per cent of value and 15 per cent were assessing at more than 100 per cent of value.

Believe Russia Has 350 Advisers Located in Syria

LONDON (CP) — Diplomatic sources here estimated today that the Russians have 350 military advisers in Syria.

The sources said Russia also is reported to have sent $83,000,000 worth of arms to the Arab state. They said this was in addition to previous shipments worth $56,000,000 prior to last fall's Suez invasion.

The sources said Syria's stockpile of Russian arms now includes 200 T-34 tanks, 50 self-propelled guns, 30 reconnaissance carriers, 120 122-millimetre field guns, 60 anti-aircraft guns, 70 MiG-15 and MiG-17 fighter planes and an unstated number of motor torpedo boats.

They said more Communist arms, including two submarines and 12 fighter planes, are expected to be sent as a result of the visit of Syria's Defence Minister Khaled al Azem to Moscow earlier this month.

London newspaper correspondent reported from Damascus that last thousand Russian "volunteers" were pouring into Syria. The Soviet Communist Party paper Pravda has termed his account a "gross and dishonest fabrication."

OGDENSBURG, N.Y. (AP) — Two Canadian youths were being questioned here today by Canadian authorities in the shooting of a police constable at Morristburg, Ont.

John A. Fedora, 17, and Robert G. McGaugall, 18, both of Eastland Lake, were arrested in Watertown Monday.

Watertown police said the two admitted stealing two automobiles in Canada and three in the United States since entering early Sunday. They were brought here Monday night.

Constable Ronald Pitt, 25, was shot and critically wounded Saturday while investigating a car theft in Morristburg.

China Newsmen Can Apply to Visit States

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles said today the United States would consider applications from any Chinese Communist newspaper men to visit this country.

Dulles told his press conference there is no absolute rule against allowing Chinese Communists to come to the United States.

He said, however, that any applications for such a visit are pending and he knew of no suggestion until now that some Chinese Communists are interested.

Dulles spoke in response to questions about Chinese denunciation of the U.S. plan for letting 24 American correspondents go to China on a six-month experimental basis.

Peoples Daily, the Peiping newspaper, Dulles replied, called the plan "unacceptable." It said the U.S. acted unilaterally and attached a condition—that no correspondents from Communist China could visit this country.

But Dulles held the C over Monday. He emphasized, however, that he wanted to make clear he did not consider China has any right to send its reporters to the U.S.

Eisenhower Once Held Prisoner By Black Watch Regt. at Gibraltar

NEW YORK (AP)—A member of a famed killed-regiment has related how President Eisenhower, then a general commanding Allied forces, was captured by his unit 15 years ago.

Reginald Mackie, 66, of Greenwich, Conn., a retired captain of the Black Watch, Royal Highland Regiment, told Claud MacBeth Moir Monday told this tale that occurred in November 1942, shortly before the Allied landings in North Africa:

"Gen Eisenhower was supreme commander for the secret preparations and was working from secret headquarters in one of the tunnels at Gibraltar. He was in civilian clothes for security reasons, and incognito.

"Strolling alone one day, he entered a public area, forbidden to civilians, and was arrested by a Black Watch sentry of the 4th Battalion.

"The sentry took him to the guard room and the supreme commander was confined for 2½ hours. In due course, the commanding officer was called. Eisenhower's identity was discovered and he was released."

Details of Eisenhower's incarceration, Moir told reporters, are contained in the regiment's official history.

"It is on record," Moir said, "that the supreme commander's good humor prevailed."

CONSERVATIVES RETAIN LANARK WITHOUT CONTEST

G.H. Doucett Resigned Ontario Seat to Run

OTTAWA (CP) — The Progressive Conservatives have retained their Eastern Ontario stronghold of Lanark without opposition.

George H. Doucett, 60-year-old farmer and insurance man, was elected by acclamation as nomination for a Sept. 9 by-election closed at p.m. EDT Monday. He had resigned his Lanark seat in the Ontario legislature to contest the same seat federally. A former minister of works and highways in the Ontario government, he held the Ontario seat for 20 years.

The seat became vacant with the death of the Hon. William G. Blair a few days after he had retained it for the Conservatives in the June 10 federal election.

112 CONSERVATIVES

Mr. Doucett's election gives the Progressive Conservatives a minority government 113 Commons members to the Liberals' 105. The rest of the Commons standing: CCF 25, Social Credit 19, Independent 3, Independent-Liberal one, Liberal - Labor one, total 265.

Lanark returned Conservatives in all but one federal election formed in 1917 from the ridings of Lanark North and Lanark South. Before the amalgamation, Lanark South remained staunchly Conservative while the Liberals won Lanark North in four occasions.

Mr. Blair had held the seat continuously since 1945 when he regained it from the Liberals who had won it in 1940. In 1953, he had a majority of more than 7,200 votes over his only opponent, a Liberal. In a similar two-way race, Mr. Doucett had a majority of 7,400 votes in the 1955 Ontario general election.

APPARENT REASONS

The constituency history of Conservative wins coupled with the personal popularity of Mr. Blair and Mr. Doucett appar-ently were the main reasons for other party contested the byelection.

Mr. Doucett was sworn in as Ontario minister of the two departments of agriculture and highways in 1943, but resigned the work post in 1951 after an automobile accident.

In January, 1955, he resigned the Ontario post of minister of "disclosures of irregularities in the department," concerning the sale of Ontario land to seven contracts.

However, a majority of a select committee of the Ontario legislature found that Mr. Doucett and Hon. Leslie M. Frost, were not aware of the irregularities and did not profit from the three contractors and two of the department's district supervisors were guilty of fraud and falsification of records.

Detroit Man and Sister Survive Being Swept Over Hiawatha's Falls

DETROIT (AP)—A 14-year-old Detroit girl and her 23-year-old brother told today how they tumbled hand in hand 42 feet over Michigan's famed Tahquamenon Falls Sunday and landed safely amidst the jagged rocks at the bottom.

Dick Gabriel and his sister Doris, upon their return home Monday night, said they not only escaped injury but plunged Michigan falls which the poet Longfellow immortalized in his Song of Hiawatha, but climbed to the top afterward and a second time swam across the Tahquamenon River.

Residents at Newberry, Mich., near the falls which thousands of tourists visit every year said that aside from the legend of Hiawatha's friend, Kwasind, they knew of no case of anyone surviving a plunge over the torrent of water.

The brother and sister said they had crossed through a foot passage under the lip of the falls and climbed to the top by a wooden staircase.

"A couple of fishermen sitting on the bank told us we could wade back across the rapids above the falls," said Robina. "I guess we didn't go far enough upstream.

"We started across about 100 feet above the brink. About 10 feet from the falls the water up to our knees, it suddenly just pulled us off our feet. I don't know what happened."

Doris said: "We were holding hands all the time. I didn't really know what was happening. We were falling sideways and holding on tight. It was all comfortable."

"As we came to the brink," said Robina, "I looked over at Doris' and said, 'Goodbye, kid.' Then it just took us over. We weren't scared until it was all over.

"When we hit the bottom, there was a strong eddy current like it was sucking us back under. Doris toward the surface. Luckily we were both good swimmers and when we got out of the currents we swam ashore." The falls is 100 feet wide.

Art Lenore, a caretaker of the Tahquamenon Falls State Park, made a written report of the incident. He said witnesses told him the two plunged into a pool at the foot of the falls at the only place not cluttered with jagged rocks.

Gather to Plan Battle Against Asian Flu Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — American health officers gathered today to plan the battle against a possible epidemic of Asian flu this fall or winter.

The association of state and territorial health officers and United States was called in spe-cial meeting by Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney of the federal public health service.

Burney has said that if an epidemic occurs up to 25,000,000 persons could die — even considering the estimated protective value of the Salk polio vaccine. But the vaccine still are limited.

One surgeon-general said the incidence of the flu might be kept to that minimum if an epidemic does occur until 60,000,000 doses of the vaccine have been administered.

That's the supply now hoped for by Feb. 1 and by March 1 or April 1. Public health authorities say the vaccine should protect 70 per cent of persons receiving it, based on past experience with flu-like viruses. But they have indicated that if any such epidemic occurs before the 60,000,000 doses are available, the shots usually strikes any time from late fall to early spring and the range of incidence could be higher than the 26,000,000 figure.

Fishing Good In Quinte Bay And Moira River

Dick Burrows, who has travelled a good many miles this summer looking for a big fish, suddenly discovered over the weekend that the grass is not always greener on the other side of the fence.

Dick, apparently tired of long jaunts and little fish, decided to do a bit of fishing right here in the Bay of Quinte waters on Saturday. All he brought back was a 19 1-2 inch bass, weighing between three and four pounds. No scale was available but seasoned fishermen who who witnessed the catch said that not many bigger ones were landed in the Bay of Quinte waters.

But the tale is not over. Dick keeps his boat anchored in a cove with a shallow entrance. While taking his boat and catch in, the fish is credited with lowering the boat enough to shear a pin on a motor. Result was no one broken shear pin.

Burrows battled the bass for about ninety minutes on a six pound line before bringing him in. He had no landing net in the boat.

Tales of other good catches have reached the Ontario Intelligencer office this week.

Ted Royal, 38 Chatham street, caught a four pound, 1-2 inch once small mouth bass last Thursday, while fishing near O'Brien's cottage in the Moira river.

Bob Marks has also bagged considerable ammo pretty fair eating over the weekend. Bob landed a 5 1-2 pound pickerel on Saturday, while fishing in the Moira Bridge.

It all points to the fact that you don't have to travel far for fish when the Bay of Quinte and Moira River are both right at your door.

Wing Assoc. Members Enjoy Picton Visit

Eighteen members of 418 Wing RCAF Association of Belleville visited the Prince Edward Flying Club at Picton Monday evening where they were all taken for flights in club aircraft, enjoyed a wiener roast and host club hospitality.

For many of the Belleville RCAF Association members it was the first time they had been for a flight since they left the RCAF at the end of the war. Last night's excursion was thrown again bitten by the flying bug and a few now plan to get their civilian pilot licences.

"Boy, it's not like the old open cockpit job we used to fly," commented Bill Scrymgeour. "These young pilots today are spoiled."

Piloting the Belleville members in flight were the Picton area wire Lorne Jardine of Wellington, Brooks Brogan and Demille of Picton; Ray Boyle, Trenton, Alex Williams, Picton, Cyril Coulter, Picton, and Bill Picton, and head pilot Murray Chapin.

Aircraft used included an Aeronca Superchief; Piper Tripacer; Taylor Craft and Aeronca Champ.

Belleville Association president Al Smith thanked Murray Clapp and his pilots for the evening's entertainment and invited the Picton members to be guests of the RCAF Association at Station Trenton in the near future.

Regional Director of Labor Congress Outlines Functions To Members of Rotary Club

The setup of the Canadian Labor Congress as it is today was described to Rotarians assembled yesterday for their weekly dinner meeting.

Frank Quaile, regional representative of the Canadian Labor Congress with headquarters in Kingston, spoke to the group. Mentioning that the history of labor unions goes back about 125 years, Mr. Quaile told the group that a couple of typographical unions existed in 1832 and were probably the earliest such organizations in Canada.

"The Knights of Labor, a group which had a strong foothold in the United States, entered the Canadian scene by amalgamating the existing unions.

As time passed labor unions became more active. In 1902 the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress came into being. This was a forerunner to the present C.L.C.

Mr. Quaile said there was a question of how these unions should be set up. It was debated at great length for several years, especially as it finally amounted to anything were Dominion or International. In the 1930's there came a rise in thinking concerning industrial organization. The speaker believed, was caused by the advancement in the car industry.

He described the raiding which took place in earlier times. One union would try to woo the members of other unions into its ranks. But all the money used in this fighting, he remarked, was useless, for it did not benefit the unions by adding more members.

There were hopes that of amalgamating the central officers. Some people were opposed to this move, however. Their opposition was in vain, for in 1956 the Canadian Labor Congress was formed as a result of amalgamation. Mr. Quaile remarked that some day the Canadian and Catholic Federations of Labor will probably be amalgamated.

OUTLINES MAKEUP

Describing the makeup of the Congress Mr. Quaile told his audience it is composed of representatives of local unions. He said it is a central legislative body and not a governing body. The Congress can only suggest policies and not give orders. However, he said, when necessary, members can be suspended for failure to carry out certain requests.

Representatives assist any union requiring help. Aid is given for such matters as arbitration and conciliation. The Congress is engaged in an extensive program presently, setting up policies for things it wishes accomplished. For example, in the field of social legislation, it keeps up a pressure movement for better old age pensions and other benefits which aid the working man. "We pressure the government", he stated, "for what we think will be beneficial for the rank and file working man."

He said the work is mostly done on a provincial level. Provincially the Congress is trying to improve the existing laws, such as the Labor Relations Act and the Compensation Act, which affect workers generally. The provincial organization is composed of labor councils with each council taking in the unions in its district. Here, the speaker said, the council is known as the Belleville and District Council.

On the national level the Congress also lobbies for laws to improve laws for workers. On the local level the organization is being placed on work in the community. Members are asked to belong to local distress groups, such as charitable drives. Mr. Quaile said the Canadian Labor Congress is a democratic group, which is working at rehabilitation of prisoners when they are released, giving them the opportunity to start their lives over as good citizens.

UNIONS NOT HARMFUL

The speaker said many people believe the Congress has become a monopoly which will be harmful. His answer to this is that we believe in free enterprise and trip working class in general, but not to harm the community. In his closing remarks he said "We feel we shape up as pretty good Canadians . . . I feel that our Congress will be a great benefit to our country."

Members of the Rotary club attending the meeting had the opportunity to visit with Mr. Quaile a past president of the local group, who was in town yesterday for a one-day visit.

Algae Conditions in Bay Worst in Years Says Manager

Algae conditions in the Bay of Quinte are the worst in the water this year for many years with the result that a much higher percentage of wash water has been required at the filtration plant to keep it clean, Agnesia, Mr. O. H. Scott, utilities manager, reported today that on one day during the first week in August when algae conditions were the worst, the water used at the plant was 18.5 per cent of the total water pumped. During 1956 the average amount of wash water was 6.4 per cent of total water pumped.

The dry season, together with the increased count and increased number of water customers has resulted in approximately 100 million gallons more water being pumped so far this year over the same period in 1956.

To date in August 19 million gallons of water have been pumped, while during July 17 million gallons of water were pumped.

The algae condition is now clearing away but one day when the count was at its highest, water use was greater than the amount which could be filtered. "Water use has been heavy but despite algae condition we have been able to take care of demands with only normal restrictions," commented Mr. Scott.

TO INCREASE CAPACITY

Currently the local utilities commission is calling for tenders for additions which will increase the filtration plant capacity.

Included in the plans is accommodation for more mixing chambers and settling basins as well as provision for the installation of micro strainer equipment. It is expected that this will greatly reduce the amount of backwashing of filters when the algae count is high.

Last year a micro strainer pilot plant was tested at the pump house and with a favorable report received from engineers the local commission decided to install the equipment.

Erection of the micro strainer equipment is to remove algae from the water before it reaches the filter beds. This reduces the amount of backwashing of filters and at the same time substantially increases plant capacity during periods when algae conditions are bad.

Additions planned for the filtration plant for which tenders are now called are estimated will cost about $300,000.

"Mr. Powell has got what every American housewife should have."

The Sketch, which did got identify the widow, said her request was the first "direct suggestion of marriage." But it said it was filling her request away with the losers because:

1. Powell is too busy with British winners.

2. He's already married.

Standing outside her home in Mandra, Greece is eight-year-old Anastasia Kollia who was "adopted" by 900 inmates of the state reformatory for St. Cloud, Minn., who send the child $15 a month in cash, clothes or food through the foster parents' plan for war children. When Anastasia heard that her benefactors were prisoners she wrote to them telling how her father had been a prisoner of the Italians for five years, how he suffered a nervous collapse and hanged himself. She said she would pray every night that "the good Lord would have pity on them (her benefactors) and send them home to their families very soon."

Accused Man Former Manager Canadian Team

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—Attorneys for Clare Van Horne, 46, awaiting trial for the murder of his estranged wife, Nancy McLean last May 27, announced Monday they will ask court authorization to take depositions from character witnesses in Canada.

James Dennis said he would seek deposition testimony from four persons who knew Van Horne's reputation at London, Ont., where the accused man was formerly an baseball manager. They are Dr. D. F. Duffin, William Farquaron, E. H. Smith and Del Lewis.

The trial, scheduled to begin Monday, was postponed to an indefinite date pending outcome of legal motions by Dennis and fellow defence attorney O. A. Goth.

Suspended Harness Driver Says Woodbine Race 'Fixed'

TORONTO (CP)—Herve Filion, 18-year-old Montreal harness driver who was suspended for 60 days for inconsistent driving following a race Monday night at Woodbine Raceway, says he had help from another driver in a race he won with Kristelle Aug. 21.

Filion said Monday night one of the drivers told him after the Kristelle race he had bet on him and "was going to make sure I won."

"During the race, one of the drivers blocked another which allowed me to win," Filion said in an interview, "if I did not know they were betting on me. One driver told me, after the race, he had bet more on me than the other guy and he was going to make sure I won."

Filion drew his suspension after he met Professor MC, an 11-year-old gelding registered under the name of his brother, Gilles, to victory in the fifth race at odds of 8 to 5. In the horse's four previous starts on the track, all with Herve Filion driving, the gelding lost once by 18 lengths and twice by a head.

Filion made no mention of the Kristelle race when he was informed of his suspension, presiding steward Clarence McPhee said.

TO INTERVIEW JOCKEY

"An immediate investigation was conducted by the stewards" he learned of Filion's statements. Filion is slated to be interviewed by the stewards today and will be asked to substantiate his charge and name the other drivers he said are involved.

McPhee said there had been considerable betting on the mile's win but no action had been taken.

"We've been watching this driver for some time," McPhee said.

Hal B. Watson, an associate steward, said Filion is "getting into pretty deep water and he's taking others with him". If he does not substantiate that he had help from other drivers in winning with Kristelle.

"If he says he was in a fixed race, he and the others might have grave charges laid against him."

BOOED BY CROWD

As Filion approached the winner's circle after driving Professor MC to victory Monday night, the crowd booed and Filion raised his cap He said afterwards that he thought the fans were applauding his win.

The horse was not disqualified because he had won the race fairly, stewards said. The driver was suspended because they suspected he had not driven the winning horse in previous starts.

Filion, who was in the game when he was 12, said he didn't know whether he would be reinstated. He said Professor MC had been "hitting his knees" on previous occasions and he should differently for Monday night's race.

"I always try to win and don't know why I was set down," he added. "This is my first blacksmithed my horse differently and I won, so I am out of racing for the rest of the year."

Rides Trains 400 Miles Daily For Vacation

LONDON (AP) — Omar Day, whose frustrated boyhood ambition was to be a railroad engineer, is having the time-month vacation of his dreams.

He is spending it riding the trains back and forth between London and Sheffield, a round trip of 400 miles a day, Sundays excepted. Monday, just for fun, he did an extra one-way trip for a total of 600 miles.

Omar, 64, runs a plant nursery business. He inherited the business from his father, who always frowned on Omar's ambition to be a British Casey Jones.

Omar started shuttling back and forth between London and Sheffield on Aug. 7. He plans to keep it up until his £25 season ticket expires on Sept. 6.

"Monotonous? Good gracious, no," he reports. "I talk to the other passengers, read a bit, of railway literature, or just close my eyes and calculate the speed by the intervals between the wheels on the rail joints."

Cardinal Urges Poles Remember 'Honest Work'

CZESTOCHOWA, Poland (AP) Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski says the Polish people is in danger of self-destruction through demoralization. He urges that the people remember their honest work.

The Roman Catholic primate spoke Monday at a pilgrimage passed beneath a wall of the Jasna Gora Cloister Hill fortress, a Polish national shrine. Church officials estimated the crowd at 100,000.

They gathered there to commemorate ancient vows by which the 17th century Polish king dedicated his nation to the service of the Virgin Mary.

Cardinal Wyszynski was released from detention last year after Wladyslaw Gomulka returned to power as Polish Communist party first secretary.

West European Trade Area May Trouble Canada

TORONTO (CP) — A Canadian chartered accountant says here he can say the proposed West European "free trade area" may produce unemployment and a slump in economy.

Dr. D. Harkness, president of the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association, told a luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition that the proposed area "will be a great deal for Europe but there may be implications for the Canadian economy.

For trade purposes, it will have a population considerably in excess of that in the United States," he said. "Their trade advantage then will be lower wage rates and larger volume. This will enable European countries concerned to compete in world markets on terms which we have not obtained."

An example of the proposed trade area's influence was already evident in that Canadian manufacturers are finding it difficult to meet foreign import competition from the low wage economies, Mr. Harkness said.

"Depending on the measures taken to cope with it, the whole situation could determine the future of secondary manufacturing in Canada."

Secondary manufacturers now employ about 1,000,000 workers.

"It is essential." Mr. Harkness said, "that Canada maintain a continue under favorable conditions so that we may be able to offer a widening field of employment to our growing labor force."

Admits Hanging Boy to Prevent Him Talking

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP)—A 22-year-old man was charged with first-degree murder Monday night in the hanging of an 11-year-old boy whose death was first believed an accident.

State police said the man, Donald C. Smith of Ballston Lake, N.Y., was arrested early Monday in Henrietta, near Rochester.

District attorney Carlton J. King said Smith admitted in a statement that he hanged young Peter Curran of Ballston Lake July 26 from a tree near the boy's home.

King said Smith was "afraid he would tell his parents about a sex act he had committed with the boy."

Several Hundred Fans View Spirited Game

CAMPBELLFORD — Several hundred fans saw one of the best exhibition games of the season on the High School athletic ground here last week when the Peterborough city police team came out on the long end a score of a 12-2 score against the Campbellford EPL champions.

The game was arranged to raise money for the William G. Scott fund. The Peterborough city police constable recently killed in a motor accident and the silver collection netted $50 for the fund and the Peterborough policemen thanked the fans for their generosity and support.

A special vote of thanks went to the C.G.E. Pipe Band, which donated its services to the police for the evening. The band's business manager, Ed Johnston, who accompanied the band, said the men were happy to be able to do something to help the fund. Pipe Major Bob Stenson, of C.G.E., led the band as they paraded from the Campbellford police station through the town to the ball diamond. Many persons followed the band during the march to the ball diamond, and the presence of a good part of the large crowd was due to their efforts. A bus was donated by a Peterborough firm to transport the band to Campbellford.

POLICEMEN TAKE PART

About a dozen Peterborough policemen were on hand for the game, and although the cops were larger and heavier than the league players, Campbellford team, the homesters laid down a fine brand of baseball and turned them back by a 12 to 2 score.

The only home run batted in by the Peterborough team came in the fifth inning when Ken Gray of the Peterborough police force, Gordon Gray of the C.G.E.

The ball game was one of a number of events arranged to celebrate the Old Boys' Day and will be held in Peterborough this week when the proceeds going to the fund, and other ball games may be arranged. The fund was assisted by the late Donald W. Erskine of Peterborough.

Canada's Oldest Engineer Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Joseph Burr Tyrrell, at 98 Canada's oldest geologist and engineer, died Monday.

Mr. Tyrrell trekked from the Rockies to Hudson Bay discovering such diverse things as coal in Pincher Creek, Alta., to a prehistoric dinosaur burying ground in a sheer rock face.

His exploits and expeditions across Canada earned him many awards, highest among them the Vodlaston Medal, the highest tribute paid by the Royal Geological Society and an honor shared by such men as Charles Darwin and Thomas Huxley. Mr. Tyrrell was 90 when he received the medal

Born in suburban Weston, he graduated from the University of Toronto in 1880 intending to follow law. He was advised by a doctor to live an outdoor life because of lung trouble and so followed unmapped tracks west.

GOLD AND COAL, TOO

Fifty years ago he predicted oil in Alberta, though it wasn't until the late 1940s that the great strikes were made. He was also responsible for gold and coal finds in the West. ★

Motorcyclist And Pedestrian Are Both Killed

ALFRED, Ont (CP) — Lucien d'Aoust, 19, of Plantagenet, Ont., and Stephen Mayer, 17, of Ottawa were killed Monday night in a motorcycle accident. Another youth was injured.

Police said d'Aoust and a friend, Real Bissonnette, 18, also of Plantagenet, were driving a motorcycle through this town about 6:50 p.m. when Mayer, who they struck Miner, a pedestrian. D'Aoust lost control of his vehicle, was thrown from it and slammed into a tree. He and Miner were pronounced dead at the scene.

Bissonnette also was thrown from the motorcycle and into the tree but suffered only slight injuries. Police said Mayer died en route to Glengow at the end of August.

In Hamilton morning Morrisburg councillor Wallace Gay launched a fend to have the post of lieman's wife Nurse in Canada as soon as possible.

Meanwhile some 15 Morrisburg citizens went to nearby Cornwall to donate blood which will be sent to Montreal for the critically wounded officer.

Provincial Police said no further blood now is needed at present but advised surgeons to contact the OPP offices to be on call if needed.

Batory Back In Copenhagen On Way to Canada

COPENHAGEN (AP)—The Polish passenger ship Batory arrived back in Copenhagen today, four days after she had sailed away leaving behind 70 defectors.

One, Franciszer Szadzinski told a press conference that in effect he couldn't care less about the defectors; who came here as tourists. Today the Batory is carrying passengers to Britain and Canada. It will dock at Montreal.

Asked whether there was Communist action against him when the Batory returned to Poland last week, he said: "Nothing happened to me. I'm still alive, as you can see yourselves Did you think I was sent to Siberia?"

Szadzinski admitted that it was not possible for any Pole to migrate, "except Jews who want to go to Israel," but he added that legislation for migration on a wide scale is being prepared. When told that most of the defectors—now in Denmark want to be Canadians, he exclaimed:

"Why? I thought conditions were much better for migration to Australia. If I were a defector, I would go there."

Asked whether they could get the luggage they left behind on the Batory, he said impatiently: "Well I'll be damned. You wouldn't want us to send them rockets, surely."

Later he said the luggage had been delivered to the defectors' relatives at home. Szadzinski denied that steps have been taken to prevent another mass defection from the ship.

Open Fund to Fly Constable's Wife To His Bedside

NORTHBRIDGE, Ont. (CP)— Residents of this St. Lawrence River village have contributed almost $250 Monday in the first few hours of an appeal for funds to fly Mrs. Marion Pitt from Scotland to join her wounded husband in hospital.

Constable Ronald Pitt, 35, is in a critical condition in the Montreal Neurological Institute, three days after he was shot down by a gunman he had chased, he sought to question. The men escaped. At Montreal hospital officials said Constable Pitt will be on the critical list for a week.

A Scottish newspaper of two months, Pitt already had sent the fare for his wife and two children to sail from Glasgow at the end of August.

In Northbridge morning Morrisburg councillor Wallace Gay launched a fend to have the post of lieman's wife Nurse in Canada as soon as possible.

Meanwhile some 15 Morrisburg citizens went to nearby Cornwall to donate blood which will be sent to Montreal for the critically wounded officer.

Provincial Police said no further blood now is needed at present but advised surgeons to contact the OPP offices to be on call if needed.

400 Sleeping Men Escape as Fire Hits Bunkhouses

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (CP) — Four bunkhouses were destroyed in two bunkhouses at Lake Nordic Uranium Mines escaped without injury Monday night when fire destroyed the two-storey structures. Fire broke out in the attic of an upstairs room, spread so quickly that both bunkhouses were destroyed in less than two hours.

All the workers lost personal belongings. One man lost $200 in cash which he kept in a wallet under his pillow.

The mine firefighting crew was assisted by the Elliot Lake fire department in keeping the flames from spreading to other buildings. The company already has bulldozed out the area in preparation for rebuilding.

THE MAGISTRATE WAS UNHAPPY

In Waterloo Jerome Carey has been convicted of consuming liquor illegally. The magistrate was most unhappy to have to find him guilty of the charge — but the law and the facts were plain. July 20 was a hot day and Carey and his wife were trying to cool off by sitting under a tree in their own back yard and drinking beer. That, according to the Ontario Liquor Control Act, is illegal. The magistrate observed, quite correctly, that he could not substitute his own social views for laws framed by the Legislature. He had to convict.

The complaint which resulted in Carey being hauled into court was laid by a neighbor, a woman, and the magistrate showed his opinion of her action by observing that when a complaint appears to be a spiteful act the complainant should be required to appear in court for all to see. This might sometimes be a deterrent to the laying of similar charges, but it is certainly no remedy for the situation. The magistrate was laid out of spite, one would expect the spite to be strong enough to overcome any dislike for publicity. And there is always the possibility that the charge was not laid from spite, that the neighbor acted more in sorrow than in anger, from a deep-rooted conviction that drinking beer is a deadly sin.

The charge could prove a blessing in disguise if it leads to some type of organized protest against this provision of the law. Letting sleeping dogs lie is the simplest policy for our lawmakers and no matter how strongly the majority of the members of the Legislature may agree with the magistrate's attitude in the case it is unlikely that they will do anything about changing the law unless the public demands it. That the Waterloo charge should make headlines is evidence that prosecution for infractions of the law under such circumstances is most unusual — the presiding magistrate said that "at least 1,000 Ontario citizens likely were doing the same thing on the same day" but non-enforcement of a bad law does not make it a good one.

There is, of course, a thin fabric of justification for the law as it reads—rowdy drinking parties out-of-doors are most undesirable. But it is the rowdiness, whether outdoors or within, with which the law should deal, and not with the precise spot in which beer is drunk. A man's garden may not be his castle, but he should need no fortress to guard him in the right to enjoy a glass of beer on a hot day, or on a cool one either, for that matter.

INGENIOUS MACHINES

"Canadian Business," published by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, contains an advertisement which includes a picture of a machine wrapping an oil pipeline with a plastic tape.

The layman, looking at the picture, cannot fail to marvel at the ingenuity of the men who designed a machine to do this job, wrapping hundreds of miles of pipe by hand would obviously be a long, tedious, costly task. But without some kind of protection, costly damage by corrosion, fungi and bacteria would result. The machine solves the problem at the lowest possible cost.

Of course, there is really nothing new in this. Almost small industrial plants has machines equally ingenious in design. Large industrial establishments are filled with machines specifically designed for some particular job. Many of us work with such machines, without realizing what a high degree of imagination was required to design them. It is only when we see a picture of a machine doing a job totally unrelated to our everyday work that we suddenly realize how a savage, or a person from the Middle Ages, would be awe struck at some of the things which machines can do.

We suppose that the machine which substitutes a strip of paper for the fingers of a linotype operator is just as marvellous as the machine which wraps a pipeline. It just so happens that, seeing the strip of paper punched with holes select the right linotype key day after day, it never strikes us that there is anything extraordinarily about it.

"Robots" and "electronic brains" make the headlines today but there are hundreds of other machines almost as amazing in their ability to do intricate tasks.

In handling a modern automobile with its tremendous power and potential speed, constant control is clearly a vital key to safety. You must be able to manage the car in any developing road situation, no matter how critical. This being so, it is astonishing to see how many drivers hold the wheel casually with one hand—or even a few fingers—while the other is draped out the window in some foolish attitude of relaxation suitable to a living room couch but not a speeding car.—Windsor Star-Tribune.

Millhaven Lake Study

By Thomas W. Beak in C-I-I, Oval

Nearly all natural waters that are not seriously polluted contain large quantities of animals and plants. In addition to the fish, which are the animals usually associated with rivers and lakes, every square foot of the bottom supports large numbers —sometimes several thousands —of smaller animals, and in the open waters there are often thousands of minute creatures in every cubic inch. These are the food supply of the fish.

In spite of their apparently haphazard occurrence, these plants and animals of Canada's rivers and lakes form orderly communities, with complicated relationships between the different groups within them. Although our knowledge of these communities is far from complete enough is known about them to make it possible to use the information we obtain in studying them to assess pollution. This is because pollution brings about changes in these communities.

Pollution has become more important in recent decades, though it has existed from the predominantly agricultural economy in which peasant ways of watering nation has inevitably been accompanied by problems of pollution. The industrial revolution of industrial wastes without destroying the usefulness of the rivers, lakes and seashores.

Forward-looking industrial organizations are dealing with this problem by prevention rather than cure. The Canadian Industries Limited has this in mind in setting up a new plant at Millhaven, Ontario.

The Millhaven site is situated on the northeast arm of Lake Ontario highly valued for its recreational facilities for fishing, boating and swimming; and the development of a major chemical plant at this location has necessitated a great deal of attention to the problem of waste disposal.

To ensure that the problem had been thoroughly dealt with in advance, it was decided to make a detailed biological survey of Lake Ontario in the vicinity of the plant. Accordingly, last summer, I was asked to co-operate with the Engineering Service Section of C-I-I. in planning and carrying out a biological survey that would provide an accurate record of the conditions prevailing before there could be any risk of pollution. It would, in addition, enable a check to be made after the plant was in operation to ensure that no pollution was taking place.

After discussing all the information we had available, it was decided that the area most likely to be affected by the discharge of the animals living on the bottom would be within a two-mile radius of the plant. It was considered that the fish could best be studied from data which was already being collected. The first task of the survey was therefore to establish as much precision as possible what types of animals are on the lake bottom under natural unpolluted conditions, and in what numbers. This data will constitute a permanent record with which comparison can be made in the future as the plant site is developed.

As the lake in the vicinity of the site varies in depth from about 50 to 100 feet, and since it is necessary to take accurate measurements, it will be able to bottom to establish the density of the population of animals, sampling presented some physical problems. Fortunately technology have been developed on earlier research work that enabled these to be overcome.

The fixing of sampling points was of considerable importance, as it was necessary to be able to go back to exactly the same spot on the lake bottom every time. This was done by choosing permanent landmarks as our navigating guides. Three points were chosen so as to cover all directions from the plant site up to a distance of about two miles.

Eight points in all were selected; three approximately 100 yards from the outfall pipe, two approximately half a mile away and three about two miles away. As there is a possibility of seasonal variations samples have been taken throughout the year, including the period of ice cover.

The samples are taken by means of a device known as the "Petersen Grab". This has two jaws which can be fixed open while the grab is lowered through the water and which automatically close on touching bottom. The area between the jaws is one square foot and sand and everything in this area is taken into the grab as the jaws close, and is then hauled to the surface. As the grab weighs 85 pounds when full, a small winch is needed to raise and lower it. The whole apparatus is mounted on a motorboat which takes it to each of the sampling locations in turn.

The sample obtained in this way consists of a large quantity of mud in addition to the animals and plants. As the animals are interested in vary in size from that of a pinhead up to about half and inch in length it is necessary to sort to separate them from the mud. To assist in this samples are first washed through a sieve that allows the finer particles to pass through but retains the animals and larger particles. The samples are then placed in containers and taken back to the laboratory for sorting, counting and identification.

In the laboratory each sample is graded into animals and particles of different sizes. Each portion is carefully picked over by hand and all animals taken out, counted, identified and preserved for future reference.

Sampling in the winter presented some special problems which had not, as far as I know, been tackled previously. The in this area is covered by 10 to 15 inches of ice and it was necessary to cut holes in the ice about three feet square and lower the grab through these holes to obtain the samples. Fortunately the Great Lakes Laboratory in this area have considerable experience in fishing through holes in the ice with ports providing the knowledge and skills of fishing and this part of the task was successfully accomplished.

To handle the gear it was necessary to use a 16-foot boat in the ice. This is standard practice by the Great Lakes Laboratory in their reassurances, I found it disconcerting when cracks suddenly appeared with resounding bangs that reminded me of thunder.

* * *

Several different types of animals live on the bottom of the lake. The most numerous are red worm-like creatures about half an inch long. Smaller are the young stage of certain midges. These are the insects that hatch and flibre in the form of fine silken threads, which they use to build their cases in which they live. There are also large numbers of fresh water shrimp and snails and an inch in diameter, and several types of water snails and worms. The data that has been collected in surveys it is possible to build up an accurate picture of the different types and numbers of animals living on the lake bottom under natural conditions. Supposing in the future some pollution should enter the water (either from the Millhaven plant or from some other source) it would subsequently be found that numbers of animals, and this would be discovered by subsequent surveys.

If the plant were the source of pollution the effect would first be noticed, and would be most noticeable, with those animals within 100 yards of the outlet. If however, pollution were coming from some other source a survey of the effect would be noticed first and most strongly in one of the more distant locations.

The first phase of the survey is now nearing completion and as a result of it there is available a body of data on the animal life of the lake in this area: it is probable one of the most complete ever obtained anywhere. It will undoubtedly permit a check to be made on the efficiency of the pollution-prevention safeguards which are operating at the plant. Should anything begin to go wrong, the data available will enable it to be detected and remedied before damage can be done.

Irish Bigotry Is Declining

By Edgar Ansel Mowrer in St. Thomas Times-Journal

Cork is one of the oldest cities in Eire, and the third largest in population. During what was called the "Troubles" between the Southern Ireland and the British Government during the First World War, it was one of the most actively rebellious areas.

Recently there was a municipal election in Cork. Richard Valentine Jago was elected Lord Mayor. He is a Jew, a non-Catholic. Jago is a Methodist. Cork has a long and rich city's long history that a Protestant has been elected to that high office. He is a young man, old and a master baker.

Recently the Lord Mayor of Dublin toured Canada and the United States. His name was Robert Briscoe and he was a Jew. He was another first — the first Jew to be the first citizen of Dublin.

These events are significant. They show that religious bigotry is subsiding in Ireland. The Irish are becoming along better than they have ever done. There is hope of a united Ireland some day.

Day or Week

The carpenters are asking $2.55 an hour. On an eight-hour day that would mean $20 per day. There are good homes standing in Port Arthur that could be built for that. It would have made that a good week's wage.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

IN THE HOUR OF CRISIS

An air-force lieutenant who, some weeks ago, stumbled down from a high mountain where his p a n e had been wrecked and where he had lived under incredible conditions for 54 days, said, "Sometimes I would say that when I talked to the Lord. It helped. I never really gave up hope."

He crawled to the island and went over an 11,000 foot pass in the mountains and down 9 miles until he met two campers who brought him to safety.

The intimation of this story is that the lieutenant made a great discovery, although he had to make it the hard way. Under stress he talked to the Lord and found that t r e a l l y helped. Strange, isn't it, that most of us never really do anything great or creative or heroic, we never discover the resources of God in our old truths, until we get absolutely up against it; and then in the crisis of our need we find that things happen which up to that time we never thought could happen.

Talking to the Lord is a pretty good definition of prayer. Some people orate to the Lord. Others dictate to Him. Still others fawn and whine before Him. There is a verse in the Bible which says, "Son of man, stand on Thy feet, and I will speak to thee."

That is the way to the Lord as we learn most other things — by being compelled to do it. In the moment of danger! In the hour of crisis!

Nitroglycerin Relaxes Tightened Coronaries

In a place about angina pectoris I quoted a well known specialist's statement in an address before an audience of physicians:

"It is my belief that patients with coronary insufficiency can carry on practically normal lives for many years with the assistance of [illegible] trinitrate." otherwise called glonoin or glyceryl trinitrate, each tablet containing from 1/200 to 1/100th of a grain.

Such a tablet, dissolved in the mouth, acts in two minutes. It is not a heart stimulant. It is vasodilator, that is, it causes a relaxation or dilitation of the affected arteries. Dilation of the coronary arteries which supply blood to the heart muscle brings more blood more oxygen to the muscle cells.

Many adult may take a dose of nitroglycerin without danger. Many angina patients take such a dose three or four times a day with benefit and without unpleasant effect or any kind.

Some physicians and some patients prefer milder sodium nitrate tablets — sodium nitrate has the same effect as nitroglycerin, but the effect is less abrupt and more prolonged.

To my way of thinking, the prettiest bouquet imaginable is a pint crystal vase filled with small green onions. Set in the middle of the table, as a centre piece, it looks is reach of all present, is serves a twofold purpose: decorative and complimentary.

Not everyone realizes the peculiarly decorative quality of green onions. Some people serve them lying flat on a dish. But even if the dish is an attractive cut glass pickle dish the ivy glitter of which indeed does add to the general charm of the onions, a prone green onion is nothing like as gallant as one standing crisply erect in a tight bundle with its fellows.

In the spring, when the farm tables which, at this season of the year are particularly heavy with cheer, the green onions are offered in a large jug. And their tops are not clipped even. They are in the garden, their slender tapered tops form a regular spray of green. And when you draw one forth, you never know until you've got it whether you've drawn a long, thin, pearly white one, or one with a bulb on it as big as a strawberry. I have no choice here. After years of study, it appears to be equal: the tender slim ones, with a bite of richly buttered fresh home-made bread, are the ones before you bite off an inch of them; or the crisp, glossy bulbous ones that have a delicate bite all of a piece in your teeth.

Now, they have a habit of clipping the tops off short. This makes for greater manageability at the table, and leaves less green privy piling up on your side plate. In fact, some hostesses use them with top clipped so short, you can eat them all, thus having no plate scraps at all to avoid reveal to the others at the table how many you've had.

In England during the war I was billeted at a farm house where the onions and leaves grew every pretext: breakfast, lunch, tea and dinner, and that the non-current-pet-and-cake festival, tea. It seems the farmer, an elderly speechless man, was of the opinion that raising the rank of lieutenant-colonel, ruled, was as fond of green onions as I. The way he ate them was to have a plate of cold butter at each end with a fresh supply and small gob of butter on each bite of onion.

We corresponded regularly thereafter, until his death, at the noble age of eighty.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

OUR BLESSINGS

Our blessings are the dividends that come to us for living the good life and cultivating a good soul. They don't just happen. They are earned, and those who have thus blessed us are our friends, and the good Lord.

If you think you don't have very many blessings just look about you. Get a pad and write down the blessings that you have. How many blessings as you can think of. Those that we all have far outnumber those that we don't have. We have a wife, children in good health, many friends and with work that gives satisfaction and hope.

We are most enriched by blessings that we appreciate. Inward happiness and gratitude to God for our blessings are the choicest blessings.

It is an inspiring thing to count our blessings by naming them one by one. We are often too forgetful of them. By naming them we bring them out in the open where we can look at and count them. By doing this you challenge others to look at their own. There are blessings that can be counted only by the individual. Such a blessing is the memory of a mother's love, a father's devotion, a child's affection, a friend's loyalty. Every one of us has blessings that are peculiarly his own.

Let us be grateful for our blessings and not only count them but name them. Let us be grateful for our blessings and not only count them but name them. Let us be grateful for our blessings and not only count them but name them.

Rail Jiggers Better Now

Stratford Beacon-Herald

Railways have made much fancy automatic equipment now but it can be recalled that as far back as 50 or 50 years ago there were gasoline jiggers which were operated by a switch on the side of a motor car. The jigger had to be pushed swiftly along the tracks to get the motor started.

Then it was necessary to jump on it with the motion And, of course, there was the protection from the jigger and other bad weather conditions. The present day track workers have all modern conveniences which they deserve.

The old-fashioned hand-propelled cars have gone forever. Remember how the men worked by bars up and down a quick momentum? Those were the the old-timers claim.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

Prime Minister Takes Day off To Visit Circus

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker has indulged in what he says is a "chronic allergy"—his love for the circus.

The prime minister, who said he has never forgotten the first circus he saw in 1902 at the age of seven, spent Monday afternoon at the opening day of the Canadian National Exhibition circus.

"Thoroughly enjoyable," he said, "full of surprises."

He munched popcorn, joked with a clown and had a close look at an elephant during the 2½-hour show.

The only mention of matters even remotely connected with affairs of state drew a hearty laugh from the prime minister. Clown Otto Griebling of St. Louis, referring to the present discount on U.S. funds, asked Mr. Diefenbaker if he could "take off that six cents on the dollar while I'm up here."

WITHOUT FANFARE

The visit to the CNE was strictly unofficial and without fanfare. The tall man in the grey suit strolled almost unrecognized through the grounds. Few eyes in the grandstand were distracted from the acrobats when he walked across the front of the stands to leave the circus a few minutes early.

After the circus, Mr. Diefenbaker toured the armed forces displays, chatted briefly with Donald Campbell, world water speed record holder, and attended an informal reception with representatives of the 12 foreign nations sponsoring CNE trade exhibits.

Monday was children's day at the CNE and thousands of youngsters swarmed over the grounds.

The lost children's centre returned nearly 1,500 waifs to their parents "about average for Children's Day," said Mrs. Gertrude Ayres, who has been in charge of the centre at the last 10 exhibitions.

MAYOR FACES THEFT CHARGE INVOLVING U.S.

H. M. Mulligan, mayor of Thessalon, Ont., has been charged with the theft of mining certificates valued at less than $1,000. He is alleged to have recovered the certificates, originally his, from a former employee. Mr. Mulligan was an unsuccessful Progressive Conservative candidate in the last federal election.

HEALTH MINISTER

The majority has been reached with Ontario, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island indicating acceptance. Premier Campbell of Manitoba said his province is willing to join if the scheme also covers mental and tubercular patients.

Mr. Monteith said that as he saw his job it was fundamentally one of administration. He had technical men to advise him. One of his first moves would be to "get both my feet and all my teeth into hospital insurance."

He had an accountancy business at Stratford with which he now was dissociating himself. But he would not pull up all his Stratford roots.

"Life is too uncertain here."

Married and the father of three daughters, Mr. Monteith is from a politically-minded family.

His father, Dr. J. D. Monteith, was a one-time Ontario cabinet minister. In 1905 an uncle, Nelson Monteith, was agriculture minister in the Ontario cabinet of Sir James Whitney. Mr. Monteith's grandfather, Andrew, served both in the Ontario and federal Parliaments.

For many years the health minister confined his political efforts to Stratford municipal affairs. But in 1953 the party appealed for his entry into the federal field. He accepted the Perth nomination, won in 1953 and again in 1957.

An Anglican, Mr. Monteith had been active in his church. For hobbies he plays golf and bridge and spares some time for detective stories. But now he feels, there will be little time for hobbies. There will be long hours of slurping to get familiar with the health portfolio.

WINDS HIT SHIPS

LONDON (Reuters) — Gale winds Sunday lasted the English Channel, dashing a six-ton yacht to pieces and forcing cross-channel ships to cancel their sailings. With winds of up to 60 miles an hour, the gales, uprooted trees and downed telephone lines as far north as the English Midlands. In Wrexham, North Wales, gales wrecked a housing exhibition scheduled to have opened today.

Claimed Accused Had Switchblade Knife on Person

HALIFAX (CP) — Three witnesses have testified that a Windsor sailor charged with murdering a fellow able seaman from Midland, Ont., was in possession of a switchblade knife.

Nineteen-year-old Fred Hind of Windsor is charged with the murder of Ross Clark McCallum, 24, aboard the frigate Lauzon in Halifax harbor Aug. 7.

At Monday's preliminary hearing, adjourned until Sept. 9, Dr. A. D. Murray said McCallum died of a "severe hemorrhage when his heart was pierced by a sharp instrument."

Crew member Raymond Talino, one of 15 witnesses called, testified he was in a bunk near the Lauzon mess when he heard McCallum say "I'm serious, Hind."

CLUTCHED CHEST

He said he saw McCallum come forward and then back, clutching his chest. Talino said a knife exhibited in court was similar to one Hind had. Two other crew members also testified that Hind had a switchblade knife.

Police Inspector Roy Mitchell said diving operations are being carried out in an attempt to find Hind's knife.

Scientists say it is the amount of tar and nicotine in cigarette smoke which has a serious effect on health.

But when you buy a package of filter cigarettes there is no way of telling the degree to which these impurities will be filtered out. Now, the latest laboratory findings, in September Reader's Digest, give you this information about 12 popular Canadian brands.

This article makes exciting — and hopeful — reading. One filter-tip cigarette now offers a 30% improvement in tar filtration . . . and 40% less nicotine in the smoke! Other improved filters are on the way.

Mike Todd Denies He Gave Help To 'Confidential'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Movie producer Mike Todd once gave information to Confidential magazine, a defendant in its criminal libel trial involving the scandal publication has testified.

Todd, chief collector of Hollywood scandal for Confidential and Whisper, dropped Todd's name into the trial record Monday.

Todd, husband of actress Elizabeth Taylor, joined an impressive list of celebrities who have been mentioned during the first three weeks of the trial.

Meade, former operator of Hollywood Research, Incorporated, testified that writer Hal Conrad of New York had persuaded Todd to confirm story material. The story was not identified.

In New York, Todd denied the statement and said he actually had tried to talk the writer out of using the material.

MENTIONS COHN

Another prominent name dropped by Meade was that of Harry Cohn, president of Columbia Studios. Meade said Cohn made hotel reservations for him and Meade's wife, Marjorie—also a defendant—when they first came to Los Angeles in 1955.

Cohn denied the testimony. A studio spokesman quoted the Columbia president as saying:

"I never met Meade. I made no reservation for Fred Meade or anyone else connected with Confidential. I have never met him. I wouldn't know him if I saw him, and I wouldn't know how he is except for what I've read about him in the newspapers."

ATTEND EXHIBITION

On Saturday, members of the So-Ed Club travelled by chartered bus to attend the Canadian National Exhibition. At the grounds, the group dispersed to various points of interest and gathered together on the midway in the late afternoon to enjoy the rides and sideshows. In spite of the fact that there was a steady downpour of rain all day, everyone had a good time. The cast of Canadiana '57 is to be commended on the performance in the pouring rain and Bob Hope was at his usual funniest trying to stall for time in hope that the rain would stop. Fireworks wound up the grandstand show and the group wended their weary way home.

WEDDINGS

HEWSON — LOCKWOOD NORTHEY — MADILL

FRANKFORD — Frankford Full Gospel Tent was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday, August 24, at 2 p.m., when Marjorie Bernice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Lockwood of Frankford, became the bride of Earl Eugene Hewson of Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hewson of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. The Rev. Gordon Pierce officiated at the ceremony. Baskets of pink and white gladioli and fern adorned the altar and white satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mrs. Doug Flood played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Wilbert Reid, who rendered "A Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "I'll Walk Beside You," during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Ezra Lockwood, was radiant in a floor-length gown of white imported Venetian lace and nylon illusion. The portrait neckline was outlined with seed pearls and crystals and the long fitted sleeves ended in lily-points over the wrists. The beaded lace motif was repeated on the skirt which flowed gracefully into a chapel length train. The headdress which held the finger-tip illusion veil was a half circle of pleated nylon tulle dotted framed by sequins and seed pearls. She carried a semi-shower of white carnations centred with white lacelon.

Miss Barbara Stickle, Frankford, as maid of honour and Miss Jean Wood, Frankford, as bridesmaid, were gowned alike in cocktail-length aqua crystalette charm with portrait-line bodice framed by sequins and ing in self bows at the back. The bouffant skirt ended in lily points over the full skirts. They were matching headdresses mitts and shoes. They each carried cascades of pink carnations featuring white lacelon centres and with pink lacelon.

Little Diane Foster, of Trenton, niece of the bride, was sweet in a short frock of pink nylon with nylon matching headdress. She carried a basket of pink and white 'mums with pink streamers.

Mr. Stewart West of Trenton, Ontario, was groomsman, and Mr. Francis Stickle of Frankford and Mr. John Melbourne, RCAF Station Trenton, were as ushers.

For the reception, held in the church parlors, the bride's mother chose a street-length gown of fine navy crepe with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing a street-length gown of navy corded silk with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The church parlors were decorated with pink and white streamers and bells. The bride's table, appointed with white damask cloth, was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake in pink and white and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

For the wedding trip to the Laurentians and Quebec, the bride chose a sheath dress of champagne silk shantung with a matching jacket, tan accessories and wore a corsage of bronze and yellow 'mums.

Out-of-town guests were present from Trenton, Belleville, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines, Ford, Batawa, Marmora and Prince Albert, Sask.

The happy couple will reside in Frankford.

Prior to her marriage, Miss Lockwood was feted at a miscellaneous shower given by friends in the office staff at Batawa, in the recreation room, Batawa; by a linen shower given by Miss Barbara Stickle and Mrs. Alex Wood at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stickle, and also a tea, cup and saucer shower given by Mrs. Roy Lockwood at her home in Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Casement entertained the wedding party to a barbecue after the rehearsal at their home in Trenton.

Imported Handbag

By TRACEY ADRIAN

From a collection of Parisian imports, especially flown here from France forecasting the fall and winter trends in handbag styles, comes this bag in a distinctly unusual shape.

It is made of burgundy colored reverse calf — a new texture that is more nap — in a dashing triangle that is accentuated by the fringe flap. A zipper fastening is in the back and there is a double, wrist handle.

Many Opposed Views About Hem Lengths

PARIS (Reuters) — The Paris collections for fall and winter have split the fashion atom into numerous new looks. Never have the top-name French designers interpreted a season more individualistically, with so many opposed views about hem-lengths, waistlines and fitting.

The two leading silhouettes which emerge in the over-all picture give women a wide choice.

The first theme, with gentle fitting, a naturally marked waistline and rounded, well - emphasized hips, was generally endorsed by designers who showed at the beginning of the Paris fashion week.

Then Christian Dior, the last style-setting designer to present his collection, dramatically decreed that fitting was "out to be" and endorsed the shapeless sheath, alias the chemise dress which he named the "spindle."

It is an open season for fashion, with everything left to decide which style is the most becoming to her figure.

ANCIENT CUSTOM

Ancient Egyptians, Greeks and Romans used mirrors that were thin disks of metal with fancy handles.

He told delegates to the convention of the Independent Grocers' Alliance that radiation sterilization of food is expected to be in widespread use in 10 years.

HERE'S HOW TO TAME THAT PONY TAIL

Are you a member of the pony tail set? Then stand out as a distinct individual . . . as one who's given time and thought to its arrangement. Don't just tie a rubber band or ribbon around your hair, and let it go at that. Don't let the "mane" idea wildly to the winds. Tame the pony with a little feminine know-how.

We're kidding yourselves, girls, but of all ages pewter girls who took and see little girls. Hair has great attraction and glamour values if you display it to advantage. The pulled back, makeshift ways do pony tail does nothing for you . . . and worst of all invites "him" to treat you like a tomboy. Make use of all your feminine wiles, and begin with your hairdo.

The teens who depend on the experts at the swank Eddie Senz Salon in New York, for guidance with their locks are thrilled with the simple solution devised to give their pony tails more individuality. Only because Mr. Senz is such an ardent campaigner for more feminine loveliness from the crown up would he divulge this professional secret that we pass on to you.

A stylized pony tail starts with shadow waves at the sides and back of the head. The long ends are rolled into large curls. After enough drying, the entire head is combed and brushed through to give a soft, natural flow to the lines. Then a part is made across the head from ear-top to ear-top. This section is gathered together in a rubber band without pulling the hair too tightly. Next, the lower section of hair is brought up from the neckline and also banded. This makes two individual pony tails. Now, top and bottom tails are combed and brushed until they blend into one and neither rubber band shows. The beautiful full ends cascade with lilt and grace and give your audience something to cheer about.

Another version of the pony tail with the Senz salon finds popular with teens and "twenties" is done exactly the same way only this one involves hair that is somewhat shorter. After the bands have been placed, the hair combed through and brushed, the ends are moulded with the hands into a plump and pretty curl that descends only to the neckline and stays put with nary a pin.

As we've said before either of these pony tails is a far cry from the makeshifts seen so frequently. Both are simple to achieve with a little practice and the new swing you'll get for charm and femininity will be worth all the time and effort it takes.

Tomorrow Mr. Senz, who is giving us a lot of pointers on Fall hair styles this week, will discuss the psychological importance of hair coloring.

WHEN FOOD GIFTS ARE GOOD GIFTS FOR GUEST TO BRING HOSTESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Several weeks ago my husband and I went for the weekend to the summer cottage of friends. They were most thoughtful and efficient, and invited us to come over again for the Labor Day weekend. On our first visit we brought them a large box of special kind of candy (made in our town), and a box of various kinds of nuts. They seemed to like these very much, thanked us heartily. On this coming visit we thought it might be a nice idea to take as a guest-present some kind of special food or foods. Would you appreciate, particularly in summer cottage hostess. Do choose foods that are: easy to carry, attractively packaged so that they give a present-y appearance, albeit most practical. Some attractive cans of roast chicken, for example, or other fowl, or tins of cooked ham, various sizes. A gourmet gift is a collection of various kinds of pastes, liver, minced chicken, deviled ham, and scrhaps pate de foie gras; or cans of fish paste and a choice of spreads. Or various kinds of crackers: bland or sweet, salted. Or you can find an already-packaged collection of salad dressing ingredients: olive oil, Italian or French; two or three kinds of vinegar; one or two kinds of mustards; various herbs. Or a festive box of jars of jams and jellies; or some of these combined with a box of nuts, raisins, etc. Present your food gift to the hostess with a merry comment, such as, "Kay dear, we hope these will be right for your next picnic!"

Representatives of the award winning branches and other interested Women's Institute members enjoyed a social period and delicious afternoon tea following presentation of the awards.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU MUST TELL YOUR PARENTS ABOUT THIS

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm a 19-year-old girl who is very popular. I come from an average family and have wonderful parents. I also have a boy friend whom I like very much, but I feel he isn't as sincere as I am.

Never before have I done anything wrong until now. I'm going to have a baby and I don't know what to do. I'm scared to tell my boy friend for fear of what he would say. If I tell my parents, they would be hurt, and force my boy friend to marry me, but I don't want him to marry me just because he's forced to do it.

Do you think it's best to tell my parents or my boy friend, or can you think it would be best to leave without them knowing anything?

Dear Jean:

Just what would you accomplish by going away without telling anybody about what has happened? Do you think your parents would not be hurt if you just walked out with no explanation at all? And do you think they would eventually find out why you went away?

The first thing for you to do, my dear, is immediately, to let your boy friend the truth and see what he has to say.

If he magnifies offers to marry you, you should give it very serious consideration before making decision. The reason for not snatching at the chance to take this way out of the problem would be because you say you don't feel he is as sincerely in love with you as you are with him. Under such circumstances, your marriage might be unhappy from the very beginning, and your future damaged because of it. But if you had the baby out of wedlock.

However, if he should suggest that you marry immediately, and did so in a way that made you feel he truly wanted to do his best to help you work things out, then I'd accept his offer and ask him to go with you to your parents and break the news.

If he doesn't suggest marriage, then put him right out of your life, go to your parents in yourself and tell them the exact truth. Say that you're bitterly sorry to bring this unhappiness on them, but, since circumstances are what they are, you feel it's only fair to them to be honest about it. Tell them that you would, naturally, be glad and grateful if they would stand by you and see you through.

But that, if they prefer, you'll go away by yourself and assume the responsibility alone, or do anything else they wish.

You say that you have "wonderful parents, so you'll probably want to stand by you. But if, by any chance, they should feel otherwise, then you should write a letter to the National Florence Crittenten Mission, Alexandria, Virginia, giving them all the details and asking if you might be taken care of in one of the homes they maintain throughout the country for girls in just such trouble as yourself. There is one thing you must do, and that is your own city, but if you feel it would be more distressing for you to remain there through the difficult period ahead, they might be willing to make arrangements for you in some other place, or suggest some other organization which could help you.

Mrs. Mrs. McCrimmon showed that a few W.I. members need a few lessons at school again. Mrs. Herrington was the lucky prize winner.

A reading, "Home Building in Ireland," was interesting.

A vote of thanks to the hostess and the conveners was unanimous. A buffet luncheon was served and a social hour spent by the fireplace.

Frozen Food Information

By Mary Moore

Since answering Mrs. Ernest C's letter which requested frozen dinner information I have frozen several individual dinners.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

TUESDAY

Grandma's Cheese Dish, (see Monday); Corn on the Cob; Harvard Beets; Cucumbers in Sour Cream; Fresh Peach Pie; Coffee.

DINNER MAIN COURSE COOKED AND FROZEN

These ideas will help Mrs. Ernest C. and other readers with freezers.

One meal I froze was fried chicken, mixed corn and peas, and fluffy whipped potatoes. Another was Swiss steak with gravy, broccoli and squash; another breaded veal cutlet with gravy, summer succotash (fresh kernel corn and green limas) and spinach.

These individual plates were taken from dinners I was preparing for the family, just before I served the table, and placed on aluminum foil plates, cooled in storing part of refrigerator, then wrapped in foil (or freezer paper). They must be airproof and may be taped. As I said last week, two or three months is the freezer life of such cooked dinners. So if Mrs. Ernest C. wants these ready for her husband to use next January, November is soon enough to prepare them. They make be thawed and heated on the aluminum plate on which they were frozen.

HAMBURG

Meat patties may be shaped from ground beef as soon as it is ground, and undercooked under broiler or in hot pan, then cooled. They are kept separated by round discs of wax paper and stored in straight-sided plastic containers with airtight lids. These may be taped and fast frozen. When needed 1 or 2 or 3 are knocked from top of pile without thawing all of them, and remainder are covered and taped and returned to freezer at once. The undercooked frozen patties are thawed and heated for serving under the broiler or in a hot frying pan.

WHITE POTATOES

French Fried: Cut potatoes into strips, soak 1-2 hour in cold water. Dry. Fry quickly at 375 deg. Fahr. in deep fat to light brown. Cool on absorbent paper, package in rigid containers, quick freeze. To serve spread out on baking sheet and heat about 15 to 20 minutes at 425 deg. Fahr.

Mashed. Cook, then mash, adding milk, butter and seasonings as usual. Cool and spoon into rigid containers. Freeze. Reheat in top of double boiler, beating to regain light texture.

SWEET POTATO PUFFS

(12 servings). These are excellent. Four cups cold cooked mashed sweet potatoes, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup melted butter, 12 marshmallows, cups crushed corn flakes or other cereal, 1-2 cup melted shortening. Combine cold potatoes with yolks, salt and 1-4 cup melted butter. Mix and divide into 12 portions of about 1-3 cup each. Flatten and place marshmallow on top, then pull potato up around it. Dip in flakes mixed with melted shortening. Package in sealed freezer boxes and freeze. Thaw and bake on baking sheet at 350 deg. Fahr. about 20 minutes. A wonderful recipe for reheating for tonight's dinner too. More next week.

New York Yankees Look Bad And Casey Stengel Plenty Worried

Ford, Larsen and Turley On Ailing List With Big Series Coming With White Sox

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe there is going to be a race in the American League after all. New York Yankees took bad and manager Casey Stengel looks nervous.

Faced by a three-game showdown against Chicago White Sox opening tonight in Comiskey Park, ol' Case played a hunch and came off second best in Detroit Monday as the Tigers cracked the Yankees 5-2 and whittled their lead to 3½ games. It was New York's fifth defeat in seven games.

Which means the second-place White Sox, who have won six straight, can edge within three percentage points of the champs if they can sweep the three-game set. That also would leave the Yankees and Sox all even in the lost column.

Only one other American League game was scheduled on Monday and Boston topped Kansas City 16-0.

CHASED IN FIRST

Stengel, with pitching worries aplenty, started southpaw Tom Byrne against the Tigers but when the veteran hit a batter, walked another, gave up a home run to slugger Al Kaline and walked the next man, Casey called it quits and called in young Johnny Kucks in the first.

Kucks did all right, giving up two runs on six hits the rest of the way, but it was too late. After Brask gave up Harvey Kuenn's 30-run 32rd homer in the first, the Tiger righthander blanked the Yanks on seven hits.

Casey gambled in using Kucks, not seriously out the usually reliable Byrne, and lost a starter for the Chicago series. Kucks was pegged to go tonight, with Tom Sturdivant and perhaps the injured Bobby Shantz to pitch the other two.

NAMES DITMAR

With Whitey Ford still ailing, Don Larsen nursing a tender shoulder, and Bob Turley needing a little more rest, Stengel now has named Art Ditmar for tonight's game. Ditmar is 2-6 against the White Sox, but has only won twice as a starter in an 8-8 record.

While Stengel has his troubles, manager Al Lopez figures to use either Jim Wilson (13-8) or Gerry Staley (5-0) tonight with Billy Pierce (19) and Dick Donovan (15-3) in the other two.

Lazy, who was 5-1 against the Yankees while leading the league at 21-13 last year, continued his comeback with a fourth straight complete game for an 8-15 record. He gave up only singles after Brask's homer, which gave Mickey a tie again with Washington's Roy Sievers for most home run and runs-batted-in (89) leads.

TED STILL TOPS

Kaline's homer was his 17th—third in the two-game Detroit sweep—and helped push him to 300 for the first time since June. Mantle's average also went up, but at .377 he stayed two points back of Ted Williams, who was 2-for-3 at .379.

Boston ripped six home runs, two by Frank Malzone, and bunched seven of them in a 10-run seventh inning. Willard Nixon claimed his first shutout in more than a year with a five-hitter while the Red Sox smacked 19.

Minor Baseball

Saddle edged Rollins Construction 5-4 to climax a hard-fought series last night, taking their city fastpitch baseball semi-finals two games to one.

The winners will now meet CNRAA for the championship with the first game slated for CNRAA Park tonight at 6.00 p.m.

Parkdale scored three runs in the last inning on four walks, an error and one base hit to overcome a 4-1 deficit for last night's win. The winners had opened the scoring with one in the top of the inning. Rollins came back with a pair in their half of the frame. Parkdale tied the score in the second while Rollins scored two in the fifth and held the lead until the top of the sixth when the four walks paved the way to Parkdale's victory.

Ron Stratton hurled the win, allowing five hits, fanning eight and walking five. Paul Zakos gave up only three hits while batting for Rollins but had control trouble, walking ten. He whiffed five.

McGrimmon, Moreau and MacDonald each had a single for Parkdale.

Paul Zakos singled twice and Lloyd doubled for the losers. Scott and Cameron also hit safely.

Each team was charged with two errors.

Toronto Leafs Losing Ground In Int. League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Red Wings, one of the most successful International League teams of the decade, appear to be slipping out of the cost-season playoffs for the first time since 1946.

The Red Wings dropped their eighth straight game Monday night 10-6 to first-place Buffalo, and fell to within a game of the fifth-place Havana Sugar Kings. The season ends in two weeks.

Meanwhile Richmond Virginians whipped Miami 7-3 and stretched their third-place lead over the Red Wings to 6½ games. Second-place Toronto dropped 1½ games behind Buffalo, losing to pitcher Jackie Collum and Montreal Royals 4-1.

The Sugar Kings and Columbus Jets were also scheduled.

WON CUP LAST YEAR

Rochester won the governor's cup playoffs last year and in 1955. Since 1946, when Rochester finished fifth and out of the playoffs, the Red Wings have won two league pennants and three cup series. They were never out of the first division.

Manager Cot Deal's pitchers were banned for seven Buffalo runs in the first three innings. Jim Bizzro and Lou Ortiz singled and cracked a three-run homer and Pete Castiglione singled, doubled and tripled to pace the winning attack. Ray Herbert won his 11th.

Mel Wright, a reliever, started for the first time since 1954 for Rochester. He gave up six hits and two runs in two innings and received his fifth loss. The game was Buffalo's ninth consecutive victory over Rochester.

Collum allowed the Maple Leafs seven hits and won his 11th against six defeats. Toronto's Jim Pearce gave up all the Royal runs and lost his eighth game. He has won 14.

Danny Schell hit his 18th home run, two doubles and a single to drive in two runs for Richmond.

Point Anne Downs Brockville 8-1 To Sweep OASA Playdown Series

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Point Anne Cementmen earned their way into the second round of the OASA Intermediate "A" playdowns last night by whipping the Brockville Fenians 8-1 before a good crowd at Brockville's Kelly Park.

The Cementmen took the series in two consecutive games, outscoring the Fenions overall 16-1 and outhitting them 22-6. They will meet the winners between Peterborough East City and Oshawa Cleaners in the second round, that series likely to get under way on the week-end.

Brockville opened the scoring in last night's fixture, played under the lights, with their lone run in the initial frame. The Oxpoliceman led off with a base on balls in the second and exploded with four on the third to break the game wide open. One more in the fourth and a pair in the sixth completed the scoring.

Rapid Robert Hull turned in another excellent pitching chore for the winners, matching Brockville down on four hits over the distance. Only two of these, a double by the leadoff batter in the first, reached the outfield, the others were safeties all in the infield variety.

Hull gave up single hits in the first, third and fourth frames that allowed only two runners on walks in the second and sixth. He struck out eight men, walked half that number and hit one other. A fine defensive fielding play by second baseman Jim Batchelor helped the hard hit ground balls helped considerably.

Southpaw Dar Whitley was the loser and Jerry Jones and Tim Fenion also saw action.

Four Brockville errors aided their downfall while the Pt. Anne boys bobbled twice, neither of the errors proving costly.

Anson doubled and scored later on a fielder's choice play for Brockville but Dave Jones walked and came home on a short passed ball to tie the score. Bob Hull drove in his club's second run with a line triple off the left field wall in the third, scoring Doug Hull who had walked. Before the inning was over two errors, John Batchelor's triple and Dave Jones' single had produced a 3-1 Point Anne lead.

The Cementmen drove Whitley from the hill in the fourth when Jackie Wardhaugh tripled and scored on an overthrow into the crowd and Doug Hull followed with a double down the left field line.

White took the hill at this point but he walked a pair in the sixth, Jackie Wardhaugh sacrificed and was safe on a bad error when Batchelor's throw to cross the plate. White filled the sacks on walks in the ninth but finally got the third out on strikes. Brockville never threatened after Point Anne had taken the lead.

Jackie Wardhaugh with a triple and single and Claude Carr with a pair of solid base hits spearheaded the winner's nine-hit offensive. Bob Hull and John Batchelor also tripled, Doug Hull doubled while Fay Gilmour and Dave Jones singled.

Bud Anson with his double and single was best in defeat, Ron Easter and Roger Chevrier picking up safety singles.

Point Anne: Carr, Wardhaugh, D. Hull, B. Hull, Gilmour, Mulholland, J. Batchelor, Jones, M. Batchelor, Elliott Sr., L. Marcelle.

Nobby Wirkowski Runs Stamps to Win Over Lions

VANCOUVER (CP) — Calgary Stampeders, playing with a subpar offense, defeated Vancouver 20-7 half-time lead to defeat British Columbia Lions 26-20 Monday night in a Western Interprovincial Football Union game.

Stampeders, now with only four games last season and not one victory, remain nine back in league with three straight victories.

Nobby Wirkowski, signed only last week to spell off Jim Finks, the Edmonton castoff threw the Stampeder's second-half ground attack.

HELD THE BALL

Calgary held onto the ball and bottled out the yardage via halfback Lynn Bottoms and fullback Don Carraway. The Stampeders scored two touchdowns and a single while holding the Lions scoreless. A crowd of 28,100 sat in on the game, Lions' second home-stand loss in three tries.

Carraway, a first-year Stampeder from Houston University, halfback Dean Renfro and Jim Clinkscale, former Lions halfback, scored touchdowns for Calgary.

Statistically, Lions had the better of the Calgary club. They picked up 218 yards rushing to 166 for Calgary and 93 yards passing to—making for Toppy Vann—to 88 by Wirkowski.

Kangaroos Meet Erich, Atkins In Main Bout

After the Fabulous Kangaroos, Roy Heffernan and Al Costello, disposed of Ed. and Bill Miller in quick order here last week, it was only natural that another "Bad Boy" would be sent here to test their bag of tricks against these new sensations.

And brother, what a pair of toughies we have together this Friday night Freddie Atkins, who hails from Australia, the homeland of Costello and Heffernan, has taken as a partner one of the most ruthless men in the game, none other than the German giant Fritz Von Erich.

The combo of Erich and Atkins should make the fans forget even the Miller brothers. Neither man has any regard whatsoever for rules, referees or the opposition. But when Roy and Al display some of their colorful tactics, you can bet your last penny that the villians will receive at least as much as they dish out.

Two more of wrestling's better showmen will tangle in the preliminary bout, one Prince Maleva the man of many faces, Lee Henning. Henning almost disposed of the ring here last week but Prince Maleva will stand for no nonsense like that come Friday of this week.

Popular Vic Christy will show his wares again with a chap by the name of Johnny Foti providing the opposition in the opener.

The first bout is slated for 9.00 p.m.

Kingston District Player Is Out

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Leroy Pickard of St. Catharines, secretary of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association, announced Monday the suspension of player Gerald Emmons of Hartington.

Emmons was suspended indefinitely for signing two OSASA certificates in one season. He signed a Senior B form in the Hartington City League which is affiliated with the OASA, and an intermediate C form with Parham.

This is the first suspension among 45,000 OASA registered players this year. It will last until reviewed by the OASA executive committee at its December meeting.

Lincolns Force Sixth Game With Timbermen

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Lincolns Monday night forced a sixth game in their Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior A' semi-final series with Peterborough Timbermen by downing visiting, short-handed visitors 13-6.

Peterborough, winners of the first three games of the best-of-seven set, now hold a 3-2 edge. The sixth game will be played Tuesday.

Jim McNulty triggered three for the winners with Ross Powless and Ivan Thomas adding two each. Roger Smith, Lee Yeates, Al Doyle, Harry Cuming, Jim McKinnon and Tony D'Amico also scored.

Carl Brioux, Bud McDougall and Bobby Curtis split Timbermen's total.

Peterborough Juveniles Eliminate Belleville From O.B.A. Playdowns

Peterborough Petes pushed across one run in the bottom of the tenth inning last night to shade the Belleville Juveniles 3-2 in the deciding game of their O.B.A. Juvenile "A" playdown series.

The loss was a heartbreaker for Gordie Bell's local kids who held a 2-0 lead until the eighth when the Petes tied the score and went on to win in one extra frame.

Al Wade opened Peterborough's winning frame with an infield single and before three of could be retired Kimball and Copping had also connected for base knocks to plate the lead runner.

Belleville opened the scoring with one run in the second on a walk, sacrifice and Gerald Hill's single. They added their second in the sixth when Bill Foster walked, stole second, went to third on Dennis Kerrulak's base hit and scored on a wild pitch. "Gerald" Hill held the winners off the score sheet until an error paved the way for their two in the eighth after two men had been retired. Copping followed the error with a run-scoring double and Lustic drove him home with the tying marker on a long triple.

Wade held the complete game for Belleville, scattering 11 hits. He set seven down via third strike and issued just two free tickets.

Jack Casey went the route for the winners, stopping the opposition on five base hits, all single. He whiffed eight and passed two.

Lustic with a triple and sacrifice, Copping with a double and single and Kimball with a single and double were the main hitters in Peterborough's attack. Tetlock also doubled and Rowe, Wade and Cavanagh touched Hill for base knocks.

Merely the tying marker on two of his club's base hits while others were divided among Dennis Kerrulak, Jackie Elliott and Gordie St. Louis.

Sugar Ray Robinson Hopes Deal Can Be Made With TV

NEW YORK (AP)—While promoter Jim Norris lay in a hospital bed, Sugar Ray Robinson blasted today he was ready to go through with his middleweight championship defence with Carmen Basilio on Sept. 23.

"I have high hopes that we will reach some understanding," said Robinson, who has been feuding with Norris' International Boxing Club over the question of theatre TV.

Truman Gibson, IBC secretary, confirmed that Robinson said he wanted to make a deal.

"If he is sincere," said Gibson, "I think we can reach some agreement in a few days."

The IBC signed with Theatre Network Television. Robinson declaimed he could make more money if the theatre TV rights were awarded to Telepromptu, a rival. He maintained that, according to his contract with the IBC, no theatre TV agreements were to be signed without his consent.

NOT CONSULTED

He was not consulted before the IBC signed with Theatre Network Television, he said.

"But right now my main concern is for Jim's welfare," Sugar Ray added. "I'm sure everything will be all right. Perhaps we can combine the theatres of the two companies."

Norris was stricken with food poisoning Monday just as he was about to go into concrence with Robinson in an effort to reach an agreement. He will be kept under observation in hospital for a couple of days.

Before he became ill, Norris attended a meeting of the New York State Athletic Commission and Robinson. What happened there was enough to confuse anyone. Commission chairman Julius Helfand said his group had no jurisdiction over the TV deals, but that Robinson would have to meet Basilio on the appointed date unless he designated title.

NOT REFUSING TO FIGHT

"I am not refusing to fight," said Jack Robinson, "but upon entering that ring, if I see or hear any television cameras or lights, I'm walking out."

"You contracted for that fight," Helfand told Robinson. "We advise you to see your lawyer and see what the penalties will be."

"I don't want any delay," shouted Robinson. "If this action means taking my title away, do it now. I'll bring action against the state and this commission for taking away my rights as a citizen."

"Don't threaten us," shouted back Helfand, now flushing with anger. "Take any action you want to take, but we don't intend to listen to your threats."

Then, pointing at Robinson, he bristled:

"The next move is up to you."

$100,000 IN PROMOTION

Asked if he contemplated any action against Robinson if the middleweight champion we n t through with his threat not to fight, Norris replied:

"We certainly would think about it. We have at least $100,000 tied up in the promotion. Including $30,000 advanced to Robinson himself."

In Alexandria Bay, N.Y., Basilio took it all calmly.

"The whole thing doesn't make much sense to me," he observed. "One day Robinson says he refuses to fight because he won't get enough money from television and the next day he talks of pulling out if there is any TV at all. As for me, I'll be there for the fight."

"Let's make a deal. You don't talk while I'm catchin' 'em an' I won't say a word while you fry 'em!"

Orlando Swimmer Collapses After Crossing Lake

TORONTO (CP)—Jim Woods, 41-year-old marathon swimmer from Orlando, Fla., collapsed Monday after plowing across the 32 cold, current-riddled miles of Lake Ontario between Youngstown, N.Y., and Toronto.

He reached Centre Island in Toronto harbor after a 19-hour battle to conquer the lake at his third attempt this year.

The veteran swimmer was helped into his accompanying boat by trainer Fred Moore, then he lapsed into unconsciousness. He was taken to Toronto lifeguard's John Street station for treatment.

Woods originally headed for the Canadian National Exhibition breakwater, but a strong current carried him more than a mile off course. The most of his swim he faced a north wind, blowing steadily at 10 miles an hour. The water temperature when he finished the swim was 66.

WAS "JUST RIGHT"

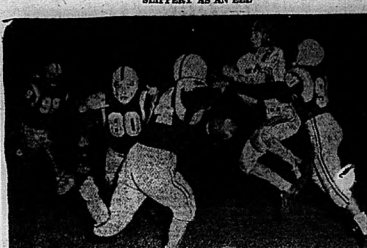
Woods said: "It was just a hard swim. I thought I'd make it just right. I could make it. I caught it just right."

He said he made the swim for his 23-month-old son Jimmy, who is learning to swim. "I wanted to set a mark for him to look up to."

He is the second man to complete the crossing in three days. Bill Sadler, 37, of Brooklyn, a father from Harlem, N.Y., completed the crossing last Friday in 18 hours.

Others who have completed the crossing are Marilyn Bell and Cindy Jaremy, both of Toronto, and Brenda Fisher of Britain.

Woods has made three attempts last year. In one he was taken out just four miles from Toronto.



Rain made the ball slippery and difficult to handle as Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Montreal Alouettes clashed in a Big Four football game at Hamilton. Four Tiger-Cats close in on Alouette end Red Quinlan and the loose ball as a Sam Etcheverry pass is missed. Ti-Cats are: Tony Curcillo (09), Hal Waggoner (23), Johnny Fedosoff (84) and Eddie Macon (90). Hamilton won 22-6. (CP Photo).

London Majors Down Hamilton To Win Title

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors downed Hamilton Beavers 6-2 Monday night to wrap up the Great Lakes District baseball title in the Great Lakes-Niagara League.

Majors, who led both divisions of the league at the end of the season, required only the minimum number of games in the best-of-five series with Hamilton. They now go after the league title and will meet the winner of a best-of-five series between Welland-Crowland Sentinels and Niagara Falls Kerrios.

Kerrios won the opening game Monday night as they cut a ninth-inning Sentinel rally short at four runs to triumph 6-4.

UPSETTERS BEATEN

Listowel Legionaires, a whizzkid team that upset St. Thomas Elgins in Intercounty League semi-finals, were defeated 6-1 in the first game of the best-of-seven finals with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Hambletonian Will Be Raced In Two Divisions

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP)—The 32nd Hambletonian, climaxing grand circuit harness racing, will be trotted on the lighting-fast mile oval of the State Fairgrounds one day before an expected throng of 50,000.

Held at this coal mining community of 7,100 population for the first time in the history of the race at Goshen, N.Y., the Kentucky Derby of the sulkies will gross $111,128.25, a record Hichest purse.

Attendance in the past has been upwards of only 16,000. The crowd jamming DuQuoin comes also to attend the carnival-like state fair.

In this Mardi Gras setting, where pari-mutuel betting is prohibited, the race will be contested for the 24 divisions, making for one of the longest drawn-out competitions ever to determine the winner.

The competition starts at 3:45 p.m. EDT and will wind up about two hours later.

The favorites are Hoot Song, driven by Ralph Baldwin; Buckeye Demon, piloted by Harrison Dyer Demon, pilot ed by Harrison Dyer, the only amateur ever to win the Hambletonian (1948 with Demon Hanover); and Hickory Smoke, winter-book favorite with John Simpson at the reins.

Only twice in the last 10 years has a favorite won.

Gus Bell Out For Season

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Redlegs Monday lost outfielder Gus Bell for the remainder of the season because of an injury. They promptly recalled Jim Thurman from Seattle for the Pacific Coast League.

They also asked for waivers on pitcher Vicente Amor. Redleg officials said it is necessary to get rid of a player in order to bring up Thurman because no player can be placed on the disabled list after Aug. 1.

Amor was brought up from Havana of the International League several weeks ago and has a 1-2 record with Cincinnati.

Sievers Could Replace Mantle As Homer King

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Sievers is in a good position to replace Mickey Mantle as the American League home run king and become the first Washington player to lead his circuit in the department.

While Mantle and Ted Williams have tailed off in their home run production — Mickey hit his last one Aug. 13 and Ted on Aug. 14— Sievers has walloped three to take over the lead.

Roy's total of 3 already gives him, the all-time mark for any Senators' player. Mantle has 32 and Williams 31.

(The figures are for games through Sunday. Mantle hit another home run Monday in the Yanks' 8-5 loss to Detroit to draw even with Sievers.)

Sievers also has moved past Mantle in the runs batted in competition. He had four last night, giving him 89 for the season. The Yankees' centrefielder is followed by Minnie Minoso of Chicago with 82.

AARON DOMINATES

In the National League, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee dominates both the home run and RBI races. Hank hit three homers and drove in seven runs in last week's action. His totals are 37 circuit blows and 102 runs batted in.

Boston's Williams and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cards, who won 10 batting titles between them, follow Aaron for second place (6), continue to head the pack.

Williams, however, dropped 14 points and showed a .377 average. Mantle, last season's batting champ, is only a decimal behind with .376.

Musial, who was sidelined with a shoulder injury last Thursday, tops the National League with a .340 average. Willie Mays of the Giants climbed into second place at .335 on an eight-point gain.

Trying to Put Stratford Back On Hockey Map

STRATFORD (CP) — A group of veteran hockey players headed by Mickey Roth, Bruce Dale, Bill Flick and Dinny Flannigan have set out to try to put Stratford back in Ontario Hockey Association Senior ranks.

The players' group Monday started a canvass of local business organizations in order to raise funds to support the club.

The plan is to sell space in the program for the projected team.

The players also plan to canvass merchants and citizens in order to make their drive a success.

The OHA has given Stratford until the end of the month to decide whether the city will enter Senior A ranks for the coming season.

PORT ERIE (CP) — Roxy Glan's All View, running from behind the pace the last three-eighths of a mile, collected the Hotel Buffalo Purse, feature race before a crowd of 5,794 fans Monday as racing entered its final week here this year. The thoroughbreds swing up to Toronto next Monday and will finish the season there.

Ridden by Avelino Gomez, All View never lasthered with the early foot horses like The Schreiber, Momus and Bernfield. But nearing the far turn, he began his prodigious run that at the end of the stretch had him locked in a stretch-long duel with Bernfield. In the 4-6 for the mile and a sixteenth. Momus was third.

Gomez, who rode five winners Saturday, won four more Monday. He took the opener on Dawn Light, the fourth on Fencing Master. All View in the sixth and Standing in the seventh.

Sequola earned $32,950 and covered the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5.

Gabby Anderson Wins League Batting Title

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Despite a season-end slump, London Majors' outfielder Stan (Gabby) Anderson won the Great Lakes-Niagara District League batting championship with a season's record average of .466.

The 27-year-old slugger, whose feat earned him the Sam Manson of Hamilton Trophy, hit only .250 over the final two weeks of the season.

Another London player, southpaw pitching star Roy McKay, won the Niagara District Trophy as the league's top hurler. He had a 6-1 won-lost record at the end of the season and a 1.59 earned-run average.

Luther (Chubby) Clifford, Brantford Red Sox playing manager, and winner of the Senior Intercounty batting crown in 1956 was second to Anderson this year with a .381 average.

Tommy (Tuber) Buchanan, Niagara Falls slugger, was third with a .375 mark.

Don Mayes of London, who tied with Anderson for the home run title with five each, was fourth in the batting race with a .367 average. Mayes led the league in total bases with 55 and was second with 49 runs.

Welland's John Blazinski was the second best among the league's pitchers with a 2.03 earned-run average.

Rory Calhoun Wins Decision Over Giambra

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Rory Calhoun banged Joey Giambra repeatedly with right crosses and uppercuts Monday night to win a unanimous 10-round decision.

Calhoun, from White Plains, N.Y., and weighing 158½, battled at the start but in the fourth round found the range with his bombing right hand.

Giambra, 160, from San Francisco, jabbed and occasionally scored with a flurry but could not repeat the late round action that brought him a draw with Calhoun when they fought last June 21 in Syracuse, N.Y.

Little Benny's Notebook

By Bennett Cerf

We were eating dinner, being frugal and vegetables, and ma said to pop, "These Brussel sprouts remind me, William.

They remind me too, pop said. They remind me of cabbage, he said, and ma said, That's exactly what they remind me of. I got a head of cabbage at the market. Of course it only cost a few cents but that's not the big point. When i cut it open it was full of black spots inside, so naturally I threw the whole thing away, she said.

You should of taken it back and thrown it at the vice president in charge of vegetables, pop said, and ma said, You're exactly right, William. I should go to that market and insist on having a good head of cabbage absolutely free at their expense, just for the principal of the thing.

It's a good principal, pop said, and ma said, Suppose I had been recklessly economical and cooked the cabbage, spots and all? We might all have some awful form of jungle fever right at this moment, she said.

You can mention that to the vice president, pop said. Maybe he'll give you 5 heads of cabbage and throw in a bunch of parsley. I'll go with you and poke him in the snoot if he dares raise his hand to you, he said, and ma said, Honestly, William, I mean actually, I've felt more and more strongly about it ever since it happened, and that was at least a month ago.

Yes gods, it's too late, pop said. Morally speaking you have a good case, but legally the statute of limitations applying to perishable vegetables is agone you, he said, and ma said, Oh well, these Brussel sprouts are nice.

Which they were.

NAMES SOCCER FAVORITES

LONDON (AP)—British soccer referee Jack Husband, returning from a tour of South America, Monday named Argentina, Russia, England and Sweden as favorites for the World Cup in Sweden next year.

"Those four teams are my choice," the 44-year-old referee said, "Foot football is a fast game. There are plenty of other teams who could come out of the blue and pull off some big surprises."

Harness Driver Gets Gate for Sixty Days

TORONTO (CP)—Herve Filion, harness driver from Montreal, had barely cleared the winner's enclosure at Greenwood Raceway night when he was slapped with a 60-day suspension from racing.

Presiding steward Clarence McPhee had Filion paged over the track's public address system while he was still in the winner's enclosure after driving Professor Me, an 11 - year - old gelding registered under the name of his brother, Gilles Filion to victory in the fifth race.

The suspension was announced by McPhee on a charge of "inconsistent driving." In Professor Me's four previous starts at Old Woodbine, all with Filion driving, the gelding had won one and lost lengths and three times by 17.

The odds were 8-to-5 as it won in 2:05.

McPhee said that the horse could not be moved back from first place because the driver is not registered as the owner.

The daily double of Lady Riddell and Angusmor paid $256.30, tops for the season.

Redleg Manager Reads Riot Act In Clubhouse

CINCINNATI (AP)—Earl Lawton, baseball reporter for The Cincinnati Times-Star, wrote in a story from New York Monday that manager Birdie Tebbetts of the sizzling Cincinnati Redlegs "read the riot act" to his players in a closed clubhouse meeting after Sunday's 10-1 defeat by New York Giants.

Lawton really tipped us — real good." Lawson quoted one unnamed player as saying:

It was a tern-around for the Redleg manager, long known for his quiet use of psychology and diplomacy with his players. Only last week he said, "At times like this patience is required—that's the main thing patience."

Two weeks ago, who were in and out of first place for more than half the season, they have lost 13 of their last 14 games. They are in fifth place, 7½ games behind second-place New York.

Lawson wrote that Tebbetts' "new hard stick" policy includes an 11 o'clock curfew and bed check after day games, an hour's extra batting drill; a ban on beer drinking and a ban on smoking while in uniform.

Long Interview

BROOKLYN (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers officials met with Dodger Mayor Robert F. Wagner Monday to discuss prospects of keeping the Dodger baseball franchise in Brooklyn.

There was no immediate report ahead of schedule of the 2½-hour meeting.

Talks dealt chiefly with plans for a new Brooklyn baseball park near the intersection of Atlantic and Flatbush avenues.

Confidential Publisher Stays Far Away From Courtroom

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Anyone going up the stair I met, a man who wasn't there. . . ."

As the Confidential magazine trial goes into its fourth week today, witnesses have sketched an intriguing picture of the man who isn't there. He is Confidential publisher Robert Harrison, who is so mentioned constantly in the testimony but stays far, far away from the courtroom, in New York.

Actually, there are two pictures of Harrison. According to the prosecution witnesses he is a terrible-tempered man who will go to any extremes to sell magazines. According to defense witnesses, he is a crusader who is out to attack corruption in government and the "false idols" of the entertainment world.

SOME THINGS KNOWN

You can take your pick. But some non - controversial aspects can be determined. For instance:

1. There is no doubt that he has been successful. High water mark for Confidential's circulation was around 4,000,000.

2. Harrison should be a wealthy man. He is reported to earn 14 cents from each 25-pent magazine. His expenses are said to be $300,000 an issue—divided among paper, printing and editorial expenses. That means he could net $250,000 in profit with each issue of Confidential alone.

3. Harrison got his inspiration for Confidential by observing tales of certain segments of the American public. He apparently was impressed by the sales of the Jack Lait-Lee Mortimer books: Chicago Confidential, and Washington Confidential, and it boomrowed the title from them.

No doubt about it, Harrison and Confidential are part of the social phenomenon of the United States at mid-century.

SOCIETY ON TRIAL

Courtroom sidelights . . . There is reported to be a screen writer in court daily to record the so-called drama for use in a projected movie about Confidential magazine . . . among those covering the trial, the man who gets the most attention is an artist for a magazine. Most of the principals in the case will oversee his work and approve or disapprove how they are portrayed. Once he drew a picture of a juror drawing a sketch of the prosecutor.

Jim Gardiner Out of TV Just Hour After Starting

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Gardiner has given himself exactly one hour to get out of television.

"If you're not doing what you want most to do, you'll never be happy now, will you?" he challenges.

"I've got 20-20 vision, no ulcer, my pulse is normal. And that's the way it's going to stay."

Gardiner, a lanky navy Seabee from Hatch, N.M., steps into the spotlight of TV from 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. Sept. 23 as narrator of an hour-long spectacle, Eleven Against the Ice over NBC's network.

THAT WILL BE IT

That stint, says Jim, will be his exit as airwave career, even though pre-show rumors make his breezy gab a distinctive asset to the adventure show.

"Eleven Against the Ice is the color film account of how an army-navy team hacked a polecat trail across the frozen wastes of Antarctica a few months back in the interests of scientific research.

"I didn't have to see the film," said Jim after recording his narration. "I'd seen it all first hand already."

As the "cat-skinner" (more formally, construction driver first class), Jim was one of the men of the 11 who spent six weeks cutting a 647-mile trail from

MONEY IS MOTIVE

"You know why I said I'd do it?" Jim asked. "For money, that's why. But no more."

He found certain script changes necessary as he went along.

"Civilians talk differently than we do," he reports. "I had to translate some of it into 'cat-skinner' language.

"Can you imagine me, for instance, using a word like awesome?

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday falls and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, August 28, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — There are no unfriendly aspects, and Mercury is very suspiciously poised. Mentality should be keen and bright as many. A fine period for written matters, law, smart dressing, management.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — You can gain much ground in all of your worthwhile activities. You may not accomplish every big job but the day can be satisfactory, rewarding. Creative effects favored; intuition should be keen.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — A good day for research, work in fines where quick wit and sharp discernment mean a great deal. A benefic time for reporters, experts, authors, etc. All skills should be heightened, however.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You cannot only maintain your present status, but can add to your chances for gain and advancement now — perhaps find new methods for improving your work. Leave some time for recreation.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Friendly influences encourage conscientious and intelligently managed work; also study, research, all methods for bettering oneself spiritually and physically.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — There should be no confusion now. Plan your schedule carefully, and execute tasks with ease of mind and manner, and you can have a profitable day. Avoid extremes; love means fun.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Similar to Taurus today. A grand time for putting your house in order, adding to your general knowledge. Avoid needless details.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Most activities will need careful handling if you would get the full benefits possible now. Think before you act and be gently decisive.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Maintain the right tempo and tackle important matters first to come closer to goals. Today has stirring hours for high achievement through mental work, smart maneuvering.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — A fairly generous day. Get an early start at your essential program and stay with it until you have at least accomplished some aims. You have a good head; use it.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Some very interesting situations indicated through which you can benefit. New materials, new methods, progressive management generally can further advancement.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — A sense of humor, added to your usual fine intuition and sense of balance should bring advantages, rewards now — or soon. It is how you exercise your gifts that will score for or against you.

You born today have a magnetic personality; are level-headed, ever-tempered (unless hurt or aggravated), have a variety of talents and capabilities. Order, system and neatness are strong characteristics, but don't permit them to make you too exacting or demanding. Worry, anxiety and burdens can prove harmful taking on more than your share. Use common sense and give some thought to yourself and your health. Your artistic talents should be cultivated and used to their full value; also mechanical gifts and other priceless assets.

Birthdate: Sir Edw. Burne-Jones, painter.

The U.S. Army has covered between 2,000 and 3,000 miles with rockets based on the Jupiter intermediate-range missile. The U.S. Air Force has under production a jet-powered pilotless but guided bomber, the Snark, which is considered able to travel from the American continent to major targets in Russia.

The Russian announcement said the Soviet government was forced to develop the ICBM to safeguard Russia's security because of "the negative attitude on the part of the Western powers, primarily the United States, towards a positive solution of the disarmament problem."

Commenting on the five-power disarmament talks in London, the announcement said the Western powers have taken no practical steps toward disarmament.

The Russians accused the Western allies of blocking any weapons, and pledged that Russia would continue working toward this goal.

Defence Minister Pearkes said in Victoria Monday night that he sees no cause for alarm in the Russian announcement, although the Western world would "have to pattern its defences . . . against the background of a possible missile attack supported by thermonuclear bombs."

He noted that such a missile is not scientifically practical, but "we don't believe Russia is any further ahead than the Western powers."

He indicated that a definite form of defence is being tested, but declined to elaborate. He didn't believe that a weapon could be invented without a counter-weapon being found.

In Ottawa, Canada's A. H. Zimmerman of the Defence Research Board said a fully operational intercontinental missile is still a long way off.

A DIFFERENT THING

"It is one thing to make a first flight, but a different thing to be in a position to attack anybody." A fully operational missile would not, in his belief, be available "for some years."

Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of Canada's chiefs of staff committee, and Air Marshal Roy Slemon, chief of air staff, with him at the Canadian commission, Foulkes said he had nothing to add to the defence minister's comments.

In Washington, one senator said the Russians are engaging in "ballistic blackmail."

The Russian claim aroused intense interest at the U.S. defence department but no public comment. However, there was no disposition by defence officials to disparage the Soviet claim.

Ross Fleming Receives High Honors in C.I.C.

MADOC — Congratulations are extended to Ross Fleming, of the Madoc High School staff, who received high honors at the Cadet Instructors Camp at Camp Borden. Mr. Fleming attended a seven-week Grade A qualifying course for Cadet Instructors and was chosen from about 70 at the Basic Training Centre for the highest award.

In addition, he was presented with the Sam Brown for general proficiency, which includes all phases of general military training. He will now be commissioned as an Officer in the Cadet Services of Canada and will become a regular member of Madoc District High School Cadet Corps.

Captain Carl Howse, principal of Madoc High School, also spent seven weeks at Camp Borden taking an Infantry signallers' course.

Mrs. Fleming and family, Mrs. Howse and Billy attended the Passing Out Parade.

WANT CITY REFORMED

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany (AP) — The U.S. Army today threatened to put Kaiserslautern out of bounds if German officials don't suppress its sinfulness. The city of 100,000 is widely known for its large concentration of prostitutes. The army acted after residents of Kaiserslautern formed an association and threatened to tell American women's clubs about the soldier-prostitute problem.

Little Benny's Notebook

I met pop getting off the bus and I started to walk home with him for company, and Lucky Leroy Shooter went past and I said, Oh boy, I'd be lucky if I see only half as lucky as that guy. Did you notice the golf ball he was bouncing? I said.

Is it any unusual quality or intriting history? pop said, and I said, It has an intriting history all right, Lucky Leroy found it in the grass in the Park yesterday. He finds something prtity near every day. Everything that happens to him is lucky. Once I saw him drop a cracker spred with peenut butter 3 times, and each time it landed with the peenut butter side up instead of down. That might happen once by accident, but 3 times in a straight row is just pure luck, I said.

The law of averages points that way, that a fact, pop said, and I said, If his mother brings home a box of Fluffed Oatsies with a prize init, it's sure to be something valuable like a water pistol, instead of a dum, old whistle or something.

You're not so unlucky there, pop said. A water pistol is one of the sunnny deelly weapons that are illegal in your particular family, he said, and I said, Well anyways, if you asked any fellow around here who he'd rather be, I bet he'd say Lucky Leroy Shooter.

Do you mean if you had a chance to change places with him you'd sign a contract to that effect? pop said, and I said, Well, if I could still keep you and ma. There wouldn't be a chance, pop said, and I said, Then I guess I'm lucky enough.

Which I guess I am.

The town has made a big improvement in Metcalfe Street, putting on a new top of mulch or macademize and thus repairing it from Jack Meraw's corner southward. Little Benny's Notebook

There was a letter for me when I came down to breakfast, and I said, Hay, good night, this is a heck of a note, somebody went and opened my letter.

Now calm your excitement, I wasn't reading the letter at all, ma said, and I said, Why wasn't it? It had a stamp on it and every thing, and it had my name on the front. I said.

I mean it wasn't even first class mail, ma said. There was a flap on the envelope for anybody to open that got at and I said, Well that's just it, for all you knew the flap might been a disguise to throw people off the trail so nobody would expect there was a secret message inside.

By golliss, mother, he's right, pop said. If that had been a secret message and you leeked it out the police might of swooped down on you and you'd of been lucky if we ever saw him again, he said and ma said, All right, then in that case the leest you can do is lead him the money to pay for a dozen cakes of Angels Breth soap, and then buy the soap from him to protect the neighbors.

Yee gods, it that when the letter was about? pop said, and ma said, Yes, and you're in for it now. The only other way out is to forget the whole song and give him his 2 dollers' profit.

O, pop, that's an idea, I said, and pop said, I've heard better ones.

The result being he compromised by giving me 25 cents and putting the letter in his pocket.

Making me feel partly lucky.

Either Act Part Or Drop Titles Peers Advised

LONDON (AP) — The Third Baron Kinross urged the peers of Britain Monday to act like kings instead of "behaving like film stars."

The 53-year-old baron, whose full name is Patrick Douglas Balfour, took aim on Lord Altrincham and the Marquess of Londonderry, who recently criticized the Queen and her court. He said: "Either they (the peers) should drop their titles altogether or they should act and talk with dignity and reflection, consideration, decency and wisdom.

Diefenbaker Calls For More Effort In Arms Talks

Scientists Urge Caution in Assessing Russia's Claim

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker, commenting on a Russian announcement that the Soviet Union had successfully tested an intercontinental ballistic missile, has called for "redoubled sincerity and effort" in the London disarmament talks.

Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of Canada's chiefs of staff, analyzed the broad defence outlook and said Russia's rocket hasn't outmoded North America's defence planning.

And military scientists urged caution in interpreting the Monday night announcement by Tass, the Soviet news agency, that the Soviet rocket flew at an unprecedented altitude, covered a vast distance in a brief time and landed in a target area.

The general and the scientists insisted that too little has been said by the Russians to justify reading into their words that they have accomplished a United States goal—rocket capable of landing a nuclear warhead accurately upon a target 5,000 miles distant.

Mr Diefenbaker, who also is secretary of state for external affairs, said in a press statement Tuesday night that whatever monopoly Russia has in rocket science "we may be sure it will not long endure."

"Research into long - range rockets has been pressed forward elsewhere, and especially in the United States, during the past several years and I do not expect that the day is not far distant when the design of missiles which can reach virtually anywhere in the world will be widely understood."

Intercontinental missiles would miraculate the world in a new era of warfare, just as had the first nuclear weapons 12 years ago during final stages of the Second World War.

Pilots Killed After Collision On Runway

HALIFAX (CP) — A United States exchange pilot, his radio out of order, and apparently unaware of a volley of danger flares being fired by the control tower, brought his Banshee jet aircraft down on a busy runway Tuesday and crashed into a moving Avenger patrol plane. The pilots of both planes died.

The pilot of the propeller-driven Avenger was Sub-Lt. Julian George Freeman, 21, of Battersea, Ont., a member of the Kingston reserve unit, one of five reserve units now training here. The Banshee pilot was Lieut. Edward K. Trzcinski, 29, Hartford, Conn.

The Banshee, a twin-jet all-weather fighter ourchased by the Canadian navy last year, approached the airport as Freeman and two other Avenger pilots were circling along a runway for a formation takeoff.

FIRES FLARES

The control tower was unable to make contact with the Banshee and when it began making a final approach to a runway at right angles to the one being used by the Avenger, a tower operator fired a volley of red danger flares. The pilot apparently missed seeing them and his aircraft hit the Avenger at the runway intersection.

The planes burst into flames following the impact. A navy helicopter hurried to the scene and scattered the flames with its prop wash while firefighters pulled the bodies from the wreck.

Trzcinski had been here as an exchange pilot since April.

Canadian Dollar At Lowest Level Since June 24

NEW YORK (AP)—The Canadian dollar, which soared to record heights last week, dropped back today to its lowest level since June 24.

Foreign exchange dealers quoted the dollar at $1.04 19-64 in terms of U.S. dollars off 5-64 of a cent from Tuesday's close. The dollar has been slipping steadily since it reached the historic high of $1.05¼ Aug. 20.

Traders attributed the decline in part to the fact that rumors of possible devaluation of some European currencies had failed to materialize. Much of the recent strength of the Canadian dollar resulted from an increase of European investments in Canada.

Another factor mentioned was a statement by Premier Frost of Ontario. He said it might be necessary to peg the Canadian dollar at par with the U.S. dollar because the big premium was working a hardship on Canadian exporters.

QUE. DETECTIVE DROWNS THREE CHILDREN, SELF

Said Man Suffered Nervous Depression

QUEBEC (CP)—A Quebec detective captain and his three children were drowned in the harbor Tuesday night. Police said the man had been suffering from a nervous depression for about three months.

The victims were Detective Captain Roland Masse, 42, and his children, Lisette, 13, Nicole, 10, and Richard, 4. Mrs. Masse suffered severe nervous shock and was under a doctor's care after learning of the fatalities.

Guilbert Lesage, assistant director of the city detective office and Masse's immediate superior said the drownings appear to have been "the result of a voluntary act." He said Masse had been depression Masse had been suffering for some time.

Dragging and diving operations were to continue in the harbor at first light Wednesday, the bodies. The victims went down in about 60 feet of water.

ADVISED AGAINST

Police said Masse, appearing tired, left his office late Tuesday and went home. He offered to take his children to the harbor in his family boat.

A harbor watchman, Roland Deschenes, told police he heard screams and saw a man chasing her as she shouted: "Don't do it, papa."

He said he recognized the man as Masse, a personal acquaintance.

The girl fell, Deschenes said, and the man picked her up and threw her into the river, then dived in himself, crying "It's too late for the girl."

Deschenes said he didn't see the other two children.

ANOTHER WITNESS

An unidentified crew member of the freighter Pointe Lebel Willem confirmed Deschenes' account of the incident, police said. The unidentified police car was found near the docks.

Assistant Director Guillemette said Masse underwent hospital treatment for his nervous condition during the last three months. He said Masse was preparing to build himself a house, and the problem was bothering him.

But he said Capt. Masse was a good policeman. "He was usually given difficult assignments. I had great confidence in him, Guillemette said.

FROST HITS WEST

REGINA (CP)—A cold Arctic air mass has moved into Saskatchewan and sent the thermometer falling to a record low for the date of 22 degrees. The seasonal low Sunday night caused damage to gardens, flowers and late crops over a wide area.

BIG SHIPBUILDING PLANS

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Yugoslav shipyards have concluded contracts with foreign owners to build 36 ocean vessels with about 1,000,000 tons by the end of 1963, the official news agency Tanjug said Monday. Most of the ships' owners are in the United States, Britain, Panama, Liberia, Norway, Sweden and other countries.

Was Kidnapped By Truck Driver Says Missing Boy

MONTREAL (CP) — Eight-year-old Philippe Dipinto, missing for 20 hours, walked into his home Tuesday, pale, tired and hungry but said his parents he had been kidnapped by a truck driver whose face he never saw.

He said he was grabbed around the mouth, forced into the rear of a delivery truck, driven away and kept there without food. Then, he said, he was released.

A policeman said: "Little boys have great imaginations — teenagers."

The boy's father said: "I believe him. . . . Why was he so chilled and tired and pale when he returned home?"

Yemen Says RAF Uses New Bomb Causing Victims to Vomit and Die

LONDON (Reuters) — Yemen today accused Britain of attacking its forces with a new type of bomb which causes the victims to vomit blood and die. The air ministry denied the accusation.

A statement from the London legation of the Red Sea Arab kingdom said that "at 10 a.m. Greenwich time on Aug. 25 British aircraft launched a savage attack, the first of its kind, on the area of Shukair in Yemen."

RAF planes have made a number of attacks on the disputed frontier between Yemen and the British protectorate of Aden, alleging that Yemeni forces invaded the protectorate.

"The aircraft dropped on the area bombs never used before by previous British aggressions," the statement said. "The effect of these besides their great destructiveness is that the produce is vomited which burns the spot on which they fall and then produces fatal results.

"The smoke causes the inhalers to vomit blood and die.

"These bombs have destroyed and burned all pulls in the area killing a number of the defending troops.

"This aggression is still continuing in a horrible manner."

Britain warned Yemen that she will continue to attack Yemen forces which cross into the Aden protectorate. The foreign office said in a statement:

"The positions occupied by Yemeni troops on which attacks have been made are inside the boundaries of the Aden protectorate."

One Dead, 4 Others Wounded In Prison Riot in Colorado

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP)—A prisoner at the Colorado State Reformatory was shot to death and four others were wounded Tuesday night in a wild, 45-minute riot by 125 prisoners.

They were locked inside a cell block with three guards, but soon 60 officers armed and shooting broke it up.

In the turmoil of flying chairs, swinging fists, bunk fires and bullets, Evaristo Gomez, 23, was killed. Three other prisoners in the thick of the fight were shot in the leg and a bullet hit another in his finger.

Two guards were beaten unconscious.

One of them, Robert Allinger, 47, threw the lock that prevented the rioting cons from fleeing. He and guard Sam Montgomery, 43, were then badly beaten.

They were marching more than 200 of the camp's nearly 400 convicts—from their cell block after dinner in recreation. Many were still outside the block when those inside suddenly grabbed chairs and began attacking the two guards with their fists and clubs.

"There are about 18 cells on each of the three tiers on each side," Allinger said later. "About 30 or 40 boys actually started it all.

"They threw down mattresses from their cells and set them on fire. They were burning up anything that was loose, even the guard desk.

"I was unarmed. I closed the door when the trouble started so they couldn't get out. Then we started fighting them. I picked up a table leg and started swinging. Then I was knocked unconscious.

But before I went down I saw Gomez hitting another officer with a club."

Cause of the riot was not determined immediately, but state Governor Steve McNichols, who planned to drive here from Denver today, said he understood the prisoners "believed they were being worked too hard."

The dead prisoner was serving his second reformatory term for robbery.

Federal Grain Decisions Will Be Announced This Weekend

OTTAWA (CP)—Major federal grain decisions, perhaps outlining the nature of new aid to prairie producers, likely will be announced this weekend.

This was indicated by Prime Minister Diefenbaker after a cabinet meeting Tuesday. Another meeting is scheduled for Thursday. Mr. Diefenbaker said his announcements may be expected in three or four days.

Immediately details, he said the decisions will cover action on cash advances to producers for farm-stored grain and the question of extending legislation to provide farmers with government - guaranteed, interest-bearing loans.

These decisions may come just when the bureau of statistics releases its first estimate of the 1957 grain harvest. The estimate, to be published Friday may show a wheat crop down sharply from last year and below the better-than - average crops of recent years.

It may reach no more than perhaps 250,000,000 bushels, compared with the 537,800,000 estimated this past year and the 494,100,000 of 1955.

Russian Paper Says Rocket Can Carry H-Bomb

BERLIN (AP)—Russia's sweeping newspaper claimed today that the new Soviet intercontinental rocket can carry a hydrogen bomb load that "guarantees the destruction of every target."

Maj.-Gen. G. I. Pokrowski, of the Soviet technical engineering service, made the claim in an article in Soviet Army Krasnaya Zvezda. It was quoted by ADN, official East German news agency.

Pokrowski said the Russian rocket attains an altitude of 600 miles and strikes its target at a speed of 15,000 miles an hour.

"One can assume," the Soviet expert added, "that possible deviation will not be more than 10 to 20 kilometres (six to 12 miles). Because the missile carries a hydrogen load the accuracy of striking guarantees the destruction of every target."

He said the accuracy of the missile is its "outstanding attribute."

In the Moscow announcement Monday that experiments with an intercontinental ballistic rocket were carried out successfully, the Russians did not say whether the missile carried a nuclear warhead.

ACQUIT MOLNAR ON CHARGE OF ARMED ROBBERY

Court Rules Man Not Identified

CORNWALL (CP) — A charge of armed robbery against Louis Molnar, 36, of Brantford, has been dismissed. A court ruled Tuesday the Crown failed to positively identify Molnar as one of two men who robbed a supermarket here in Nov. 26, 1955.

Acquittal of the non-jury trial by Chairs LaBine ended a five-day trial before county judge George E. Brennan. Last year William Stata of Chesterville, Ont., pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery and is serving a 10-year sentence.

During the trial store manager Victor Desgrosseillers, principal Crown witness, broke down under cross-examination and ran crying from the courtroom.

Desgrosseillers identified Molnar as one of two men who entered his home, bound and gagged members of his family and then took them to the store and forced him to open the safe.

MAINTAINS STAND

He refused to change his stand when defence counsel Roydon Hughes of Ottawa said to him: "I suggest at the testimony at a preliminary hearing last January.

Desgrosseillers said then it had not been light enough in the store to see the man's hair.

"Was that answer true?" Mr. Hughes asked.

"I wouldn't say that," the witness replied.

Proof Required Before Action Can Be Taken

TORONTO (CP) — William E. Collings, chief commissioner of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, said today that if he had proof that a New Hamburg brewery violated the federal Intoxicating Liquors Act by shipping light beer into Ontario, he would institute prosecution proceedings.

Mr. Collings said in an interview the proof required is a bill of lading from another brewery shipped the controversial light beer into the province. But the Grocers' Association of Ontario after an import has instituted its own.

The LCBO said the light beer is intoxicating and consequently its distribution, its independent sale in grocery stores outside the LCBO outlets is illegal, the board added.

Masked Men With Pistols Herd Mailmen Into Closet

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Three masked men in railroaders' clothing early today staged a mail car holdup aboard a moving CNR train like an episode from a wild west thriller.

Each carrying a pistol, they boarded the train at Woodstock and during its seven-mile run to Ingersoll entered the mail car and locked eight crew members into a closet and washroom. They ransacked the car and jumped from the train during its two-minute stop in Ingersoll.

The holdup wasn't discovered until the crew broke free further down the line.

Postal authorities could give no immediate estimate of the loss but said the loot may have included large sums of money regularly shipped to London by banks in Toronto for end-of-the-week payrolls.

INSIDE JOB?

George A. Shea director of CNR police, said the holdup may have been "an inside job."

In London to attend a convention of police chiefs, he said: "It appears the left door of the mail car was left unlocked. In railroad mail operations that is a cardinal sin."

The three gunmen entered the mail car through a side door shortly after the train pulled out of Woodstock at 4:26 a.m.

Inside were crew members Murray McCallum of Glencoe, Kenneth McDonald of Port Credit, Bernard Hartley of Brantford and five others from London, Arthur Harding, Norman Fontaine, W. Scott Little, Edward Figg and Edward Wazgirkuth.

The trio locked five of the crew in a washroom and two others in a closet. They asked the eighth man:

"Where's the money?"

When he told them he was unfamiliar with registered mail, they locked him in the closet, too.

When the train stopped in Ingersoll to discharge passengers less than 15 minutes after leaving Woodstock—the men made their escape.

Investigators said it wasn't known how the men got from Ingersoll or even whether they left the town at all. Police said they didn't know about the holdup until two hours after it happened and no road blocks were set up.

The train, the 16-car No. 9 from Toronto to Windsor, stopped just past Ingersoll when the mail car crew freed themselves and pulled the emergency cord.

Federal Govt. Will Not Interfere Prime Minister Tells Labor Leader

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today the federal government cannot interfere in the long and turbulent strike of copper miners at Murdochville, Que.

"Any interference on our part would be in derogation of the constitution and it would be presumptuous on our part," he said to reporters after a meeting with Canadian Labor Congress officials.

Mr. Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, had asked the prime minister to have federal cabinet members use their influence to bring about resumption of negotiations at Murdochville.

Shortly before the prime minister reported to reporters, Mr. Jodoin had told them he was "hopeful something could be done" to bring about a humanitarian whether the influence was used with the Quebec government or the mining company. At the prime minister's meeting were Labor Minister Starr and Justice Minister Fulton, who is acting immigration minister.

Mr. Diefenbaker, meeting newspaper men outside his office after the conference, was asked whether he might go so far as to use some form of influence as suggested by Mr. Jodoin, rather than "interference."

"I hope there will be a settlement of this dispute," he said. "That is the best way. Conciliation is always available. The facilities we have for conciliation. There is no action that can be taken at present consistent with the law and constitutional practice."

Mr. Jodoin had suggested that action might be taken to bring about resumption of bargaining in view at Murdochville, but Mr. Diefenbaker said the federal government can take no action in this regard under the present circumstances.

He said he and Mr. Fulton had noted that deportations cannot be undertaken except where there has been a criminal offence or illegal entry into Canada.

No prosecutions had been taken. Until convictions have been registered the government could not depose a person for a suspected offence. Responsibility for any prosecutions would rest with the law officers concerned or with private parties wishing to prosecute.

The prime minister and Mr. Fulton also said government agencies had had no part in directing immigrants to Murdochville for use as strike-breakers, as union officials had suggested.

Monetary Fund Will Study Boost In Gold Price

LONDON (AP)—South African Finance Minister J. E. T. Naude said today the International Monetary Fund has agreed to investigate "the whole question of a higher price for gold."

Naude told reporters the study was requested by South Africa, which produces nearly two-thirds of the world's gold output.

The present price of gold, set before the Second World War, is fixed at $35 a fine ounce.

Naude is visiting London before going on to Washington to attend the annual meeting of the fund and the World Bank.

He said it is not his intention at the conference to raise formally the question of a higher price for gold. That, he said, is because the fund already has agreed to undertake an expert study of the question, which the South African government asked for three months ago.

TO MEET U.S. LEADERS

Naude in an interview that he expects to discuss the gold price directly with United States government leaders.

He said that South Africa understands why the U.S. and the world's biggest holder of gold—was opposed to the past to go along with a higher gold price. But while understanding the American view, it did not agree with it, he said.

"The situation is vastly different today. It could be a wonderful thing if the value of American's gold holdings suddenly were to rise. It would enable the U.S. to meet many foreign aid commitments."

Naude will travel on to Ottawa after the fund meeting for a three-day conference of Commonwealth finance ministers.

He said the Commonwealth ministers have placed "the question of gold" on their agenda. His understanding was that most, if not all, Commonwealth countries supported South Africa's campaign for a higher price.

Prices in France Frozen in Battle With Inflation

PARIS (Reuters) — Prices in France were frozen today in a new move by Finance Minister Paul Ramadier to check inflation.

Gaillard, announcing the move Tuesday night, said nothing will be allowed to prevent France from disaster if prices in the coming months "outside the limits we have assigned to them." Prices were frozen at the Aug. 15 level.

There are two exceptions—in the case of industries undertaking a minimum of exports, and to allow the recent increases in the price in the world and of imported materials to be absorbed.

The government meant that by freezing prices it will prevent a new inflationary spiral of wages and prices.

Gaillard said the 30-per-cent tax on profits and the 30-per-cent bonus for exports, the form of devaluation recently chosen by the government, have already put an end to speculation against the franc, he said.

Municipal Board's Decision On Application for Change In Zoning to Be Made Later

Decision of the Ontario Municipal Board in the application of James Jenkins, shareholder in the Hotel Quinte, for a change in the city zoning by-law on the west side of Church street between Bridge and Campbell Sts. from "R" residential to "Z" industrial will be handed down later.

At the conclusion of a meeting of the municipal board at the city hall here yesterday, to hear evidence in the application which, if granted, would permit the Hotel Quinte to use a Church street lot for hotel parking, it was said the decision would be announced today. However, when the board met this afternoon on another case, it was announced that the decision would not be made until after the board receives a report from the Belleville and District Planning Board, and until it is ascertained whether City Council takes any action regarding the matter at its next meeting September 3.

Opposing the application was Benjamin Safe, resident of the district and member of the city council which, at a special meeting two weeks ago, voted 8-5 in favor of the change.

Mr. E. G. Porter acted as counsel for Mr. Jenkins while City Solicitor R. J. Pringle acted for the city. Board members attending the hearing were: C. F. Nunn, chairman and V. S. Millburn.

Presenting Mr. Jenkins' case, Mr. Porter said the application for zoning change had been made so the area would be used for parking purposes by the Hotel Quinte.

After the property had been purchased and the residential building demolished, Mr. Porter said his client had received notice from the city that the city by-law was being contravened.

CITY ASKED TO APPLY

He said that eventually the city had been asked to apply to the municipal board for rezoning of the area, but the city had made no request.

Mr. Porter went on to note that only two properties surrounding the area in question were now being used as residential. Of these, one is a vacant properties at the street line had no objection to the parking lot", he said.

City Solicitor R. A. Pringle said that Section 40a that council had passed a recommendation strongly opposing any change in the zoning for the area.

He was unable to answer a question from one of the board members as to what the reasoning of council had been in passing the resolution.

Mr. Safe said he was asking protection at was provided by the zoning by-law approved by the Ontario Municipal Board in 1954. He said the hotel parking lot, now in use for about 15 months, had been established in a strictly residential area.

"Anyone would be disturbed by a parking lot next to his home, particularly if it were being used for hotel purposes", he said.

He said he had been "much disturbed" by the hotel's action and pointed out the lot had been erected against the city's wishes.

He said that if the area were changed to commercial, the owner of the lot could erect a beverage room or could sell it for any other purpose.

WOULD NOT BENEFIT CLAIM

Opening the area for commercial purposes would not benefit business but would only assist the hotel," he said. There was no other property in the area which could be used for business purposes.

Council had repeatedly voted against re-zoning of the area, he claimed.

Mr. Safe disagreed with Mr. Porter who asked if it was not true that what the city actually had done was to request the hotel interests to make application for re-zoning or the city would issue an injunction.

"No," Mr. Safe replied, "council has voted against the rezoning."

Alderman Charles Hyde, speaking as a member of the United Church official board, said the board, at a special meeting, had passed a resolution consenting to the re-zoning as long as the lot was used for parking purposes only.

Speaking as an alderman he said he had no objection but he said that "sooner or later the area was bound to be commercial."

He said that to his knowledge the recent special meeting of council was the only time council had passed a resolution opposing the re-zoning. He had not supported the resolution.

Speaking as a councillor Alderman D. J. Whalen said council had considered the re-zoning and he expected the board would take recognition of this also he was forced to the method of establishing the parking lot and then asking permission.

MIGHT ESTABLISH PRECEDENT

This, if approved by changing the zoning would establish a precedent which might be expected to be repeated all over the city.

Board members asked if any action had been taken against the hotel for establishing its parking lot. They were told that only a notice notifying that the by-law was being contravened had been sent out.

Observing that the hotel was paying on a lot on which it did not own, Mr. Pringle said the city would have no progress does it mean to take action. He said the lot was owned by a shareholder of the hotel.

Mr. Porter said he had advised his client that the city zoning by-law was not being contravened by establishing the parking lot. "The city by-law says nothing about parking lots," he said.

He said that although the application was for a zoning change, the hotel would be satisfied with class "C" or general business.

Kiwanis Members Give Outlines of Own Businesses

At yesterday's weekly Kiwanis dinner meeting members heard two of their group speak. The first speaker, Gord Harland, is connected with Nelson's ice cream company. He described the process and distribution of that product, with emphasis on the general activities in the Belleville area.

Mr. Harland said his company's products are all made in Toronto. The ice cream starts with about 49 per cent cream, which is added to an ice cream mix, and this compound goes in a holding tank, then into other tanks which make up the different flavors. The bulk and brick, he stated are both made by the same process. The difference comes in the freezing methods. His company makes approximately 19 different flavors and kinds of ice cream. However, all the flavors are not made at the same time, he said, as there is no demand for each kind is featured.

The company plans more branches to be established throughout the province. At present there are 10 established in Ontario — Hamilton, which is the largest, St. Catharines, London, Belleville and Peterborough.

Two trucks operate from the local branch, which has been existing about a year. These trucks are refrigerated to protect the product in shipment. The ice cream is delivered directly from Belleville. A bus is used to transport the product to the northern section, which includes Maynooth and Bancroft, since there is no truck available for that area.

Mr. Harland has been with the company three years, spending his first year in the Toronto territory.

TRENDS IN FASHIONS

Kiwanians learned about fall fashion trends in men's clothing from the second speaker, Don Cresswell, connected with Dovener's Men's Wear.

Mr. Cresswell said the sources for his fashion news were previews of manufacturers and retailers across Canada.

He described some of the general predictions for the coming fall months. He thinks the Ivy League influence will be seen in fashions a great deal. Deep tones, he said, such as coals, dark greys and browns, are returning. "The three-button coat", he said, should continue to make gains, along with the natural sleeve.

Overcoats, he said, are short and should be much the same during the coming season, the speaker noted, with tweeds and raglan sleeves featured. Car coats and shawlnecks are also the trend in the field, are popular. They will appear in subdued colors.

In the sportshirt line cottons will lead the field. Brighter colors will appear while the Ivy League stripes with buttondown collars will remain popular, Mr. Dunlop said, he said "will be appearing in sweaters".

Mr. Cresswell explained that retailers keep shrewst of the latest fashion trends across Canada.

CAS Buys Albert College Manorette For Use as Observation Centre

Mr. C.B. Morgan, president of the board of directors of the local Children's Aid Society, announced today the purchase of the property at 74 Bridge East, known until within recent years as the Albert College Manorette. On the completion of extensive alterations it will be opened by the society as a receiving home and observation centre. To it all children over the age of six years will be admitted on initial admission to care. The housed pending determination of a more permanent plan. Le placement in a long or short period, foster home, adoption home, or return to own home. Also those children with extreme behavior and severe neurotic disorders, children unable to meet the demand of relating to foster parents will be re-admitted for observation, casework and therapy.

The society has found that it is easier for the child to work out the great pain of leaving his parents if he is not, at the same time, burdened with the necessity of relating deeply to substitute parents. In a receiving home it can be possible for the child to experience the loss of his parents and, within a minimum of pressure for adjustment begin a new phase of life — the taking on positive identifications.

The society wishes it to be known that their action in opening a receiving home should not be regarded as a retrogressive step and a return to "shelter care. Children will still be placed in foster families. However, with such a resource it will no longer be necessary to place the "new" about which little or nothing is known in a foster home and later finding the home unprepared, if not ill-equipped, to meet the now known needs of the child.

There will be sufficient living space for the foster family in charge of the physical operation of the home and the 8-10 children of either sex who may, from time to time, require its service. Private agency funds received over the years by way of bequests, etc., have been used to purchase the property and it is hoped that the various service clubs and organizations throughout the district will respond to an appeal to assist with the furnishings.

Cleveland, Whitby Will Open Community Gardens Oct. 14

TRENTON (Special) — The long awaited opening of the Trenton Community Gardens has been set for October 4 with feature presentation of hockey and a visit of important personages from the government. Members of the Gardens' board of directors and leading local dignitaries will play host to the distinguished visitors.

The opening of Trenton's new hockey arena and community auditorium was scheduled for last night but had to be delayed when a wind storm wrecked part of the building in the process of erection.

Since then Gardens' manager Lorne Brennan and the ice committee have been able to make available some of the finishing touches to the $250,000 stadium and with the advent of artificial ice in October it is hoped to open with a full complement of players.

The Whitby Dunlops, Allan Cup champions, and the Cleveland Barons, perennial American League champions, have been contacted to provide the opening night honors.

It will be an opportunity for Trentonians to see the Canadian representatives at the World Hockey tournament in action for the first time when the Dunlops play the Barons.

Toronto Stages Design Contest For City Hall

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto today announced conditions for an international contest to design its new city hall and civic square but left deadlines open until the conditions are printed.

Professor Eric R. Arthur of the University of Toronto, professional adviser to the contest, said it might be more than a month before the conditions with accompanying maps and photographs can be sent. Deadlines will also be set then. Any architect authorized to practise in his own country is eligible to enter the first stage of the two-level contest. Each can enter only once.

Eight or fewer entries of "outstanding merit" are to be chosen for the second stage and each of the finalists will receive $7,500 for preparing more detailed plans.

FIVE JUDGES

Barring war or depression, the city of Toronto has agreed to accept the design picked by an international jury of five judges and build the hall. The winner will receive a fee in advance on the six per cent of total construction costs he receives as fee.

Judges are Eero Saarinen of Bloomfield Hills, Mich.; Ernesto Rogers of Milan, and C. B. Pratt of Vancouver, all architects; and Sir William Holford of London and Gordon Stephenson of Toronto, architects and town planners.

The conditions set no limit to size, stating only the need for hall and square. It mentioned $15,000,000 as a possible limit.

Duplessis Won't Intervene Now At Murdochville

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor chief Claude Jodoin said today Premier Duplessis of Quebec has refused to intervene in the turbulent dispute at Copper Mines Limited in Murdochville, Que.

The Canadian Labor Congress president spoke to reporters just before opening talks with Prime Minister Diefenbaker in the hope of getting the federal government's help to bring the disputants into some form of negotiation.

Mr. Jodoin, who at one time had joined the staff of Miss Murdochville, conferred with Mr. Duplessis last week in the hope of getting provincial government intervention.

"I received a letter from him today saying he felt it was not an appropriate time to intervene," Mr. Jodoin said. "Mr. Duplessis stated that since spirits were high on all sides, he did not believe there is any chance of co-operation at this time."

Reporters asked Mr. Jodoin whether he agreed with Mr. Duplessis' views.

"I don't agree with that idea," he replied. "We are prepared to negotiate with themselves. I am still asking for intervention as soon as possible."

Joining in today's talks was Labor Minister Starr. Mr. Jodoin conferred with Mr. Starr Aug. 23. At that time Mr. Starr said the federal government felt it had no jurisdiction in the scrap between the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) and Gaspe.

Mr. Jodoin said he feels some more the be found under the British North America Act to get federal intervention.

The union has been blocked by a Quebec court ruling from getting certification and bargaining agent for workers at the mine.

Woman Lawyer Was too Free With $100 Bills

TORONTO (CP)—Police Tuesday plied two extra charges on woman lawyer Ann Stanton Etobicoke after she appeared in court to face six charges involving drinking and driving.

Elva Agnes Dunn was charged during the court appearance with creating a disturbance and having liquor illegally. Police said she distributed about $1,400 in $100 bills about the summons office and her car. An officer told Magistrate O. M. Martin a partly consumed bottle of gin was found in her purse.

Magistrate Martin remanded Miss Dunn in custody. "I hope you will sober up."

A bench warrant was issued for Miss Dunn earlier when she did not appear to face charges of creating a disturbance and impaired driving in a suburban New Toronto court.

In Magistrate Martin's court she was charged with drunk driving, impaired driving, having liquor in her motor car and driving while her licence was under suspension.

Russia Declares Western Plan Not Acceptable

LONDON (AP) — Russia said in plain words today that the Western plan for a two-year cut-off pension of nuclear weapon tests could not be accepted, a British informant reported.

Soviet rejection of the Western plan was clear enough a blast released against it Tuesday by Valerian Zorin, Moscow's delegate to the disarmament talks.

Some Western diplomats expect the Russians to wait out. But they are going ahead with plans to place their complete package disarmament plan before the five-power subcommittee of the United Nations disarmament commission next week.

Zorin put the Russian rejection of the Western plan for a two-year suspension of atomic tests before the subcommittee today in even plainer words. He said:

"We do not regard this proposal as forming a basis for agreement."

TWO STAGES

The Western proposal calls for a two-stage moratorium on nuclear tests along with definite measures for conventional disarmament and limitation of nuclear weapons production.

Zorin's statement today came as a comment in reply to remarks by Harold Stassen of the United States.

The American opened the meeting by saying the outlines for successful conclusion of East-West negotiations are emerging clearly, the British informant said.

Stassen said the Western plan for a ban on atomic and hydrogen weapons testing "opened real possibilities" for concluding a first step disarmament agreement which has been under negotiation here for five months.

Zorin put the rejection before the subcommittee Tuesday in a statement which accused the U.S., Britain and France of preparing for an atomic attack by the third member of the disarmament group.

Some newspaper men have been allowed occasional visits to the range and have formed an impression that Britain is not far advanced in the development of a long-range missile.

Malenkov Said Tool of Beria By Khrushchev

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev calls Georgi Malenkov a "shadow and tool" of Beriya P. Beria, in an article published Tuesday in the magazine Kommunist.

Beria was the former secret police chief executed as a traitor in 1953.

The words of Khrushchev, the Communist party boss, confirm the stiffest Soviet denunciation yet of Malenkov, former premier who has been reported sent to central Asia as director of the power station at the town of Ust Kamenogorsk.

Khrushchev said Malenkov took advantage of Joseph Stalin in Stalin's last years and prompted the dictator to do many things which now warrant denunciation.

Khrushchev also reiterated Russia's revolutionary aim in world politics. He said: "We regard it as our mission to reform the world and to build a Communist society."

MAY REVISE CENSORSHIP REGULATIONS

The Windsor Star, in a report by Pat Whealen from Ottawa, says the Diefenbaker government is planning a revision of laws affecting the importation of questionable books and magazines. The changes under consideration, which may be introduced as legislation at the fall session of Parliament, "would remove from the minister of national revenue the burden of acting as final-judgment censor of books and magazines and would place this duty on the courts," the Star reports.

There should be general recognition that some change is needed in the procedure followed in the past. The Star is probably particularly interested in the problem of censorship as it affects publications, since it was one of many newspapers which commented editorially on the impossible task facing the then minister of national revenue, Hon. J. J. McCann, and questioned whether the qualifications which make a man an excellent minister of national revenue necessarily also equip him to act as a censor.

But, when we have said that there should be general agreement that a change is necessary, we shall have covered about the whole field on which there is likely to be a reasonable approach to unanimity of opinion in respect to censorship. It is not at all certain that the alternative system being suggested by any improvement. Nor can we lay back any details regarding the proposed system. For another, leaving the decision to the courts, excellent though it may be in principle, may present difficulties in practice. Courts very often move slowly. It is fairly obvious that it would be a most unsatisfactory situation if obscene books were permitted to enter the country during a lengthy period while the court was arranging a hearing, holding it and considering judgment. The old system was to permit customs officials to stop publications at the border and submit them to the minister of national revenue for decision. There will have to be some provision for prohibiting importation of questionable books and magazines until the court reaches a decision — but there will also have to be some arrangements to make sure that such decisions are not unduly delayed.

It is reported by the Star that Hon. George Nowlan, the Minister of National Revenue in the Diefenbaker cabinet, is conferring with Hon. Davie Fulton, Minister of Justice, on the tightening of the criminal code's restrictions against the sale of obscene publications. Mr. Fulton is a long-time foe of questionable literature, who waged an ultimately successful battle against "crime comics". He now has an opportunity to achieve more in the same field, but few will envy him his task for the whole question of censorship is one of the most difficult problems which could be dumped in the lap of a cabinet minister.

PAYING FOR LOOKS?

How much of our food bill is the result of our insistence on "showing off?"

No, we are not referring to any desire to serve little luxury items when friends or neighbors come calling, but to a tendency to put a premium on looks when buying for family consumption.

Just take a look at the staples — bread, wrapped and pre-cut; eggs individually separated in a carton, bacon cut, rind removed and packaged. The same is true for many other products. Even butter comes in individual portions, each one simple wrapping that was common a couple of decades or so ago.

A contemporary has figured out that potatoes bought in a 50-pound bag cost two cents a pound, while the same potatoes in a 10-pound bag cost four cents a pound. This, it argues, is true of many other foods. The customer, it adds, is prepared to pay for the preference for a smaller package. Insofar as this is true, it is a foolish preference in many cases, although in some instances the smaller package may be more economical, despite higher unit cost, because it avoids wastage.

In a number of cases, though, consumer preference may be the result of the state of the pocketbook, rather than of a willingness to pay for convenience. Where the food budget is slim, the housewife may be tempted to buy in small quantities. Though this helps solve the immediate problem of stretching the budget to meet the week's needs, it is a costly solution in the long run.

DELINQUENCY CAUSE?

A graduate student working on juvenile delinquency reported in a University of Wisconsin sociology seminar that he was having difficulty in collecting data. His project was to telephone a dozen homes around 9 p.m. and ask the parents if they knew where their children were at this hour. "My first five calls," he lamented, "were answered by children who had no idea where their parents were!"—Reader's Digest.

Land of the Scientists

By Gerald Wendt in UNESCO Features

A unique feature of this age, the International Geophysical Year, is that one whole continent — Antarctica — is inhabited only by scientists. They came from twelve nations with no purpose of conquest or possession. They share their data and discoveries, their equipment and supplies, and perchance their hardships, with the men from other lands. Characteristically, for instance, an American, Dr. Carl D. Laughlin, is working at the Soviet observatory at Mirnyy, while on the other side of the continent, a Russian, V. Rastorguiev, has a place at Little America. Even the former tension between Great Britain and the three countries of Argentina and Chile, all three claiming the area between South America and the South Pole, has now been resolved in a truce. Instead, the three nations are maintaining some two dozen scientific bases in common.

Antarctica is an international home as science itself. It is a true continental history as well as geography. Indeed its name has become almost anonymous. It is the opposite to Arctica, which does not exist, for the Arctic is the land of the feet deep under the Arctic Ocean. This magnificent continent deserves a name of its own. For the present it is in truth, if not in name, Science Land.

It is new only to man. The Antarctic Peninsula and the Falkland Islands East Antarctica is very ancient. The land mass of West Antarctica have been uplifted and folded through geological ages. Mountains are some of their strata to prove that this was tropical country in the past. The continent is a vast area of nearly 6 million square miles, or approximately 1½ times the United States, and 3,000 miles in diameter — nearly twice as large as Europe, and almost as large as South America. It has majestic mountains, rising to over 16,000 feet high. The South Pole itself is on a plateau some 10,000 feet above sea level, the extent of which is not known because only a small part of it has ever been seen, even from planes. There is a rugged mountain peninsula nearly 1,000 miles long, reaching northward toward the Andes of South America — and perhaps an extension of them. Antarctica and all the rest of the rest of continent but over it all is the endless monotony of the ages of ice and snow. It is over 10,000 feet thick. The ice covers almost every foot of it, extends out into the sea, and finally that is called the Ross Sea, the ice shelf is 800 to 1,000 feet thick and extends 400 miles from the shore — an area 300 miles wide. It moves steadily seaward at the rate of about four feet per day. Beyond this Shelf Ice, pack ice covers the sea for hundreds of miles in all directions.

Except for the end of the long peninsula that is known in the Graham Land and in the United States as the Palmer Peninsula, the entire continent lies within the Antarctic Circle, so that for the most part the year one of it sees the sun and for the other six months the sun circles around and in the sky, without setting. During the dark winter (June and July) the cold is intense. A record of 83 below zero has been measured on the Shelf Ice that surrounds the Pole, but temperature on the high polar plateau has reached as low as 100 below zero. Under the steady summer sun (December and January) there are days when the snow near the coast becomes soft and slushy.

The short, inadequate summers forbid the growth of vegetation of any sort. Only two are known and they are rare, a species of grass and a pink. But in exposed rock areas are sometimes covered with the microscopic plants called lichens and moss. The only animal life that such vegetation can support is of a low order: insects like the wingless mosquito, midges and mites.

• • •

But if the land surface is a desert, marine life is plentiful. The cold sea is rich in plankton. Indeed, the Antarctic Ocean, so called the most productive sea in the world, has become the site of the continuous upswelling of waters from the deep, bringing up the nutrients. Feeding on the plankton are huge numbers of fish, krill, a type of shrimp that, in turn, is the food for many fishes, for seals, and for the large population of whales. Both the stately Emperor Penguin and the smaller Adelie Penguin dive into the sea for their food but have their breeding grounds on the ice. They are distinctive of the Antarctic, and fossil discoveries indicate that they may have evolved from lands birds that lived there during the long ages, long ago, when the climate was mild.

Much remains to be discovered with respect to Antarctic life, both plant and animal, but it will be incidental to the Years' expeditions. The basic biological problem concerns the adjustment of the animals to the extreme cold, the adjustment of their metabolism and the properties of the fats that insulate their tissues. The breeding grounds of the Emperor Penguin and of the seals too are unknown. Both the birds and the seals should be tagged to determine their migrations. Aerial photographs are needed to count their numbers. Their diving habits and underwater life also offer many questions. But the geophysicists will have their eyes on the great plateau, the skies, the forces of nature and the geologic deeps.

• • •

The first man to suspect the existence of the great cold continent was the famous British explorer of the Pacific, Captain James Cook, but he failed to penetrate the barrier of pack ice failed both in 1773 and 1774. It was in 1820 that the land was first clearly seen, either by the American Captain Nathaniel Palmer or by the British Captain Edward Bransfield, both of whom having sailed south from the South Shetland Islands, saw the mountains of the Antarctic Peninsula reaching peninsula. In the same year, the Russian Admiral Fabian von Bellingshausen, on a half-way round the continent had discovered the large Alexander I Island.

It was not until 75 years later that anyone landed on Antarctica and, two years after this, a Belgian vessel, the Belgica, first spent the winter in its ice. One member of that expedition, and the first scientist to winter in the Antarctic phenomena, was the young Norwegian physicist Carsten Egeberg Arctowski who, at 86, is still living in Florida. But the first extensive exploration of the scientific study was made in 1901 and 1904 by the British National Antarctic Expedition under Captain Robert Falcon Scott, which explored the Ross Sea district west of the Ross Sea and reached the Shelf Ice to the south of the South Pole. In the same years, both a German and a Swedish expedition made scientific studies near the shore.

On January 9, 1909, a British expedition, led by Sir Ernest Shackleton, came within only 97 miles of the South Pole, high on the 10,000 foot plateau, and were being forced back by blizzards and lack of food. The pole was finally reached on December 14, 1911, by a Norwegian party led by Roald Amundsen — only a few days before the ill-fated Scott expedition whose members perished on the return journey (Page 6). Their scientific record and collections were found when Spring came.

Both Scott's expeditions were sponsored by the British Royal Society and the Royal Geographic Society and produced volumes of scientific observations which were more important, in the long run, than reaching the pole. Simultaneous were their observations were made in widely separated areas which permitted the first weather charts of the Antarctic regions and electrical instruments and the sounding of the upper air and the first records of the intensive work that is now to be done by a broad program of international effort during the International Geophysical Year.

Seven nations have established bases on the continent: Argentina, Australia, Chile, France, the U.S.S.R., New Zealand, United Kingdom and the United States. They are being joined by Belgium, Japan, New Zealand, Norway and Spain. The greatest concentration of research stations, primarily devoted to meteorological studies, is on the long Palmer Peninsula and the archipelago which is almost directly south of the tip of South America, that of the Falkland Islands. Here the United Kingdom has ten bases, Argentina and Chile each six, all closely co-operating. Dick Beare New President of Booster Club

Dick Beare, connected with sports in many capacities in this city for many years, was elected president of the Belleville Mc. Parlands Senior "A" hockey Booster Club last night when well over one hundred fans attended the club's second meeting at city hall.

Mrs. Jessie Hunter was named vice-president, Bob Temple was the popular choice for secretary and "Senator" Harry Rollins was elected treasurer of the Booster Club.

Nine executive committee members were also named with more to be added as the membership of the club grows. Voted in last night were Mrs. James Matthews, Mrs. Tom Orr, Mrs. Ed. Lewis, Mrs. Clark Potter, Jim Ward, Andre Mercier, Jim Matthews, Cecil Cherry and Armand Duffy.

Signing officers for the organization are treasurer Rollins and either president Beare or vice president Hunter.

The membership of the club took a tremendous jump last night when 81 new members joined, bringing the total to 150 since the club was organized just one week ago. A full scale campaign to bring the total membership to at least 1,000 is underway at the present time. Jim Matthews and Mrs. Tom Orr were named as membership chairmen and anyone wishing to join is instructed to contact either of the two.

1,000 membership cards which will be signed by the president and secretary, and colorful windshield stickers have been obtained and each person paying his $1 entry fee receives both. The card and the sticker bear the words "I am a booster of the Belleville Macs hockey club."

CHAMBERS FILLED

City Hall council chamber was filled for last night's gathering with all those present showing a sincere interest in the hockey club. Team manager Drury Denyes was present with a number of the players. Drury introduced Minnie Menard, Floyd Crawford, Lionel Bolley, Moe Benoit, Wayne Brown, Johnny Muretich, Jean-Paul Payette and Gordie Bell. Each received a terrific ovation. Denyes promised the fans that new players will be presented to the club members as they arrive. Playing coach Ike Hildebrand was unable to make the trip from Peterborough for this meeting, but it is expected he will be in town for the next plans for the team at a later meeting.

Harry Rollins acted as chairman of last night's meeting until the election. He introduced Jack Ward who outlined briefly some of the possible projects of the Booster Club. Aldermen C. D. Tice, Frank Grandame, Bob Temple and Ralph Graham also spoke to the fans, expressing their satisfaction in the formation of the club and promising their help in any possible way.

The executive will announce shortly the time and place of the next meeting when it is hoped to have Mr. Ballard, vice-president of the Whitby Dunlop Booster Club present as a guest speaker. This meeting will likely be held next week.

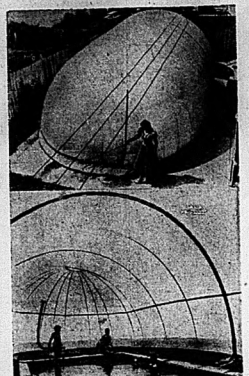
POOL FOR HOT, COLD WEATHER



Here are exterior (top) and interior views of a swimming pool equipped with the top that makes the pool usable in January or February as well as July and August. The device, displayed by a U.S. company in Indianapolis, is a balloon-type, dome-shaped air structure that covers the entire pool. The material is vinyl coated nylon. It is inflated by low air pressure and it holds aloft, even with a heavy weight of snow on top. A heating unit with an electrically driven blower provides constant warm air to the pool interior.

Democrat Wins McCarthy's Seat In Voting Upset

MILWAUKEE (AP) — William Proxmire, a 41-year-old liberal Democrat, has scored a smashing upset victory in Wisconsin's by-election for the United States Senate seat left vacant by the death of Joseph McCarthy.

Proxmire, who became the first Democrat elected to the Senate by Wisconsin in 25 years, scored his victory Tuesday over the three-time Republican state governor, Walter J. Kohler, a staunch supporter of President Eisenhower and twice a victor over Proxmire in races for the governor's post.

The election is for the 16 months remaining of McCarthy's term. The victory gives Senate Democrats 50 seats compared to 46 for the Republicans.

The stormy 19-year national political career of McCarthy never became a potent factor in the campaign. The issues that decided the election were diverse and hard to explain because the state usually is firmly Republican in its choice of top officers.

BIG MARGIN

Proxmire's victory was made more impressive by the margin he rolled up—more than 120,000 votes, with only about 30 per cent of the state's eligible voters taking part. Even so, the total vote was higher than anyone except state Democratic party officials predicted.

The total vole of nearly 800,000 is about 300,000 more than the 500,000 who turned out for the primary election held four weeks ago to name the nominees.

Whether it constituted a repudiation of Eisenhower's programs or a personal victory for the hard-campaigning Proxmire was hard to determine. Proxmire himself claimed that it was "a protest against the president and his policies" rather than a positive vote for the Democratic candidate.

'Confidential' Trial Nears Home Stretch

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The long trial of Confidential magazine on criminal libel charges was started down the home stretch.

Defence lawyer Arthur J. Crowley says he will wind up his case by Friday. The trial is in recess until Thursday.

Prosecutor William L. Ritzi says his rebuttal testimony will be completed next week.

Meanwhile, in Mexico City, officials said actress Francesca de Scaffa, who figured in testimony in the trial, has been found in a suburban hideout. She was given 72 hours to leave Mexico. Miss de Scaffa dropped from sight earlier this month.

The defence case moved toward an end Tuesday with a lawyer's testimony that he stopped a proposed war between Confidential and the movie industry.

REJECTED EDITORIAL

Albert De Stefano, a lawyer for Confidential, said he rejected an editorial written by former editor Howard Rushmore about a reported "movie industry war cheat to fight Confidential."

De Stefano said the editorial was entitled Hollywood Against Confidential.

"I told Robert Harrison (publisher of Confidential) and Rushmore I didn't think we should tackle the movie colony because it's too big," De Stefano testified. "I said as big as you are in the publishing business, you are not big enough to fight Hollywood. They'll run you out of business."

The editorial was never published.

De Stefano said he refused to give approval for stories Rushmore wanted to publish about Marilyn Monroe and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. He said neither of the stories was authenticated.

Hunter Sparks Frankford's Win Over Lakefield

FRANKFORD (Special) — The Frankford-Bata Shoemen, sparked by Bobby Hunter's hitting and pitching, defeated Lakefield 7-4 in Peterborough last night in the first game of their OASA Senior "B" playdown series.

The second game is slated for Frankford diamond on Saturday night at 8.15 p.m. The winners of this series will meet the Oshawa Tonys in the next round.

Bobby Hunter was a one-man show for the Shoemen last night. The rubber-armed right hander stopped Lakefield on four hits, all singles, and had a terrific night at the plate with a grand-slam homer and three singles in five trips.

Lakefield touched him for single runs in the second and third frames on four hits, all singles. The Shoemen took a 3-2 lead in the third and Hunter wrapped it up with his bases loaded home run in the fifth. Hunter struck out 11 and walked six over the route.

Conroy and Mahoney shared the losing duties for Lakefield, who aged for nine hits between them. They fanned seven "and walked an equal number. Lakefield is without their pitching star, Ray Judd, serving two years in the United States army.

Backing Hunter's three singles and homer with the stick was battery mate Harry Wickson with two doubles. Harry Ackerman banged one double while Bill Rankin and Ernie Curtis collected singles.

Neal Wasson, Moe Freeman, Charlie Silverthorn and Wendy Hendry were the only Lakefield batters to reach Hunter's slants for base knocks.

CNRAA took a one-game lead in their three-of-five bantam baseball finals Tuesday night by defeating Parkdale 9-4.

The second game is slated for Thursday night at 8.15 on the Parkdale diamond, while the third will be played next Tuesday at CNRAA Park, also at 8.15 p.m.

The winners took an early lead last evening with two runs in the first and three in the second. Parkdale had one good inning, the fourth, when they bagged three markers.

Terry Thompson hurled the victory, allowing five hits over the seven-inning route. He struck out nine and passed four. Cliff McGrimmon tossed four frames for Parkdale, fanning one and walking four. Les Moreau and Ron Stratton also pitched for Parkdale and whiffed five while walking six. They allowed seven hits in all.

Thompson sparkled at the plate for CNRAA, with three hits, while one each went to Stu Muirhead, Rob Blaker, Ron Morgan and Ted Rowland.

Larry Mitts collected two hits for Parkdale, with Garry Davis, Ron Stratton and Cliff McGrimmon getting the others.

CNRAA was charged with three miscues, while the losers committed six costly errors.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

A week ago today we congratulated the Belleville Theatre Guild for making a date with the Stratford Festival possible for those who did not have more time to spend. Now we would like to thank the Theatre Guild for a very happy nineteen hours with the high point, of course, the stimulating, amusing, fast-moving production of Twelfth Night. That was the reason for going and it was more than worth the tiredness of the next day.

In fact, expressions such as "I could start right back again now" and "I wish we were just starting" and "Why didn't we start early yesterday morning and see both plays" were heard as the bus arrived back in Belleville shortly after all night. Many of those on the bus had been to the Festival before; we are sure that everyone else on the bus will be there again.

Speaking strictly as a layman, and we have no other grounds on which to speak, we enjoyed every minute of the play. We read the critical appraisals at the beginning of the season, but if there were faults pointed out then we had completely forgotten them. It is a new experience to be almost part of the action with entrances coming from left and right of you. After being accustomed to the stage and theatre set up where the actors seem part of another world, it is almost breathtaking when action starts all around you.

The first sight of the theatre, both inside and outside, brings a feeling of excitement and pride almost unbelievable that Canada can do this! Did Canada do this? It is a great booster for our self-confidence, and for our belief in ourselves artistically.

Then when our particular group listened to every clear syllable, even when whispered or when the voice was coming from below stage, we felt a special Belleville pride to realize that a Belleville man, Mr. Robert Tanner, was the acoustician. That is wonderful in a theatre.

And there was pride, and maybe a little wonderment, in realizing that most of the actors and actresses are Canadians and have had roughly the same background and schooling as the majority of us have had. What moved them to do these things? Did they have more imagination than we when classic plays came alive for them? Probably that sense of theatre is really a magic thing; that is as it should be, for in that way, the audience is touched by the magic too. And over Stratford hangs the incomparable art of Shakespeare.

What fun on the bus too, with the tempo being set by the banjo of Don MacKinnon, aided and abetted by various vocal groups and solos. Boats of every type and era had their chance and although a few had the unhappy chance to die young, most of them lived to a flourishing climax. At the very least, they kept the driver awake. We must mention the rain, for it was with us the whole day and night. But not one complaint did we hear. No one said, "It would have to rain today after all the nice weather we have had." The feeling seemed to be rather, "Isn't it wonderful to have somewhere exciting to go on a rainy day?"

Why is it that most women love an auction sale? Passing the market square the other day when lots of furniture and household goods were being set out for auction, we noticed that the place was acting like a magnet and women were converging from all corners. A friend who had been drawn to the gathering admitted that she did want anything, but she just loved to look at all those old things, china basins and pitchers and the like.

Saturday afternoon, on the lawn beside a house in Colborne some very nice furniture was just ready for an auction as our bus went by. There was a general chorus of "Oh, a sale!" Every woman's head turned with a sort of yearning and regret. If time hadn't been of essence ,we are sure someone would have suggested stopping for a few minutes. We never would have seen Twelfth Night.

Ceramic Display By Immigrants Hit at CNE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The new Queen Elizabeth Building at the Canadian National Exhibition houses an exhibit which catches the Canadian tourist's eye.

The attraction: A lively German immigrant couple demonstrating the latest designs in pottery work.

While Ted Harlander is busy bending over the potters' wheel, his wife Susan is scratching a design into one of her husband's dishes, using a small pointed tool.

Susan said: "Ted makes his pottery with brown clay covering the exterior with a white clay." This process, she explained in an interview, is known as engobe.

LEFT TO RIGHT

The pottery is left to set. Then Susan carves her designs, adds a few touches of color, applies a clear glaze and the product is ready for display.

The Harlanders could be called one of the most industrious husband and wife teams in Canada.

"Five years ago we arrived here with high hopes and no money," said Susan, "and now we have a home and workshop in Brooklin, and 47 acres of farmland."

It took the Harlanders two years to save enough money to open their own business. They first taught ceramics at night school for the YMCA in Oshawa, besides holding a variety of odd jobs.

From her childhood Susan wanted to be a sculptor but her mother insisted on a trade for her daughter. At 15 she enrolled at a potter's school in Bavaria where she met her husband.

Kitchen Given To Alexanders Going Strong

OTTAWA (CP) — Five years ago the women of Canada made a sporting gift to a governor-general's wife—a fully-equipped Canadian kitchen.

And Lady Alexander says the kitchen still is "going strong" in her home near Windsor, England.

"Complete even to the dishwasher, it's rather a show place in England," she told a reporter during a visit to Ottawa this month. Her husband, Earl Alexander of Tunis, served as Canada's governor-general from 1946 to 1952.

Lady Alexander said she and her family, which includes four children, missed everything Canadian after they returned to England.

Their eldest daughter, Rose, now is the wife of Mal. Hamsterley Crossman and has an infant son. Shane, 22, is a parachutist with the Irish Guards. He his mother believes is often "too exciting." Their other children are Brian, 18, and an adopted daughter, 19 - year - old Susan.

IT MAY BE EFFECTIVE PROCEDURE: SIX OR EIGHT USHERS, NO BRIDESMAIDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please answer for my fiance and me two questions about ushers: (1) How many ushers are needed for a wedding where 200 guests will attend? (2) I am having no bridesmaids. In this circumstance is it proper for the ushers to walk down the aisle?

— Bride-to-be

(1) To seat 300 wedding guests there should be at least six ushers. However, I suggest your groom have 8 ushers, if possible. The idea is there should be at least one usher for every 50 guests, but it's much wiser planning to have perhaps more than enough rather than to have many guests, arriving a few minutes before the hour set, have to wait to be seated, and so hold up the start of the ceremony. (2) Yes, the ushers should walk both in the processional and recessional. In the processional they walk first, two by two, the shortest leading; the honor attendant, alone; last, you and your father or whoever is escorting you. In the recessional, you and the bridegroom walk first; followed by the honor attendant, either alone or with the best man; and last, the ushers, two by two, as in processional. And actually this processional-and-recessional procedure can be very effective . . . though doubtless some of your girl friends (who would like to be walking with those ushers) wouldn't agree!

FORMAL NAME CORRECT WHEN PRINTED. . . INFORMAL NAME WHEN SIGNED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our organization is planning to give a benefit performance of a play, this coming season, and the committee is planning the announcements to be sent out. On these, of course the formal names of the committee members and the officers are given (for example, Mrs. John Paul Thompson). However, we, the two co-chairmen, have been asked by the committee to enclose in the envelopes plain white cards with a personal appeal written and signed by us. Please tell us if we should sign this personal appeal with our formal or informal names. Thank you. — A and B

When we use that word "sign" it usually suggests that we correctly "sign" our informal name. For example: when your names as co-chairmen are printed on the announcements, the formal names are correctly used (as in the example you give, Mrs. John Paul Thompson). But when you sign the enclosed card-appeal you each sign your informal name:

Elizabeth Hill Clark
Margaret Brown Field

(The middle initial may be used, if you wish: Elizabeth H. Clark.)

PARENTS ARE EXPECTED TO PAY FOR COSTUMES OF JUNIOR BRIDESMAIDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The daughter of very dear friends of ours has invited our twin daughters, aged fifteen, to be junior bridesmaids in her late October wedding. She told me yesterday that she has already chosen their dresses and that she would telephone again when the girls are to go to have the dresses fitted. When we go to meet her at this department store, should I mention anything about the payment for their dresses, or just take it for granted that the bride-to-be's family pays for them?

— Mother

I'm extremely glad you wrote to me so that I have the opportunity to set you straight about this responsibility, for the situation in the department store might be awkward. The parents of the junior bridesmaids pay for their costumes, and since the bride-to-be made no mention of this question-of-payment I am sure she takes it for granted that you know about this. So when you and your daughters go for the fitting, you should make definite arrangements for the payment. The saleswoman will direct you about this; she is accustomed to such procedure.

INVITING THEIR FRIENDS' SONS AND DAUGHTERS TO PARTY FOR NIECE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My young niece lives in California, and soon, on her way East to visit us, she is to meet several fellow-college, she is to visit my husband and me (we are her godparents, and love her dearly) for a few days. On the Saturday evening while she is here we would like to give a party in her honor, perhaps a dinner-dance at the Country Club. We do not know many girls and boys of her age, and we thought it might be a proper plan to invite the sons and daughters of our friends. Would this be proper? If so, how would we go about doing the inviting?

— E.L.M.

Indeed this would be proper, an invitation-plan "in very good social standing" today. If I were you, I'd ask several of your most intimate friends who have sons and or daughters of your niece's age, for their cooperation, in suggesting possible guest lists and party-procedure. Do this immediately so that you can get out your invitations promptly. These might be written very conveniently on the semi-engraved kind of cards, with "To meet Miss Anne Davis" above your and your husband's name, and the other lines filled in with the information details.

MOBILE RECEIVERS

HALIFAX (CP) — Sgt. Luke Flynn of the city police traffic division says the new two-way equipment installed on a police motorcycle is working well. If, after a trial period, the units are judged satisfactory, he will recommend that all police motorbikes be radio-equipped.

By TRACY ADRIAN

Girls who are planning a wardrobe for a return to college come September may be interested in this versatile outfit which will be especially smart for travelling to school and for informal dates and weekends later on.

It is a slim sheath with its own fitted jacket. The dress is made in a tweed-like pattern in checks and the snug little bolero is trimmed in the same check. A flared felt cloche completes the costume.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SURE YOU WANT TO AVOID THIS MAN?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm a girl of 18 and mind my business completely.

Every night at 9:30, my girl friend waits for me and I accompany her. Usually I walk her half-way home.

On my way home when I'm alone I pass this house in which a man, his wife and five children live. He moved in just recently and I don't know him personally.

He's always on the porch when I pass and says hello. The first few nights I merely gave him a reproachful stare. Eventually, I muttered hello, thinking he was just trying to be neighborly.

Now he follows me half-way home. I threatened to tell his wife and my father, but he doesn't seem to care. He asked me to date him but I ignored him. It's not possible for me to take up other evening hours, as the area is heavily wooded. And please don't ask me to give up walking with my friend.

I don't in any way encourage this man, but what can I do to discourage him? If I tell his wife, or my father, I'm afraid he might try and get revenge some evening. When I have an escort, he doesn't bother me, but I can't manage one every night.

Please write me so that I can handle him tactfully. Chris J

Dear Chris:

When you tell me not to ask you to take the obvious way out of this unsavory situation, what do you suppose this makes me think? Naturally, it makes me think that you're not very serious about wanting to keep out of this man's way.

I agree that it would be too bad if you had to give up these nightly walks with your girl friend. But if this man is as persistent in annoying you as you say, you haven't any alternative, other than to report him to your parents, or else to the police, either of which would make things still more unpleasant.

The simplest solution, of course — since you say he doesn't bother you when you have an escort — would be to go on the walk only when you do have that escort and, on nights when you haven't been able to arrange for one, to be sensible enough to call your girl friend and tell her you can't meet her that evening.

Will you be wise enough to follow my advice, or are you going to show that you're still so childish that you find it exciting to take risks?

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

FOR A MORE COLORFUL YOU

So you're accepting nature's dictates about the color of your hair, and you really aren't happy about it. You can't quite work up the courage for defiance . . . and you tell yourself there are dozens of reasons why it is all right for Mrs. Soandso and Mrs. Whoslt to improve on nature. But your husband, your children, your boss, your friends would whisper unkind things were you to follow suit. There would be talk, yes, but it would all be raves!

The case for hair coloring is a strong one, and there are dozens of valid reasons, aside from sheer vanity, which we can cite. Let's forget, for the moment, what others will think and say. The psychological wonders it will work on you are the most important. You will feel like a new person. You may become a new personality. You will face your world with more confidence and poise because you are content that the change in the color of your hair makes you a more attractive, radiant woman.

Dull or drab hair, whether in natural browns, blondes, etc., or graying, grey or white, tend to "pull you down." Dull hair just has faded as you look. Becoming color, whether in hair or clothes is a background for living, does just the opposite.

According to make-up expert and hair design authority, Eddie Senz, of New York, "Every woman has the prerogative of being provocative. The artful choice of color as a face and hair accessories the pattern. When her hair is attractive, her face lights up and there is new youth and buoyancy in her movements. She has the courage to dress up to her new-found glamour. A stimulating chain reaction sets in. Friend husband takes notice and likes what he sees. Children respond with enthusiasm and friends admire. The outward change, as great as it may be, cannot be compared with the inner expansion . . . the sense of well-being . . . the thrill that comes of knowing you have won an important battle over age."

Mr. Senz has this advice to offer those who may be considering a change in hair color. "If you have the slightest doubt about how well you will look, experiment by having different color rinses tried. These will not be exactly the same or as good an effect as hair dye, but they will bring contrasts to consider. Your skin will look different. Your eyes will show up in all their luminous beauty, and you can then decide which shade would be best.

"You can stay as close to your natural hair coloring as you choose, or be as dramatic and different as your skin coloring, eyes and coursey permit you. Today, even very young girls use hair coloring. No one scoffs when a woman changes the color of her hair ten times in a year. Change is good for the soul. What may please you today, can become boring tomorrow. Play with color. Make it work for you, and explore every possibility until you are delighted your choice does the most for you . . . that it does something for you psychologically."

Once youth is recaptured in your hair, be regular in your retouches. Keep the color looking its best all the time. Dividends far outweigh investments of time and money.

Tomorrow Mr. Senz will tell you how to keep your coiffure in order after it has been set professionally.

Labor Day Menu With A Minimum of Labor

By Mary Moore

As I stood in the garden this morning wondering where I would park the sprinkler until 9 A.M. there was a coolness in the air that sent a chill through me.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY

Liver and Bacon with onions; Sweet Potato Puffs (see Tuesday); Broccoli with Mock Hollandaise; Chilled Compote of Plums with Cheese Straws; Coffee.

Was winter starting its relentless approach so soon? So many folks are still up north shivering under three blankets at night, and yearning for the sun to warm through a wool cardigan in the morning.

Never say die. Never give up until snow flies. I deliberately planned chili con carne barbecue supper with a bowl of crisp cole slaw and a crusty French stick garlicked and poppy-seeded until it split at the seams. To top off the feed, the folks got an appetizing pleasure sauce. It called for only one egg and it was a dandy.

Whether you entertain or loll on Labor Day you will go a long way before you can beat this menu for ease of preparation (could be done Saturday) and the economy of it.

CHILI CON CARNE:

We all think this recipe for chili con carne is better when refreshed after it has been made for 24 hours. One lb. coarsely ground beef (hamburg is just fine), ½ cup chopped onions, 1 tablespoons shortening or drippings, 1 or 2 finely chopped garlic cloves, 1 or 2 tablespoons chili powder, 1 or 2 teaspoons paprika, 2½ cups tomatoes (or 1 No. 2 can), 1 to 1½ teaspoons salt, 3 cups cooked red kidney beans (1 lb. before soaking and cooking until tender) or 1 28-oz. tin red kidney beans. Brown meat and onions together in the shortening a little then add the garlic, chili powder, paprika, tomatoes and salt. Cover and simmer 1 hour. Add cooked beans and simmer long enough to heat them through and flavor them with the sauce. Serve in bowls with garlic or poppy seed bread and lots of cole slaw.

APPLESAUCE CAKE (1 egg):

One and three- quarters cups sifted cake flour, ½ teaspoon each cloves and soda, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ cup butter or shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 well beaten egg, 1 cup each chopped and floured raisins, chopped and floured nuts, grated rind of 1 unpeeled applesauce. 1 used Astrakhans. Sift flour, measure and sift it with the soda, salt, and spices three times. Cream the butter or shortening until very light and gradually cream the sugar into it until both are very light. Beat in the egg. raisins and nuts. Add flour mixture alternately with the applesauce, a small amount of each at a time. This may be baked in layers but a greased loaf pan is recommended about 9 x 4 x 3 inches. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 1 hour or until it tests done with toothpick at centre. Spread with Penuche Frosting made to heat ing together 3 tablespoons butter and 2 cups sifted icing sugar and 5 tbs boiled and cooled maple syrup.

History of United Church Crest Given at W.M.S.

4TH SIDNEY — The August meeting of the Stone Church Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. H. Gray and Mrs. S. W. Lloyd with nine members present. Mrs. J. Delior, the president, opened the meeting in the usual way and with all members reading a prayer in unison.

The Scripture was read by Mrs. F. Jeffery. Mrs. E. B. Phillips read a lesson on helping others, especially the refugees and strangers from other countries.

Steps in program procedure as given in The Missionary Monthly were read by various members and an interesting discussion followed.

Mrs. W. J. Tufts gave a talk on the "United Church Crest." She described the oval form of the crest as the outline of a fish used as a secret symbol by which Christians were identified during the persecution in the first century.

"The letters of the Greek word for 'fish' form the first letters of Jesus Christ, Son of God, and Saviour. The letter 'X' at the Center is the Greek letter 'X', the first in the Greek word for 'Christ,' the living center of our faith and our Church."

The fourth quarter of the X is the symbol "three" which are meant for the three committees. Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian which United to form the United Church of Canada in June of 1925.

"The open Bible" represents the Congregational Churches which stands for liberty and freedom of their fathers. "The Dove" is emblematic of the Holy Spirit. Mark 1:10 whose power has been the mark of Methodism; "The Burning Bush" is the symbol of Presbyterianism referring to Exodus 3:2."

The intertwined symbols in the lower quarter are the Greek letters Alpha and Omega, first and last letters of the Greek alphabet. The eternal living God, Rev. 1:4. Around the outer rim of the crest is the name, The United Church of Canada and the Latin words translated that all may be one, this was taken from the prayer of our Lord as found in John 17:21. So we must give, if we would live, to withhold is to perish, so our gifts are symbols of our lives offered in service to God to carry on his work."

A few items of business were discussed and an announcement that the fall rally is to be held in the Church in October.

The Women's Association held a short business session and the cook books were distributed and are now on sale.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and committee in charge.

STILL GOOD

Honey was a favorite article of food, and ingredient of various drinks, in ancient Greece.

After-Five Finery

By ALICE ALDEN

Rich silks dyed in luscious colors are handled by our designers with loving care and artistic effect. From the new collection of Samuel Winston designed by the talented Roxanne, comes this emerald green gros de londre silk dress, a fine after-five choice. Tiers fall smoothly and flat in front and cascade down the back. The softly snug bodice has a deep V front and back. This is the sort of dress that never outwears its welcome.

Wife Preservers

Beef steaks for broiling should be cut 1½ to 2 inches thick. They should have a generous covering of white or creamy fat on the outer edges and the lean should be marbled with fat, for the fat makes the most juicy.

Women Raise $26,000 Through Cook Book Sales

LUNENBURG, N.S. (CP) — A cook book with a personality, and a nurses' residence, are closely linked in this Nova Scotia coast town.

The Dutch Oven, a cook book of traditional Lunenburg recipes, already has raised more than $26,000 enough to build and furnish the nurses' residence atop the Fishermen's Memorial Hospital here.

Some 23,000 copies of the book have been sold throughout Canada and the United States. The book now is in its fifth printing of 5,000 copies.

"We intend to go on printing copies as long as they are being sold," Mrs. Ray Lohnes, who looks after sales, said in an interview.

GREAT VARIETY

The big recipe book was produced by the ladies' auxiliary of the Lunenburg Hospital Society for the town's bicentennial in 1953. Mrs. Catherine Creighton, past-president of the hospital's auxiliary, said the idea for a cook book "just grew in the group."

Lunenburg, founded by settlers from Germany, has long preserved its traditional recipes, passing them on from generation to generation.

Favorite recipes for everything from sauerkraut and raspberry vinegar to oyster stew and clam chowder were placed in the book the way they were received—in the donor's own handwriting.

From the beginning, the illustrated work proved a sales bonanza which surprised its originators.

Tourists visiting the hilly, historic home port of the famed schooner Bluenose spread word about the cook book. Now it is sold in many Canadian shops.

COMMUNITY SUPPORT

Lunenburgers agree that the Dutch Oven has been a blessing to their 35-bed hospital.

The nurses' residence, with accomodation for 12 to 14, also can be easily converted into wards when the need of some 2,000 residents needs more hospital space.

With a cover by handicapped artist Early Bailly of Lunenburg —who holds his paint brush in his teeth—and illustrations by another native artist, Philip Backman, Lunenburgers themselves are no slouches at salesmen.

For instance, hotel owner Fred Glover said he'd sold 11,200 copies. He keeps a copy on a main desk in his dining room. And he detailed the recipes for clam chowder and oyster stew.

Collection Will Astound Many Of Experts

PARIS (Reuters) — Hubert de Givenchy showed his collection to the press in Paris today, nearly one month after his first presentation to the buyers.

Givenchy and designer Balenciaga, who both have severed official relations with the French syndicate of haute couture designers, persist in showing to the fashion writers after both professional and private clients have placed the majority of large orders.

This collection will astound fashion partisans who have not already heard first-hand reports. Surrealistic and abstract as modern painting, it opposes all current concepts of the silhouette.

Givenchy ignores the waistline in shapeless sacks that have double shock value with a new length sawn off to the knees.

CAN SEE 'EM

Occasionally the kneecaps can actually be seen through the ravelled fringed hems that are a Givenchy trademark this season.

The basic shape for coats is a cocoon silhouette, widening through the centre and barrelled into the hem. Suits give way to dress-and-jacket ensembles.

Millinery defies description and the average critic needs a step ladder to get a really close view. Transparent bird - cage shapes tower as high as two feet in the air. Other models for formal wear are constructed with surrealistic antenna or radar-screen trims, while a ballerina's tutu is suddenly transformed into a hat, with cascades of veiling falling to the waist.

NO NUDES WAS NOT GOOD NEWS

Virtue may be its own reward, but Michiko Maeda, above, was fined $1,500 for refusing to pose in the nude so she may have her doubts. Michiko is a 22-year-old Japanese movie actress who won some fame by taking off her clothes in three Japanese pictures last year. But this time she balked and her modesty, according to the movie company cost the studio $3,000, so they fined her half that amount. Michiko does not suffer from dyspepsia. "If the part is right," she said, "and if it calls for that sort of thing, yes I'll take off my clothes." But she thought the part wasn't right this last time, so no nudes.

HIRE NEGRO TEACHERS

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Two Negro teachers have been hired for schools in this southeastern Pennsylvania community of 60,000 where violent protests recently greeted the arrival of its first Negro family. School authorities disclosed the appointments at a school board meeting Tuesday. The names of the new teachers — a man and a woman—will not be announced till school starts in line with established practice.

Canadian Cosmetics

Luxurious Aids to Loveliness

95% of Canadian women use lipstick, own at least 3 shades in colours ranging from pink to purple. Cleopatra would have given the crown jewels for a lipstick like this: lasting, dewy, kissproof—the dream of woman since the dawn of time.

Canada's expanding economy is mirrored in every aspect of Canadian life but perhaps nowhere as prettily as in the boudoir where perfumed toiletries in luxury containers bear alluring proof that more women are spending more money on cosmetics than ever before.

Beauty is a woman's business, and Canadian women, taking the adage to heart, are putting their pretty noses to the cosmetician's grindstone. An increasing share of the family budget is being earmarked for beauty: last year some 5 million women invested 86 million dollars in the glamorous aids and treatments made available by Canada's growing cosmetic industry.

National Film Board of Canada Photos by Gar Lunney.

Pioneer women had to be content with crude makeshifts, but today's woman can take the shine off her nose confident that Canadian cosmetics, guarded by government regulation, contain finest ingredients obtainable.

As medical science continues to add years to life, beauticians are hard-pressed to find beauty aids that will "take years off". Canadian cosmeticians above test texture lotion designed to keep your skin alive as long as you are.

When the sports events were completed all the children were treated to ice cream, cold drinks and other refreshments.

This closed the period of playground enjoyment for this summer and kept the children occupied throughout the holiday season as they were not on the village streets.

HILLIER SOUTH

Community Friends Honor Bride-to-Be

HILLIER SOUTH — On Monday evening the Rose Hall Sunday School hall was gay with baskets of autumn flowers, a proper setting for the festive occasion of honoring Miss Helen Martin, prior of her marriage on September 2nd.

Mrs. A. Wannamaker welcomed the friends of the community and paid due respects to the guest of honor.

A short program was arranged which opened with community singing, Mrs. L. McCartney at the piano. Mrs. W. Cunningham and Mrs. McCartney presented humorous contests. The Misses Carolyn, Christine, Catharine and Linda MacDonald favored with a chorus.

Helen was invited to the place of honor on the platform, escorted by Mrs. E. Munro. Mrs. Wannamaker, on behalf of the friends, expressed, briefly, best wishes and congratulations and Miss V. Israel read a card of greeting after which Mrs. Earl Munroe presented Helen with a purse of money.

Although taken by surprise, Helen responded, thanking all for their kindness.

Refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have now been a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

DIEFENBAKER

"Every new mechanical instrument of destruction such as this underlines and re-emphasizes the urgent need for success in the negotiations of the disarmament subcommittee in London," he said.

DANGEROUS STEP

Later, he told 600 junior farmers at the Central Canada Exhibition here that Russia was taking "one of the most dangerous steps that has been taken in many years" in refusing at the talks to agree to a cessation of atomic and hydrogen weapons tests.

In London Tuesday, Russia turned down Western terms for a two-year ban on the tests. Mr. Diefenbaker said the move makes more remote the possibility of "a new (war-free) day for all of us."

Gen. Foulkes and the scientists said there is no reason to doubt that Russia has produced a ballistic rocket.

"They have not made false statements in matters of this kind," said the country's highest-ranking service officer.

The question was, however, how good a rocket is it? What were its range and its accuracy? It seemed obvious that it hadn't a 5,000-mile range — the U.S. specification for its projected ICBM—or the test rocket likely would have landed outside Soviet territory.

CCURACY IMPORTANT

Accuracy was important since bearing error of one degree, ver a 5,000-mile course, would nd a missile 80 miles from its rget.

"But a rocket with a range of ,000 to 2,000 miles would be akin o what we call an intermediate allistic missile," Gen. Foulkes aid. "The fact that they have ven such a long-range missile s worrying enough."

The significant factor, however as that while Russia was experimenting with rockets she was continuing to build bigger and better bombers.

She already had in the Badger, the Bull and the Bison aircraft capable of intercontinental flight and clearly aimed at North America. If she was improving upon them the implication was clear that her main reliance was upon manned aircraft still.

The DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar system, therefore, remained an essential defence of North America and NATO's retaliatory capacity, which had to be guarded against all weapons, and all combinations of weapons, likely to be hurled.

LIKELY MAIN THREAT

"We believe the manned bomber likely to continue to be the main threat for some time to come," the general said.

"It would not be prudent to be prepared to deal with only one type of attack. And we would certainly look silly if we were to strip our defences against the manned bomber when the Russians have one rocket that is far from becoming a weapon."

The DEW line, even in the ICBM era, would remain a vital link in the continent's defence-communications system, providing communications from Arctic radar - lookout posts to control headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo.

That was important since there would be only between 15 and 20 minutes within which to dispose of an ICBM after the first warning.

ACQUIT MOLNAR

Under examination, Desgroseilliers said that seeing pictures of Molnar on television, in magazines and newspapers would have helped him in his identification.

Judge Brennan said he did not think that Desgroseilliers' daughter Ghislaine, who along with her boy friend and other members of the family trussed up by the gunmen, could see the features of the accused clear enough to establish positive identification.

SAID TESTIMONY CONFLICTS

The judge also said that the store manager said Molnar was wearing a beret while his daughter said the accused was wearing a peaked cap.

"I can not see how a judge with the smallest doubt in his mind can convict a man. I have doubt in my mind because the Crown has failed to prove positive identification," he said.

Molnar was taken into custody last November by RCMP as he stepped from a plane in Toronto following deportation from Mexico as an undesirable alien.

Following the robbery Molnar was placed on the RCMP's most wanted men list when they were unable to locate him for questioning. His presence in Mexico was discovered when he and his wife reported to Mexican police they were threatened by extortionists demanding $10,000 in cash.

Molnar met and married Rita Ann LaBine in Mexico where she was holidaying and studying art and Spanish.

HOW IT LOOKED FROM BALLOON 102,000 FEET HIGH

These poles were made by Maj. David G. Simons during his 32-hour balloon flight to an altitude of 102,000 feet, from Minnesota to South Dakota. At top, left, the air force physician photographs himself with a timing flash that illuminates the instruments. Top right, he photographs a two-face mirror, recording extremities of the gondola. The earth appears at bottom. Note reflections divided by softly defined line. Above line are load tapes fixed to the balloon and extending down to the gondola. Other cable-like line is "shroud line" of parachute below balloon. Below the sofe line, the round object is a ballast pan, with a package (contents unknown) fixed alongside. At bottom, left, the earth's curvature is clearly visible. Cumulus clouds float over the earth's surface. The gadget at the bottom, right, of this photo is a device for measuring outside temperature. A storm area hangs over the area in the background, with farmland in the foreground. At upper right is reflection on the curved surface of gondola.

Postal Rockets Across Ocean Possibility, Expert Thinks Costs Would Be Prohibitive

OTTAWA (CP) — In this day and age even postal rockets across the oceans are a possibility to speed the mails around the world—provided the public will bear the cost.

But Sir Dudley Lumley, 63-year-old dean of the 14th congress of the Universal Postal Union now meeting here, doesn't see such rockets coming very soon, if at all.

The tall, pipe-smoking former deputy chief of Britain's postal service says that for one thing their use would mean much higher postal rates, and the world trend is to keep costs down.

And even such devices, he pointed out in an interview, wouldn't overcome rumas handling of mail at either end of the journey. The human element was always there.

GREAT ADVANCES

"The vast developments of the last 20 years have speeded the mails to a most extensive degree," observed Sir Dudley. "In most 40 years in the postal service, I've seen a recognized international export.

"I can remember when it used to take eight days for a letter across the Atlantic. Now it is not unusual to get a two-day delivery between London and Ottawa.

"Certainly we can get further acceleration Everything is possible in this age — even postal rockets — but it all comes down to the question of cost.

"And you still have the problems of collection and delivery." Some thought the helicopter was the answer to speedier handling. "True, it could speed the flow of mail from post offices to the airports, but there was still the question of cost. "How are you going to get the mail from a hundred and one posting places to the helicopter except by present methods?"

NATIONS' CO-OPERATE

Educated at Cambridge, and an officer in the First World War, Sir Dudley joined the postal service in 1919. Actively associated with international postal service, he has attended numerous conference all over the world.

He was chosen dopyen, or senior member, of the current 14th UPU congress in succession to Gunnar Lager of Sweden. Sir Dudley describes the position as that of "a sort of elder statesman." At the congress opening the dopyen makes a major policy speech on the international postal service but otherwise stays in the background.

Sir Dudley believes political talk has increased a little in recent years at international postal gatherings. But this was something bound to come up at meetings representative of varying views, and he did not think it excessive. Through it all a great spirit of co-operation prevailed internationally on mail matters. Even in war, the UPU did its utmost to arrange a continuous flow of mail.

KNIGHTED FOR SERVICE

Sir Dudley became deputy director-general of the British post office in 1952. He was at one time regional director for London, one of the world's biggest offices. He was knighted in 1953 and retired from the postal service in 1955.

He believes developments in telecommunications have cut down a bit in letter writing, but says there will always be plenty of mail to handle.

Sir Dudley's future? A bachelor, he is going back to his country home near Weymouth, Dorset, where he lives with his sister.

"I'm going back to my garden," he said with a smile. "I've got a green thumb for flowers and fruit, and its a full-time occupation."

Ajax Contracting Company, Constructing Govt. Building In Ottawa, in Bankruptcy

TORONTO (CP)—A contracting firm constructing a new multi-million-dollar federal building in Ottawa has gone into voluntary bankruptcy.

Work on the $6,537,000-building has been halted and at least 500 men are without work as a result of the bankruptcy petition of George Hardy Limited of Ajax, Ont.

The company's petition to Osgoode Hall listed assets at more than $1,000,000 but liabilities at about $3,000,000. Chief secured creditor is the Toronto-Dominion Bank.

Joseph E. Murphy, acting general manager of the firm since April, declined to say the reason for the bankruptcy proceedings. He said about 500 employees at the company's Ajax plant had been discharged Friday.

Mr. Murphy said the company encountered "time - consuming difficulties" on the Ottawa building, and had the same trouble on construction earlier of the National Film Board's headquarters near Montreal.

The Ottawa building, designed for the federal trade department, is about 72-per-cent completed. It is on Wellington Street, three blocks from Parliament Hill.

Maj.-Gen. H. A. Young, deputy works minister, said in Ottawa that work on the five - storey structure was stopped Friday.

He said he hoped work could be resumed later this week as the building is already a year behind schedule and "we can't delay if we want some work done during the winter."

Two courses now are open to the works department to complete the building.

It could take over construction of the building, or it could obtain quotations from other major contractors for completion of the work.

Also affected by the company's decision to go into bankruptcy is a Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation project in Barrisfield, Ont.

George Hardy Limited was founded in 1945 as the Ward McKee Company. It was taken over in 1947 by the late George Hardy, a cartage company owner who died in 1956.

Largest single project of the company was a $9,000,000 supply depot for the RCAF at Downsview airport near Toronto.

Most of World Thinks Reds Tell Truth About Rockets But Stalemate Not Broken

LONDON (CP) — Reaction throughout most of the world to Russia's claims of victory in intercontinental rocket concedes that the claim is probably true but it should not upset the world balance of power.

In the United States, a Senate Democratic leader, Henry Jackson of Washington state, says the U.S. should accelerate its missile program and boost production of long-range bombers. The Republican administration credits the Russians with "substantial success in the long-range ballistic missile field," adding that the U.S. program in that field "is being pressed forward . . . with a high priority."

In Canada, Prime Minister Diefenbaker Tuesday night said that whatever monopoly Russia may have in that field "it will not long endure." He called for "redoubled sincerity and efforts" in the London disarmament talks.

MAY GIVE CHANGE

In London, an editorial in The News Chronicle suggests that Russian possession of the rocket may produce a fundamental change in her attitude.

"Her immense power may breed a sense of security, and with it a willingness to relax.

"Soviet military confidence could be the ally of peace. . . . Behind the mushroom clouds of the Siberian testing grounds may be the first rays of a new dawn."

The Manchester Guardian says that to underestimate the Soviet achievement would be a mistake, to overestimate it would be equally dangerous.

"At most . . . (it) could be a warning that the Soviet government may have batteries of long-range rockets perhaps three years before the United States. Even so, that does not end the strategic stalemate.

LEAST LIKELY

"Because the strategic threat is so great and because all-out war would have such frightful consequences even for the aggressor, it seems the least likely tactic. It seems the least likely method for any future Soviet advance."

The London Daily Herald, organ of the British Labor party, says the stalemate continues. It cautions Britain against playing into Russian hands and possibly ruining her economy by trying to keep up with the U.S. and Russia in the nuclear race.

But the right - wing London Daily Express argues that Britain should extend her education facilities so as to not be ousted in the scientific and nuclear race.

"The Russian achievement should act as a stimulus."

NO ADVANTAGE

The Edinburgh Scotsman says Moscow has no advantage as long as American planes can reach Russia, and that by the time planes are ineffective the U.S. will have the long-range rocket too.

In France, the Conservative paper Le Figaro notes that all Western capitals have taken the Russian claim seriously, but the terms of the communique "make one thing" that the weapon "is not giving all the satisfaction officially claimed, or particularly reassuring accuracy in landing."

In West Germany, the influential independent newspaper Die Welt thinks the Russian announcement was timed for political reasons, although "it would be unwise to assume that Russia is merely making propaganda and empty statements."

Govt. to Build Causeway Across Rainy Lake

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Premier Frost said Tuesday a $5,000,000 contract for construction of a causeway across Rainy Lake will be let shortly.

The premier arrived here by air to join 50 members of the Ontario legislature in a tour of Northwestern Ontario.

He said the three-mile causeway, and a 90-mile road linking it with Atikokan, will be completed as speedily as possible.

This would link the Lakehead directly with Fort Frances and the Rainy Lake area on Northwestern Ontario's southern tip. Only present connection is from Kenora to the north.

This "will further open the great Quetico area and draw the entire district closer to the centre of population," Mr. Frost said.

The premier said in an airport interview that "I foresee the Lakehead's development would be a more accessible link with the eastern industry through Michigan. A bridge across Mackinac Straits, at the upper neck of Lake Michigan, was nearing completion.

Request Delay In Hearings on New Phone Rates

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa's board of control Tuesday decided to ask the board of transport commissioners for telephone in three months hearings on a proposal by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada to increase its rates in several Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec communities.

The city plans to ask other communities to join in united opposition to the application.

The board also decided to seek an amendment to the Ontario Highways Act permitting a 20-miles-an-hour speed 11mit in school areas. Ottawa now has a 30-miler-an-hour limit.

Drive to Cut Expenditures Halted by Russia's Action

WASHINGTON (CP)—Russia's reported successful firing of the first intercontinental ballistic missile is expected to halt the drive to cut expenditures in the United States armed forces.

It undoubtedly will result in a campaign in congress and in the U. S. defence community for a step-up in the U. S. missile program, which has produced nothing to match the Soviet claim.

The U. S. has fired only one experimental missile and that fizzled.

Washington reaction to the announcement, some of which has now appears linked with Tuesday's Russian denunciation of Western disarmament proposals, has been cautious, with a tendency to discount the Soviet development.

The only official comment came from Chief Secretary Dulles, who conceded the announcement probably had facts behind it but questioned the effectiveness of the weapon which depends, he said, on the size of the target area, which is something the Russians aren't disclosing.

Congressional reaction was sharper and indicated many congressmen are ready to halt economy which in recent weeks slashed $2,000,000,000 from defence spending, including a proposed 35-per-cent cut in funds for guided missile research and development.

Past comment indicates U. S. military men would not be too concerned even if the Soviet claim proved true.

Less than two weeks ago, Admiral Arthur Radford told reporters before retiring as chairman of the U. S. chiefs of staff that the U. S. "shouldn't be disturbed" if the Russians developed the inter - continental missile before the United States. He said he didn't know who was ahead but he was "very satisfied" with the American program.

Radford is thought to have meant that U. S. now has the military power to destroy Russia and that American progress in missiles is such that Russia could not have exclusive possession for very long.

Trouble Spots Haunt U.S. Business Heading for Fall

NEW YORK (AP)—A queasy stock market and some harried industrialists are watching a few small clouds on the horizon today as business heads for its fall fest.

Most of the economic statistics on the United States point upward. But a number of indicators have turned around and now point down.

All this could change after Labor Day. Many business leaders are confident that consumers will start another buying spree and that 1957 will end on a high note.

Right now, however, other business men are worried about backed-up inventories, layoffs due to slow production, loss of government money by cutbacks in defence spending, still lagging home building, the squeeze on business profits and the crimp that the high cost of living is putting on most consumer pocketbooks.

Business spending for expansion and government spending for defence have been two factors putting the heaviest foot on the throttle of the business boom.

But there are cancellations or postponements of some business building plans. Spending remains at a record high but the volume of new contracts declines.

Money available for foreign aid has a way of coming back in the guise of payments for American products and services. An economy - minded Congress appears bent on damming some of this stream.

Building of new homes is about 25 per cent below the 1955 peak. Recent sweetening of mortgage terms has yet to show any effect on home starts.

Retail sales are running slightly ahead of a year ago. But higher prices account for most of that. And big ticket items aren't moving as fast as manufacturers would like.

Tweed

TWEED — The Appreciation Day winner last Saturday was Miss Cecelia Leiss, with a 10% ticket on a kitty of $422.50.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Buckley, Jane Street, have returned from their vacation.

August 31 there will be an auction sale for cash on the farm of Carl LaBarge, 3 miles north-east of Tweed. Mr. LaBarge is selling his farm equipment and household effects as well as his entire crop and stock. The sale begins at 1 p.m.

The rain was welcome Saturday as farmers were beginning to wring their hands and wonder what they would do if rain and crop relief did not soon make an appearance. The district has had the odd shower, but what was needed was an old-fashioned drizzling rain to seep into the ground and do the good that Saturday's rain helped to attain.

Flt. Sgt. Lewis, Goat Mascot Of RAF, Buried

LONDON (AP) — Flt. Sgt. Lewis, a tobacco - loving hard-drinking billy goat, was buried with full military honors Tuesday.

As mascot for the RAF, the 15-year-old goat led a colorful though at times rowdy life.

With a special jacket and sparkling chevrons, he marched at the head of many a notable London parade.

Flt. Sgt. Lewis, as he was officially registered on the rolls of the RAF, retired in 1948.

At his passing out parade, attended by high-ranking officers and airmen, he was presented with demobilization papers, a ration book and an embossed pension certificate.

He promptly ate all the documents.

At a reception in the parlor of the Lord Mayor of Eastbourne the goat once snitched a cigaret from his worship's fingers and downed it before his keepers could shout halt.

LOVED TOBACCO, BEER

Before the reception was over he swallowed five more cigarets. From that time on, cigarets and beer became a part of his diet.

The goat, still looked after by the RAF, had been living in retirement on a pleasant meadow near a London suburb. Last year he slowed down with arthritis.

Doctors put him on a special diet and denied him the cigarets and suds. The goat got worse.

In desperation his keepers returned him to his tobacco and beer. He brightened. But old age caught up with him last week. Quietly, he was put away.

Hospital Plan Rates in Ontario To Be Released

BIGWIN INN, Ont. (CP)—The chairman of the Ontario hospital services commission says Ontario rates under the Dominion-provincial hospital insurance scheme will be released within three weeks.

Arthur J. Swanson told members of the Ontario Municipal Association Tuesday final calculations are being checked by chartered accountants.

He said Waldo Monteith, federal health minister, promised this week the new Progressive Conservative government will consider including costs of mental and tubercular care in the scheme.

"Premier Frost has insisted that mental illness and TB be included," Mr. Swanson said.

MUNICIPAL TAXES

The association also took a look at municipal taxes and heard Division A. M. Kinkpatrick call for greater use of probation services.

Mr. Swanson said it is often "blithely announced" the federal government will contribute 50 per cent of the cost of the health scheme, to go into effect, Jan. 1, 1959.

"That is not quite so," he said. Ottawa's contribution would range from 43 per cent to 72 per cent in the various provinces, although Ontario would receive a 48 - per - cent contribution, when other hospital costs were added the province would get 35 per cent of its cost.

The association passed a resolution to ask permissive legislation from the Ontario government to double the present six-per-cent interest rate allowed on overdue taxes. The resolution said to-day's maximum rate does not sufficiently discourage municipal ers from letting their tax bills go overdue. This affected the credit of municipalities.

Pelham township proposed that incomplete assessments be based on a county-wide basis to benefit rural townships where industrial workers go to live. The workers increased demand for schools and other services was not bringing substantially to tax revenues.

Another resolution asked the Ontario government to pay municipal taxes, based on provincial assessment standards on its lands, buildings and installations.

Believe Russians May Walk Out Of Arms Parley

LONDON (AP)—Some Western diplomats today expected the Russians to walk out of the United Nations disarmament talks here following a sharp Soviet rejection of latest Western proposals.

But the Western powers went ahead with plans to present their completed disarmament package to the five-country subcommittee next week despite the Russian rebuff.

Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin put the Moscow rejection before the subcommittee Tuesday in a statement which accused the United States, Britain and France of preparing for a new war. Canada is the fifth member of the disarmament group.

Zorin said the Soviet Union considers the talks deadlocked, and charged the West with evading issues and lying. His objections were largely a repeat of previous Soviet criticisms of the Western proposals.

RUSSIAN REJECTS

The Russian delegate gave harsh rejection to the newest Western proposals for a two-year ban on nuclear weapon tests and the latest version of President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan to guard against surprise attack. He said the Soviet Union stands by its proposals for a "first stage" disarmament agreement, emphasizing that it should be preceded by a pact to halt immediately nuclear weapon tests.

He dismissed the proposal for aerial inspection of certain areas as yielding "nothing useful either for disarmament or the prevention of sudden attack."

Zorin also demanded that African, Asian and Latin-American countries join in the talks to change its "present narrow and once-sided composition." Similar proposals to expand the committee already have been rejected by the West.

Thrills Aplenty As Antique Cars Join in Parade

TORONTO (CP) — Visitors to the Canadian National Exhibition have been given glimpses of the history and future of two of Canada's major industries as the CNE celebrated its Automotive and Electrical Day.

Col. R. S. McLaughlin, 85-year-old pioneer Canadian automobile manufacturer, Tuesday visited a display of antique cars and slipped behind the wheel of an old McLaughlin manufactured by the firm bearing his name in 1918. Also on display was a 1916 Tuthope, produced in Orillia.

A parade and contest for 61 ancient cars brought such now-unfamiliar names as Holsman, Cord, Sears, Essex and Franklin to chug around the grandstand track, their drivers attired in derbies and goggles.

Aubrey Marshall of Toronto was the Ontario Motor League Trophy for the safest and most roadworthy antique car with his 1914 Rolls Royce. Prizes were also awarded in about a dozen standard classes.

WARNS OF TRADE

A warning that Canadian economy might be profoundly affected by the proposed west European free trade area came from E. D. Hardiman, president of the Canadian Electrical Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. Hardness said in a luncheon speech that the proposed free trade area would provide a large pool of cheap labor, enabling the countries involved to enter world markets with the trade advantage of lower prices. He said that dependence upon the steps taken by the Canadian government, the situation could determine the future of secondary manufacturing in Canada, which employs about 1,000,000 persons.

"If government policies continue to make it easier for Canada to import manufactured goods already made in Canada," he said, "the end results will have an adverse effect on the employment of Canadians."

FEDERAL GRAIN

All these production figures are subject to revision but no revision has indicated it has been underestimating the crop for some years.

While the 1957 crop may be down, the government still has a tough wheat problem on its hands with Canada holding huge supplies in an uncertain market. The carryover at July 31 was estimated at a record 1,000,000,000 bushels up 143,000,000 from last year.

Thus, total supplies for 1957 may reach over the 1,000,000,000 bushel mark, though slightly down from last year's high of more than 1,100,000,000.

MAIN AGGRAVATION

One of the main aggravations to farmers is that they hold records of stocks of grain on farms and because of the lag in markets are unable to obtain sufficient cash to maintain operations.

The former Liberal administration, rejecting appeals for cash advances, provided legislation to allow producers to borrow from banks at five per cent interest. Legislation passed in the last session of Parliament were boosted to $3,000 from $1,500. The new Conservative regime has not affect Sept. 1 providing the cabinet fired an interest rate by that time.

The new Progressive Conservative administration has from guaranteed loans legislation under consideration but so far has not fixed the rate.

Three-Run Homer Cracks Game Wide Open After Sox Tie Contest in Seventh Frame

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ask manager Fred Haney of the games which gave him the most satisfaction this season and he would undoubtedly select Tuesday night's 4-3 triumph over New York Giants.

Not so much because the victory raised Braves' first place National League margin over St. Louis to 7½ games or because Don McMahon, his new bullpen ace, turned in two innings of perfect relief to preserve Lew Burdette's 18th win.

To Haney's way of thinking, the turning point came in the sixth inning when a long-practiced defensive play by Braves' Eddie Mathews and Red Schoendienst resulted in an odd double play that averted a possible big inning by Giants.

TRAP WILLIE

At the time, Milwaukee was leading 3-1 but Willie Mays was on third with nobody out and the dangerous Roy Zalionski was at the plate. Zalionski hit a crisp grounder to third baseman Eddie Mathews and Mays was trapped.

Willie tried to sleight between third and Mathews and catcher Del Crandall closed in on him. Mathews made the tag and threw to Red Schoendienst who caught Zalionski trying for second.

The idea, Mathews explained, is to hold the hitter at first. A double him at second. To do this, he said, the third baseman moves in fast instead of waiting at the bag.

St. Louis lost 2-8 at Pittsburgh after collecting an 11-2 decision in the completion of a July 31st suspended game.

RALLY IN NINTH

Third-place Brooklyn tumbled eight games back in a 9-4 defeat by Chicago Cubs. Cincinnati rallied for four in the ninth and defeated Philadelphia 5-3, regaining a fourth-place tie with the Phils.

Besides the big double play, Braves' former Giants on home runs by Schoendienst, Mathews and Frank Torre. Al Worthington was the loser, giving up five of Milwaukee's seven hits. Giants had 12 hits.

Bob Friend's five-hitter toppled Cards, who Don Blasingame lost it for a 7-4 record as Bob Skinner singled and scored the winning run in the eighth on a wild pitch, infield out and Bill Mazeroski's infield hit.

EXTENDS RECORD

Stan Musial appeared in the completion of the suspended game, which had been batted in the ninth, and extended his league record for consecutive games played to 895. The string ended—except for the July 31 interruption—last week when Musial injured a shoulder.

Ernie Banks drove in five runs for Cubs with his 30th home run and a double by young Dick Ivorie who now has beaten every club he's faced a 13-10 record. Don Newcombe lost it for a 10-11 mark, failing to last two innings.

Bob Thorman, recalled as a tories.

Hickory Smoke Wins Raceoff For Rich Hambletonian Stake

DUQUOIN, Ill. (CP) — The success of the Hambletonian as the fairgrounds in little coal-mining community may mean it will be held here for some years to come.

Some 25,000 fans, the largest Hambletonian crowd ever, overflowed the grandstand and seemed pleased with the sixth race of the day, the Hambletonian Stakes, N.Y., where the harness racing classic had been held since 1926.

Even Hickory Smoke, who swept to victory in Tuesday's record, turned the baked clay mile oval to his liking.

The Hambletonian Society last year scheduled the race here as a show of feeling against the administration of the New York State Harness Racing Commission.

TWO-HORSE RACEOFF

Tuesday's thrilling divisional heats produced the first two of horse raceoff for the championship in history.

In the double showdown, driver John Simpson took Hickory Smoke to the front at the start, and all the way and beat Hoot Song by half a length.

Hoot Song, owned last year for $18,000 by L. B. Sheppard and A. C. Hodges, earned a total of $67,417 to boost his two-year winnings to $99,391.

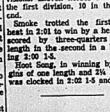
Hoot Song, owned by Two Gaits Farm of Carmel, Ind., and driven by Buddy Baldwin, took a $26,137 slice of the $111,126 gross purse, the richest largest ever offered in the event.

TWO-HEAT WINNERS

Hickory Smoke and Song won both heats of their respective divisions. Eleven horses started in the first division, 10 in the second.

Smoke trotted the first mile heat in 2:01 to win by a head. He scored by three-quarters of a length in the second in a blistering 2:00 1-4.

Hoot Song, in winning by margins of one length and 2½ lengths was clocked in 2:02 1-4 and 2:02.



"For heavens sake! How many points does he think he NEEDS to win the decision?

Buffalo Bisons Increase Lead In League Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With the first three positions in the International League pennant race beginning to spread out, the big struggle shapes up for fourth place and the final playoff berth.

Buffalo Bisons moved to a 2½-game league lead by defeating the skidding Rochester Red Wings 4-0 Tuesday night. The loss dropped Red Wings into a fourth-place tie with Havana Sugar Kings, who edged third - place Richmond Virginians 3-2 in 10 innings.

Meanwhile, Montreal Royals remained in contention for the playoffs with a 6-5 victory over second - place Toronto Maple Leafs. Miami Marlins and Columbus Jets split a doubleheader, Jets won the opener 2-1 and Frank Herrera singled in the winning run in the ninth inning for a 1-0 nightcap decision for Columbus.

ANOTHER THREE-HITTER

Southpaw Rip Coleman, who hurled a three-hitter before going to Kansas City As last month, returned to pitch another three-hitter for the Bisons. Coleman struck out seven and walked two while handing Red Rochester in the ninth straight defeat.

Luke Easter, Mike Baxes and Dave Melton homered for all Bisons' runs.

Willy Quintana's 10th inning single drove in the tie-breaking run for Havana's victory. Quintana started the game, who had kept Virginians in check most of the way, and scored for two runs in the eighth. Vees added another run in the ninth inning off Joe Hatten and Orlando Pena to tie it.

FIFTH IN A ROW

Jim Gentile's double in the ninth inning drove in the winning run to give Montreal its fifth straight victory. Stan Jok and Mike Goliat hit home runs for Toronto while Bobby Del Greco hit a three-run homer for Royals.

Miami's Howie Koplitz and Columbus' Ron Blackburn were locked in a tight pitching duel before Herrera's hit broke up the nightcap. The single was only the second hit off Blackburn, who had a no-hitter until Woody Smith singled in the eighth. Dan Frisella's ninth inning double broke a 1-1 tie in the ninth for Columbus in the opener.

Wren Blair Will Coach, Manage Whitby Dunlops

WHITBY (CP) — Coach Wren Blair of Whitby Dunlops will also act as general manager of the club during the 1957-58 Senior A Ontario Hockey Association season, it was announced Tuesday.

Blair coached Dunlops to the Allan Cup last year and is to leave with the club for a world hockey tour of Europe next year. It will be the third time in seven years he has taken on the dual jobs.

Dunlops also announced centre Charlie Burns of Toronto has signed for the coming season. Burns played as Guelph was Canadian amateur hockey supremacy this spring.

TIGERS SELL PITCHER

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tigers Tuesday sold pitcher Al Aber to Kansas City Athletics for the $10,000 waiver price.

The 28-year-old Aber, who had a 3-3 record this year, was used primarily in relief roles by the Tigers.

OASA Suspends Hamilton Player

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Roy Hamilton, outfielder with Hamilton Fotheringhams, has been suspended, secretary Leroy Pickard said of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association announced Tuesday.

The suspension followed an altercation in an OASA Senior B playoff game in Hamilton Monday night between Thorold Bombers and the Hamilton team.

After being ejected from the game by the base umpire, Hickey is said to have attacked President Bern Springstead of the Big Seven Hamilton League, a spectator at the contest.

Pickard said Hickey's suspension would remain in effect until his case comes before the OASA executive.

Williams Wants To Beat Mantle For Batting Title

DETROIT (AP)—Ted Williams, frisky as a colt despite his 39 years, has passed another hitting milestone in his struggle with Mickey Mantle for the American League batting title.

Williams scored the 450th home run of his major league career Tuesday night as his Boston Red Sox defeated Detroit Tigers 7-5 in 11 innings. So wrapped up in Williams is his duel with Mantle that the New Yankee slugger 13 years his junior that he did not realize his fifth inning effort into the upper rightfield stands at Briggs Stadium was No. 451.

"That's wonderful," said Williams when he learned of it. "I'd love to hit 495 of them."

Williams needs 45 more roundtrippers to pass Lou Gehrig, who ranks fourth among baseball's all-time home run hitters.

WANTS BAT TITLE

"Right now I have to think of that batting title," said Williams. "I want it in the worst way."

Williams collected two hits in four official trips and gained a point to .320. Mantle was one-for-four against Chicago and dropped a point to .376.

The Boston slugger said three things are responsible for his tremendous batting this year: "A lot of confidence, a good spring start and no injuries."

The 39-year-old hit .400 of a better—he did it in 1941 with a .406 mark—Williams believes he could do it again this season if I had the good legs."

"I'll end up with about 10 infield hits this year," he said. "in my younger days I'd have had 25 of them. That's the difference. If a game goes past three hours, my legs can't go on. And I don't play the records anymore."

Probe 'Fix' Claim Racing Commission to View Film of August 21st Race

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Racing Commission is to launch a full-scale inquiry today into alleged "fixing" of harness races at Old Woodbine Raceway.

The commission is to see a film of an Aug. 21 race following an admission by suspended licensed driver Herve Filion, 19, that he "had help" in winning the race with his horse Krismite.

All drivers involved are to be questioned.

Filion was suspended 60 days for "inconsistent driving" after winning the fifth race Monday with Professor Mc.

He said in an interview that after the Aug. 21 race one of the other drivers told him he had bet on Krismite and "was going to make sure I won."

OTHER HORSE BLOCKED

Filion said: "During the race one of the drivers blocked another which allowed me to win."

Stewards said Tuesday, after interviewing several drivers in that race, they would issue a complete statement today.

President Edward Clarence McPhee said that because of Filion's previous record, stewards became suspicious when he won Monday. He said the horse was not disqualified because it had won fairly.

He said Filion was suspended because the stewards claimed he had not tried to win with the horse in previous races.

McPhee added: "We've been watching this driver for some time."

NO OTHER EVIDENCE

He said the stewards had no evidence of fixed races other than Filion's statements.

Filion, who said he did not know whether he would appeal the suspension, denied any knowledge of betting on any of the horses he has driven, either

Monday or in previous races, beyond what he had been told after winning with Krismite.

He said Professor Mc's heels had been knocking in previous races, but he had the horse shod differently for Monday's race.

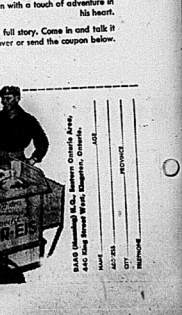
"I always try to win and I don't know why I was set down" he said.

ANNOUNCE IMPORTS

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union announced Tuesday the 13 imports being retained as team members.

The list included no surprises and only two changes from the 12 the team had last season when Esks won their third consecutive Dominion championship.

Kurt Bricka, inactive last season, returns to Edmonton to resume the centre spot he left at the end of the 1953 season. Bricka replaces Johnny Tatum, now in the United States army.



Buddy Parker Now Head Coach At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Raymond (Buddy) Parker, who passed in the stonge as head coach of the National Football League's Detroit Lions little more than two weeks ago, has a three-five-year contract as head coach of Pittsburgh Steelers.

Parker, whose appointment was announced Tuesday night by the Steelers, succeeds Walt Kiesling.

The ex-Detroit coach said he is asking Kiesling and all of Kiesling's aides to remain on the coaching staff.

Kiesling said he was happy to be relieved from the head coaching responsibility.

SICK LAST SEASON

A Steeler spokesman, explaining the sudden shift, declared:

"Kiesling was pretty sick last season and although he's pretty well recovered he feared another collapse if he had to go through another season as head coach."

Parker has had a fabulously successful pro coaching career in contrast to a comparatively poor record compiled by Kiesling. Off and on, Kiesling was head coach of the Steelers for eight seasons and compiled a record of 25 victories, 51 losses and four ties.

Parker quit Lions in a dramatic speech at a welcoming dinner to the squad in Detroit Aug. 12. He directed the team to three western division conference titles and two NFL championships in six seasons. He finished second twice and last once, in 1955 when injuries wrecked the club.

Roberts, Dublinski May Be Out for Game With Hamilton

TORONTO (CP)—C. R. Roberts speedy 206-pound halfback from the University of Southern California and the key man in Toronto Argonauts' running attack, Tuesday night was listed a doubtful starter in the club's Big Four football game against Hamilton Tiger-Cats Monday.

The 21-year-old six - foot - one Negro star suffered a knee injury in the team's first league game against Montreal Alouettes seven days ago and until Tuesday was rated to keep his injury hidden from coach Hamp Pool.

Pool said he isn't sure yet whether Roberts will be able to play Monday and at the same time expressed doubts that first-string quarterback Tom Dublinski and halfback Gene Wilson will be ready.

BROKEN THUMB

Dublinski was out of the line-up when Argos lost their second straight game to Ottawa Rough Riders last Friday because of a broken thumb on his throwing hand. Wilson, star with the 1954 Argo team, joined the squad less than two weeks ago after retiring in the U.S. Army. He was slated to play his first game Monday but pulled a leg muscle early in the week and may not be ready.

Dublinski, who injured his thumb in the Montreal game, has not done any ball-handling this week. Pool said the club's doctor told him that the rubber can may come next week but should confine himself to handoffs and short passes until he gets how the injured thumb stands up.

Pool also disclosed that Argos have picked up backfielder Dave West and put defensive halfback John Sopiska on waivers. West played recently with British Columbia Lions after playing last season with Hamilton. He will be tried out on punt returns and as an offensive half.

Sopiska, a home-brew like West was with Argos two years after playing with University of Toronto.

Harness Racing

TORONTO (CP)—The race for the Old Woodbine driving championship, carrying with it a trophy and $100, is a three-cornered competition going right down to the wire as the 39-day harness racing meeting closes today.

The three are defending champion Harold McKinley, Alliston Craig farmer, Dunc Campbell of Toronto, and a wheel farmer from Hendon, Ziggy McFadden.

McFadden scored in the fourth race Monday night with Ginger Chips, a 10-year-old gelding owned by Izabella Gordon of Bronte. It was McFadden's first victory of the meeting, and left him one win behind Campbell and McKinley, tied for first place with 20 wins.

All three will drive three each on tonight's closing card. However, there is no race in which all three will be in the sulkies.

Miss Profit won the first race at Detroit race course and paid $347 to win, $119.80 to place and $29 to show. The daily double was completed when Lou came home second in the second race and paid $43, $17.40 and $7.80.

Miss Profit's payoff was also the largest for a $2 ticket in local racing annals.

CHICAGO (AP) — Jockey Bill Hartack turned in four victories at Washington Park, Ill., Tuesday, including one featured Dolton Purse in which he rode Ralph Lowe's Circle Out to a two-length triumph over Shirk.

Hartack rode Circle Out to the front at the head of the stretch and then withstood Shirk's late challenge, covering the six furlongs in 1:11 3-5. Speedster was third.

Hartack also was aboard Song Parade II, Surry and Stage Tracer.

Kenmors Protest Kingston Series After 5-3 Loss

Belleville Kenmor midgets, who were eliminated from the OBA playdowns here Monday when they lost to the Kingston Royals 5-3, have filed a protest because several of the Kingston players could not produce OBA certificates.

"It was stated by the Kingston club that they had sent in their OBA certificates on Friday, August 23, yet the Ontario Baseball Association states that all certificates must be in by July 15" said Kenmor coach Ken Soden.

The Kenmors had one bad inning, the second when Kingston scored four runs, to drop the second game here 5-3. A walk, three errant throws and two errors accounted for the Kingston marking. Kenmors got 5-hit lead after two frames.

Belleville clubbed back into the game with a single marker in the fifth and two in the eighth but could not overcome the five-run deficit.

Kenmors were one of the players on which the protest is based, and Bud Aylesworth pitched a fine, shutout, relieving seven hits.

Larry Soden toiled for Belleville, giving up six safeties, whiffing seven and walking only one. Only six 24 batters after Kingston had built their 5-0 lead.

Jim Lloyd had two of the Kenmor hits while Mickey Lock had the only extra-base blow, a double. Mo Hunter, Larry Soden, Gord Smith and Bob Follwell also hit safely.

U.S. Doubles To Australians

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)— Darlene Hard and Neale Fraser, Australia's No. 1 Davis Cup team won the United States doubles championship Tuesday by overpowering Wimbledon titlists Gardnar Mulloy and Budge Patty of the United States, 4-6, 6-3, 9-7, 6-3.

The young Aussies settled down after a shaky start to defeat the veteran Mulloy and the 35-year-old Patty, who have played together as a team only about a month.

Veterans Louise Brough and Mrs. Margaret Osborne du Pont won their 12th U.S. women's title by routing the victory string of Wimbledon queens Althea Gibson and Darlene Hard, 6-2, 7-5.

Mulloy and Patty, top-seeded off their stunning win over Lew Hoad and Fraser at Wimbledon, didn't have the speed or power to match their opponents.

Dizzy Trout Back in Game After Five Years

VANCOUVER (CP) — A man who quit major league baseball for radio announcing five years ago has returned to the pitcher's mound at the age of 41.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout signed on the pitching staff of Vancouver Mounties, currently trailing San Francisco Seals in a fight for the Pacific Coast League pennant.

Trout, who hardly arrived here when he was called on in the third inning of a game Tuesday night after Los Angles Angels had knocked Charlie Beamon out of the box. Although the Angels eventually got to Trout for three runs in the ninth and an 8-6 win, the former Detroit Tiger showed he is far from a has-been by striding out six for 6 2-3 innings.

Trout says he feels he still has enough variety in his pitches to fool the batters.

Grey Gelding Perfect Jumper

TORONTO (CP)—Carl Anderson has ridden Toll House Stables' big grey gelding Tyrone to four perfect jumping performances to win the featured Pulsator class jumper event at the Canadian National Exhibition Horse Show.

Three extra circuits were required Tuesday night to break the tie of five horses that tied in clean performances in the first running of the event.

The Spook, owned by A. C. Texter of Welland and ridden by Terry Cooley, finished off a single bar in the last jump-off after three clean performances and finished second.

CAPTURE SWIMMING HONORS AT C.N.E.

Three races in three consecutive days and three convincing victories. This is the latest accomplishment of George Breen, world record holder from Buffalo, N.Y., who is seen at left with his loot, after capturing the two-mile swimming championships at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto and the Ross Gold Trophy. Earlier, he had won the four-mile marathon at Huntingdon, N.Y., and the mile and a quarter event at Jamestown, N.Y. In the C.N.E. race, George needed 37 minutes for the abbreviated course, leaving Toronto's Ken Williams, the runner-up, more than six minutes and 700 yards behind. Elaine Jacques, at right, the 15-year-old Toronto high school student, captured the women's senior championships and the Ross Trophy by swimming the one-mile course in 23.7 minutes.

NEW HEADACHE FOR NORRIS

As if International Boxing Club head James Norris hasn't enough troubles over a contract dispute with middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson, he is now in a New York hospital suffering from food poisoning. He was rushed there shortly after this picture was taken showing him, seated, listening to Robinson threaten to walk out of the ring during his scheduled Sept. 23 title bout with Carmen Basilio "if it is broadcast by radio or television." At the hearing, called by New York State Athletic Commission to discuss television dispute, boxing commissioner Julius Helfand threatened to withdraw the middleweight title if Robinson fails to defend it against Basilio.

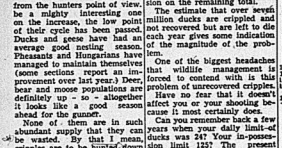
GIVE BLOOD FOR INJURED OFFICER

Blood donors are crowding into the Cornwall, Ont., hospital now. They are answering an appeal for blood for Constable Ron Pitt, Morrisburg officer who was shot by two young car thieves.

CONSERVATION



From all accounts that I have read and from what observations I have been able to make here and there, this fall should Ruffed grouse are apparently from the hunters point of view, be a mighty interesting one on the increase, the low point of their cycle has been passed. Ducks and geese have had an average good nesting season. Pheasants and Hungarians have managed to maintain themselves (some sections report an improvement over last year.) Deer, bear and moose populations are definitely up - so - altogether it looks like a good season ahead for the gunner.

None of them are in such abundant supply that they can be wasted. By that I mean, cripples are to be hunted down and recovered for the bag count. Each year there is an appalling loss in game by our totally unnecessary habit of not recovering crippled birds or animals.

At no time during the past decade, or at any time for that matter, have our wildlife populations been of such proportions that wasteful practices could be indulged in without penalty by hunters.

All too drastically have these observations been demonstrated. Ducks are down to an all time low, demanding herculean efforts by governments and other agencies to try and revive their populations. There are strict laws governing Moose and Deer-kills — all down the line. Each strictly regulations are being enforced to overcome this obvious trait among hubters of killing without recovery.

For crippling is killing.

So few cripples if never after being wounded that the few that do survive make little impression on the remaining total.

The estimate that over seven million ducks are crippled and not recovered but are left to die each year gives some indication of the magnitude of the problem.

One of the biggest headaches that wildlife management is having to contend with is this problem of unrecovered cripples.

Have no fear that it doesn't effect you or your shooting because it most certainly does.

Can you remember back a few years when your daily limit-of ducks was 24? Your in-possession limit 72? The present limits are not altogether due to hoore hunters and fewer ducks.

While that may be one determining factor, the fact is that cripples are counted in your bag before you even fire your first round.

Wildlife management has realized that the non-recovery of cripples is part of the annual take and must, of necessity, be so regarded. So, in setting up season limitis, the annual loss through cripples is apportioned to the daily bag limits of every hunter.

If we want more birds on the wing, more game in our bag, the remedy to effect this is squarely in our own laps.

By all means recover your cripples and don't stretch the power of your-gun by shooting outside its effective range.

Anthony Perkins Now Hot Idol of the Malt-Shop Set

By BO STHOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — If Tab Hunter can do it, so can Anthony Perkins.

Sing, that is. I guess you call it singing, though some unkind critic of Hunter's vocal efforts have indicated otherwise. Not so his fans. They bistled out to buy 1,500,000 of his platters of Young Love.

Now it's young Perkins, another idol of the malt-shop set, who's coming out with one called My First Romance. He gave me a preview of it and my conclusion is that it might well go.

The lad has a nice, boyish style and voice that is well pitched and true, even if it won't give Mario Lanza grounds for concern.

UNKIND CRITICS

"The critics haven't been so kind," Tony admitted. "One reviewer questioned whether I was the son of the record company president."

Such barbs don't daunt him. Tony had the last laugh when RCA-Victor signed him to a long-term contract that could bring in much loot.

It all started with a song he did on a dramatic TV show, Joey. A record company signed him up and released six sides. What happened?

NOTHING HAPPENED

"Nothing," Tony said. "Absolutely nothing. Nobody played 'em, nobody bought 'em, as far as I could determine. In fact, when they signed me, the company wasn't even aware that I had made any records previously."

This was despite the fact that he sang one of the songs on the Ed Sullivan television show. He also made a film musical which is unreleased as yet.

Now Victor is ready to give him the big push. If he succeeds, it will be a triumph of persistence. Except in one brief course that only confused him, Tony has had no vocal training. He has his own technique by singing along with other records he played at home.

AT THE McCARTHY — Luscious Monica Lewis, a gal who has a way with a song, is followed the title of some of her recordings, "Sugar Blues," "Lullaby of Broadway" and "Stockings" from stage to screen in "Designing Woman." Jack Webb starrer about a hard-boiled Marine unit destroyed at Paris Island, "The Mark VII Lives Again" and Cinemascope and Color by Deluxe complete the show. Robert Wilcox, Dick Jobin, Jack Loughery, Lin McCarthy and Virginia Gilmer are also starred.

Golden Bears Sign Import

SARNIA (CP) — Sarnia Golden Bears of the Ontario Rugby Football Union Senior series Tuesday signed Wayne Jenkins of Detroit, a lineman formerly with Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four and Toronto of the National League.

The six-foot-two, 220-pound Jenkins asked for his release from Ticats because he couldn't obtain a steady job.

Jim Waddell, a halfback from Compton, Que., also turned out with the club this week. He was cut by London Lords.

BRIDGE

Bridge is such an easy game. And masters know their stuff. It always seems bloody a shame; the chances they will muff.

The only sound opendin gbid is in spades. Clubs should be trumps. In room two it ended at three clubs, where it belongs. Here is how the bidding went there:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 C
2 H	2 C	Pass	Pass
2 H	3 C	All Pass

Declarer took his nine tricks by giving up only one trump, one diamond, and two hearts.

Meantime, room one bidding went like this:

South	West	North	East
1 H	Pass	1 S	1 NT
Pass	2 NT	All Pass

Neither east nor west made any effort to show their clubs and took nine tricks at no trump. But opponents did not take the opportunity to defeat him when he gave them an easy chance to do so.

East won the opening spade lead and dummy held his diamond return. A club from there was finessed with ten and lost to south jack. Here is where south should have had another spade.

North and south would then have had three spades and two minor aces. With club jack already in, the contract would have gone down even if they did not get a heart or two for good measure.

However, instead of a spade return, south sent five cubs into the arms of east jack. The timing let declarer set up clubs and other stuff for more tricks than he needed.

What the stars overlook could fill more than a book.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and there's what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, August 29, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Keep interested in all work—while goals. Be careful in making decisions — big or small; all important to the whole picture. Prepare now for grand influences tomorrow.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Remember that engaging manner and sociability can often do more to cement good relations than driving work, straining. The drama and humor of all situations will be prominent now.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — When you begin this day, take time to study whether you are proceeding with the best methods, the surest approach. There are some tricky spots which you can avoid by careful detection.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Don't let it be thought that you are disgruntled because personal affairs have not worked out just as you wished. Heads up! There are many other benefits for the working and taking. Really fine aspects!

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — This day's influences encourage high aspirations, efficient procedures, increased prestige and advancement. Put forth your best efforts to attain — NOW.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — While your planet Mercury is not in especially notable position one way or the other, you can reap favor from sources other than the usual. Accomplishment may require a little more effort now but it will be worth it.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Take annoyances in your stride and don't let them disturb your calm judgment and behavior. "Free" way is now in excellent aspect; promises gains in proportion to your efforts.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Mars, going into a very favorable aspect tomorrow, is already sending fine vibrations. There's nothing to stop from trying for a top level performance. Be resourceful, diplomatic.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Don't wait too long before attempting jobs in which you really want to succeed. This does not mean that you should be hasty. Get a good start, then maintain an even tempo.

December 22 to January 19 — (Capricorn) — Saturn's position suggests careful deliberation, clarity, self-reliance. You can surmount obstacles and make steady progress through hard work.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Watch out for those "little" errors that can trip when least expected. Work with vigor plus discretion. Couple optimism with your ambitions. Seek only the best kind of attainment.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Today it pours to make of what most will. The time is ripe for accomplishment. Protect your enthusiasm to the point of the greatest good.

You born today are analytical, mechanically inclined; can reach unusual goals when you don't let trivialities prevent this admirable progress. You are quick to succeed in new ventures, responsibilities; can give an artistic touch to the most mundane of things. Practise, co-operation with others by listening to their viewpoints, trying their ways, too — even though your own may be as good. Don't overwork and, for the sake of your health, do not worry. Do not handicap yourself or those about you by being too critical. You are ingenious, generous, devoted to family and high principles. Birthdate of: John Locke, philosopher, writer; Oliver Wendell Holmes, writer, physician; Maurice Maeterlinck, Belgian-poet, dramatist.

Foes in Senate Of Civil Rights Bill Open Fire

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States Senate prepared today for a possibly lengthy assault by southern opponents of the compromise civil rights bill.

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, said that as far as he is concerned critics of the measure the House of Representatives passed 287 to 97 Tuesday will have all the time they need to talk against it in the Senate.

The Senate debate actually began Tuesday night after the bill arrived from the House.

Senator Strom Thurmond (Dem., S.C.) uttered a surprise motion to shunt the measure to the judiciary committee headed by Senator James Eastland (Dem., Miss.), another avowed foe of the civil rights bill.

Johnson then called for a recess, saying the southerners would be given ample time to state their views with each session the rest of this week starting early and running into the late night hours if necessary.

As passed by the House, the compromise measure would authorize the U.S. attorney-general to seek court injunctions against violations or threatened violations of voting rights.

Under its terms, persons charged with criminal or civil contempt for violating such injunctions could be tried by a judge without a jury. Criminal contempt prosecution is aimed at punishing for non - compliance, while civil contempt is aimed at getting compliance.

Thurmond said he intends to speak again on the measure "and it won't be a short speech." He said the compromise "destroys the jury trial amendment."

The southerners are opposing the civil rights legislation on the grounds that it is aimed at undermining states' rights in the areas where it might be used in connection with the Negro question.

The voting-rights section would apply particularly there, since many southern areas impose qualifications which disenfranchise Negroes. The opposition to the section dealing with jury trials is explained by the feeling of white southerners that a federal judge might rule against them in a case where a local jury would set them free.

Clear 2 Youths Of Connection With Shooting

CODDENSBURG, N.Y. (AP) — Ontario Provincial Police have cleared two youths who were suspected of shooting a Morrisburg, Ont., constable.

District Attorney Charles Bowers said Tuesday Canadian officials questioned John A. Fedora, 17, and Robert A. McDougall, 18, both of Kirkland Lake, and said they were "convinced there was no connection between the pair and the shooting."

Const. Ronald Pitt, 25, was shot and critically wounded last Saturday while investigating a car theft in Morrisburg.

Fedora and McDougall were arrested Monday at Watertown, N.Y. Police said the pair had admitted two burglaries and five car thefts, three in the United States and two in Canada.

Both pleaded not guilty to charges of burglary and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

They were sent to county jail in lieu of $5,000 bail to await grand jury action.

RESCUE THREE

MONTREAL (CP) — Three young men were rescued from the St. Lawrence River Tuesday as strong winds and a heavy current were dragging them clinging to their overturned sailboat, toward the Lachine Rapids. Constable D. Galarneau commandeered a motorboat to rescue Paul Mercier, 21, Pierre Bertrand, 22, and his brother Claude, 20.

White Minister Bids Goodbye To Negro Church

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — A Canadian white minister who took over the pulpit of a church attended by Negroes, said before leaving that he had not come "to change any of the traditions, mores or isms" of southern race relations.

Rev. Wilson Bridges of Lachute Que., spoke to a packed congregation at his last service Sunday at Little Rock African Methodist Episcopal Church. He left with his family by car Monday for home.

At about the same time, Rev. Raphael Michael of Charlotte, who exchanged pulpits and passonages with Brides give a month was bidding goodbye to the congregation at the United Church in Lachute.

AS AMBASSADOR

Bridges told Rev. J. S. Nathaniel Tross, editor of the Charlotte Post, a Negro weekly, that he had come here "as an ambassador of goodwill, believing we must drop a few good seeds of Christian love and goodwill in good soil. . . ."

Tross said Bridges was well received by the Negro congregation and that a few whites also attended the services.

"When I left Canada," Bridges said, "a few friends asked me if I didn't think I was taking a risk. It seemed amusing to me and I told them all life to me was a risk."

The pulpit exchange was arranged at Bridges' request.

Need 1000 Times Radiation In Air To Kill A Mouse

Atomic Energy Commission Reports Results of Tests

PALO ALTO, Calif. (CP) — A team of investigators for the United States Atomic Energy Commission says the radioactive debris thrown into the atmosphere by atomic tests throughout the world—on the basis of current estimates—would not even threaten the life of a mouse.

Experiments conducted by the team showed that the effects of the principal threatening substances found in fallout vary according to concentration rather than the amount conceded by "the most pessimistic" estimates to be present in the atmosphere now fall 1,000 times short of a lethal dose for mice.

Results of the test were reported to the American Institute of Biological Sciences by Dr. Miriam P. Finkel.

The investigators used 810 mice subjected to varying doses of radioactive strontium, the principal long-range hazard which comes from the debris of atom or hydrogen bomb explosions.

Mice given the heaviest dose lived a total of radiation sickness. Intermediate doses produced many tumors in the lymph glands and bones of the mice. But the lightest dose, the researchers said, was 10 times the dose prescribed as safe for human working with atomic materials. Calculating the average amount needed to shorten a mouse's life, the team said, "it would be safe to assume to be the most sensitive measure of radiation effect.

This dose, they found, is not be about twice the supposedly safe dose for man and "about 1,000 times the most pessimistic estimate for current human contamination from fallout."

Justice Orders Chartered Trust To Sell Assets

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice L. A. Landreville of the Supreme Court of Ontario Wednesday ordered Dominion Guarantee Trust Company to "lease, sell or otherwise deal with" the assets of Len Jacobs and Arthur Morris, operators of one of Toronto's largest car lots, who vanished earlier this summer.

He approved recommendation to him by J. R. Kimber, master of the supreme court.

Chartered Trust was appointed by a court in July to look after the affairs of Jacobs, 32, and Morris, his uncle and business partner in Lenmor Motors Limited, when the two men were declared absentees.

The men disappeared with their wives and Jacobs' two children while Jacobs was out on $1,000 bail, awaiting trial on a criminal negligence charge laid June 3.

Jacobs and Morris were questioned by detectives June 14 and a search warrant was issued for Jacobs when he failed to appear in a Newmarket court later the same month.

The two men came to Canada from England five years ago.

100 Canadian Scouts Stranded Without a Plane

LONDON (CP)—More than 100 Canadian boy scouts, scheduled to have returned to Canada by air Wednesday, waited with growing impatience today for their ride home.

They had expected to leave by chartered aircraft, but on arriving at London airport were told they would have to wait until early Friday.

Maurice Demers of Toronto, a rover scout, said nobody he spoke to, including the contingent leader, could offer any explanation for the delay.

"Most of the boys had spent what was left their money buying souvenirs and didn't have enough left to feed a pigeon," said Demers. "Some spent the day walking through parks and some went to shows."

The scouts spent the night at an army barracks in Hounslow, Middlesex. Today they were provided with breakfast and given permission to continue sightseeing. They were told their aircraft would leave at 4 a.m. Friday.

There was also a delay in flight plans of about 85 other Canadians scheduled to have returned by air turned early this week. This second group came in Sunday.

The stranded scouts form the last group of a Canadian party of about 1,500 which went overseas to attend a Jamboree marking the 50th anniversary of the boy scout movement.

MINER IS KILLED, ONE RESCUED AFTER ROCK FALL

Tons of Rock Trap Men at Teck-Hughes

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Teams of rescue workers dug frantically for 12 hours at tons of rock deep in a gold mine here Wednesday to save one of their buddies trapped by a fall of stone. But they lost their race against time to reach a second.

Jean Morrissette, 38, the father of nine children, died before rescuers could reach him.

Several hours earlier Morrissette and two other workers as they clawed desperately at the rock piled around him at the 4,400-foot level of the Teck-Hughes mine.

He was given a shot of morphine to deaden his pain and was heard moaning shortly after.

FREE SHIFT BOSS

An hour before Morrissette's body was recovered, rescuers freed James Maxwell (Max) Parker, 65-year-old shift boss, pinned by arm and leg to a mine wall.

He was taken to hospital in good condition and high spirits, but Dr. W. C. Rumble said Parker's chances for life to be anticipated—"although th's only a guess."

Morrissette's wife Lucy and his two sisters, red-eyed from crying, left the mine at the mine head, surging forward each time a load of rubble was brought to the surface.

Rescue operations were slow because of the cramped quarters which limited the work crews to one man each.

WIFE WEEPS

Mr. Morrissette, whose children range from a newborn baby to a 10-year-old, was led away weeping before her husband's body was brought to the surface.

Mine manager G. G. Gilchrist, who supervised the rescue work, said he spoke to Parker while the shift boss was still trapped. He said Parker told him: "Tell my wife I'll be a little late for supper tonight."

Miner Bill Cochrane, working with Parker, trapped his head by a slide of muck—stone and slate—at 10 a.m.

He said: "I saw a head, body and arm protruding out of the muck and then I saw the staging had fallen.

BLOCK UP MUCK

"Jean and Max were pinned to the walk and we had to block up the muck to prevent it from falling on them.

"I called the alarm and a chain of men were ready and worked in relays.

"I spoke to Max and he told me to go to safety. I left lots of men.

"Then Morrissette yelled through the muck: 'Get me out, get me out'.

"We gave Parker hot tea and a doctor reached Morrissette's hand under Parker to give him a needle."

30-YEAR SUSPENSION

WALSALL, England (AP) — A court Wednesday ordered George Marlow to stay off his motorcycle until he is 87 years old. Earlier this year Marlow, 57, was fined $20 and banned from driving a motorcycle because of a minor infraction. Out by a dead week, he was hauled by police who recognized him as a suspended driver. The new suspension is for 30 years.

Bear Terrifies Pembroke Folk

PEMBROKE (CP) — A large black bear ambled through west end residential wards Wednesday night, setting off a public alarm that brought out every available police car.

Armed with rifles, police patrolled back alleys and the old quarry escaped before they fired a shot. Terrified parents flooded the police switchboard with calls to report the bear. Many called theatres with orders to the usher to page them.

$44 Millions of Unwanted Parts In 'Cold Storage' at U.S. Air Bases

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States Air Force generals testified Wednesday that at least $44,000,000 worth of spare parts sat unused and unwanted in what amounted to cold storage at nine air bases in Greenland, Labrador and Newfoundland.

One of the reasons they cited for the parts' lay-up was the cold weather at the bases. They also blamed the hurry - up defense buildup during the Korean War.

But former generals of the bases said the value of parts and supplies involved might go higher than their $44,000,000 estimate.

"We do not know what's still there," Maj.-Gen. John D. Ryan told the Senate investigations subcommittee.

The Senate group last Friday said it had uncovered great waste and inefficiency at the bases, which made up the former U.S. Northeast Air Command. It began public hearings today.

Rep. McGuire, D., assistant secretary of defence, has conceded the charges of inefficiency. Indeed turned up a sorry situation. But McGuire said $20,000,000 worth of surplus property has been recovered and that all the remaining items will be rounded up.

Corrective steps are being taken, he said.

Ryan earlier testified Wednesday that some of the surplus was left over from the Second World War. And they said changes in planes and other equipment used at the bases made some of the supplies obsolete—good only for scrap.

Placed in evidence were reports on the situation by the U.S. army and air force inspectors-general. These admitted inaccuracy in records, improper inventory controls and other errors.

Labor Executive May Meet In Effort to Settle Strike

OTTAWA (CP) — A special meeting of the executive council of the 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress may be called to discuss means of settling the violence-ridden strike of copper miners at Murdochville, Que.

This possibility developed today after CLC President Claude Jodoin received from Prime Minister Diefenbaker a refusal to intervene in the five-month strike in the Gaspe Peninsula town.

The prime minister said intervention such as sought by the congress chief in an interview Wednesday would constitute a breach of the British North America Act, since the mining operation is under provincial labor jurisdiction.

Mr. Jodoin—who spent about an hour with the prime minister Wednesday—said his next move would be to consult with CLC associates. Officials said this could mean summoning the 16-member executive council from all parts of Canada.

The labor chief wanted to get Mr. Diefenbaker to have federal influences to break an impasse at Murdochville, where about 1,000 members of the CLC United Steelworkers of America are involved in a strike. The union has been denied certification as bargaining agent through a Quebec court writ of prohibition.

The prime minister said after the meeting any federal intervention could be a "derogation" of the constitution and would be prejudicious on the part of the central government.

After making this statement to reporters outside his office, he added later in a formal statement:

"No intervention by the federal government or federal personnel could take place unless specific-

U.S. Test-Fires 1,500-Mile Rocket at Base in Florida

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Reports that a Second United States missile may be shot from here this week circulated today following Wednesday's test - firing of a projectile with a range of 1,500 miles.

The defence department would not comment on whether the firing was a reply to Russia's claim that Soviet scientists have tested successfully an intercontinental missile able to deliver a hydrogen bomb anywhere in the world.

Wednesday's test - firing of Thor, the air force's intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM), was the missile fired Wednesday was a Thor or a Jupiter. Both have ranges of 1,500 miles but the Jupiter was developed by the U.S. Army, the Thor by the air force.

The long, slender missile rose slowly at first, climbing almost vertically with a needle of flame streaming from its tail. It gathered speed and disappeared from view in 40 seconds, but the roar of its passage could be heard for almost two minutes after it vanished into a cloud bank.

Crash boats were seen patrolling the waters of the Atlantic in the area of the firing range about two hours before the missile is blasted off. This is routine procedure before a firing to clear fishing boats and other craft from the danger zone.

The 59-foot Jupiter has been fired successfully before. Unofficial reports say one rose 700 miles on a previous test and travelled 1,650 miles over the Atlantic at an average speed of more than 5,000 miles an hour.

Rocket experts from the Redstone Arsenal in Alabama who built the Jupiter was developed are U.S. missile development. Its landing weight to the belief that the army missile is a subject of some of the tests.

The firing was undertaken as part of the long-range investigation credited the Russians with substantial progress in the long-range ballistic missile field. The administration statement said the U.S. missile development is being pressed forward on a broad front and with a high priority.

94 Missing After Collision Sinks Argentine River Boat

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — An official announcement Wednesday night said 94 persons are missing in the sinking of an Argentine river steamer following a collision with an American freighter Tuesday night.

The Argentine government said there is a possibility that some of those missing may have reached the coast by swimming or were rescued by small boats which have not yet reached a port.

All the missing were aboard the 2,754-ton Argentine vessel Ciudad de Buenos Aires. The steamer and the 7,906-ton freighter Monrosa collided in rain and fog in the Uruguay River shortly before midnight.

The American freighter was damaged in the crash but was able to continue after aiding in rescue operations. The Ciudad de Buenos Aires carried about 220 passengers and crew.

Maritime officials here had announced earlier there were no fatalities.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR THREE IN TRAIN ROBBERY

Job Reminiscent Of Jesse James Era

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Three masked and armed men working in a fashion reminiscent of the Jesse James era have pulled Canada's first train robbery in almost 30 years.

Wearing the peaked caps and denim overalls of railway employees, they barged Wednesday into the mail car of a CNR passenger train as it moved between Woodstock and Ingersoll, 15 miles east of London.

Disguised by bandana masks, they herded the eight postal employees into a closet and washroom, locked the doors, and then jumped from the train with their loot during a two-minute stop at Ingersoll. They apparently boarded the train there.

Police in London said the loot included between $5,000 and $6,000 in cash. They said Toronto banks shipped large amounts of money to London for weekend payrolls. Postal officials said a complete check on the loot was made before the full loss is known.

MAN QUESTIONED

A 35-year-old London man was arrested and questioned for seven hours Wednesday but was later released without being charged.

Police said the robbers threw mail bags slashed open and mail tossed on the floor by the bandits.

The mail employees finally freed themselves and stopped the train seven miles down the track.

The holdup may have been "another Boston" said CNR police director George Shea who was at Ingersoll after the announcement of the robbery.

"It appears the left door of the mail car was left unlocked. In railroad mail operations, that's a cardinal sin."

NOT KNOWN

Investigators said it wasn't known yet how men got out of Ingersoll or even whether they left the town. Police in Ingersoll said a search of the area failed to find two hours after it happened and on road blocks were also set up.

Provincial police are investigating a possible link with the robbery of a mail truck near Ingersoll earlier this year in which two men were shot and $20,000 was thrown from the truck to the ground. One bag containing $23,000 was recovered. A farmer before the thieves could retrieve it.

Police Recover Most of Payoff

PORT ERIE (CP) — Police Wednesday recovered most of $542.30 paid off on a bogus daily double ticket at the Fort Erie race track Tuesday.

Divinity student Don McLean, a college boy, a mutuel wicket, paid the forged ticket and would have got away with the money had a groom at one of the racing stables cashed the ticket. All but $30 was returned and the man is to pay the rest out of his salary. No charge was laid.

Writer Convinced Bulk of Chinese Not Communist, Never Will Be

TORONTO (CP)—William Kinmond, born in Toronto, a former paper assignment in Communist China, said Wednesday he is convinced the bulk of the Chinese are not Communist and never will be.

"They are too busy just living to be concerned with political philosophy," he said in an interview.

Mr. Kinmond, 43, arrived in Montreal July 27 on mail-boat from the Toronto Globe and Mail. He returned to Canada this month. During his stay in China he travelled freely through the country, logging 7,500 miles, visiting 15 cities and countless towns and villages.

He said the only obstacles to travel were those of the country itself. He went where he pleased and talked with whom he pleased. As far as he knows, none of the more than 60 air - mailed dispatches he sent to his paper was censored.

Referring to the 24 United States correspondents who were in China at the Red China is under consideration, Mr. Kinmond said they could have had more news if he received but limited accommodation and communication and a shortage of interpreters might present difficulties.

Mr. Kinmond said official visitors to China—such as the American and Canadian students visiting now — "might come away with stars in their eyes if taken only on the conducted tour."

All-Or-Nothing Disarming Plan Outlined By West

11-Point Program Includes Ban on Nuclear Weapons

LONDON (Reuters)—The West, today asked Russia to agree to an 11-point disarmament program which would include a ban on the use of nuclear weapons except for self-defence against attack.

The program, climaxing five days of often-exciting private meetings of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee, spelled out a gradual abolishing by the world's major powers of their armaments, including nuclear weapons.

Looking into the future, it urged that "outer space" be reserved for peaceful and scientific purposes, called for an eventual halt to the manufacture of nuclear weapons and controls on the export and import of "designated armaments."

It urged creation of an international control organization under the United Nations Security Council which would see that provisions of the agreement were carried out. The proposals were put forward as a "package deal," the West said—the whole program must be accepted, not just part of it.

MANY HEARD BEFORE

Many of the proposals embodied in it already have been advanced in the subcommittee and rejected by the Soviet bloc, violent condemnation from Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin. But the other four members of the subcommittee are the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

The United States originated the proposals but they were worked out jointly with Britain, France and Canada and cleared with the other NATO allies.

The 11 sections of the program make it clear they provide:

1. Within a year of the agreement coming into force, the United States and Russia would limit their armed forces to 2,500,000 men and Britain and France to 750,000 each. At the same time each country would surrender an agreed amount of armaments as an immediate step in disarmament.

Later there could be negotiations for a second and third stage reduction in armed forces with all American and Soviet forces were cut to 1,700,000 each, and British and French to 650,000 each.

2. Each country would keep the international control organization informed of its military expenditure.

3. Each country would undertake not to use nuclear weapons except in case of attack has not placed the party in a situation of individual or collective self-defence."

BAN MANUFACTURE

4. One month after an international control system has been set up, no country would make fissile material for military purposes Stockpiles of nuclear weapons would be reduced.

5. Each country would suspend, under international control, nuclear tests for 12 months. If a satisfactory inspection system is worked out, devised, and agreed is made toward nuclear weapon production, tests would be suspended for another 12 months.

Rezoning Part Of Church Street To Be Discussed

Possible re-zoning of the west side of Church Street from Bridge to Campbell street is expected will be a topic for discussion at the first fall meeting of city council to be held Sept. 4th.

At this meeting it is expected that a recommendation to rezone the above area from class "B" residential to commercial will come up for decision.

Tuesday the Ontario Municipal board heard evidence on an application for re-zoning of one parcel of land in the above area to allow the Hotel Quinte to operate a parking lot.

Judgment on the matter was reserved until after council dealt with their recommendation for re-zoning and until a report was received from the local planning board. Reports from city council and from the planning board must rest in the hands of the municipal board by September 30th. Failing receipt of reports the board will give decision on Tuesday's application on September 30th.

Alfred Wickett, reeve of Thurlow Township, and the reeve of Township, said the people in the township "are very proud to have Thurlow chosen as the home of the Vellefanas". He remarked that this project and the people on the board of governors are appreciated for giving so willingly of their time for this work.

Lee Grills, M.P. for South Hastings, introduced the guest speaker, His Honor, Leslie McLaren, warden of Hastings County.

Mr. McLaren mentioned a number of welfare groups existing in this district, such as the Children's Aid Society and the Home for the Aged. In describing the Convalescent Home he said the children, who total 29 at the present time, come from all parts of this area.

He discussed the great need for institutions to care for these children. The provincial government has set two institutes for mentally retarded children, located in Orillia and Smiths Falls. Emphasizing the shortage of accommodations for them, he said 1,800 children are presently on the waiting lists for these two institutions, which admit only those over six years of age, except in a few special cases. Mr. McLaren said the birth rate for these infants is higher than the mortality rate.

In describing the Plainfield Home the speaker remarked that it was the only one of its kind and size in the province of Ontario and perhaps in all of Canada, since it accepts only children under the age of six.

He told the audience how the Vellemans, who came from Holland 22 years ago, saw their dream materialize when they started operations of the Home. In his closing remarks he said when finances make it possible the board of governors plans to take over the Home, with the Vellemans employed to operate the establishment. The board will at that time make requests for grants.

At this time he cut the large white ribbon on the playground gate, officially opening the grounds. Nurses brought the children into the enclosed area and supervised as they made use of the equipment.

The speaker was thanked by Roscoe Robson, M.P.P. for Hastings East. Guests were invited to attend the open house at this time. They were shown the children's quarters, the kitchen and other facilities. Following the inspection tour the visitors were served tea in the living room.

Pouring for the tea was Mrs. R. Dawson, assisted by Mrs. Charles Powell and Mrs. Ross Whitman, members of the board. Volunteers assisting included Mrs. Roscoe Robson, Mrs. Leslie McLaren and Mrs. K. G. M. Ross, who poured tea. Serving were Mrs. Stanley Hume, D. Lunn, W. Kempton, C. J. Martin (Marmora), R. E. Barrett and H. Arnott.

The home has been in existance for six years, for the past year being located in Halloway. Mrs. Vellaman, a registered nurse, visited the Fletcher Hotel, which had been turned into a house by Mr. and Mrs. Vellaman and decided it.

At present there are three buildings making up the Home. An addition was made to the main building in the past year ago. A small summer cottage, which contains a bedroom, sitting, sleep, and a screened-in playroom for the children are the other buildings comprising the Home.

A staff of 13 helps Mr. and Mrs. Velleman to care for the infants. Mrs. Velleman, a graduate nurse, is superintendent of the Home, while her husband is business administrator.

The board of governors of the OHMRH is composed of the following: George Whitman, president; Mrs. Effie McCabe, first vice-president; Donald A. Madden, second vice-president; Mrs. Norman Brown, Mr. G. Colwill, Mrs. Jessie Dawson, Mrs. Donald Fink, Oriel Griffiths, Lee Grills, G. H. Hume, Lorne Mercer, His Honor, Leslie McLaren, warden of Hastings County.

Fire Destroys Barn, Contents At Marysville

Breaking out suddenly just a minute before the cows were to be brought in for the evening milking, fire of undetermined origin early today completely destroyed the barn of Mr. Jos. Walsh of Marysville.

Destroyed in the blaze were over 1,000 bushels of grain, including 600 bushels of wheat, and over 1,000 bales of hay. The milking machine and other machinery on the barn was also lost.

"The whole barn seemed to break out in flames all at once," Mr. Walsh said today. Intelligencer at noon today.

He said that he was on his way to the barn to assist with the morning milking and his hired man, Eugene Lynch, herding the cows toward the barn when the fire broke out.

"A few minutes later and the cows would have been in the barn and would have been lost in the fire," Mr. Walsh said.

The cause of the fire was not determined but firemen suspect it may have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

Belleville firemen were called to the scene but could do nothing to save the barn. A nearby machine shed was saved with a shift of the wind aiding firemen in their work.

Runners-up were Kathleen Homan, 19, of Corbyville in Hastings County, Bernice Norman of Waterford in Norfolk County, Janet Laidlaw of Brampton in Peel County and Ann Allan Forrest of Dobbinstown in Bruce County.

Board Reserves Judgment On Closing Vandervoort Road

How the building of a controlled access highway closing off roads which formerly served the public can be expected to disrupt the life or a rural community was told yesterday to members of the Ontario Municipal Board as they heard an application by the Department of Highways to close what is known as the Vandervoort sideroad in Sidney township.

Present plan of the highways department is to close the Vandervoort sideroad and build an overpass to take the next road west, the St. Hilaire sideroad, over the 401 highway.

Originally, however, the department thought apparently was to close the St. Hilaire sideroad but at a municipal board hearing held in Trenton there was strenuous objection and plans were changed.

Overpasses over controlled access highways cost upwards of $300,000 each and the department feels construction of overpasses both on the St. Hilaire sideroad and the Vandervoort sideroad are not justified.

Yesterday Municipal Board members C. F. Nunn and V. S. Milburn reserved judgment on the application to close the Vandervoort sideroad until after consultation with board members, who heard the evidence in the hearing last November. A decision in this matter will be given to a further hearing at which evidence concerning both roads would be given.

Main objectors at yesterday's board hearing were the Vandervoort family of Sidney and others of which claimed that closing of the Vandervoort road would greatly inconvenience them. Children would have to attend other schools and closing of the road would make it much more difficult to get produce in the nearest shopping centre.

Local barrister Ronald Cass acted as counsel for the Vandervoort family, while R. A. Pringle represented Mr. Harry .

Fans Enjoy Midgets' Antics In Wrestling Card at Gardens

TRENTON (Special)—Wrestling Little Lizzie Rascals pumped their way into the hearts of 1,100 fans here last night as the feature attraction of a three-bout grunt-and-groan presentation at the Trenton Community Gardens.

Pipe-smoking Farmer McGregor and Little Beaver pulled some new tricks out of the bag to win a tag match from a rough pair viz: Ski Lo Low and Beau Brummell, while Farmer who obviously employs to an advantage a strong French leaf (whew! the fumes still stick to our clothes), actually had the edge for his side from the time referee Maxwell was instructing the teams in the centre of the ring. He blew a lusty puff of thick smoke right in Brummell's face which sent the dapper midget reeling backwards and flat on his back on the canvas with a horrible thud. Obviously this unsporting trick demoralized the confidence of the Brummell's strength for he was easily pinned after Farmer was locked in deadly combat afterwards.

Farmer McGregor also got in more mean blows despite the superior efforts of Brummell. Several times the Farmer, armed with a bob-nailed boot, stomped across the square to bop Lo Low on the head as he was helping his pal Brummell, torture the sage Beaver. Each time the phantom Farmer proved too elusive for Maxwell and scurried back to his safety position before the ref could nab him.

And as the action speeded up it got more ridiculous until the whole place rocked with laughter, that is, midgets included in stature they certainly made up for it by producing the biggest volume of entertainment in big quantities. In the end when many of the customers had nursed sore sides, Little Beaver pinned the groggy Brummell to get the nod from Maxwell.

Prince Malava of Samoa won the main bout decision from the Mighty Ursus of Mexico who was disqualified.

Chinese Order Deportation of American Youth

PEIPING (Reuters) — Shelby Tucker, American youth ordered deported by Chinese Communist authorities because he refused to surrender his passport, bade goodbye today to fellow Americans as they left on a tour of industrial northeast China.

The 22-year-old student arrived here with an American contingent from the Communist World Youth Festival — a trip which defied the United States government's ban on travel to China.

Tucker, who is studying at Oxford University in England, refused to surrender his U.S. passport for Chinese identification inspection because he said he was not prepared to break at home laws.

Tucker, who expects to leave Saturday, was driven back to his hotel, accompanied by male and female interpreters. He has been asked not to leave the hotel without their knowledge.

NOT VALID

Tucker said he would not use his passport in contravention of prohibitions arranged. It is not valid for travel to China." This has caused a number of border their passports on arrival.

"They say that though he may not actually have shown his passport to the Chinese, he must carry it with him so that the Chinese would not have let him come to China without one."

Tucker's reply to this was that he had not "used" his passport as any such use had been told in Moscow that he would not have to use it. He stressed other members of the delegation had given up theirs for passport examination.

Study Proposal To Shoot Deer In Algonquin

PEMBROKE (CP)—Lands and forests officials here say the deer population in Algonquin park needs to permit deer hunting this fall in parts of Algonquin Provincial park, normally a game sanctuary.

The deer are destroying young pine trees and failing attempts to regenerate timber is one of the most serious problems facing conservationists.

Officials outlined the problem at a three-conference called by Douglas Canard, M.P. Provincial member for Renfrew district.

They said hundreds of deer have to die fall into the pine regions of the Bonnechere, Petawawa and Barron River areas north of this town about 90 miles northwest of Ottawa. They said young trees have little chance to grow.

The proposed would provide open season Nov. 4-16 on deer in 360 square miles of the southeast section of the park area extending about 75 miles across Ontario and about 85 miles wide at some points.

Aerial and ground surveys of the park region have shown deer density up to 400 animals a square mile in the area compared with an average summer density of eight a square mile.

Chief Dentist Claims He Got Worse Of Struggle

CRYSTAL LAKE, Ill. (AP)—A dentist charged with assaulting a five-year-old patient complains he got the worst of a struggle with the howling, fighting youngster.

Dr. Donald G. Brandeau, 30, testified Wednesday he suffered a bitten finger and a split lip as bruises when he used what he called "novel technique" in an effort to quiet the boy.

The procedure, which Dr. Brandeau called "approved dental practice," consists of clapping the towel over the head of the child's mouth and pinching the child's nose between thumb and forefinger causing mouth suction.

Mrs. W. B. Schwantes testified she and her husband took their grandson, Michael Schwantes, to Dr. Brandeau.

When the dentist and patient emerged from the office, Mrs. Schwantes said, Michael was bleeding from the mouth and "covered with bruises and scratches."

Justice Joseph Ritter continued the case to Sept. 13, asking that Dr. Brandeau and the Schwantes settle their difficulties out of court.

Michael's side of the story favors Mrs. Schwantes' answer questions in court.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market was irregularly lower today in slow morning trading.

Industrials were a shade higher with an index-gain of one-half point. Base metals, golds and western oils, however, were narrowly easier and all had minor index losses.

Trading was the slowest in nearly four weeks with an 11 a.m. volume of 455,000 shares compared with Wednesday's 671,000 at the same time.

Industrials losses moved in a wide range but were slightly outnumbered by gains. Trans Mountain Pipe Line lost two points at $61¼ but other price changes were fractional.

Senior base metals were fractionally lower. Uranium was mixed with Denison up to 27½ and Algom ahead the same amount to 39. Gunnar lost ¼ at 17¾. Golds dipped 30 cents to $5.60 and Steeloh gained 5 cents at $4.30. Other lower-priced mines were easier in a 10-cent range.

Western oils were down in almost a solid line. Losses, however, were generally narrow with few low-priced stocks losing more than 10 cents. Decliners included Canada Pipe Line lost two points at $10, off ¼ to 28¾.

Three Women Die After Meal Of Canned Eggs

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) Three women are dead here after eating a meal Monday of home-canned Pacific salmon eggs.

The RCMP said autopsies have been performed on the first two victims and food samples have been sent to the RCMP laboratory in Regina for analysis.

Mrs. Ethel Legere, 31, died Wednesday. Her daughters, Mrs. Anne Boser, 7, and Miss Lorinda D. Wesley, 36, died Tuesday night. A physician said he believed they died of botulism, a kind of food poisoning.

ALL-OR-NOTHING

If, after two years, arrangements for prolonging the suspension broke down, countries might resume tests only by registering them in advance, by allowing limited international observation, and by limiting the amount of radioactive material to be released into the atmosphere.

6. Within three months of the plan coming into force, all parties "will co-operate in the establishment of a technical committee to study the design of an inspection system which would make it possible to assure that the sending of objects through outer space will be exclusively for peaceful and scientific purposes."

AIR INSPECTION PLAN

7. This section reiterated the aerial inspection proposals tabled by John Foster Dulles, United States secretary of state, while visiting London Aug. 7.

Russia is offered the choice of an aerial inspection and photography zone over all the United States, Soviet Union and Canada, or in the Arctic.

If she accepts either, she is further offered a European zone.

8. The international control organization would be under the Security Council of the United Nations.

9. The control organization would have authority to study a system for regulating the export and import of "designated armaments."

ESCAPE CLAUSE

10. Each country might suspend its obligations, wholly or in part, if it considers its security threatened as a result of violation of the disarmament convention by another country.

11. The provisions of the working paper "are interrelated. The Western powers were not committed to any one proposal unless the rest were accepted.

Officials said this was the earliest date the complete set of proposals could be presented, since the over - all plan had to be cleared with the European Allies and its language put into final form.

Announcement of the plan for presenting the package proposal was made Wednesday in Washington a short time after President Eisenhower had issued a statement in effect appealing to Russia not to reject the Western proposals before they have been seriously studied. Eisenhower said the Western proposals demn humanity to an indefinite future of immeasurable danger.

The president's statement reflected deep U.S. official concern over the report by the Soviet government earlier this week. The first was a claim to having made a successful test of an intercontinental missile. The second was a blast at Western disarmament proposals outlined in the London talks this summer.

Western officials appear divided in their estimate of the significance of the week to the disarmament negotiations.

Jagan and Wife To Be in Cabinet

GEORGETOWN (Reuters)

Dr. Cheddi Jagan and his American-born wife were reported today to be slated tentatively for cabinet posts in the new British Guiana government—but not for the No. 1 job of chief minister.

Governor Sir Patrick Renison was said to have submitted to Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd in London a list of proposed cabinet officers, nominating Jagan as minister of trade and industry and his wife, Janet, as minister of labor, health and housing.

Jagan was deposed as chief minister four years ago by British air to allegedly trying to set up a Communist state. Elections in the People's Progressive party won nine of 14 electoral seats in the recent legislative council election.

Loblaw's Announce New Product Picture Game

Loblaws announced today that they will start a new series of the famous Product Picture Game. Hundreds of letters from players of the first game tell of the fun they had playing the game and requesting a new series, prompted this new game.

Citizens of Belleville and district will have an opportunity to win Free Prizes headed up by 12-1958 Chevrolets. The total value of the prizes is over $60,000.00.

This unique game will consist of two weekly games to be published in the Ontario Intelligencer Each game will have thirty products pictured in the playing area. These pictures are compared with the regular shelf prices and free cards which may be obtained by asking the Loblaw cashier for them each time the store is visited. See advertisement in this issue of the Ontario Intelligencer.

Ferguson Wednesday that her husband, who becomes angry when he has to stop for a red light while they are driving together, "starts fights and swears" at her.

this is what counts...

Runs Into Fire, Race Horse Dies

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—The King Ranch's 1956 horse Hero and There ran into a fire Wednesday and died.

The filly had won the $29,500 Alabama Stakes Wednesday at Saratoga race track.

The fire destroyed a block-long public stable that housed 13 horses owned by the King Ranch of Texas, operated by R. J. Kleberg.

Mrs. Pat Legere, a trainer, said men who had been sleeping in the area managed to lead all of the horses from the barn, but that Hero and There ran back into the flames.

Craig Rice Dead

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mystery writer Craig Rice, 49, whose tough, hard - boiled characters and shot their way through 25 books, was found dead in her apartment Wednesday night.

She had been in ill health for some time and confined to her bed for a week. Cause of death was not disclosed.

Miss Rice's body was discovered by another mystery writer, R. DeWitt Miller, owner of the apartment building.

Ex-Communist Writer Labelled 'Yellow' by Wealthy Sympathizers

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times today quotes ex-Communist writer Howard Fast as saying wealthy U.S. Communist sympathizers labelled him and other American Communist leaders "yellow" moderates in the recent internal fight in the party.

But, says Fast, many of the millionaire fellow-travellers put more money on their wives' backs than into party coffers.

Fast's statements, The Times says, are contained in articles to be published in a new magazine, Prospectus.

They include much material which Fast declined to reveal to congressional committees.

The writer, long a darling of the Russians but now called a "slanderer" in the Soviet Press is quoted by The Times as writing that party officials often had to beg humiliatingly for small donations from wealthy sympathizers who spent thousands on their wives' furs and jewels.

But the wealthy sympathizers, The Times says, bitterly resisted efforts by Fast, Daily Worker editor John Gates and others to get the party to take a "moderate," popular front line.

Fast described events at a gathering in a wealthy woman's apartment thus:

"A woman slipped off her $5,000 mink coat as she said, 'It has to be one way, the only way. You're going to have a civil war, barricades, and the workers are going to have to fight and cut until the blood runs like water in the streets.'"

A businessman at the same gathering, whose doll-like wife carried a price tag of $10,000 in gowns and jewels on the hoof as she stood, raged at me, 'so what if 25,000 people died in Hungary? You got to pay a price for this kind of thing . . . Yellow', he cried, 'you, Gates, (Alan) Max— the whole crew of you, yellow— yellow'"

No Complaint

MONTREAL (CP) — Werner Pitsch, one of the Canadian tourists stranded nearly two weeks in Paris after a chartered flight mixup, counts his Paris stopover well spent.

"I certainly can't complain," he said. "Two days after we got stuck I met a beautiful young lady at the Canadian Embassy. Now we're engaged."

Want Pollution Deadline Kept

KITCHENER (CP)—Members of the Ontario legislature will be petitioned by the fish and game clubs, labor unions and service clubs to see that the Jan. 1, 1958, date for plans to eliminate Grand River sewage pollution is strictly enforced.

It was noted at a joint meeting of the Grand River anti-pollution committee and the Waterloo County Fish and Game Protective Association today that the effective date of July 1, 1957, had been extended.

Through petitions of these organizations three years ago, the Ontario department of health gave municipalities on the Grand River until July 1, 1957, to have working plans for secondary sewage treatment prepared and ready to go into force. They said pollution caused by "uncontrolled discharge of wastes into the river created a serious health menace and adverse economic conditions."

But the department earlier this year transferred its sanitary duty visitor to the Ontario water resources commission and in doing so gave a blanket extension of six months to the municipalities.

THE BRITISH GUIANA ELECTION

Cheddi Jagan, the East Indian dentist who heads one of the two "Peoples' Progressive" parties in British Guiana, is back in the news. His party has won nine of the fourteen elective seats in the 28-seat legislature.

Jagan was chief minister in 1953 and was deposed by the British. The Associated Press in reporting the election flatly declares Jagan is a Communist. There may be some legitimate doubt as to this — perhaps even more doubt today than there was in 1953, because since the death of Stalin it is becoming increasingly difficult year by year to know just exactly what a Communist is and unless Jagan holds a party card and has been following all the twists and turns of the party line he and the party may have parted company at some unchartred curve.

If, however, Jagan is a Communist, then only the fact that the governor of the colony appoints fourteen of the 28 members of the legislature prevents him from becoming the first Communist ever to attain power through a free election.

It may even be argued that the fact that he will not actually assume control of the country is of secondary importance compared with the fact that the majority of the people of British Guiana voted for him.

Either they do not believe him to be a Communist, or else they favor a Communist regime.

This is far away from the Iron Curtain, a situation which can only be regarded with deep misgiving by all other countries in this hemisphere.

Keeping Jagan from assuming power would hardly appear to be an adequate remedy. Something should be done to determine exactly what conditions exist on the people of British Guiana vote for him — and to change these conditions.

SOME ADVERTISEMENTS

In the Vancouver Sun we noticed and advertisement extolling the merits of a particular brand of ale.

At the bottom of the advertisement, in small type, appeared this line:

"This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board or by the Government of British Columbia."

This sets up a whole new vista of possibilities in the realm of advertising.

Some examples:

"When you want a cab, call Tip-Top Taxi. (This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Department of Transport.)"

"Get a copy of Elvis Presley's 'Teddy Bear' at Ma Cozy Corner Record Shop. (This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Fish and Wildlife Division of the Department of Lands and Forests.)"

"Every real boy wants the new guided missile peashooter, available at Small Arms Ltd. (This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Department of Defence Production)."

"If you want a loan, try the Friendly Finance Co. (This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Department of Finance or by the Department of Justice)."

"The Be-High Brassiere will keep you in shape. (This advertisement is not published or displayed by either the Department of External Affairs or the Department of Veterans' Affairs.)"

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Mrs. Jacob Sachs of Baltimore, Maryland, has us puzzled.

Interviewed by Mary McAlpine of the Vancouver Sun she said that the Canadian "attitude" (5¼ per cent discount) toward the U.S. dollar "is not quite an insult, but neither is it a sign of hospitality."

She added: "And you need American tourists and their dollars."

No, no, Mrs. Sachs, you Americans need Canadian dollars. You see it is because so many of you Americans bought Canadian dollars and so few Canadians are willing to sell them, that the price of the Canadian dollar has gone up. Demand and supply. Simple, isn't it? Satisfied, Mrs. Sachs?

Well, Mrs. Sachs, you may be satisfied with that explanation, but darned if we know whether we are. For we Canadians do and need American dollars. They are what keeps our boom going. And since we want your dollars so badly, we should be willing to give you at least even money on the deal.

Only, only, when American money goes to work in Canada it has to get changed into Canadian money and so much of your money wants to work here that ——

Oh, let's call the whole thing off. Let's both go and barter our shoes for a beer. That sound hospitable enough Mrs. Sachs? And no insult to your dollar, or ours, intended.

The busy world respects and fears	Men who their honor hold so high
Men who will cherish their careers.	For either votes or wealth to buy.
Such men our country greatly needs,	Men when temptations strong assail
Men who believe and live their creeds,	Who dare to say: "We're not for sale."

Sugar-Coats Education

Kingston City Star

Bergen Evans, B.A., M.A., B.Litt, Ph.D., is a pedagogue who has turned, to use his own words, to bootlegging.

Fortunately, Dr. Evans' commodity is knowledge, in clean-cut, legal spirits. His territory is television. For the last two years he has been selling the nation's television audiences on the entertainment value of erudition. Evenings as a straight-faced emcee for "the $64,000 Question," Mike Stokey's big money quiz shows, and its offspring, "the $64,000 Challenge", he is moderator of "The Last Word," a discussion panel about our languages and grammar, which to everybody's — including Evans' surprise is a hit.

Evans' success in providing a magnificent proving ground for Evans' theory about sugar-coated mass education which worked out nicely with his students at Northwestern university.

"His lectures", said a former student, "are so witty and crammed with fascinating, offbeat information you forget you're learning something. We fought to get into his classes."

Evans believes that wit, humor and a benevolent fierce disagreement are the factors covering up the high educational content of "The Last Word".

A former Rhodes scholar with degrees from Oxford, Harvard and Miami (O.) university, Evans gives no lofty motives for taking on the extra work that he's busy seven days a week. It has brought quadrupled his professor's income. He is reluctant to reveal the size of this, but a reasonable guess would put it between $80,000 and $85,000 a year.

Evans first tried television as "moderator of a game called 'Down You Go'," which attracted modest success and floated a round of network shows for several years. Louis G. Cowan, producer, called Evans when, starting "The $64,000 Question," he needed a man of scholarly background to round up questions and answers on which there could be no kick back.

At 43, Evans is a man of middle height, stocky, with black hair, graying at the temples, and a round, wood chisel face, says to be in a hurry—even seated. This year a strenuous one his schedule, he is teaching only three days a week on two-hundred-per a Northwestern, five classes on world literature and advanced writing are carefully bunched through Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Friday morning he flies to New York for two days of conferences with the producers of the three shows. He does his own show Sunday afternoon, clicks around to watch "Challenge" that night and flies back immediately afterward.

Monday is devoted to preparing the week's lectures and working on a dictionary, "of contemporary American Usage," a 7-year project, about finished. At some point he also records a half-hour show, "Of Many Things," used on a number of stations around the country.

Before television came into his life, Evans wrote a monthly magazine book review and two author of a couple of learned, witty books concerning perplexing superstitions and popular misconceptions.

As moderator of "The Last Word" Evans is extremely liberal in his views about language. He says:

"The test of language is not its correctness, but its effectiveness", he says. "Vulgarities do not offend me; affected niceties do."

Evans will go along happily with the idea of the ear which turns purists while: "It's me" "I feel bad," "It's them," although he has a tendency, however, to dominate the discussions on the program, he is quick-thinking, deliberate guest never really gets to finish a sentence before he wrap up an idea.

With Evans in command, "The Last Word" goes merrily along, fracturing every sacred law of television survival.

Listening Is Hard Task

Ottawa Citizen

According to studies made at the University of Minnesota, the average business executive spends 45 per cent of his working time listening, and it's one of the hardest parts of his job. This is one of the more credible conclusions any university study has come up with, and everyone knows, even if a man isn't a businessman, that listening takes up more than it sometimes seems worth it.

The Minnesota study lists a number of bad listening habits which are responsible for this. Some of these are: The listener's premature decision that the subject under discussion is uninteresting, so that the listener's attention is not given to acquiring a pretence of listening, when actually the listener's mind is wandering. The possession of emotional deaf spots, so that when the speaker touches certain words, such as "mother-in-law", a train of thought is set up in the listener which is wholly irrelevant to the real issue under discussion.

Every man who has listened to his associates describe their wife will be familiar with his wife tell of the day's turmoil at the office. Probably this is why she probably agree that he has bad listening habits. The fact that a man from time to time intercolates such remarks as "is that so?" or "uh-huh" does not mean he is listening. The utterances are mechanical, unconvincing and do not stand up to appearance of listening.

Of all unfortunate activities, attentive listening is perhaps the most selfless. It requires acceptance of the strength of character to be practised effectively for more so, because often the sacrifice isn't worthwhile from the listener's viewpoint. But it is from that of the talker. Nothing in nature can match the fury of a wife who, after talking for some time, learns from a chance remark by her husband that he hasn't been listening at all. The cause of peace could undoubtedly be advanced if attentive listening became a widely-practised art.

First War Hero Dies

Montreal Gazette

In 1917, the Kaiser's U-boats reached the peak of the terrible efficiency. In one month, 193 merchant ships, totalling 600,000 tons, were sent to the bottom. On land, the terrible toll of human life continued.

One of the few bright pages in the dark history of that year was the story of H.M.S. Broke, a destroyer skippered by Commander Edward Ratcliffe Garth Russell Evans. The Broke, in company with the destroyer, H.M.S. Swift, detected, identified and destroyed the fifth ed six German destroyers off Dover.

The German flotilla was routed. Two of the German destroyers were sunk in the vicious gun duel; Evans had the Broke ran a third. As the Broke smashed into the German vessel, the German crew prepared to board the Broke. Commander Evans gave an order which had not been heard since the beginning of the age of sail. Everyone prepare for boarders."

The Broke's crew was prepared.

Evans' life, full of accomplishments and honors, ended this week in Norway, the country he loved second only to his native Wales. He was buried as "Evans of the Broke," but his many other services to his country will not be soon forgotten. A valuable, if more valuable, than his conduct of the fight on deck.

Between the wars, he commanded several Royal Navy destroyers in foreign world. During the Second World War, he was flag officer to Lord Beaverbrook, then minister of aircraft production, in charge of the delicate task of speeding aircraft plants. Then, as the Battle of Britain began, he took over the job of directing the civil defences of London, which were to stand him in good stead.

The kind of engagement which gave Evans' name its frame—later. In 1945, he became Lord Mountevans—is unlikely to occur again. But the quick thinking, the ability to command wisely and well under the greatest pressure, will be even more important in the days of fast-er-than-sound weapons.

The memory, and the example, of "Evans of the Broke" will continue to serve Britain in the free nations of the world.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE SOURCE

The Biblical story of how Saul, the son of Kish, was anointed King of Israel and ended up a failure and a suicide, is a dramatic narrative involving folly and violence.

The night before his death, King Saul sought out the witch of Endor and asked that she call up a spirit in order to guidance. The spirit that came up was the spirit of Samuel. And Saul's pathetic cry was, "Oh, Saul I do!"

Millions of people all over the world today are repeating the question, "What shall I do?" They ask it when ruin stares them in the face, when the reality of incurable disease is brought before them. When disgrace overtakes them and they plunge downward in the esteem of their fellows. "What shall I do?" It is a pathetic cry and one that is often heard.

Saul made the mistake of going to the wrong place for his answer. To be sure, Saul had cried to God and there was no response. But that was because Saul was not kind of man he was. He needed to change, and the divine response would have been immediate. But Saul would not repent. He would not change. He would betake himself to a witch and attempt on the basis of magic to solve his great life problem.

We Christians have a Source to which we can always go, and we are lacking in wisdom if we do not avail ourselves of it. "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden," said Jesus, "and I will give you rest."

Another Step In Conquest

New York Times

Man's conquest of space is not something that will be done suddenly someday before we know it by one man or two men. It will not come like the climbing of Everest or the running of the mile in four minutes. It is latent and planning went into these two accomplishments. But space conquest is an adventure in which the whole or organized society participates. It is the grandest adventure man has pondered. Centuries of scientific effort are concentrated. New metals, new instrument, new ways to provide a atmosphere amenable to the frail human are available.

The conquest of space involves more than mere speed—speed never now than it has been before has been acquired in recent scientific studies of rockets and missiles. These studies are largely supported with the military by buyers through defence contracts. In a very real sense, the U.S. whole has "world Emperor" David G. Simons, 34-year-old father of four, and the first man to cross the Atlantic in a balloon atmosphere, made the trip for all of us. Organized society made this step toward space as it has taken others in the past and will take many more.

The reports from our high-altitude adventurer are significant. Simons, who is not at all high-flown, once worked as a cowboy, a gallant hanging and he said simply that what he saw was "indescribable." But he told us of the magnificent and awesome vision of sunrise from 100,000 feet, not from 100,000 feet the stars do not appear to twinkle—however, because of the lightning flashing through the clouds 10 miles below, in far more detrimable terms, as a "real spectacle."

More reports will come from other individuals on the way to conquest of space. Most of them will be pretty dreary-sounding studies in mathematical symbolic logic or complicated engineering drawings. A few will be as spectacular as Major Simons's report. Our technical representatives told us yesterday that the latest step toward one thing about space adventuring: "Men can do it by taking their own atmosphere with them." The work will go on, perhaps unspectacularly sometimes, but in this case the fascinated taxpayer will surely be interested enough to pay for it.

Atrocity In The Great Smokies

From the Great Smoky Mountains on the North Carolina-Tennessee border comes a news item of five children from 9 to 11 years old who had survived the atrocity, at least for 24 hours. The "hospital" where the atrocity was perpetrated is mentioned in the newspaper item — rates reasonable, cuisine unsurpassed—but oddly enough there is no clue to the identity of the ever-ready operator and the only humorous touch in the newspaper added to the picture is the caption: Long Way To Tonsils.

It is not improbable that one or even two of those children had sufficient obstruction of breathing or involement of hearing or middle ear infection to warrant surgical removal of the obstruction — tonsillotomy. This is a minor operation, comparable in every respect with extraction of a tooth; and so it may be done at home or in the doctor's office under local anesthesia or none. Tonsillectomy, on the other hand, is a major operation, with all the hazards of other major operations, including those of hemorrhage, shock, cardiac arrest, atelectasis (collapse of any portion of the lung), post-operative pneumonia and lung abscess.

Tonsillectomy means merely cutting or lancing the tonsil — "clipping," instantaneously slicing off the entire tonsil portion. The instrument which does this is called a tonsillotome.

Tonsillectomy means dissection of the throat to an extent sufficient to remove every bit of tonsil tissue — as though tonsil tissue were malignant. At least that's what it purports to do. As a matter of fact in most instances a bit or a large bit of the tonsil remains in the throat after the surgery is finished. This is not just my allegation. It is the consensus of several recognized authorities who have reported their findings in medical literature. And not only that. Pathologists examining what the ever-ready operators remove in their slaughter of tonsil tissue say that what it purports to do. British Airman Tests New Chute At Ground Level

PATUXENT, Md. (AP) — A British airman has successfully made the first test in the United States of a new aircraft ejection seat which permits ballouts at low altitudes, even near ground level, from jets.

FO Sidney Hughes of the RAF blasted himself out of a navy Panther jet Wednesday just as the plane left the runway at a speed of more than 130 miles an hour.

He was catapulted 80 feet into the air, and a parachute then billowed out to drop him to a feet first landing.

James Martin, inventor of the seat, told reporters it was the second ground level test ever made by a man. The other was made in England.

GREAT DEVICE

Navy Secretary Thomas Gates, who witnessed the demonstration at the naval test centre here, described the device as "the greatest thing in aviation safety since the parachute!"

The demonstration clinched navy acceptance of the device. It has been ordered installed on 50 jet trainers. Until now an average of only six out of every 100 men who try to get out of a jet plane below 1,000 feet have any chance of living.

As the Panther rose from the runway, Hughes pulled a device to eject himself from the plane, which was flown by another man. The navy calculated that he withstood a force equal to 20 times the pull of gravity in making the test.

"I got a fairly good bang," he said after he landed with a jar. "I'm a bit winded."

FO Lawrence R. Mosser, 21, pilot of the plane that collided with Myers' aircraft near Saarbruecken, West Germany, bailed out and escaped with scratches and bruises.

Peterborough Deputy Chief Asks to Retire

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—The police commission Wednesday recommended that Deputy Chief William A. (Bud) Clarke, 57, subject of a royal commission inquiry into the police force earlier this summer, be retired with pension.

Clarke made written application for retirement for medical reasons, and attached a letter of medical opinion from his physician, Dr. Thomas E. Currier.

A four-man pension advisory committee must pass on the retirement application.

Clarke, a member of the force for 20 years, was appointed deputy chief last November. He came under fire at the inquiry which ended July 19. Mr. Justice F. G. MacKay, head of the inquiry, has yet to report to Attorney-General Roberts.

Train Robbery Doesn't Pay Slim Files Show

NEW YORK (CP)—Train robbery, a crime that created American folk heroes, doesn't pay.

This may be the reason for the slim files on robberies of this type ever since the James brothers, the Daltons and the Youngers rode in the lawless days following the U.S. civil war.

Tries for a 20th-century comeback of train robbery were recalled following the raid Wednesday on the mail car of a moving CNR train near Woodstock, Ont.

One spectacular train robbery —and failure—of this century occurred Oct. 11, 1923, as a Southern Pacific train emerged from a tunnel at Siskiyo, Ore.

The mail car caught fire in the tunnel and the bandits were unable to get to it because of the smoke. Three brothers were sentenced to life imprisonment in the robbery, in which three members of the train crew and a railway postal clerk were killed.

Other robberies of comparatively recent years were equally futile.

Bill Miner, a Kentucky - born robber who served his apprenticeship as a stage coach bandit in California is believed to have pulled off the first train robbery in Canada.

On Sept. 12, 1904, three armed men boarded a CPR train when it stopped to take on water near Mission, B.C., and escaped with $5,000 in gold dust and $900 in cash.

Miner was identified as leader of the gang but eluded capture two years.

In 1906, at the age of 63, he and two companions attempted another robbery, 17 miles east of Kamloops. They bungled the job and were captured a short time later.

Miner was sentenced to life imprisonment but escaped from New Westminster penitentiary two years later and fled to the United States where he continued robbing until caught.

He died in a Georgia prison.

TURNED IT DOWN

Quebec Premier Duplessis, in a letter received Wednesday by President Jodoin, turned down the labor chief's request that the premier convene a government-union-company meeting with a view to getting negotiations resumed.

Apart from getting no federal commitment to intervene in having negotiations started, President Jodoin also got no action Wednesday on a suggestion that immigrants hired at Murdochville since the strike began might be deported for anti-union violence.

Mr. Diefenbaker said after the meeting that there could be no deportation without a court conviction, and no prosecutions had been lodged.

He and Justice Minister Fulton —also acting immigration minister—denied, too, a union claim that federal agencies had directed immigrants to Murdochville as strikebreakers. They said neither the immigration department nor the government's national employment service had done this.

WEDDINGS

ASH — LLOYD

Baskets of gladioli and summer blooms decorated Knox United Church, McCreary, Man., on Saturday, August 10, at 4.00 p.m. when Megan daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lloyd, of McCreary, and Captain Phillip Leon Ash, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, Fort Churchill, Manitoba, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Ash, of Madoc, Ontario, were united in a double-ring wedding ceremony by the Reverend A. C. McColl.

Mrs. James Cliff, of Fort Churchill, was organist and Miss Corsy Carlson sang, "The Lord's Prayer," and "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her bridal gown white Chantilly lace satin in waltz-length, featuring illy-point sleeves and long torso styled bodice with covered buttons extending from neckline to torso waistline. Her seed pearl studded tiara held dress held a finger-tip veil of silk illusion, and she carried a white Bible crested with orchids, Sweetheart roses and streamers.

Miss Lois Collins, of Fort Churchill, Manitoba, was bridesmaid in waltz-length gown of white embroidered organza over taffeta featuring a cummerbund waistline of apple green. She wore a matching headdress and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Miss Brenda Ann Durston, of Dauphin, little niece of the bride, was flower girl, daintily frocked in nylon over taffeta taffeta with matching headdress, and carrying a nosegay of yellow daisies.

Captain H. A. Bartecchi, of the Fort of Churchill, was groomsman. The ushers and bride's attendant were in number one military dress.

Mr. Tudor Lloyd, brother of the bride, and Mr. Thomas Ash, brother of Madoc, Ontario, brother of the bridegroom ushered the guests.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Mc-Creary Community Centre, which was tastefully decorated with streamers, bouquets of gladioli and summer blooms. More than one hundred guests sat down to the wedding dinner served by the ladies of the Hospital Aid.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, miniature bells, and was flanked by tall, lighted tapers, and gladioli bouquets. The wedding cake was cut with the bridegroom's sword.

The bride's daughter received the guests, wearing a mauve jacket gown with white accessories, and a corsage of mauve gladioli. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who chose for a two-piece ensemble of mauve linen with blue and white accessories.

Mr. E. E. Squire, of Winnipeg, proposed the toast to the bride, to which the bridegroom replied.

Telegrams of congratulations were read, including one from relatives of the bride, in Wales.

Mrs. E. Durston, of Dauphin, sister of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

For travelling to Madoc, Ontario, to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of the bridegroom's parents, and later leaving by plane for a honeymoon in Bermuda, the bride chose a beige flowered silk sheath gown with brown duster and beige accessories, and corsage of yellow tea roses. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Ash will reside in Fort Churchill, Manitoba.

CAMPBELL — MORGAN

St. John's Church, Stirling, was the setting on Saturday, August 17th at 13 o'clock noon for a lovely summer wedding when the Rev. R. C. Sacker, rector of the church, united in marriage Beverley Jeanne Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan, of Stirling, to Wallace Donald Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Black also of Stirling. Pastel gladioli adorned the altar and while bows the guest pews.

Miss Ruth Mumby, church organist rendered the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Harry Mason, who sang, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon net over white satin featuring a scallop-edged neckline, long, sheath sleeves ending in lily-points over the wrists, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Her finger-tip veil of tulle illusion was caught to a bat-effect headdress studded with seed pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations and white stephanotis.

The maid Anne Good, as maid of honor; Miss Marilyn Sherry, of Tweed, Ontario, as bridesmaids were gowned alike in white, polished cotton taffeta sheaths, featuring wide rose cummerbunds falling to the left side. They wore rose colored picture hats with matching shoes and mittens and carried nosegays of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Robert Pell, guest organist for St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, provided the wedding music, and accompanied the choir of six boys who rendered before the ceremony, "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "The Lord is My Shepherd."

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length bridal gown of tiered Chantilly lace over nylon and taffeta in hooped style, with fitted bodice having a Sweetheart neckline and tiny, shoulder sleeves and V-pointed gloves. A coronet, studded with mother-of-pearl motifs, and enhanced by nylon net flowers held her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion. She carried a mother-of-pearl prayer book crested with red Sweetheart roses, with rosebud-knotted streamers. A gold cross belonging to her deceased grandmother, and tiny pearl earrings were her only adornments.

For the wedding trip by motor through the Adirondacks, to Lake Champlain and Vermont, returning by way of Niagara Falls, the bride chose a white linen sheath dress, accented by wide, red linen collar, red picture hat, white accessories, and corsage of white, peppermint feathered carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Sherry will reside at 336 Bridge Street east, Belleville.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the honored guest at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Kay Homan, of Corbyville, also at presentations by the Belleville Creameries, where the bride is employed and by the 4-H Club, of Foxboro, of which the bride is a member.

Guests were present from North Tonawanda, N.Y., Arden, Tweed, Thomasburg, Ottawa, Foxboro, Stirling, Bancroft and Roslin.

COSTLY CANINES

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Dog owners will have to pay more to get their furs from the Barrie pound. Council raised the fee from $7 to $10, and it costs $20 if it's the second time.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Donald Sherry are shown signing the register following their marriage in Christ Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Gethia Isabel Joslin, only daughter of Mr. Hoy Joslin, of Foxboro, and the groom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sherry, of Tweed Ontario.

SHERRY — JOSLIN

At high noon, on Saturday, August 17, in Christ Church, Belleville, a lovely double ring wedding was solemnized by Archdeacon J. D. Creegan, rector of the church, when Gethia Isabel Joslin, of Foxboro, Ontario, only daughter of Mr. Hoy Joslin, and the late Mrs. Joslin, was united in marriage to Albert Donald Sherry, of Tweed, Ontario, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sherry. Tall white standards of pink and white gladioli and ferns adorned the chancel rail, and vases of similar flowers, the altar.

Mr. and Mrs. William James Campbell are pictured signing the register following their marriage in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Helen Tolhurst Weston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Weston, of Belleville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Campbell, of the town of Mount Royal, Quebec. —Photo by Don McDougall, Belleville, Ontario.

CAMPBELL — WESTON

Tall standards of white gladioli formed a beautiful setting in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Belleville, for a lovely wedding on Saturday, August 17th at three o'clock, when Helen Tolhurst Weston of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford S. Weston, became the bride of William James Campbell, of Peterborough, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell of the Town of Mount Royal, Quebec. The Rev. L. J. Daniel, B.A., B.D., minister of the church, officiated.

Mr. William Cooper presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist, Miss Dian Sheffield of Brantford, who sang, "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her full-length bridal gown of mist-white silk organza over taffeta, the long torso silhouette accepted with embroidered lace appliques. A matching beaded headband, enhanced by a finger-tip veil, completed the costume. The bride carried a cascade of white gladioli florets, stephanotis and ivy.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Leroy McBrien, of Belleville, as matron of honor, and by Mrs. William Muirhead and Mrs. Joseph Konarek, both of Belleville, as bridesmaids. All were gowned alike in floor-length crystal charm of a deep shell pink. The full skirts were flounced from gathers at the lowered waist lines, and the boat necklines were enhanced by folds of similar material. Matching hats and white accessories completed their ensembles and they carried semi-cascades of pink and burgundy asters.

Mr. Bruce Hefkey of Toronto, attended the bridegroom. The ushers were Mr. George Edward Campbell of the Town of Mount Royal, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Donald Beattie of Peterborough.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table, centred with white damask linen, was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake. White tapers in silver holders flanked the cake, and the top was graced with an attractive touch.

The bride's mother received the guests in a street-length gown of sea mist green silk taffeta, with navy accessories, and a purse corsage of pink gladioli florets. The bridegroom's mother was unable to be present due to illness. Her daughter, Miss Margaret Ann Campbell, assisted in the receiving line, wearing a white and blue bouffant gown with white accessories, and corsage of pink gladioli florets.

For the wedding trip to the east coast, the bride donned a cornflower blue dress, with charcoal and black accents, matching accessories and a white-petal picture hat. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will reside in Peterborough.

Guests were present from Belleville, Brantford, Ontario, the Town of Mount Royal, Toronto, Port Colborne, Burlington, St. Catharines, Smithfield, Peterborough, Campbellford and Texas.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

HOW WELL YOUR PROFESSIONAL SET LASTS DEPENDS ON YOU

6-25

Cover hair with a net or scarf before retiring if you'd protect your pretty ringlets.

Did you ever wear a clean, newly pressed dress to bed, then complain that it looked messy the next day? Ridiculous idea? Of course. But think how often we've given your hairdo the same treatment. Perfect when you left the beauty shop, unmanageable the next day. Remember how you fussed and fumed at your hairdresser mentally and vocally as you tried to get it back into shape? Be fair, reveal, too, that you flopped into bed that night too tired to bother doing anything about your hair. Your hairdo deserves kind and careful attention after you leave the beauty shop, and it will look good until your next visit. The care takes a little time, but the effect will be worth your while.

Here are a few simple aids that will protect and prolong the life of your professional hairstyle. None other than the well known hair designer, Eddie Senz of New York, gives them, he says.

1. For the first night or two after your shop visit, cover the curls in place. Do not rearrend them.

2. Between the ridge of each wave, place a line of clips.

3. Cover your head with a net or scarf, but be sure that neither one is too tight.

4. When your curls and waves seem to be relaxing or loosening up too much, "rewind" the curls in the same direction and pin in the same position they were placed originally. Trim each side of the wave ridge with invisible hairpins or bobby pins.

5. Never, never try to keep your head outside of the shower stream to protect your hair. Instead of wearing a cap. The steam and moisture will relax or loosen up the curls and waves. A tight bathing cap will likewise ruin the formations . . . so, choose a loose shower cap that is tight enough around the hairline to keep out moisture out.

6. Never, never take a bath without protecting your hair with a shower cap or small Turkish towel arranged fashion on your head.

7. When you comb and brush your hair, do so in the direction your hair was set. If you try to rearrange the line of your waves, the hair will tend to resist and be stubborn in the new direction you want it to take.

8. Protect your hair with hat or scarf when sailing forth in the rain.

9. Avoid the use of heavy lacquers. If necessary, spray your hairdo at arm's length with a mist . . . any product that will control the hair without gumming it.

10. Protect your hairline by winding toilet tissue around it when you cream your face or apply make-up.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOU NEED TO DO SOME WORK ON YOURSELVES

A few days ago I had occasion to tell a reader of this column that I wasn't running a marriage bureau.

The best I can ever do in the way of helping people find a marital mate is to try and point out some of the steps they might take that would make it easier to meet the right sort of men and women.

So this is as far as I can go to help the two men who have just written to inquire how they can get in touch with a 43-year-old unmarried woman who asked, in a letter published recently in this column, how she could meet men of her own age.

The first man, a Mr. J. R., writes:

"I've been reading your letters in the newspaper quite regularly. I read a letter in your column from a Miss H. T. who asked for your advice about finding a husband her own age. Is there any way I can get in touch with her with me? I'd like to have a few words with her.

"I'm a man in my 43rd year who has been separated from my wife four years. I've gone out with women much older than myself — anywhere from eight to thirteen years older — but I'd rather go with women my own age. Do you think it's all right for me to go out with older women?"

The second letter is short and to the point:

"I'm writing to you about the letter in the newspaper from the woman of 42, who was never married and who wanted to meet a man her own age. I'm 44 and never married, and would also like to meet someone my own age." This is signed by Mr. R. S.

Now if these two gentlemen had read or read carefully my answer to Miss H. T.'s letter, they would already know what my answer would be to these letters of their own. All they would need to have done was to have substituted the word "man" for "woman" in my answer, and vice versa.

Since they evidently believe, however, that I'd have something different to say to them than I did to Miss H. T., I'll simply transpose the words myself in what I wrote and set down a few of the more important suggestions in it.

Here, then, is my answer to these two, as well as to any other man with a similar problem:

My belief is that the first thing and uncurried man in the forties should do to find women friends is to stop making this the primary objective of his life. For that way lies frustration and unhappiness. Such a frustrated and unhappy man is the last person in the world any woman — or anybody else — wants to meet.

Such a state of mind turns the possessor of it into a complete bore, who will never meet anybody.

Instead of concentrating on his search for a mate, he should widen his horizons.

This means that he should find and take part in all the interesting activities he can. For if he has real interests, he's bound to become a vital, enthusiastic and attractive man, a man other people will want to know, which will certainly increase his chances of finding a congenial woman he might wish to make his wife.

So there, Mr. J. R. and Mr. R. S., is your guide to possible romance in a nutshell. To set yourselves to following the guide is far better than seeking to meet strangers through letters in any newspaper.

Just remember that all women want to meet men, and that if you take the trouble to make yourself into the kind of man I've just described, you will almost certainly, somewhere, come across a woman who will be glad to meet you and want to know you better.

Small Fry Fashions

By ALICE ALDEN

Clothes for little girls are so appealing these days, so fashionable and yet so replete with youthful charm, that they really have a place in the fashion parade. So, with this idea in mind, we offer you a pretty, practical dual style for the little girl. Bambury does it in red or black velvet, and lines it with white fleece, making it a perfect choice for cold weather. Two rows of white mother-of-pearl buttons make the double-breasted closing and the matching hat has mother-of-pearl button trim, too.

This means that he should find and take part in all the interesting activities he can. For if he has real interests, he's bound to become a vital, enthusiastic and attractive man, a man other people will want to know, which will certainly increase his chances of finding a congenial woman he might wish to make his wife.

GOOD MANNERS

CARLESS-COUPLE "WORRIED ABOUT HOW TO SHARE EXPENSES WITH CAR-COUPLE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The first part of October my husband and I are going on a 3-weeks vacation trip with another couple. We are driving in their car and we want to be absolutely positive that we pay every expense we should pay. (We've heard so much about unhappy endings of this kind of arrangement when the carless couple were thoughtless about paying their share. And we want to keep the friendship of this couple, now such dear friends of ours). What should be the necessary arrangement? And (my husband brings up this question) should we insist on paying an amount for the wear-and-tear on their car? T. and E.

The fundamental arrangement should be that you and your husband should share expenses equally with the car couple. If you all begin at once and definitely in this arrangement, the sharing will be fun and not the chore some people make it! I certainly couldn't advise that your husband insist on paying an amount for the wear-and-tear on the car, since for this there will be no real difference between the passengers or four. Instead I suggest that somewhere during the trip, when you and your husband spot a particularly attractive restaurant or inn, you or he might say, "This looks like a delightful place for us to give the dinner party we've been wanting to give in honor of our good and so-thoughtful hosts! How about it — will you please accept our invitation?"

Sukiyaki At Howard and Gay's

By Mary Moore

To know them is to love them and to eat with them is a privilege and to have a sukiyaki supper in their home is a rollicking experience.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

THURSDAY

Corned Beef and Cabbage with Mustard; Mustard Sauce (see Monday) Creamed Vegetable Marrow; Glazed Carrots; Ice Cream with Sliced Peaches; Coffee.

SUNDAY

Fried Chicken Legs and Cream Gravy; Sliced Zucchini Squash; Corn; Allen's Muffins (see Saturday); Angel Cake with Melon Ball Fruit Cup; Coffee.

Don't run off with the notion you are going to make sukiyaki for to-night's dinner for you have to know where a Japanese store is that will supply you with the special vegetables. You need a shallow frying pan, a stove which is a metal brazier, charcoal-filled, which stands in an outer ring base in which there is about a 1/3 inch of water. Over the charcoal burner goes a round, straight-sided, fine, iron frypan. You also need fine china bowls and rice bowls; a smaller one of the same for your egg (raw) and you need uncounted slithers and bowls for your Japanese shoyu sauce (not Chinese Soy sauce), water, sugar, sliced onions, baby green onions, cut-up Chinese cabbage, mmmyaki, canned mushrooms and bamboo shoots. Chop sticks too of course with which you do everything from a never-ending transfer of raw food to frypan, cooked food to your sukiyaki bowl to raw egg bowl and then to its last goal, your mouth. Luckily it is quite good manners to raise your bowl to your mouth to catch the overflow. It is the rice bowl in the dying moments of this memorable meal that you nolably slurp the last delicious drags and drops to show your great satisfaction.

The traditional and only proper last course for this meal is green tea, served in a dainty high-sided tea cup with no saucer, and fresh fruit. We had peaches.

This sukiyaki meal is an evening's program. Actually for the hosts it is an afternoon and evening program.

Howard assured us that the atmosphere was not quite correct. Out of consideration for their guests (and themselves) we sat at the dining room table on dining room chairs. As most of you know, rightly we should have squatted on our feet on a "Zabuton" (cushion to you) before a low table. Since this meal went on for 2 hours at least — while we were cooking the sukiyaki and while it simmered along with our lively conversation — imagine our gratification at not having to endure the agony of cramped feet and knees.

It was uproarious fun and after several refills we reluctantly left the table. Howard then showed us colored transparencies of Japan. We now understand Howard and Gay's love for their adopted country so dearly.

Second Charge Of Tax Evasion Faces Dave Beck

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A second multiple indictment charging income tax evasion was returned this time totalling $134,000—faces labor boss Dave Beck. His son and four others are accused of aiding him conceal his earnings.

The seven-count charge covering the years 1951-53 was returned here Wednesday by a federal grand jury and quickly denied in Los Angeles by the Brotherhood of Teamsters. It culminated a month-long investigation by the jurors who indicted Beck May 2 on charges of evading $86,000 in taxes in 1950.

Also named in the new indictment are his son Dave, Jr.; Fred Verschueren, an auditor for the Chicago labor relations consultant; Shefferman's son, Shelton; and Norman Gessert, a teamster organizer who is a cousin of Mrs. Beck, Sr. The jury said they conspired to conceal Beck's taxable income.

ON NET INCOME

The jury accused the elder Beck and his wife of declaring net income of $49,964.66 for 1951 when it should have been $166,035.61—paying a tax of $18,-922.48 instead of $103,901.79.

In 1953 the Becks reported income of $51,991.75 and paid a tax of $22,202.22. The indictment says the actual income was $169,21121 and the tax should have been $110,670.24.

The following year they paid $30,005.72 on a declared income of $62,730.31 when, the indictment charges, they should have paid $44,413.71 on an income of $94,-258.16.

Immediately after the indictment Beck's bail from the $5,000 set after the May indictment to $25,000, and set bail for the others at $5,000 each.

Beck, attending a teamsters executive board meeting in Los Angeles, greeted news of the new indictments with an "I'm not guilty" comment.

"I'm not surprised," he said. "It's happening every day. I'm not guilty—that I assure you." Certified public accountants always make out my income tax. All I did was sign it. If any mistake was made, they made it." None of the others could be reached for comment.

In addition to the income tax evasion charges, Beck and his son have been indicted by a Seattle grand jury on grand larceny charges. They are accused of selling union-owned automobiles and keeping the money.

TO REPLY

At the Los Angeles meeting, the elder Beck announced that his union's executive board has decided to present to the ethical practices committee of the parent AFL-CIO a "courteous" resolution replying to the committee's charges that the union is under corrupt influence.

Minor Duties Handicapping Work of Police

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Middlesex crown attorney C. C. Savage said Wednesday that many minor duties, such as handing out traffic tickets, were making it increasingly difficult for policemen to carry out "their major tasks of preventing crime and protecting citizens."

Mr. Savage told 150 police chiefs gathered here that these lesser duties also tended to alienate public opinion.

He said a London girl recently told a police officer who handed her a traffic ticket: "Wouldn't you be better employed catching burglars?"

"And the may well have been speaking for a considerable part of the public," said Mr. Savage.

He also stressed the danger of repeatedly giving probation to first offenders. He claimed every gang has at least one member without a record who becomes the fall guy and willingly takes the rap for companions involved in a crime with him.

The crown attorney criticized citizens who deliberately refuse to assist police officers in carrying out their duties.

He suggested more use might be made of the Criminal Code section which makes it an indictable offence for a citizen to deliberately refuse to assist police.

"Friendship isn't something that you can pick up when you are old and happen to need it. So you young people start building for the future now. It will be the best investment you ever made."

RAWDON

WMS-W.A. Societies Hold Joint Meeting

RAWDON — Mrs. Harry McAdam was hostess for a joint meeting of Mount Pleasant Rawdon W.M.S. and W.A. with an attendance of 19. The meeting was held last week, which is later in the month than usual.

Mrs. Don Johnson, W.A. president, opened the meeting with a hymn, and Mrs. John Mulheron offered prayer. Thanks was expressed for hospitality. The contract for work at the church was read and it was decided to purchase iron railing.

The W.A. is catering for three weddings next month and plans were outlined concerning it.

Mrs. Herbert Smith, vice-president of W.M.S., took charge of the meeting and regretted the absence of the president, who had arranged the program and prepared the meditation on "Understanding."

All sang a hymn and read a psalm responsively. Twelve members answered W.M.S. roll call and the community friendship visits were recorded. Mrs. James Hoard contributed a vocal solo and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver rendered a piano selection. Articles of interest were read by Mrs. Merle Spencer and Mrs. John Mulheron.

The treasurer reported $2.95 for July. The new study book, "Cross and Crisis," and the auxiliary packet, were authorized to be paid for. The offering was gathered by the hostess and dedicated by Mrs. Eric Summers. The next meeting will be held September 11 at the home of Mrs. John Mulheron, fifth concession.

Mrs. Frank Jeffs gave an article on citizenship entitled "Crimes of Youth." Mrs. W. G. Fletcher gave a message on the joy of giving. Mrs. Percy MacMullen, literature secretary of Belleville Presbyterial, introduced the study on Japan. The author of "Cross and Crisis" was a missionary in Japan for many years before World War II and while there he directed the Methodist Publishing House, founded a boys' high school, and engaged in newspaper evangelism.

Japan is composed of four large islands and several score and small islets. A map was displayed. Japan is 180 miles wide and 1,150 miles from north to south, with only 16 percent under cultivation. Every available piece of ground is used for food production.

Japan is not actually starving but her people average only 2,200 calories per day and for millions of Japanese their allowance is much less.

JAPAN'S OPEN DOOR

For the third time in history Japan is wide open to influences from abroad and many are ready to accept the Christian faith. The Church of Christ stresses self support. In 1956 it paid 53 percent from its own funds.

Mrs. MacMullen spoke of the visit of Miss Luella Rocke to Mount Pleasant over 20 years ago and read an article from the book "Missionaries Reporting," which told how the people of a Japanese community were dividing the task of raising money to built a new church at Ozaki. Last year one third of the money needed was at hand.

The Dominion board has eight mission stations in Japan where 23 workers are engaged.

At the close of the service the hostess served refreshments and thanks was expressed for her hospitality.

POLICE CHIEF DROWNS CHILDREN, SUICIDES

Roland Masse, inset, chief of Quebec City's detectives, drowned his three children and himself while several witnesses watched helplessly. He had taken Richard, left, Lisette, centre, and Carole to the river front, then after throwing Richard and Carole into the river, chased Lisette along a dock and, clasping her tightly, jumped into the river. He was known to be worried about a new house he was building.

Head of Syrian Army Disclaims Being Communist

DAMASCUS, Syria (Reuters)—Maj.-Gen. Afif Bizri, new chief-of-staff of the Syrian Army, says he never has been a Communist.

The 43-year-old strong man of Syria said Wednesday in an interview:

"I have never been a Communist, nor am I one now.

"Communism, in the eyes of the West stretches to the extent of including even ardent nationalists.

"The Indian premier, Nehru, himself was once accused by the West of being a Communist.

ARE FORBIDDEN

"I'm not a Communist. Members of the Syrian Army are strictly forbidden from joining any political party whatsoever."

Bizri devoted the major part of his interview to Syria's strained relations with the United States.

He said if the United States offered arms aid unconditionally, Syria would accept.

Bizri denied both that the army is in control of the government and that there are at least 8,500 Soviet technicians and military experts in Syria.

"We haven't got Soviet experts here in thousands — not in hundreds, not in 50s and not even in 20s."

Inquest Rules Man Deranged

QUEBEC (CP) — A verdict of death by drowning during a period of mental derangement was given after a coroner's inquest Wednesday into a dockside tragedy which apparently took four lives Tuesday.

Eyewitnesses told how Roland Masse, 42, captain of city detectives, caught his screaming daughter in his arms Tuesday night and jumped into 60 feet of water from a harbor wharf.

Earlier he had taken his two other children from the house on a trip to the harbor, and apparently drowned them before leaping into the St. Lawrence River with the girl.

WARN CNE

TORONTO (CP)—The RCMP Wednesday warned Toronto police and Canadian National Exhibition officials that two gangs of counterfeiters were apparently headed for the CNE with bundles of bogus U.S. $20 bills.

DEW NOT OBSOLETE

VICTORIA (CP)—North America's radar warning system can and will be modified to meet any new threat, Defence Minister Pearkes said Wednesday. The DEW line, circling Canada's Arctic fringe and put into operation only a month ago, "is not made obsolete by the Russian announcement that it has tested a long-range missile," he said in an interview.

New Causeway Across Lake To Cost $5,000,000 Will Open Large Farming Area

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)— This papermill town's 25-year-old hope of being joined to the Lakehead by highway, has moved a step closer to reality with an announcement that a $5,000,000 causeway will soon be built across Rainy Lake.

A 50-mile road will link the three-mile causeway with Atikokan, Ont., where Highway 130 from the Lakehead now ends and promises to open up a rich farming area bordered on the north and west by the Lake of the Woods, on the east by Rainy Lake, and on the south by the international boundary line.

Premier Frost announced Tuesday that tenders for the causeway project will be called within two weeks and that the causeway and road will be completed as speedily as possible.

A highway linking the Lakehead directly with Fort Frances and the Rainy Lake area in northwestern Ontario's southern tip has been urged by this district since 1924. Only present connection is from Kenora to the north.

GIVES A GOAL

Mayor J. M. Newman of Fort Frances said: "This is big news. The highway announcement gives us a goal to stimulate local business of all kinds. The road will act as a shot in the arm for district agriculture."

Fort Frances, a town of about 9,000, is built on the site of a fort established 300-odd years ago by the French explorer La Verendrye and was once a fur-trading post. It is on the north bank of the Rainy River where it runs out of Rainy Lake.

The highway link will benefit farmers in the rich agricultural belt west of Fort Frances and is expected to open up the potentialities of a district which can produce cattle and grain and is said to be ideal for mixed farming.

The Fort Frances mayor said the highway will provide handy transportation to the growing markets of the iron mining town of Atikokan and the Lakehead ports.

Officials in neighboring International Falls, Minn., said the highway would boost tourist development, providing easy access to Quetico Provincial Park.

Study of the causeway has gone on for the last two years by various companies and government engineers. Rainy Lake will be crossed at its narrowest point, just north of a CNR causeway where there is 7,000 feet of open water and only two intervening islands. About one mile of fill is needed. Water ranges in depth from 15 to 25 feet.

Rocks will come from quarries two miles away. Trucks are expected to be at work hauling and dumping the fill this winter. The western end of the proposed causeway is expected to reach Frances by a well-travelled highway that runs through the Couchiching Indian reserve.

Army Contains Quebec Blaze

ST. HILAIRE, Que. (CP)—The army says it has succeeded in containing a mountain-top fire which raged for a week through bush on Mount St. Hilaire, 20 miles from Montreal on the St. Lawrence River south shore.

Maj. J. M. R. Gendron of the Royal 22nd Regiment, officer commanding the army force of about 400 men brought in to fight the blaze, said Wednesday night that total extinction will depend largely on wind conditions.

The army set up a 5,000-foot water line to a reservoir atop the mountain Wednesday to provide the first continual water supply since the blaze began eight days ago.

Maj. Gendron said the fire was still burning in eight or nine different spots, three of which were "quite fires." The blaze has burned about 300 acres of dense bushland.

Meanwhile, firemen in the Ormstown-Howick district 45 miles southwest of Montreal said danger to two villages has apparently passed. Early Wednesday, the hamlets of St. Antoine and St. Pierre were threatened. The fire destroyed a farmhouse Sunday.

'Bedroom Stories' Throw Confidential Magazine Libel Trial in Tizzy on Coast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Bedroom stories" about Corinne Calvet, Dorothy Dandridge, Frank Sinatra and Alan Dale have thrown the Confidential magazine libel trial into a tizzy.

Other famous movie names are falling like rain as the case moves toward its end.

The prosecutor and a defence witness got into a lively scrap Wednesday afternoon over the question: "What is a 'bedroom story.'"

Prosecutor William L. Ritzi kept trying to establish that Confidential filled its pages with material he said was on a level with "washroom stories" in obscenity.

"Has the magazine always had as many bedroom stories as it does now?" Ritzi asked Albert de Stefano, Confidential's legal adviser.

"What do you mean" de Stefano inquired. "I don't know what a bedroom story is."

by THE WOOND

"Stories like the ones about Sinatra, Dale, Dandridge—that's supposed to have happened some where else, in the woods—like the Calvet stories," Ritzi said.

De Stefano stuck to his contention that he didn't know what Ritzi meant.

Judge Herbert V. Walker called a recess until Friday morning and told Ritzi:

"I'll give you until then to decide on a definition."

The duty's name — dropping reached its height with another mention of producer Mike Todd.

Todd came into the testimony Monday as having confirmed a story for Confidential. He said in New York that he once spoke to a Confidential writer, but only to persuade him to omit certain information.

CLAIMS AID

Not so, testified de Stefano Wednesday. He claimed Todd not only helped with the story but supplied photos of himself and a tag line for the article, which was called "How Mike Todd made a chump out of a movie mogul."

"He (Todd) thought the publicity would help him," de Stefano declared, adding that release of the article would coincide with opening of the Todd movie Around the World in 80 Days.

The article, somewhat less spicy than usual for Confidential, told how Todd helped an unemployed actress by adding a movie boss if she could be borrowed for a play. The tycoon hastily put on another contract. Then Todd announced he had called off the play.

Todd could not be reached in New York Wednesday for further comment.

ROMANCE WITH LADD

Did June Allyson have a romance with Alan Ladd?

That question was brought up by the defence in attempting to support its case for the article. "How long has Dick Powell taken it?" The defence introduced gossip columns and a fan magazine article which alleged Miss Allyson was carrying on with Ladd while both were married to others.

Powell, speaking for himself, and his wife, told reporters from his home that he had no comment. Alan Ladd's wife, Sue Carol, reached at her home, said she was speaking for her husband, in denying that either she or Ladd had seen or heard from Miss Allyson following completion of a film in which Ladd and Miss Allyson appeared several years ago.

Fregocca de Scaffa, whose name has flitted in and out of the record during 12 days of testimony, was in it again Wednesday. De Stefano identified her as the source of stories concerning Robert Mitchum and Miss Calvet.

In Mexico City an interior ministry official said Miss de Scaffa left her hideout in a suburb there Tuesday — hidden in the trunk of a Jaguar car with California license plates — then flew to a border city under an assumed name.

The ministry official said she probably left for the United States, planning to go to New York where, he was informed a wealthy friend has retained a law firm to defend her. She is under indictment in the Confidential case.

Roman Catholic And Orthodox Union Studied

LISLE, Ill. (AP) — Catholic scholars of Eastern and Western cultures assembled today to search for means of eventually uniting 200,000,000 Eastern Orthodox Christians with Rome.

The four days of discussions and ceremonies at the Benedictine Abbey of St. Procopius here form the second Unionistic Congress conducted at the direction of Pope Pius XII. It is a revival of congresses conducted in Czechoslovakia before that country became a Communist satellite.

At the first congress in Lisle last summer the participants reported sufficient interest among both Roman Catholic and Orthodox leaders to warrant a continuance of the talks. But all agreed that years of exploration will be needed before they may hope to mend a breach which has existed for centuries.

The separation of Christians now known as Orthodox from those under the Roman Holy See was a continuing movement extending over hundreds of years. It became final with a papal decree in 1054.

Viewing the picture today, Abbot Ambrose of Oodrak of St. Procopius said:

"We know that defections from the (Roman Catholic) Church have quite frequently been the result of individual, political or social conflicts which had at times only a very indirect bearing on the faith."

He referred to the Eastern schism which grew out of the struggle between Rome and Constantinople and some of their leaders for dominance over the world in the early centuries after Christ.

"Today, for the overwhelming portion, these basically nonreligious differences have ceased to exist, especially for those who have suffered together in the crucible of godless persecution.

"And so the road to unity has once again been made clear for the return of all, and in a special way — the Eastern Christians of Russia, Greece and other lands."

Abbot Ondrak has been given bi-ritual faculties by the Pope. He can perform ceremonies in the Latin rite, to which the great majority of Roman Catholics belong, or in the Byzantine rite, largest of the Eastern rites of Catholics.

Municipal Assoc. Demands Compulsory Car Insurance

BIGWIN INN, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario Municipal Association on Wednesday demanded compulsory automobile insurance for Ontario motorists to combat what it called the ever-increasing number of financially irresponsible drivers who are involving innocent financial loss on others.

The association's annual conference here agreed that the provincial government plan to levy an additional $5 a year on uninsured drivers to augment the Unsatisfied Judgment Fund would further encourage uninsured drivers to stay uninsured.

The association decided against a city of Stratford proposal that the provincial gasoline tax be refunded on fuel used by municipally-owned cars and buses.

Toronto controller W. R. Allen, chairman of the convention resolutions committee, said the convention had already demanded that Queen's Park pay full municipal taxes on provincially-owned land and buildings.

"It seems inconsistent," he said, "to demand full taxes from the province and then say to them 'we won't pay you your taxes.'"

Reeve H. E. Kilman of Pelham Township was elected president of the association.

Five vice - presidents chosen were: S. H. Blake, treasurer of Brant County; George Bukator, reeve of Chippawa; Mrs. Grace Hartman, Sudbury public library board; Mayor J. W. C. Langmuir of Brockville, and Harry Pierce of Branford Parks board.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

Little Benny's Notebook

Us fellows were talking and arguing, and the dog catcher drove past looking for loose dogs, and we all started to jump around making barking noises till he got past and I said, Here comes Reddy Mertz. Oh boy let's tell him somebody was looking for him. We dont have to tell him it was the dog catcher, so he wont have any excuse to get mad and take a sock at us, I said.

Being a swell idea with just enough danger to add to the excitement, and when Reddy came up Pudd Hinkles said, Hay Reddy, somebody was looking for you.

Yeah? Who? Reddy said, and I said, Some man.

He didn't get his name, Glasses Magee said, and Reddy said, What did he look like?

Well he had a kind of a big nose and no mustash, Sid Hunt said, and Skinny Martin said, His ears stuck out a little.

How do you know he was looking for me? Did he say so? Reddy said, and I said, No, we just guessed it.

He looked like somebody would be looking for you, Pods said, and Reddy said, Aw, what's you talking about?

He had a long pole with a net on the end of it, Dopey Shorty Judge said.

Being too big of a hint to be safe, and I quick yelled, Hay, fire engines!

And everybody but Reddy ran up the street yelling Fire, fire, and we went around to the bakery to stay out of danger and injoy the swell smells coming out of the celler windows.

"If we hurry . . ."

They got away early to get ahead of the week-end holiday traffic. Good idea. But getting ahead of the traffic wasn't enough. "If we hurry we can make it to the lake in time for a swim," seemed like a good idea.

Suddenly a panel truck, impatient to pass, and in the wrong lane, swept over a hill at high speed. Both drivers jammed on their brakes . . . but their speeds were too high and it happened so quickly. It was too late to correct mistakes.

The frightening squeal of braked wheels and the harsh sound of tearing metal lasted only a few seconds. Then it was all over—permanently. It just doesn't pay to take chances . . . accident records prove it.

If you are driving this week-end, the Ontario Department of Transport asks you to drive carefully—for your own sake.

Bullet Bob Turley Slams Door Shut On White Sox On Successive Nights

Hurls Dramatic Strikeouts In Ninth Frame of Each Game To Cut off Hopes of Chicago

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bullet Bob Turley, once a strong but wild strikeout artist who fired away and hoped for the best, finally has become a pitcher, a poised and powerful ace who has slammed the door on Chicago White Sox in their bid to overhaul New York Yankees in the American League.

The big righthander has proved himself in the past 10½ months of his ninth major league season —just when the Yankees, hurting with pitching injuries, needed him most.

In that time he has won nine of 11 and has become the major league leader with a 2.41 earned run average.

In the past two nights, with the champs' bullpen spent, he came on in relief and rallied victories with dramatic strikeouts that have changed a three-game showdown into a mow-down.

RESPECTABLE PERFORMANCE

Turley fanned Minnie Minoso with the bases loaded in the eighth inning to preserve Monday's opener. Wednesday night, working with the tying run on third and the winning run on second, Turley sent a called third strike past Sammy Esposito in the ninth for a 5-4 victory that put the Yankees 5½ games ahead of the second-place Sox.

In the other AL games, Boston was tied only two hits by Jim Bunning and Billy Hoeft—but Ted Williams' 30th home run that defeated Detroit 1-0. Baltimore walloped Cleveland 15-4, regardless of Brooks Lawrence, who had lost six straight, won with relief help for a 13-11 record.

Brooklyn Dodgers shuffled the National League standings a bit Wednesday night—but they had to play 14 innings to accomplish it.

The Dodgers moved into second place for the first time since July 24 by edging Chicago Cubs 4-3 while St. Louis Cardinals were slipping to third by losing 3-0 to Pittsburgh.

The Brooklyn - place Milwaukee Braves were clobbered 13-8 by New York, and lead the runner-up Dodgers by seven games. Cincinnati meanwhile gained full charge of fourth place, beating Philadelphia back to fifth with a 5-4 victory.

Ancient Elmer Valo rapped a pinch-single off the right - field scoreboard with two out in the 14th to get the job done for Brooklyn. Ed Roebuck relieved Sandy Koufax in the sixth, and went on to record his sixth win.

Ted Kluszewski hit two singles in his first nine-inning stint in the majors.

CONLEY 1'S VICTIM

The Giants nailed the Braves with eight runs in the third off Gene Conley, now 8-7. Valmy Thomas slipped in a single in the ninth inning to drive home the winning run.

Jacinto Kline, who has won four in a row for a 6-15 mark, made good against the Cards. Hank Sauer and Bill Virdon singled for the winning Pittsburgh run in the 13th off Lindy Jackson, who also allowed six hits.

Wally Post's two-run-12th home run stopped a Cincinnati rally that stood up for the Redlegs. Curt Simmons, 11-8, pitched relief. Lawrence, who had lost six straight, won with relief help for a 13-11 record.

CANADIAN TITLIST AT U.S. TRAP SHOOT

One of the Canadian title winners at the Grand American Trapshooting tournament held at Vandalia, Ohio., was Dick Tobin, right, of Montreal. Tobin, who won the North American preliminary handicap professional title and trophy, is seen here being congratulated by Tom Oliver, of Toronto, president of the Canadian Trapshooting association. Tobin shot a 195 from 20 yards. Over 2,000 trapshooters, including 50 Canadians, competed in the week-long tournament.

No 'Fix'

Commission Rules Charges Made Are Not Substantiated

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario Racing Commission investigating committee has discounted charges that a harness race at Old Woodbine race track Aug. 21 was fixed.

It ruled Wednesday that the charges made by driver Steeve Filion of Montreal Monday after he drew a 60-day suspension for inconsistent driving, were "completely unsubstantiated." It confirmed Filion's suspension but added no new penalty.

Filion, 18, said another driver helped him to the fifth race Aug. 21 when he won with the horse Krimsie, owned by Albert Bertrand of Hull, Que.

"One of the drivers blocked another, which allowed me to win," he said.

He said one driver later told him he had "bet more on me than the other guy and was going to make sure I won." Filion stuck to these charges during the investigation, but said he was upset when he first made them.

UNSUBSTANTIATED

The OHC committee, headed by Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow viewed films and questioned all eight drivers in the race.

"There is no indication that Filion's charges were based on fact," it ruled. "They are completely unsubstantiated."

Filion's suspension came after he drove Professor Mc to victory in a race Monday. Stewards said Filion had not tried to win with the horse in previous races this year.

Professor Mc, owned by Filion's brother, Hughes Filion of Montreal, had never been better than 13 lengths off the pace previous to the winning effort. It was quoted at 8-to-5 odds at post time. The horse was not disqualified because it had won fairly.

PROTECT 12

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Braves Wednesday recalled 12 minor league players to provide protection for a protect from the player draft next winter. They include pitcher Humberto Robinson and catcher Bob Rosselli from Toronto in the International League.

Ticat Quarter Wants Release

HAMILTON (CP) — Little Bob Dawson, one of Hamilton Tiger-Cats' quarterbacks since 1954, has asked the Big Four team for his release.

With two import quarterbacks, coach Jim Trimble can't find a spot for Dawson. The 170-pound former Windsor junior star, with the Tiger-Cats since 1954, gets half pay for sitting out the regular contests, but figures he could better if he went to another team, possibly Montreal.

Hal Krebs, 20-year-old 220-pound offensive lineman cut by Toronto Argonauts, has been picked up by the Ticats.

On the Tracks

NEW YORK (CP)—A Canadian horse, Pink Velvet, hit the wire first at length ahead of Pentagon Stable's Sailic Wednesday, winning the $20,000 Margorie Handicap at Atlantic City.

The victory meant $14,960 for Pink Velvet's owner, Bill Beasley of Toronto.

Pink Velvet has won seven races in Canada, but this win was her first in nine tries in the U.S.

Third in the field of 10 was Mlle. Dianne.

Sailic was leading by five lengths in the stretch when jockey Walter Blum urged Pink Velvet for a final effort which paid off. The winner, a strong favorite, returned $5, $3.60 and $2.90.

Pentagon and There, a 16-to-1 shot, won the $29,500 Alabama Stakes at Saratoga Springs, N.Y. The King Ranch winner paid $34.70, $13.20 and $7.50.

FORT ERIE (CP)—Hathaway, owned by Carr Hatch of Toronto, consolidated his position as the best Canadian-bred two-year-old to run this year when he won the $5,000 Colin Stakes Wednesday by slightly more than six lengths.

It was Hathaway's third win in four starts, and he is likely to go into winter quarters as one of the favorites for next year's running of the Queen's Plate.

Foxy Phil finished second and Tad third.

Form players had one of the greatest days in the history of Ontario racing as seven of the eight winners were favorites. Six of them, Bonnie Style, Norse Lady, Bronze Warrior, Red Rhythm, Hathaway and Paddyshah, paid less than even money. Rose Point was the baster in the fourth race and paid $6.60.

In the fifth race, Bronze Warrior owned by Frank Merrill, equalled the track record of 1:10 3-5 for six furlongs.

TIMGREN TO COACH

TORONTO (CP) — Ray Timgren, former Toronto Maple Leaf player in the National Hockey League, has been named coach of Weston Dukes in the OHA's Metro Junior B League, it was announced Wednesday.

He replaces Gus Kasryn, released to join Whitby Dunlops of the OHA senior A league.

Big Fight Hits Another Snag With New Robinson Demands

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson's defence of his middleweight boxing crown against Carmen Basilio at Yankee Stadium Sept. 23 hit another snag today and apparently was back in the laps of the New York state athletic commission.

The snag, the International Boxing Club said after day-long conferences Wednesday was Robinson's alleged demand for an increase in the theatre television guarantee from $250,000 to $300,000.

The demand, said the IBC in a statement, was made by George Gainford, long associated with Robinson, during a conference between an IBC group and an attorney representing Fabinson, President Jim Norris of the IBC still was in the hospital recovering from an attack of food poisoning.

ROBINSON STATES AWAY

An IBC spokesman said efforts to reach Robinson had been futile but the statement said:

"If this (Gainford's demand for an increase of TV guarantees) is confirmed by Robinson, the IBC will bring an action against Robinson for breach of contract and against Teleprompter and its president, Irving Kahn, for inducing breach of contract."

"In addition the IBC will call these facts before the state athletic commission Thursday for such action as the commission deems proper."

Robinson originally said he would not go ahead with the fight because the IBC had signed a contract for theatre TV rights with Twentieth Century-Fox without his approval. He claimed to have a better offer from Teleprompter.

MET $250,000 FIGURE

Markson said TWC had agreed to match Robinson's demand for a guarantee of $250,000 before Gainford made his statement.

Meantime, word from Robinson's training camp at Greenwood Lake, N.Y., was that the champion plans to resume conditioning Friday. Basilio "is in training at Alexandria Bay, N.Y."

ESKIES DROP COOK

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos Wednesday reduced their lineup to 34 players, releasing Canadian defensive end Rollie Cook, a third-year man with the Western Interprovincial Football Union champions. Cook, 23, played his earlier football with the RCAF in London, Ont.

Goyer's Marines Beat Oshawa 6-2 In Opening Game OASA Playdowns

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Belleville Goyer's Marines took their first step toward the OASA Intermediate "AA" softball championship in Oshawa last night by downing the Motor City A's 6-2.

The second game in their two-of-three series is slated for CNRAA Park here Monday afternoon at 5.45 p.m. Should a third game be necessary it will be played the following Wednesday.

Marines were never threatened in yesterday's affair, building an early 3-0 lead with singletons in the first, fourth and fifth. Oshawa got one back in the bottom of the fifth but threw in the sloth to put the game on ice before the losers netted an unearned mark-er in the ninth.

Lum Carson threw a bag of junk at the A's to keep them off balance over the full nine frames. The veteran scattered eight hits, three of which infield singles. Carson struck out six, mostly on tantalizing slowballs that had the Oshawa batters peaking their bats to connect with nothing but air. He walked only one batter.

Don Mendelsohn was his mound opponent and while he gave up one less hit than Carson, Marines reaped him hard with men on base to produce the necessary scoring punch. Mendilsn fanned four while passing a pair.

Gerry Goyer, batting leadoff for the Marines, reached base on an infield bouncer to open the game and took second when the first baseman threw the ball away. Russell's sacrifice sent him to third and Chuck Kingston's fly ball to left plated the run. Leo Goyer singled sharply to center and scored later on a wild pitch for the second run while a walk, Carson's sacrifice and an error made it 3-0 in Marines' favor.

Oshawa's Bob Boyce and Mcmillan sandwiched around a sacrifice and walk gave Oshawa their lone mark in the last of the fifth. This was the only frame when the A's touched home for more than one safety.

The Marines struck hard and fast in the sixth. Leo Goyer opened with a high shot to centre, Carson sacrificed and Vern Goyer singled, sending Leo to third. Catcher Ralph Green followed with the only extra-base hit of the game, a well tagged homer to deep left field for a 6-1 lead.

The final Oshawa run came when Boyce singled 66 centre and the ball got away from Vern Goyer, allowing the runner to get all the way.

Playing coach Leo Goyer picked up two of the victor's base knocks and scored both times while Johnny Green had his three-run circuit blast. The other singles were divided among Gerry Goyer, Chuck Kingston, Vern Goyer and Wayne Bovay.

Bob Boyce and Sid Arnold each had two hits for Oshawa with the others going to Bill Thompson, Everett Edwards, Al King and Don Mcmillan.

The teams:

Goyer's Marines — G. Goyer, Russell, L. Goyer, Kingston, V. Goyer, Green, St. Denis, Bovay, Carson.

Oshawa — Thompson, Tyson, Edwards, King, Garrard, Boyce, Arnold, Maddock, Mcmillan, Oldfield.

Umpires — Benkowski (P) and Mech, both of Oshawa. Time 1.19.

Marine's	100	113	000	—	6	7	0
Oshawa	000	010	001	—	2	8	3

Switsons Win Third Game From Kerrios

WELLAND (CP) — An 11th-inning double play by Ron Campagne gave Welland Cleveland Switsons a 4-3 victory Wednesday night over Niagara Falls Kerrios in the third game of their best-of-five series for the Niagara District crown. The series stands 2-1 for Kerrios.

It was a pitching duel all the way. Roly Laroche started for Welland, but was relieved in the 10th by winner Jim Lefeune. Laroche gave up only seven hits, struck out 15 and walked five. Niagara's Steve Mesaros lasted nine innings, then retired in favor of Bob Fiveo, the loser.

Switsons took advantage of wildness by Mesaros in the seventh to string together three walks and a single and take a 3-1 lead.

Kerrios scored once in the eighth, and took the lead in the top of the ninth with their final run. Welland tied it in the bottom of the ninth to make way for Campagne's big blow in the 11th.

The teams meet again tonight in Niagara Falls.

ROTH WITH DUNLOPS

STRATFORD (CP) — Mickey Roth, high-scoring centre for the Stratford Indians, has agreed to try out with Whitby Dunlops and if accepted, accompany them to the world championship tournament in Oslo, Norway, in February.

A BIG MOMENT FOR A LITTLE LEAGUER

Twelve-year-old Gordie Howell, of Long Branch, Ont., has a problem. He can't decide which is his greatest thrill, pitching a no-hitter, or meeting Bobby Feller, as seen above. Young Gordie threw perfect pitching ace of the die drew special attention from the ex-Cleveland Indians star when he hurling a perfect no-hit, no-run game just before the latter's arrival at the Little Big League peewee baseball tournament held at the Canadian National Exhibition, in Toronto. Feller came all the way from Texas to be guest speaker at a dinner for 216 youngsters competing in the second annual tourney. Afterwards he put on his old working clothes and showed the youngsters a few of the tricks which kept him in the big leagues for 18 years.

Toronto Leafs Gain Game on Buffalo Bisons

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester manager Cot Deal put a halt to the Red Wings' nine-game losing streak by hurling the International League-leading Buffalo Bisons to six hits Wednesday night.

The Rochester manager, a pitcher-outfielder in the triple-A league for many years, also drove in two runs in Rochester's 4-1 win which kept the Wings in fourth place, one percentage point ahead of Havana. The Cubans edged Richmond Virginians 3-1 in the second game of a scheduled doubleheader. The first game was postponed because of rain.

In the battle for first place, Toronto Maple Leafs moved to within 1½ games of Buffalo by defeating Montreal Royals 4-3. Miami and Columbus were rained out.

COX TAKES LOSS

Deal, who buried the last Red Wing victory on Aug. 21, struck out seven and walked three as he went the route for his ninth victory. Cox, who has permitted only six hits including a home run to Montreal's Tony Lost his fifth in 16 decisions.

Rocky Nelson and Mike Gollat hit back-to-back home runs—the 26th for each—to lead the Toronto attack. The homers accounted for all the Maple Leafs' runs. Humberto Robinson, who allowed the Royals 10 hits, picked up his 16th victory against six defeats. Rene Valdes was tagged with the loss, his ninth in 30 decisions.

A wild pitch by Richmond's Jim Coates with Witty Quintana on third and two out in the seventh gave Havana the victory. Coates and Havana's Jose Santiago had been locked in a tight pitching duel until then.

Eddie Bush Heads Biltmores For Two Years

GUELPH (CP) — Roy Mason, general manager of Guelph Biltmores, announced Wednesday the signing of Eddie Bush as coach of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A entry for the 1957-58 season. Terms of the contract were not disclosed but it is known that Bush received an increase over last season and that the pact was for two years.

Bush will be starting his fourth year as coach of last year's OHA champions and Eastern Canada finalists. His teams have finished no lower than second.

Bush said the Biltmores will "lose a lot of our players this year but with Bruce Gamble back in goal and 68 boys coming into camp to battle for positions, I think we'll have a contender again this year."

Biltmores' training camp is to open here Oct. 7.

Buzzy Wins Cup

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Goodeham of Toronto sailed the Royal Canadian Yacht Club sloop Buzzy III to the North American six-metre class sailing championship with a first place in Wednesday's final race.

Goodeham and his crew finished the three-day championships, sponsored by the RCYC and the Canadian National Exhibition, with two firsts and a fourth for a point total of 45%.

Team races between the United States and Canada start today with four six-metre boats entered by each country.

Sally Merrill Keeps Winnings In Family

FORT ERIE (CP) — When Frank H. Merrill, Jr., Canada's leading trainer of thoroughbreds, has trouble finding a rider who can win, he need only call on his wife, Sally.

She won the Ontario Jockey Club's ninth stable pony race with the Tri-Side Stable's pony, Buggerit between the fifth and sixth races Wednesday. It was a quarter-mile dash.

Married to the Brantford horseman earlier this year, Mrs. Merrill was an outstanding show pony rider and thoroughbred horse-woman around her native Philadelphia before coming to Canada.

The winner received a cheque for $100 and a trophy.

Lincolns Beaten In Sixth Game By Timbermen

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—The Peterborough Timbermen moved into the Ontario senior lacrosse finals Wednesday night with a 14-7 win over Hamilton Lincolns.

They won the Ontario Lacrosse Association best-of-seven semi-finals 4-2 and meet Long Branch Pontiacs Friday.

Bob Curtis sparked the victors with four goals and five assists. Bobby Allen added five assists and Buddy McDougall and Ike Hildebrand two each.

For Hamilton, Jim McNulty scored three goals and Jim McKinnon and Roger Smith two each.

STONE TURNED BACK

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four have advised backfielder Avatus Stone to return to Ottawa Rough Riders after attempts to secure him were unavailing.

Stone played with Ottawa last year, tried out this year with Chicago Cardinals and received permission from Ottawa to try to sign with Montreal. He was cut with Ali after he was cut with Chicago. Ottawa president Jim McCaffrey was quoted as saying he wanted $9,000 for Stone.

Hambletonian Set for DuQuoin Next Two Years

DUQUOIN, Ill. (AP) — The Hambletonian, annual harness racing classic, will be run at the DuQuoin state fairgrounds track for at least the next two years, and possibly longer.

The Hambletonian Society, which already had awarded the event to DuQuoin for next year, approved Wednesday a one-year extension of the contract.

The directors voted Wednesday to seek rule changes limiting the field to 20 horses, so a divisional setup will be unnecessary in future races here.

Columnist Wants Dunlops to Play Reds Five Games

MONTREAL (CP)—Sports columnist Andy O'Brien of the Montreal Star suggests the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association invite Whitby to play against the Russian hockey team for all five games if the Russian exhibition tour materializes.

And Whitby, Allan Cup champions ticketed for the 1958 world hockey champions, should play Russians, European and Canadian rules, says O'Brien.

"In that way we'll learn at least three times as much as the Russians."

The CAHA has said it hopes this winter to sponsor the five-game tour by the Russians, Olympic champions and twice holders of the world crown since they entered competition in 1954. O'Brien says games played under Canadian rules will leave Canadians wondering how Canucks could ever lose to the Russians.

But the European variety—including no direct boarding and body-checking—confined to the team in its own half of the ice—would teach Whitby some of the finesse they would provide Canadian fans with a "fairer deal" on what can be a better and faster game.

Martinez Easy Winner Over Harold Gomes

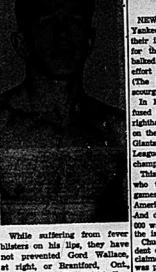
BOSTON (AP)—Isidro Martinez today looked hopefully up the featherweight ladder after confounding veteran Harold Gomes on a southpaw attack.

Martinez, who arrived recently from Panama, won a unanimous 10-round decision over the Providence, R.I., boy Wednesday night by changing from orthodox to lefthanded style near the end of the third round.

Gomes appeared to have Martinez in trouble several times but never could follow through.

Martinez, weighing 129½ to Gomes' 127½, snapped Harold's winning streak at 12 bouts. He has 10-3-1 record to 40-4 for Gomes.

OPTIMISTIC ABOUT TITLE DEFENCE



While suffering from fever blisters on his lips, they have not prevented Cord Wallace, at right, or Brantford, Ont., from boasting. The British Empire cruiserweight champion now in Johannesburg, South Africa, has claimed that the blisters would not change the result of his fight on August 31, with Mike Holt, South African champ, which he proclaims he will win. As equally optimistic, Harry Shepherd, Wallace's trainer, reports the protege in fit condition and an odds-on-favorite to beat the cruiserweight challenger.

Bowling Titles Are Decided

MONTREAL (CP) — Jack Lindford of suburban Lachine Wednesday added his second straight Canadian lawn bowling singles championship.

The 55-year-old veteran will represent Canada in the British Empire Games at Cardiff, Wales, next year along with the doubles' and rinks' champions.

Sandy Houston and George Dewar of Vancouver captured the doubles title and Stirling Shields' Alberta aggregation took the rinks crown for the third successive year.

Sal 'the Barber' May Land With Yankees or White Sox

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees, striving to strengthen their injury-riddled pitching staff for the stretch drive, may be balked for a second time in an effort to obtain Brooklyn's Sal (The Barber) Maglie, one-time scourge of the National League.

In 1955, Cleveland Indians refused to pass on the 40-year-old righthander when he was placed on the waiver list by New York Giants after pacing the National League club to the 1951 and '54 championships.

This time Chicago White Sox, who trail the Yankees by 5½ games, stand in the road of the American League champions. And dollars, more than the $25,000 waiver price, that will decide the issue.

Chuck Comiskey, vice - president of the White Sox, said they claimed Maglie the first time he was placed on the waiver list but the Dodgers withdrew him.

BARGAINING TIME

This time, we let him go through and will bargain for him, Comiskey said.

The Yankees also waived on the Barber at the same time, thus setting up the battle of dollars for a pitcher who hurled a no-hit game for Brooklyn against Philadelphia Phillies last year and compiled a 13-4 record after being obtained from Cleveland after the season was well under way. Maglie is said to be getting a $30,000 salary this year.

"We have made a substantial offer for Maglie and also for Billy Trucks of Kansas City," said Comiskey.

Wants Athletes Given Drug Test

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Herbert Berger, who recently stirred up a controversy with his claims of dangerous abuse by athletes of pep-up pills, said Wednesday he intends suggesting to the American Medical Association that tests be performed on winning athletes to determine whether drugs stimulated their performances.

Dr. Berger, chairman of the committee on narcotic and alcohol addiction of the New York State Medical Society, said methods for such a test—a urinalysis —would follow those already developed by the U.S. Food and Drugs Administration.

The test would be similar in purpose to the saliva test administered winning race horses to detect the possible presence of drugs.

HAMILTON ADVANCES

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Optimist Cardinals defeated Stratford Nationals 5-4 Wednesday night to win the Intercounty junior baseball championships in three straight games.

Vic Rosier, Cardinal's right-fielder, stole third base and then home with the winning run in the eighth after he had walked and advanced to second on a sacrifice.

Doubles Winners at U.S. National Net Tourney

With the American men's doubles championship in their possession, second-seeded Ashley Cooper, at right, and Neale Fraser of Australia, are headed for New York and a shot for a third straight title. "We played the game we wanted and carried the fight to them," said the victorious young Aussies after they defeated U.S. Wimbledon champions Budge Patty and Gardnar Mulloy, 4-6, 6-3, 9-7, 6-3, in a rain-postponed final because of rain at the Longwood Cricket Club at Chestnut Hill, Mass.

In the ladies' event the story was the same as Wimbledon champions Althea Gibson and Darlene Hard were downed by the team of Mrs. Margaret [illegible] Connolly, Dallas, Tex., and Louise Brough, of Beverly Hills, Calif., seen here with their trophies. Slated as good choice to dethrone the defenders, the Wimbledon winners went down, instead, rather easily, 6-3, 7-5. It marked the 12th national doubles win for the veterans.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The tendency to avoid minor suit games has cost bridge players more points than they could possibly count. A typical example is in this world championship deal number 15f:

	NORTH
	♠A 9 7 6
	♥A Q 3
	♦2
	♣A 8 6 4 3
WEST		EAST
♠J 10 4 3 2		♠K Q 8
♥9 7 4 2		♥K 10 5
♦J 9 7 5		♦K Q J 10 8 3
♣J		♣7
	SOUTH
	♠J 5
	♥8 6
	♦A 6 4
	♣K Q 10 9 5 2

As you can now see, small slam in club's is there. Of course the slam depends on the hand's finesse being successful. But game in clubs is an absolute cinch without anything but the simplest play.

The bidding in room one went like this:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 C	2 D	2 NT
Pass	3 NT	All Pass

Opening lead from west was a diamond and three no-trump rolled in with six solid clubs and the three aces. There was, it seems unnecessary to reach for game in clubs. But 12 tricks would pay more.

Where the necessity for knowing what clubs would do came up was in room two where the bidding went like this:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 C	1 D	1 NT
Pass	2 S	3 D	3 NT
Pass	4 D	All Pass

The doubled four diamond contract was defeated two tricks and this was less than game in clubs would have gained. Therefore, avoiding or lacking knowledge of minor game was costly.

If south and north had known a club game was easy, letting the opponents take a cheap sacrifice would not have been necessary. And this happens among masters too often to be funny.

Of course, south has the excuse that his partner opens with a club when he does not have a true club suit. If so, they should learn a way to tell when this is so. Or demote them-selves.

Colorful Aussie Team Tackles Atkins, Erich Here Friday Night

When Roy Heffernan and Al Costello, the fabulous Kangaroos from Australia, tackle Fritz von Erich and his buddy Fred Atkins in Friday night's main event here, they will be meeting together Australian who has left his mark on the wrestling world.

Freddie Atkins in fact has left his mark on plenty of wrestlers and the hard-rock from down under will be out to do just that against his fellow countrymen Friday evening. In Erigh, Atkins will have a partner who like himself has but one aim in life, to clobber the daylights out of any man who dares oppose him inside the squared circle.

It is very likely that Atkins has met Heffernan and Costello in previous matches, probably before any of the three set foot on fore any of the three set foot on fore any of the three set foot on fore

Find Unmarried Mothers Not Now Made Outcasts

LONDON (AP) — The unmarried mother is no longer automatically regarded as a "ruined" woman and a social outcast, British welfare workers reported today.

"There seem to be encouraging signs of increased public awareness of the deep-rooted causes of illegitimacy," said the annual report of the National Council for the Unmarried Mother and Her Child.

The council, a voluntary organization, exists to aid unmarried girls who become pregnant. Its report said:

"The baby born out of wedlock is beginning to be regarded as a sign of symptom of mental weakness or emotional maladjustment, the result of an unhappy childhood leading to loneliness and lack of interests in adolescent life."

NEW REASON FOR NOT SEEING CHINA

Permitted by their own government to go to China, U.S. newsmen hear the frustrating news from a state department official in Washington that now it is China that will not allow them to enter. The Red government had extended invitations to Western newsmen until the ban on travel was lifted by the U.S. government.

MADOC JUNCTION

Sixty Parents, Friends Atten D.V.B.S. Closing

MADOC JUNCTION — On Friday evening some 60 parents, friends and Sunday school workers gathered at Elzeton United Church to enjoy the program presented by the children and young people who had attended vacation school here during the past week.

The vacation school teacher, Miss Bolles, presided and opened the program with the hymn, "For the Beauty of the Earth" with Mr. Thomas Bridges at the piano.

Three pupils, Sammy Danford holding the Union Jack, Ivan Reide holding the Christian flag and Glenn Stapley, holding an open Bible, took part in presenting "The Pledge."

Following this was a chorus by all the pupils, "Let's Talk about Jesus," with Miss Joanne Reide as pianist.

Selected portions of Scripture verses from the gospel of St. John were then repeated in unison.

Miss Bolles introduced Miss Muriel Craig from Belleville who showed several interesting colored slides of places where she had conducted vacation school classes.

The offering was gathered by Sheila Clarke and Ivan Reide and dedicated with singing, "We Give Thee but Thine Own."

A guitar duet, "The Old Rugged Cross," played by Joanne Reide and Allen Reide, was greatly enjoyed.

AWARDS PRESENTED

At this time Miss Bolles presented small awards to those with perfect attendance during the week; to those who had completed the memory selections perfectly and to those who had brought another pupil to the classes.

Mrs. W. Harlow, superintendent of Eggleton Sunday School, on behalf of all present, and the Sunday School here, moved a vote of thanks to Miss Bolles for her work in this community; to Miss Muriel Craig for the films she had shown, and to Mrs. Bruce Stapley and Mrs. Carl Bridges for entertaining Miss Bolles in their homes during the week.

Miss Bolles remarked on the display of plaques and art at the back of the church and invited everyone to view the work done by the pupils.

The meeting closed with prayer by Miss Craig.

Later, all were requested to go outdoors, where a circle was formed about a glowing campfire. Everyone joined in the singing of several favorite choruses.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and cookies, with orangeade, were then served by the ladies.

Hitler's Rocket Plan Said 'Bible' For Reds' Missile

German Scientists Certain Captured Blueprints Used

HAMBURG (Reuters) — German scientists who were forced to work on Soviet missile projects after the war say there is no doubt the Russians have succeeded in firing an intercontinental missile and hitting it on the target area, the newspaper Die Welt says.

The newspaper says the missile could better be described more as a "rocket bomber" than a pure ballistic missile. It was developed from a secret German Project A-9 for an intercontinental missile which was to have reached the United States in the last days of Hitler's war.

Instead, the Russians captured the plan and used it "like a Bible."

Die Welt says that only the first stage of the three-stage missile consists of a pure rocket thrust.

The second stage, on the other hand, was driven by means of a ram jet. The third stage of the Soviet rocket is the flight of the warhead which, before re-entry into the earth's atmosphere, after the whole missile has flown through space, is blown off.

"According to our information this warhead is fitted with a glider-like wing and is steered on a "cruising motor" so that the missile approaching its target does not "burn" in the earth's dense atmosphere."

Howe Named First Chancellor For Dalhousie

HALIFAX (CP)—Former trade minister C. D. Howe was appointed Dalhousie University's first chancellor Thursday night.

University president Dr. A. E. Kerr, announcing the appointment after a board of governors meeting, said, "I am delighted with the board's decision and particularly with its choice of Mr. Howe.

"We are convinced that such a chancellor can render signal service to the university."

Mr. Howe left the United States to become a professor of civil engineering at Dalhousie.

Mr. Howe, who is spending the summer at his residence in St. Andrews, N.B., was informed of the board's action and wish, and gave his consent.

CONVINCED HIM

Mr. Howe said: "My five years at Dalhousie left me with no doubt that Canada was for me a land of opportunity. Before I left Halifax for Western Canada (Port Arthur) I filed an application for Canadian citizenship."

Labor Minister Says Legislation To Be Reviewed

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal labor legislation is being reviewed with an eye on more effective application, Labor Minister Michael Starr said Thursday.

The new minister, in his first Labor Day message to the public, said this applies particularly to idle code that regulates industrial relations for some 800,000 workers under federal jurisdiction.

Mr. Starr also said that the Progressive Conservative government intends to see that organized labor is adequately represented on governmental boards dealing with matters of direct interest to labor.

"Organized labor has reached a degree of maturity and strength which entitles it to consideration in all matters affecting those for whom it speaks," he said.

Mr. Starr also said some programs of his department are well intentioned, and new ones will undoubtedly be introduced.

"Such programs as the difficulty of people past 40 getting employment, rehabilitation and employment of the disabled, discrimination in employment because of race, color or religion and unemployment resulting from cold weather have concerned me . . . for some years now."

French Claim Algiers Rebels Wiped Out

ALGIERS (Reuters) — French military authorities here claimed Thursday night to have forestalled a campaign of bomb and sabotage by rebels that they have virtually wiped out the insurgent leadership in the city.

A spokesman for the army and the security forces told a press conference that the Algiers organization of the National Liberation Front, the main terrorist leadership in Algiers, had been almost entirely destroyed.

Ten out of three military chiefs and two out of three political chiefs in Algiers have been rounded up, and Debih Cherif, a leading [illegible] "political commissar," had been killed last Monday in the Casbah.

Officials Close Opening Show

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — CBC star Ring Lardner took refuge in a police paddy wagon Thursday night as a surging crowd of more than 17,000 persons brought an end to celebrations marking the opening of the London Garden show parking building.

Shortly after the Country Hoedown show began, auxiliary police began calling for reinforcements.

The heat in the low-ceilinged building was stifling. At least 15 persons were overcome and police feared there would be serious injuries from heat prostration and a crush.

Officials closed the show 35 minutes after it started as Lardner headed for the paddy wagon.

Union Jack Lowered for Last Time, Tomorrow Malaya Hoists Own Flag

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters) — British flags came down tonight for the last time as Malaya heralded the beginning of its independence.

The actual transfer of sovereignty from Britain to Malaya will take place Saturday when the Duke of Gloucester, here as a representative of Queen Elizabeth, turns over an instrument of transfer of power to Tunku (prince) Abdul Rahman, the new prime minister.

In Georgetown, on the isle of Penang, the Union Jack came down for a bugler sounded the last post and a guard of honor presented arms for the last time. The ceremony marked the end of 177 years of British rule in the settlement.

At a ceremony in Malacca, 460 miles south, European rule was ended when a fanfare of trumpets sounded and the Union Jack was lowered.

The new Malay flag, with 11 red and white stripes, a golden crescent and a golden star, began fluttering over the 600-mile-long peninsula. Messages of congratulations on its new independence flowed into the country.

GOVT. PROPOSES CASH ADVANCES ON STORED WHEAT

Prairie Farmers Get Lift From P.M.

OTTAWA (CP)—Huge amounts of federal cash may roll out to hard-pressed Prairie farmers this fall if Parliament agrees to a Progressive Conservative government proposal to provide producers with cash advances for farm-stored wheat.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced Thursday after a cabinet meeting he will press ahead with his election promise to grant farmers advance payments on the grain they find difficult to sell.

He said he will bring his cash advances proposal before Parliament soon after it opens Oct. 14.

Meanwhile, he renewed the old system of government - guaranteed loans with farm-stored grain as security. The interest rate at five per cent despite the general rise in rates in the last months.

NOT FINAL ANSWER

Emphasizing that Canada has a huge wheat surplus to be disposed of as quickly as possible Mr. Diefenbaker said he is aware that provision of bank loans does not meet all the problems of the prairie economy.

But he was proclaiming the bank loans legislation as a "stop gap measure" to help farmers get their hands on some needed money until Parliament can act."

And realising that "the disposal of these surplus stocks of grain is a problem of major importance for the entire Canadian economy," he set up a three-man cabinet committee to consider all proposals relating to an "accelerated sales program."

Three Men Beat Employee, Steal $1,000

TORONTO (CP) — Three men beat an employee of the Federal Tobacco Company Limited over the head early today as they robbed the company safe of $1,000 in cash.

Police chief Nicholas Niskimura, 31, told police he was hit over the head with a gun by one of the trio, two of whom were masked. Niskimura suffered head cuts.

Only two other employees were in the office when the three men, who had entered with the burglar alarm was off, entered the building. They fled on foot.

Police said the men followed accountant Andrew Marco inside and locked him and another employee in a back room. When Niskimura arrived they put a gun in his back, dragged him up a flight of stairs and ordered him to open the safe.

They crammed the bills into a shopping bag and ripped the telephones from the walls before departing.

Diefenbaker Hopes Russia Will Have Second Thoughts About 'Open Skies' Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker has expressed the hope Russia will have second thoughts about her rejection of a Western disarmament proposal that would have opened East-West skies for inspection purposes.

Mr. Diefenbaker, who as government leader and Canada's external affairs minister made two statements on the matter Thursday, said he regrets Russia has "seen fit to disallow" the proposal. He hopes the U.S.S.R. will revise its attitude.

Included in the proposal was an offer by Canada to open the skies over the whole of her territory if Russia would do the same in the interests of disarmament and world peace.

The package deal suggested disarmament talks by Russia. The first was capable of immediate application, without political negotiation. Implicit in the talks would have had to precede the latter phase.

In the first stage, described by Mr. Diefenbaker as "a significant step towards disarmament," the armed forces of Russia and the U.S. would each be cut to 2,500,000. Those of British and France would fall to 750,000 men.

Certain armaments would be placed under international supervision in depots within each of those same countries' territory.

In the later stages "the arms retained would be related to the reduced manpower ceilings," the prime minister said.

On nuclear weapons the first stage would be to suspend tests for one year and prohibit the use of such weapons except in defence against armed attack.

Canada's aerial inspection offer, her major contribution to the disarmament scheme, gave Russia alternatives.

The first included every bit of Canada's territory, all the continental United States, Alaska and the Aleutian islands, and all the Soviet Union.

The second would see Russians reject the first, was to open up the Arctic areas of Canada, U.S., Denmark's Greenland, Norway and the Soviet Union.

The Arctic area in territory of Canada, the U.S. and Russia bounded by 140 degrees west longitude would be opened.

To Canada that meant, besides the Arctic areas, a 50-mile-wide sliver of the Yukon Territory.

DRUGGISTS FACE COURT ACTION ON BARBITURATES

No Evidence Stores Trafficking in Drugs

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Dr. C. A. Morrell of the federal health department says 127 drug stores will be charged with selling restricted barbiturates and tranquilizer drugs without a doctor's prescription.

Dr. Morrell told the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police convention yesterday there was no evidence the stores were trafficking in drugs.

He said inspectors from the department of health and welfare visited about 2,300 stores and asked for barbiturates or tranquillizers. Five per cent of the stores sold the drugs over the counter, 95 per cent say where the stores are located.

SECOND VISIT

Wherever a sale was made there was a second visit. On the second visit 50 per cent of those which sold drugs in the first instance sold them again, Dr. Morrell said.

CAUGHT LOAFING

OSTRAVA, Czechoslovakia (Reuters) — A Slovak miner, Jaroslav Newmeesk, has received a four-month jail sentence in absenteeism in a campaign against a wave of malingering said to be sweeping Czechoslovakia. Newmeesk was charged with "parasitism," a new type of offence introduced into the Czechoslovak penal code this year.

Technological Advances Seen in Transportation

OTTAWA (CP) — Major technological advances in Canadian transportation over the next 25 years are predicted in a study issued today by the Gordon royal commission on Canada's economic prospects.

"It is doubtful whether any new forms of transportation will reach the stage of sales possibility in the first commercial use in water transport.

"When it does, the effect should be reduction in overhead costs and elimination of the weight of fuel, thus enhancing the efficiency of water transportation."

The study was prepared for the commission by Jean C. Lessard, former deputy transport minister, and Vincent Greenfield of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority. When he filed it in July 1956, he was an executive of a farm making railroad equipment.

For the railways, Mr. Lessard envisaged the long-range possibility of steam-powered locomotives, but said this was in the realm of pure conjecture.

There might be future possibilities in the coal-fired gas turbine engine for railways. Scientists had forecast that in a very few years it would be an actuality.

For public transportation in cities, the elevated monrail could very well provide a radical solution to the problems of rapid mass transit. It costs much less than subways.

Avro to Make Formal Offer To Shareholders

TORONTO (CP)—An offer to buy a controlling interest in the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation is to be mailed to the corporation's shareholders today by A. Roy Ross Limited.

Avro president A. Crawford Gordon announced this Thursday after Avro shareholders voted unanimously to approve the creation of an extra 2,500,000 shares of common stock to finance the venture.

He said he doubted if Dosco shareholders would oppose the change of control.

Personally represented at the meeting were 1,000,000 of the 5,000,000 Avro common shares. Proxy votes were cast on behalf of the owners of 4,119,711 common shares.

The vote permits Avro to increase its authorized common shares to 10,000,000 from 7,500,000.

The Hawker Siddeley Group Limited of England holds 4,000,000—83 per cent—of the authorized common shares that Avro has actually issued to date.

Some of Dosco's directors and officers of Nova Scotia have opposed Avro's plan to buy not less than 1,600,000 Dosco shares—representing 32-per-cent control.

Director R. A. Jodfrey of Hantsport, N.S., has termed the offer "nothing but a scientific steal."

He said it would work against the interests of the Maritimes, where major Dosco operations are located.

Stassen Hurries Home After Reds Reject Arms Plan

Still Clings to Conviction There Is Hope for Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen's hurry-up flight from London signalled the opening today of urgent top-level Washington conferences on the developing crisis in disarmament negotiations between the West and Russia.

The American delegate had planned to return this weekend for personal reasons and to confer with officials. But he suddenly moved his trip by 24 hours in order to reach Washington this morning for a quick meeting with State Secretary Dulles. He is also expected to meet with President Eisenhower and other officials.

As far as Washington authorities know, he plans to get back to London for a United Nations disarmament sub - committee meeting Tuesday.

Stassen was reported still clinging to hope that something might yet be salvaged from the long series of disarmament exchanges between Russia and the Western powers—the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

He was described as unwilling to reach a "no hope" conclusion before further talks with Soviet negotiator Jules Moch.

OUT-OF-HAND REJECTION

In London, Zorin rejected out of hand an 11-point Western disarmament package during the first two months of talks.

Wife to Visit With Husband In Hospital

SOUTHAMPTON (CP) — Mrs. Margaret Pitt of Glasgow, wife of a policeman seriously wounded last Saturday in Moorisburg, Ont., is on her way to her husband's bedside.

Mrs. Pitt, 33, sailed for Montreal Thursday night aboard the Polish liner Batory, making its first trip to North America in six years. She was accompanied by her two sons, Ronald, 7, and Ian, 5.

Mrs. Pitt's husband, Ronald, a former Glasgow policeman, was engaged to Canada last June. He got a job as a police constable in Moorisburg, where he was struck down by gunmen's bullets. He is in hospital in Montreal.

WAGES UP

LONDON (Reuters)—The British working man is earning more than £13 a week on the average time, the ministry of labor announced Thursday night. His average weekly wage packet is £12 6d, including overtime and bonuses, but after stoppages and deductions — more than double his salary 10 years ago. The drift of unemployment is 2.1%, but this is not a true value in terms of domestic spending power.

Clings to Conviction There Is Hope for Accord

LONDON (AP)—Russia formed today to walk out of the United Nations disarmament subcommittee, declaring that further talks would be "effort-wasting."

After five months of negotiations, the bargaining machinery set up by the UN General Assembly to work out a first-stage disarmament agreement appeared on the verge of collapse.

The next move appeared to be up to Moscow.

The Soviet rejection Thursday of four compromise Western "package plan" for suspending nuclear testing and cutting armed forces came as somewhat of a surprise to many circles.

But Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin did not resort to the usual tactic of asking for time to consult Moscow.

PRAVDA COMMENTS

Moscow's Communist party organ, Pravda, meanwhile declares:

"The work of the subcommittee actually amounts to effort-wasting."

The Pravda editorial, broadcast by Moscow radio, indicates the Soviet Union will continue a new bargaining setup.

It suggests the Soviet Union," says Pravda, "the subcommittee is composed of countries whose views are close on questions of disarmament.

"These countries — the U.S.A., Britain, France and Canada — play a leading part in the aggressive North Atlantic bloc. At the same time entire continents — Asia, Africa and Latin America — are not represented."

NO TIME FOR STUDY

The Russian attack fast in rejecting the Western "package plan" without giving time for the world to analyze the proposals.

The Communists—like the Russians and Red China—were quick to pin the blame on the U.S. for the failure of the talks, obviously in a bid for world opinion.

A Peiping radio commentator said: "The proceedings of the disarmament subcommittee show that the West is unwilling to take any practical steps to reach agreement."

"The United States therefore cannot evade responsibility for the failure of the talks."

Egypt Uncovers Commist Plot

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egyptian counter-intelligence organization and arrested 18 alleged members, the newspaper Al Ahram reports.

The newspaper says those arrested included two women and a journalist. Four were students. A Communist cell had operated underground, distributing propaganda pamphlets.

Among the persons belonged to a secret organization called The Communist Party of Egypt, which had existed at the time of the present social regime, the paper says.

The state prosecutor has decided the Communists should be tried by a military court.

Woman Suspended in Air Does Not Cause Ripple at Magic Week

NILES, Mich. (AP) — A blonde suspended in air or a brunette seemingly sawed in halves on Main Street probably wouldn't cause a ripple of excitement today in this southwestern Michigan city of 15,000.

This is Magic Week in Niles, home of Harry Abbott's 24th annual magicians' get-together. He runs the nearby Abbott Magic Company, only firm in the world devoted exclusively to the manufacture of tricks used by professional and top-flight amateur magicians.

Almost 200 modern-day sorcerers have gathered for the week-long show.

The visiting magicians spend their time learning new tricks and entertaining the natives with off-the-cuff shows on street corners, restaurants or anywhere there is a gathering.

Waitresses have seen dishes disappear. Small boys have watched enchanted as the visitors entertained with sleight-of-hand.

Thursday, an escape artist was shackled, placed in a sealed wooden box and dumped into the murky St. Joseph River. Naturally he escaped.

The artists of legerdemain include Neil Foster, world - record manipulator who performed during Queen Elizabeth's Canadian visit; Harold Voss of Tarboro, whose hands have performed most of the magic for stars in recent movies.

But the ranks also include the beginners.

Among these are a Lafayette, Ind., dentist who helps relieve the pain of drilling for cavities in young patients with sleight-of-hand. Another is Charles Toepke of San Francisco, a beer salesman who credits a well-filled bag of tricks with much of his "door opening" success.

At left—a dozen of the magicians are ordained ministers.

On nuclear weapons the first stage would be to suspend tests for one year and prohibit the use of such weapons except in defence against armed attack.

Canada's serial - inspection offer, her major contribution to the disarmament scheme, gave Russia alternatives.

The first included every bit of Canada's territory, all the continental U.S. including Alaska and the Aleutian islands, and all the Soviet Union.

The second, should the Russians reject the first, was to open up the Arctic areas of Canada, the U.S., Denmark's Greenland, Norway and the Soviet Union.

In addition the territory of Canada, the U.S. and Russia bounded by 140 degrees west longitude would be opened.

To Canada that meant, besides the Arctic areas, a 10-mile-wide sliver of the Yukon Territory.

Technological Advances Seen in Transportation

OTTAWA (CP) — Major technological advances in Canadian transportation over the next 25 years are predicted in a study issued today by the Gordon royal commission on Canada's economic prospects.

"It is doubtful whether any new forms of transportation will have a significant impact on the overall economy," the study said, "but much great efficiency from those now in operation is a certainty."

Nor was there any likelihood of applying atomic energy to commercial use in transportation during the next quarter-century. It eventually would probably find its first commercial use in water transport.

"When it does, the effect should be reduction in machinery weights and elimination of the weight of fuel, thus enhancing the efficiency of water transportation."

The study was prepared for the commission by Jean C. Lessard, former deputy transport minister, and Alexander Prestwich of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority. When he died in July, 1956, he was an executive of a firm making railroad equipment.

For the railways, Mr. Lessard envisaged the long-range possibility of atomic-powered locomotives, but said this was in the realm of pure conjecture.

There might be future possibilities in the coal-fired gas turbine engine for railways. Lessard's hac forecast that in a very few years it would be an actuality.

For public transportation in cities, the elevated monrail could very well provide a radical solution to the problems of rapid mass transit. It costs much less than subways.

DRUGGISTS FACE COURT ACTION ON BARBITURATES

No Evidence Stores Trafficking in Drugs

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Dr. C. A. Morrell of the federal health department says 127 drug stores will be charged with selling restricted barbiturates and tranquilizer drugs without a doctor's prescription.

Dr. Morrell told the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police convention yesterday there was no evidence the stores were trafficking in drugs.

He said inspectors from the department of health and welfare visited about 2,300 stores and asked for barbiturates or tranquilizers. Five per cent of the stores sold the drugs over the counter. He did not say where the stores are located.

SECOND VISIT

Wherever a sale was made there was a second visit. On the second visit 98 per cent of those which sold drugs in the first instance sold them again, Dr. Morrell said.

Avro to Make Formal Offer To Shareholders

TORONTO (CP)—An offer to buy a controlling interest in the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation is to be mailed to the corporation's shareholders today by A. V. Roe Canada Limited.

Avro president A. Crawford Gordon announced this Thursday after Avro shareholders voted unanimously to approve the creation of an extra 2,500,000 shares of common stock to finance the purchase.

He said he doubted if Dosco shareholders would oppose the change of control.

Personally represented at the meeting were holders of 60% of Avro common shares. Proxy forms on behalf of the owners of 4,119,711 common shares.

The vote permits Avro to increase its authorized common shares to 10,000,000 from 7,500,000.

The Hawker Siddeley Group Limited of England holds 4,000,000—53 per cent—of the authorized common shares that Avro has actually issued to date.

Some of Dosco's directors and officers of Nova Scotia have opposed Avro's plan to buy not less than 1,650,000 Dosco shares—representing 33-per-cent control.

Director R. A. Jodrey of Hantsport, N.S., has termed the offer "nothing but a scientific steal."

He said it would work against the interests of the Maritimes, where major Dosco operations are located.

Woman Suspended in Air Does Not Cause Ripple at Magic Week

NILES, Mich. (AP) — A blonde suspended in air or a brunette seemingly in halves at Main Street probably wouldn't cause a ripple of excitement today. But this southwestern Michigan city of 15,000.

This is Magic Week in Niles, the home of Abbott's 58th annual magicians' get-together. Abbott's Magic Manufacturing Company, only firm in the world devoted exclusively to the manufacture of paraphernalia for professional and top-flight amateur magicians.

Almost 200 modern-day sorcerers have gathered for the week-long show.

The visiting magicians spend their time learning new tricks and entertaining the natives with off-the-cuff shows on street corners, restaurants or anywhere there is a gathering.

Waitresses have seen dishes disappear. Small boys have watched enchanted as the visitors entertained with sleight-of-hand.

Thursday, an escape artist was shackled, placed in a sealed wooden box and lowered into the murky St. Joseph River. Naturally, he emerged.

The artists of legerdemain include Neil Foster, world - renowned manipulator who performed during Queen Elizabeth's Coronation visit to Canada, and Terbune, whose hands have performed some of the magic for stars in recent movies.

But the ranks also include the "just magicians."

Among these are a Lafayette, Ind., dentist who helps relieve the pain of drilling for cavities in young patients with sleight-of-hand. Another is Charles Tostado of San Francisco, a beer salesman who credits a well-filled bag of tricks with much of his "door opening" success.

At least a dozen of the magicians are ordained ministers.

Stassen Hurries Home After Reds Reject Arms Plan

Still Clings to Conviction There Is Hope for Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen's hurry-up flight from London signalled the opening today of urgent top-level Washington conferences on the developing crisis in disarmament negotiations between the West and Russia.

The American delegate had planned to remain in London for personal reasons and to consult with officials. But he suddenly moved up his trip by 24 hours in order to reach Washington this morning for a quick meeting with State Secretary Dulles. He is also expected to meet with President Eisenhower and other officials.

As far as Washington authorities know, he plans to get back to London for a United Nations disarmament sub - committee meeting Tuesday.

Stassen was reported still clinging to hope that something might yet be salvaged from the long series of disarmament exchanges between Russia and the Western powers—the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

He was reported also unwilling to reach a "no hope" conclusion before further talks with Soviet negotiator Valerian A. Zorin next week.

OUT-OF-HAND REJECTION

In London, Zorin rejected out of hand an 11-point Western disarmament package Thursday. Hours after the Soviet rejection, the Western plan had been presented in plenary session during the five months of talks.

But the real spendable is £8.81, but this is not a true valle in terms of domestic spending power.

Egypt Uncovers Communist Plot

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egyptian Communists planned armed revolution and arrested 18 alleged members, the newspaper Al Ahram reports.

The newspaper says those arrested included army officers and a journalist. Four were students. A Communist cell had operated underground, distributing propaganda pamphlets.

Investigations of persons belonged to a secret organization called The Communist Party of Egypt, which aimed at overthrowing the present social regime, the paper says.

The state prosecutor has decided the Communists should be tried by a military court.

Sports, Field Day Closes Activities at Playgrounds, Miss Penny Carnival Chosen

A full summer's activity on city playgrounds was brought to a close Thursday with over 1,000 kiddies attending a sports and field day at the East Belleville Playground.

The closing out field day was an all-day affair, getting underway in the morning and continuing throughout the afternoon with prizes and trophies being handed out in the evening.

An 11 percent increase in total enrolment at the Belleville Collegiate and the Quinte Secondary School is expected when the fall school terms opens on Tuesday next, it was indicated today by B.C.I. principal Arnold Orr, and Quinte Secondary Principal Lorne Reid. Biggest percentage of the expected increased enrolment is at Quinte where a new school wing is now being completed.

Enrolment at St. Michael's is also expected to be up, while in the city public schools only 30 pupils over last year's enrolment are expected.

At Belleville Collegiate between 1,150 and 1,170 students are expected, or an increase of about 78 over last year's registration of 1078.

"We will accommodate them all but we will have to use all the space we have," Mr. Orr said.

Over at Quinte Secondary School, Principal Reid said about 600 students were expected as against the 538 last year.

"An increased rural population and the opening of a grade 13 class" accounts for the jump in enrolment, Mr. Reid said.

In the city's public schools an enrolment of 7,670's expected up only slightly from last year's 7,640.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — All classes and grades of cattle generally sold at steady prices here this week. Replacement of cattle sold slowly at prices largely steady to $1 a hundredweight lower.

Calf prices were $2 to $3 under demand much better for all classes and grades, especially good and choice vealers dropped $2.50 to $2.35 a hundredweight at the close, following previous gains of $5-$6 cents a hundredweight during the week. Lambs were reported steady to $1 lower and sheep prices unchanged. Buyers continued to sort carefully.

Cattle receipts were about 500 head under last week, dropping by about 2,700 head from the same week last year. Receipts from Western Canada—at 894— were slightly more than half those of last week. Stock calves numbered 29 head, compared with 180 last week. No shipments were reported to Eastern Canadian slaughterers, but two carloads were shipped to the U.S.

Trading conditions at this centre were improved in contrast to the previous week's floundering session. The higher percentages of good and choice killers, suited in considerably greater weight weights. Although no price changes were noted, the overall feeling was better.

Common, medium and low-good steers and heifers were too numerous to be accounted for daily trading. However, nearly all were sold by the week's close. Fed cattle receipts totalled 1,200 head and at firm prices while cow numbers were comparable to last week at steady prices. Bulls were reported unchanged.

In 1930 Mr. Kimber went to the London Advertiser as general manager and six years later became general manager of The Globe, remaining in that position, when the paper was merged in 1936 with The Mail and Empire. He was appointed assistant publisher in 1950 and president and publisher in 1952.

Mr. Dalgleish, born in New Liskeard, spent his youth in Moose Jaw, Sask. He came to the University of Toronto in 1927 to study economics and finance but before completing the course went into newspaper work.

Crowds at CNE To See Campbell And Bluebird

TORONTO (CP)—World water speed champion Donald Campbell will pilot his jet-powered racing boat Bluebird in demonstration runs behind the Canadian National Exhibition breakwater this afternoon.

Campbell's last-minute decision to make the runs came after he had previously cancelled the suggested performance because he found the lake unsuitable for the craft's high speeds.

Champion Holder would not try to push Bluebird anywhere near the world record of 403.1 mph he set on Lake Coniston in England last summer, but would "go as fast as conditions permit." The sheltered course is slightly more than a mile long.

Bluebird is on display at the CNE to help Campbell recoup some of the expenses incurred in bringing the boat to this country. It is an unsuccessful attempt to break his own record at Canadian calgua Lake, N.Y., last month.

WATER FAIR OPENS

The CNE inaugurates its new water fair today. Between 400 and 500 craft were expected to participate in sailing and motorboat races while visits were scheduled from Canadian and United States navy ships.

A fireworks display was shown opened Thursday with the start of judging.

Spring Farm Fond Pelle, owned by J. M. Fraser of Streetsville, and S. Wilfred Leslie of Georgetown, was named grand champion Holstein bull. Grand champion Guernsey bull was Brookhill D. R. Defender, owned by Henry Hoover, Ajax.

It was music and arts day and bands of troubadours, dressed in folk and period costumes, roamed the grounds. A madrigal group from St. Catharines performed 15th and 16th century choral work.

Eight-nine-year-old Tom Saunders of Guelph wielded a livestock axe as finalist performed in an old-time fiddling contest.

Attendance was 91,500, compared with 183,500 on the corresponding day last year.

DANGEROUS PIPELINE

KUNSAN, South Korea (AP)— Jet fuel flashed from an inoperative American pipeline caught fire and ignited a Korean house Thursday, killing two children and injuring two others. A small amount of the fuel, which had been in the line for some time, also injured two Korean men and a nearby United States air base. How it caught fire was not disclosed.

High-Level Talks In Washington On October 7

OTTAWA (CP) — High-level ministerial talks between Canada and the United States, projected last month when State Secretary Dulles had informal discussions here with Prime Minister Diefenbaker, have been arranged to open in Washington Oct. 7.

The prime minister is not expected to attend since he will be in Montreal to receive an honorary doctorate from McGill University. But he is to be in Washington later that month when he completes his search for a senior adviser and would then have a chance to discuss any outstanding matters with President Eisenhower.

The talks, involving the finance, foreign, agriculture and trade ministers of both countries, arise from criticism by the prime minister of U.S. trade policies, especially its wheat - giveaway programs, which Mr. Diefenbaker described as a "fire sale."

1953 IDEA

The Washington talks will mark the revival of a joint ministerial committee established by the two countries in 1953 for the private settlement of developing problems before they lead to public recriminations.

The eight - minister committee has met only twice in the four years since it was launched.

Canadian ministers likely to attend are Finance Minister Donald Fleming, Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness, Trade Minister Gordon Churchill, and Justice Minister Davie Fulton.

U.S. representatives likely will be Mr. Dulles, Commerce Secretary Weeks, Treasury Secretary Anderson and Agriculture Secretary Benson.

Must Have Told Good Stories

TORONTO (CP)—J. C. Turnbull, secretary of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, said today the federal drug inspectors don't check druggists' stocks without prescriptions at 127 Canadian drug stores must have done so because they "told pretty convincing stories."

He was commenting on an announcement Thursday by Dr. C. A. Morrell, director of the food and drug division of the federal health department, at the national conference of police chiefs in London, Ont.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES
FOURTH INTERNATIONAL POW WOW AT FOXBORO
Scouts spend a lot of time thinking up new and surprising stunts. So Fifteen Belleville Boy Scouts Troop from Chicago visited Foxboro to attend a weekend Campcree and Pow Wow.
Visitors were invited to the Pow Wow and while live in camp, were very appreciative and thoroughly enjoyed the show put on by the Chicago boys.
Mr. Paul C. Price, who was in charge of the American Scouts welcomed the visitors. Chief White Eagle, Leroy Via, an authority on Indian dances had his Scouts all ready. They were colored and dressed like real Indian braves. No detail was spared in their make-up. It was rather chilly for such brief clothing but Scouts don't mind.
The group performed under the title of the "Chicago Indian Dancers". Their leader and trainer, Mr. Leroy Via, is known ufrough-out the West and Middle West as an accomplished Indian dancer.
Chief White Eagle called us to the Council Fire with the Council song, also known as the "Song of the Dead Chiefs". The Medicine and Medicine Man opened the campfire with the Peace Pipe ceremony. The Medicine Man with the four winds to signify they have been created. He asked where all good things are; to Mother Earth from which all living things come. He then lifted his upward to the Great Spirit. The Tribal Prayer is given and if everfinds favor with the Great Spirit. He will send his fire bearer to light the fire. This is a very solemn moment. The song is "Here, poor and needy he stands. I am he" a song of humility.
ALL HAVE MEANING
The Tribal Dance commenced the ceremonial dances. All the dances had a meaning. The Hoop Chipawa Serpent dance, depicting the movements of a snake leaving his dry parched land for a damp cool place. This informed the Great Spirit rain was wanted. The Medicine dance showed the Medicine Man looking for a particular herb. He found it, took a course for a mother-in-law's wagging tongue. Warriors danced to demonstrate how they would destroy the enemy. The circle of the Peace pipe dance, but it is a sacred dance. White Eagle performed the difficult Fire dance. he danced through a hoop with red missing a single bit of the dance. He also danced the beautiful Eagle dance. The eagle, messenger of the Great Spirit, soars aloft flying gracefully in the sun, and also his prey. Then it falls and dies. This causes grief with the Great Spirit resulting in rain. Everybody stood for the closing ceremony receiving the Chief blessing and singing the singing "Taps." "Day is done. Gone the Sun, from the lakes, from the hills, from the sky. All is well, safely rest. God is nigh."
The Boys attending these dances were Danny Galusha, Tom Nykiel, Fred Kurschner, Jim Jenson and Mike Kurtz. They were excellent, a great credit to their instructor. Mr. Leroy Via (under le blind Scout leader) was the drummer. Thank you Chicago for this entertainment. We hope to see you again soon.
Scoutmaster Commissioner Owen presented Cubmaster Jim Churchill with his Wood Badge, Assistant, and Scouter Len Furner received a parchment for Gilwell training. Leads and wolf will follow. The Commissioner congratulated the leaders for training and commended them for the time and effort they willingly gave for leading.
Akela Ashley has three bath towels, one facecloth, two shorts, underwear, socks and bathing suits, left behind from the Scout camp. There are no names in these garments. Will owners please claim.

VALUE, PRICE AND COST OF PRODUCTION

"The dairy farmers of Canada have taken exception to a principle enunciated by Judge W. J. Schwenger last December in his judgment in a dairy arbitration case," says "The Rural Scene." He said: "The gross value of 100 pounds of milk is not its cost of production under normal conditions, but what it will bring on the available market. The net worth of 100 pounds of milk must be this gross return less all expenses of shipping and processing." "No doubt," continues "The Rural Scene," "the dairymen know more about the cost of producing milk than Judge Schwenger does. But they don't know more about the value of it. The value of any article of commerce is the price it will bring on the available market and no more."

"The Rural Scene" equates value with price. This definition of value we find it difficult to accept. It seems to us that the two are not necessarily the same. Our doubts on this score we believe are shared by others of widely differing views on economics. We recall a pamphlet by Karl Marx, which we always intended to read but never did, which bore the title, "Value, Price and Profit," suggesting that Marx did not believe that value and price were identical. The belief of "The Rural Scene" that value and price are identical, it is obviously impossible for us to accept. It is a theory of the price. That would be like saying that the five-foot wall is exceptionally high for its height.

While it is easily argued that value and price are not identical, it is nowhere near as easy to define just exactly what value is. It certainly has a relationship to price in many cases. Price may increase because a commodity is scarce, but this same scarcity may increase the value of the product. A loaf of bread is more valuable to a starving man than to a full one, so that in one sense at least, the value of food increases when it is scarce. The price also increases, but the loaf of bread is of the same value to a starving man as to a stuffed man, while the prices which may be obtained from the two men may vary greatly.

On the other hand, if we must differ with "The Rural Scene" in defining price as the yardstick of value, we must agree with its opposition to "the notion that an article is worth what it costs to produce." Just as there is a relationship between price and value, so also there is a relationship between the cost of production and value, but once again the relationship is not fixed. Something may cost a great deal to produce, and be absolutely valueless.

Incidentally, it is not a fact that the economy is in the best shape when value, price and cost of production (including in this cost a reasonable profit for the producer), are all at approximately the same level?

WHAT, NO SYMPATHY?

Frank Tumpane, columnist for the Toronto Telegram, has won himself a wide readership largely as the result of his flair for supporting frequently unorthodox opinions by logical arguments voiced in a forthright manner.

Sometimes, though, he leads himself astray. We think that happened the other day.

"The type who park out on lonely country roads and who give rise to holdup men are others for whom I have scant sympathy," Tumpane wrote. "They are looking for trouble and when they get it they act the picture of outraged innocence. Enough has been described and written about the assaults and robberies in lovers' lanes of this (Toronto) area to warn couples they are courting trouble instead of each other when they park in the dark."

We find ourselves at variance with Tumpane's conclusions.

We have the deepest sympathy for lovers living in a community so essentially uncivilized that it has become folly for them to enjoy each other in the night and each other's company in secure solitude.

We have almost equal sympathy for those who have become so acclimatized to crime that they cannot sympathize with lovers who risk being victimized in order to enjoy pleasures which, in happier areas, are regarded as their birthright.

Both the lovers and Mr. Tumpane need a change of air. They should try the summer nights on lonely roads in the Quinte district. They might find them pleasant.

Friendship With a Sheaf

By Sylvania Haymon in Nine Bell

I had been out picking berries on the Vermont hillside all morning, and the roomy old farm kitchen was full of the fragrance of blueberry pie. Flies buzzed lazily against the wire mesh of the screen door. Outside on the porch my four-year-old chattered away to herself, absorbed in some story game.

Presently she called to me: "Mummy! Come and see the pretty pussy!"

I went to the door and, looking out, saw him — my daughter happily nursing in her arms a tall golden sheaf.

There does not exist a word bad enough to describe the smell of the spray a skunk can eject from the musk glands under its tail. Added to what I had heard about the fluid causing burns, or even blindness if it entered the eyes, it is not difficult to imagine my feelings at the sight of the idyllic tableau on the porch steps.

I managed to relate the impulse to call out. "If you let a skunk alone it'll not you alone," the New England folk assured me, and so I had found it to be. Indeed, I had encountered one — ambling fearlessly across a meadow in broad daylight, or at twilight entering the verges of the dirt road for grasshoppers — but I had passed on by, with the well-bred assumption of invisibility of Englishmen the world over, and he intruded not.

The skunk, large as a cat but blacker, had approached in the child's lap. Two broad white stripes marched down its back and the end of the tip of its bushy tail. Another white line encircled its head and pointed snout somehow gave it an expression of great amiability. Every now and again it gave a low sort grunt, which I took to be its soothing talk.

When, in carefully quiet tones, I suggested that "pussy" put down gently and followed to go home my daughter's face screwed up ominously. I was to her skunk, she informed me; she was going to keep it for her own and let it sleep at the foot of her bed. Knowing the extraordinary docility it was capable of when she put her mind to it, I hastily agreed to everything. Hating to have her, yet not knowing what else to do, I retreated indoors and rushed to the telephone.

Mabel the operator — our friend, confessor, and the count of our party lines — had one direct contract between our narrow mountain valley and the outside world. Her husband had left to go: You want Fred Rousseau — over over Jericho Barnard. He had a skunk for a pet once — deodorized it himself.

While I waited, Mabel the call advice came pouring in over the party line.

"Swing by by the tail!" Eben Lewis advised. "A skunk can't spray you if you hold by the tail!"

I doubted that I was capable of swinging a skunk by the tail nonstop until the vet arrived. Besides, what not the skunk "spray" while I was in the course of getting it into the desired position?

"Wal," Eben agreed "there is times you have to be real sharp."

Old Seth Akin praised the skunk for a sensible and cleanly animal:

"Fact is it shoots it hitches its tail out the way like a woman with petticoats crossin' a crick. "Pew!" he added, warming to his theme, "it smells better'n other critters I've known which didn't realized with a shock to probably true.

"Like Fred," cut in Mabel. "He'll be right over to de-smell it for you."

"What kinds skunk you got there?" Mrs. Akin's unhurried New England tones were deeply reassuring. "Tom or she?"

I admitted I did not know — and did it make any difference?

"Maybe — maybe not!" was the lugubrious reply "the thing is — if it's a she you may have four or five young 'uns comin' around lookin' for their ma."

I redoubled my appeals for haste.

Apparently it was necessary to make the animal sleepy, so that it would not eject its fluid in the instant between the application of the anaesthetic and unconsciousness. Three saucers of raw hamburger was the prescription, plus a liquour-glassful of whisky if that were not enough.

Along the line Seth Akin, unable to restrain himself, broke in with:

"For gosh sake, don't tell me you're aiming to feed good Scotch to a dumb animal!"

Taking no chances, I dissolved the sedatives in the whisky and poured the hot over a saucerful of minced meat. I found the tip of the skunk's tail as before drowsing in mutual contentment on the porch steps.

The skunk wolfed the concoction and seemed to want more; but when I returned with a second helping I found him stretched out, a bundle of fur rhythmically giving vent to a parody of the human snore. Our skunk had passed out.

Fred Rousseau duly arrived and performed his surgery; and the skunk has been a handy hold pet.

He was affectionate, mischievous, and intelligent — gentle and seldom out of temper. I never saw him use his formidable claws upon anything except a bird he had hooked fog which I had never cared for anyway.

He would trundle a ball between his toes, and sit up and beg for raspberries, for which — although technically a carnivore — he developed a great fondness.

Best of all he loved to be chased about the garden. Then he became, for him extraordinarily active, the little sausage and grunts becoming quite loud; and when we tired of the game he would crawl in his house with his feet in annoyance, like a child being put to bed.

When winter came he did not hibernate but spent long hours curled up in the hay mow on the remnants of the hooked rug. Sometimes I would find him airing sniffing wistfully round the board where the whisky was kept.

In the following April, the mating season, Sammy disappeared.

My daughter sought him incessantly, and wandered the fields and hedgerows, calling him by name. So, for myself, I felt — and still feel guilty. We had, I did decide, to think of our own conveniences, deprived of it the one sure protection against the attentions of the fair sex.

Delphilis mephitis was his generic name, or it may have been Mephitis putida — I am not sure to which variety of skunk Sammy belonged. Mephitis means "evil-smelling stench," the other "Reeking stench;" not much to choose between them as names but it was a stench that may have meant for Sammy death or freedom between life and death. I can only hope he found a mate sufficiently devoted to do his dirty work for him.

U.S. Secret Service Alert

The Milwaukee Journal.

The nation's wealth is as snug as a bug in a rug with the United States secret service on the job, says the chief who has proved it with a rug.

It seems that some years ago an enterprising Iranian spent fifteen years making a three-by-six rug, designed to fool the United States dollar bill, counterfeiter. He succeeded. The rug showed up the other day in the window of a rug-cleaning establishment, not the skunk suburb.

With notable alertness the secret service swooped down. You can't, the agents explained impressively, duplicate the money of currency for commercial purposes.

There is a comforting thought for the American citizen in this episode. The agents who have made a valiant attempt to keep the currency safe from the counterfeiter is alerted to the rug, it will be tough for anyone to try to pass it off on unsuspecting victim. Another triumph for a diligent bill.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

For the benefit of those who are minded to do a little picking and packing at this next few weeks, I would like to offer a few words of advice. Whether a woman is making jam, she is almost exclusively interested in two things. They are interesting things. They are interesting to the married man, they are interested in making money.

The average housewife entertains that the amount of profit the manufacturer and the store make on a bottle of jam is the exact measure of the difficulty of the task. She regards commercial jam and home-made jam.

A manufacturer of jam who goes sampling with me disagrees most violently with me in this opinion. He maintains that the profit he and the store keeper make is the exact measure of the incompetence of the vast majority of housewives women in the art of preserving. Some of the women, he says, make jams and pickles and other preserves you will encounter in a year's sampling. Other women, he says, do not.

On the other hand, he says, the food preserving industry has invested very large sums of money, "risked," as he says, very large sums of money, on scientifically perfected recipes, pure ingredients and genius skills in cooking and bottling.

But on our latest camping trip, I had two jars of home-made jam in my pack basket. One of them was a large marmalade of which puts a single clove in the bottom of each jar before the mixture is poured in. The clove is thus embedded somewhere in the heart of each cherries, radiating its radio- active flavor faintly throughout the whole of the bottle of marmalade. I do not know the secret of her preparation of this delicacy. But I do know that in my house, it is forbidden to open one of this fall's damson jam until February first next year.

And I will tell you for why, when, in the dreary and dismal month of February, with long dirty icicles dripping from every eave and slush a foot deep dissolving the naturally discontented gaze of all mankind, we open one of these jars of damson. Indian summer and all its fragrance, tenderness and smokey sweetness is released into our house.

My manufacturer buddy ate more than half of both jars, some of it by stealth.

"All right, I'll tell him you're here, Rollo, but I warn you - - - he's been in a foul mood with nincompoop lately."

Do Weddings Harm Cattle?

Sudbury Star

A greater appreciation of Canadian girls are getting married these days, according to the latest figures. This is all well and good, to be applauded in fact. But when one hears that loss to the future of the T-bone steak and other cuts of beef for red-blooded men.

The link between the marriage rate and the beef supply is more tenuous at first glance, but pause a moment. It is based on the findings of Professor Charles Bonnet, in study of British farming. He found that in England, the number of spinsters had a strong bearing on the meat supply.

When the war farmers put it: Red Clover is a choice dish for cattle. Bees love it. It is clover and help it to spread. But bees have a fierce enemy, little bigger than themselves. They are the field mouse who roams the pastures in search of honeycombs which he may devour.

"The only thing that saves the bees is that cats are numerous in rural districts. Cats prey on the field mouse. They can't prey on the bees. Simple?

Although Darwin did not carry his study this far, it is a fairly common thing for women to dislike cats. Some of them go further and scream the house down at the sight of one. The fact that the same ones may scream at the approach of a bee does not concern us here.

Darwin found, after an interesting study that most cats in rural areas are the friends of spinsters. You can see the chain of circumstances developing. The fewer old maids, the fewer cats. The fewer cats, the more mice. The more mice, the fewer bees. And the fewer bees, the less clover.

Think then of the fine herds of cattle feeding with tongue in fields devoid of red clover. No healthy cattle, no roast beef.

It is highly likely that conditions in Canada do not follow the pattern here set forth, but which case there is no cause for alarm.

How Do You Know You'll Have Stage Fright?

"I just want to thank you for your advice on examination flurry and stage fright," writes Mr. W. J., Several weeks ago I had to make a report to a large group of people. It was my first experience of this kind and I was very nervous and concerned over it. I followed the advice you give in the pamphlet. I know that without it I would not have been able to get through with it. (W.W.)"

Ans. — Are you quite sure of that? Frankly, I'm not so sure you wouldn't have done just as well without the tablets recommended. All I know is that it can do no harm to try the treatment to prevent stage fright or examination jitters, and a good many audiences have reported happy results.

"Is the pain of appendicitis always in the lower right side or may it be felt only in the middle of the abdomen? (C.D.W.)"

Ans. — The pain is often felt in middle but later in the lower right side. One experienced surgeon assured me that he could be printed in every newspaper in America that the pain in acute appendicitis is in the middle of the abdomen.

Another thing every one should know is that it is unwise to take any kind of purgative or cathartic in the presence of acute belly-ache, because if the trouble proves to be appendicitis the less peristalsis, movement, activity, the less likely is the inflammation to spread.

So the fact that the bellyache is in the middle and not in the right side does not justify the use of physic or enema. Under the presumption of appendicitis, by a competent doctor, warrants immediate surgery. In no other way

"Legs and shoulders so stiff and painful could hardly get out of bed alone. Began taking calcium wafers and am much improved. Would it be harmful to keep on — ? — ? — ? I followed the advice and don't want to get too much calcium at my age . . . (G.D.E.)"

Ans. — On the contrary, most mature adults suffer various deficiencies of health and vigor because they get insufficient calcium. I know this is counter to the quaint notions of nineteenth century doctors — notions retained by too many practitioners today.

Niece's seven-year-old boy has been minus upper two front teeth for six months or so. I am worried about it, whether they will eventually come in . . . (P.M.S.)"

Ans. — Child should eat four upper teeth and four lower front teeth, in the permanent set, at the age of seven or eight years. It is most important to take care good nourishing food in order to insure good permanent teeth.

"If a person, aged thirty years, who has been a heavy smoker, stops using the weed does it take to get the nicotine out of her system? (E.M.)"

Ans. — It is only a surmise that nicotine gets into the system of a heavy smoker. Whatever the injurious element or elements to tobacco may be, it is not that they are entirely destroyed or excreted or eliminated within the 6 or 8 days after the use of tobacco has been discontinued. If any damage has been done by such elements may by the carbon monoxide in the blood it may be months before full recovery.

INTERESTING CITIES

Cities have a personality the same as a person has and so, of course, some have a greater and more interesting personality than others. One of my favorite cities is New Orleans. It is steeped in historic love. It is the haunt and rendezvous of Artists, adventurers, and writers have loved it. It is international in its character.

Napoleon, in his ambition to make the world safe for democracy and so sold the territory that included New Orleans to us and one of his greatest blunders, but it was Louisiana's gain, as well as America's. The city is a most intriguing one with interests scattered all over the place. Its French Quarter is unique, with its antique stores and historic homes and hotels.

Among the writers who have increased the fame of this city is George W. Cable, Roark Bradford, Harnett Kane, Lyle Saxon and a host of others. Natural scenic beauty is not the only charm of New Orleans. It is a cosmopolitan city and many of the most interesting Americans are known around the world. My dear friend, the late Col. William R. Reilly, once drove with his family from New Orleans to my New Scotia Island retreat, and to pay back the compliment I accepted his invitation to introducing to us the famous Mardi Gras. Many friends have made it a regular habit to spend a month or so there each winter.

Before travelling to the ends of the earth, people should begin with a visit to some more unique of all American cities—New Orleans. It is cosmopolitan, it is interesting people, and its gifts to history, however, are its greatest asset!

THEY SLIPPED

People often deplore the apparent disproportion of gifts given by many newspapers to crime stories. They say this panders to morbid curiosity. Or it may be that there is another side to the picture.

Just the more we read these crime stories, the more do we think of a life of crime. There was one imperceptible step after another until the bottom was reached—which was, first, private crime and then solitary confinement. And in the case of some, execution.

There, but for the grace of God, goes John Bunyan" or John Smith, or Bill, or Betty, or Sam, or Frank. They slipped. Their intentions were not bad, but their judgment was. Little by little—down, down, down!

Who to Invite To What, When Big Problem

OTTAWA (CP) — Government officials planning the Queen's visit to Ottawa in October still are trying to decide who to invite of what and when.

They've solved some problems, but not .ll. The invitation policy, which will receive Prime Minister Diefenbaker's personal attention, still hasn't been decided.

But it's a good bet that the Table of Precedence for Canada will be the main guide when invitations go out. The table starts with the governor-general and runs the gamut through such dignitaries as ambassadors, provincial lieutenant-governors, privy councillors, Members of Parliament, justices and high churchmen. It covers about 1,000 persons.

ABOUT 1,000

Roughly 1,000 persons invited according to precedence will be formed into the senate chamber when Queen Elizabeth opens Parliament Oct. 14. The senate floor will accomodate 560 persons, and the two galleries a total of 241.

Governor-General Massey, who normally opens Parliament, will stay at home. An official explained that it would not be proper for the Queen's representative to attend such a function presided over by the Queen.

Men attending the opening of Parliament must wear military uniforms or morning coats with their decorations. Women will be dressed in evening gowns and wear their decorations.

WILL BE PRESENTED

Perhaps 1,000 or more will be invited to a government reception the afternoon of Oct. 15 in the Chateau Laurier where the Queen will be presented to the Queen.

A state dinner at Government House, Oct. 14, will seat about 100 persons, mainly the higher echelon of the Government list. It will be followed by a state reception for several hundred more persons.

Thousands more will be able to see the Queen during a number of drives through the capital area, and on television sets. The opening of Parliament and a number of other functions will be broadcast on both radio and TV.

US Army Thinks 'Jupiter' Answer To Red Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States army believes it has a proven answer to Russia's claimed intercontinental missile —an American missile, ready for production, which could hit key Soviet areas from advance bases.

The army's proposed counter weapon is the Jupiter, an intermediate-range ballistic missile which soared 1,500 miles over the Atlantic Tuesday in a test flight from Cape Canaveral, Fla. Army Secretary Wilber Brucker labelled the Jupiter "a spectacular success."

It is understood that only the defense department in it's secrecy policy prevents the army from saying flatly that the Jupiter could be in production within 30 days.

Brucker said in Florida that the wording of the Soviet announcement last Monday of a successful test of a 5,000-mile missile indicated the Russians were talking of a "research test vehicle." That is a long way, he said, from "an operational vehicle."

There have been no known successful U.S. tests of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

The U.S. has an advantage in land bases—its own plus those in friendly hands around the world. A missile launched from Soviet territory would have to travel thousands of miles to reach the U.S.

An American missile launched from bases abroad would have a much shorter flight to Soviet territory.

ANOTHER VIEW

A darker view of the American lead in the missiles race was presented Thursday by Senator Henry Jackson (Dem., Wash.) before the congressional atomic energy weapons subcommittee which he heads.

Jackson said all U.S. intermediate and long-range ballistic missiles, except the Jupiter, are behind schedule because of technical problems. He also said the number of both types of missiles proposed for production has been cut by money limitations imposed by the defence department.

Predicts Canadian Labor Force Doubled in 25 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—The swelling army of Canadians employed providing services for their fellow citizens may be more than doubled in the next quarter-century.

In a special study for the Gordon economic commission, the Bank of Montreal estimated the Canadian labor force may double to about 10,000,000 by 1980 with those employed in service industries increasing to 4,675,000 from 1,931,000 in 1951.

Service employees include shop clerks, waitresses, government employees, bank workers, truck drivers, barbers, lawyers, teachers—just about everyone in the labor force not turning out food and other goods.

CONTINUAL RISE

On the basis of trends, the bank predicted the proportion of the labor force employed in providing services may rise to 55 per cent by 1980 from 46 in 1951 and 30 in 1881, assuming a continued increase in the real income of Canadians.

The proportion in production industries would remain unchanged at about 35 per cent while that in agriculture would drop to 10 per cent from 19.

Analyzing the various service industries, the Bank of Montreal classified the wide-field view that the days of wholesaling in Canada are numbered. Its study indicated that the wholesale industry would grow in importance.

Nevertheless it found that Canadian wholesalers' profit margins had slipped over a period of time. However, they still were higher than those in the United States.

PROFITS SQUEEZED

The bank found retail profit margins also have been squeezed though this was offset to some extent by higher sales for each store and employee.

The bank suggested a research and development centre might be developed in each of the Canadian regions and linked to trade associations or universities, to provide additional aid to independent proprietors.

"This centre or centres once set up would, if adequately financed, be able to conduct research on behalf of different sections of the service industries to the benefit of increasing productivity and to improve methods of operation generally."

GOVT. PROPOSES

The committee is composed of Trade Minister Gordon Churchill of Manitoba, Northern Affairs Minister Alvin Hamilton of Saskatchewan and Agriculture Minister Douglas Harkness of Alberta.

Mr. Diefenbaker gave no details of his plan to advance proposal nor did he state specifically to what grains it will apply. But Mr. Churchill said later the government is thinking primarily of wheat. Consideration of ways of giving the advances to other grains would be undertaken later.

Currently, Prairie farmers get $1.40 a bushel, basis No. 1 Northern, Fort William. For their wheat from the Canadian Wheat Board they usually make delivery on a small quota set by the board. They get further payments as the board completes sales, currently on the basis of about $1.61 a bushel for No. 1 Northern.

Sales have lagged and, with bumper crops harvested during the last few years huge surpluses have piled up. Farmers have found the federal system of bank loans with farm-stored grain as security inadequate. They have demanded that the government provide them with a payment for wheat on farms.

Some have suggested the payment be $1 a bushel.

If a new crop is being harvested, and by this fall farmers may have increased their unsold holdings to perhaps 600,000,000 bushels, if the government decided to grant them an advance of $1 a bushel, the administration would have to borrow some $600,000,000 from the public, the banks or other institutions.

However, it is unlikely the government would provide such a huge amount. What may be proposed is an advance for a smaller proportion of the growers' total holdings, perhaps of less than $1 a bushel. Even so, huge amounts of cash will be involved.

24-Hour Speech Fails to Block Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first civil rights bill to pass the United States Congress in more than 80 years went to President Eisenhower today.

The Senate completed congressional action on the compromise measure late Thursday night after 35 hours of continuous session, passing it by an overwhelming vote of 60 to 15. The House of Representatives passed the bill last Tuesday.

The end of the months-long battle over civil rights came two hours after Senator J. Strom Thurmond (Dem. S.C.) ended a record-breaking filibuster against the bill. Thurmond held the floor for 24 hours and 19 minutes. The previous record was set in 1935 by Senator Wayne Morse (Dem. Ore.) in an equally futile effort to defeat an oil-lands bill.

SINGLE-HANDED JOB

Thurmond's filibuster was a single-handed effort. Other southerners refrained from joining in because they felt it was fruitless and might boomerang if a stronger bill were put forward next year.

Final passage of the civil rights measure cleared the way for adjournment of Congress, probably today.

On the final roll call, 15 southerners voted "no." Thirty-seven Republicans and 23 Democrats joined in support of the bill. There were many absentees.

The bill provides broad new federal enforcement powers in the field of voting rights, although it does not contain some of the far-reaching provisions originally asked by Eisenhower.

Nevertheless, its passage was regarded as an outstanding victory for the president and for members of both parties who have struggled for years to win action on civil rights.

The key feature of the bill is a provision giving the U.S. justice department authority to seek federal court injunctions to enforce the right of every citizen to vote, regardless of race or color. This was opposed by the southerners as a violation of states' rights.

Postage Stamp To Commemorate October Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—A new, black-and-white five-cent stamp, showing Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip in profile, is being issued by the post office department to commemorate the October visit of the royal couple.

The department announced today the stamp will go on sale Oct. 10. The black-and-white halftone stamp is the combined product of the post office, Ottawa photographer Yousuf Karsh and engravers of the Canadian Bank Note Company of Ottawa.

The stamp, slightly larger than five-cent issues, will show the Queen's likeness, is delicately done, with a fine, shaded background. In the profiles, with Her Majesty in front and Prince Philip behind at the right side of shows the wisp of a smile. Both are bare-headed.

BEST EVER OF QUEEN

Postmaster - General William Hamilton, who as an Opposition member of Parliament had criticized some Canadian issues—said, "I think the Queen's mouth—he agrees with postal officials that it is the "best likeness of the Queen that we have yet put on a postage stamp." It compared favorably with issues of other Commonwealth countries, despite the fact it was turned out in a mere five or six months compared with the usual year or more.

Black-and-white halftone had been chosen because it best showed up quality engraving.

The Experts Say

Collection of Fall Styles From London to Be Shown

Canadian women will be ahead of the fashion parade by the time the Queen and Prince Philip arrive at Ottawa in October, according to fashion experts.

Arthur Banks, a London couturier, is flying here with his collection of fall styles—some intended especially for Canadian women attending royal party functions.

His show will include models of woollen suits, tweed ensembles, fine wool afternoon dresses, combination silk and brocade suits and also rayon and silk cocktail dresses.

FORMAL GOWNS

Evening dresses, both short and long, are expected to catch ollady's eye for such occasions as royal reception or ball.

Scottish Yorkshire tweeds will be shown made up in companion weights often in blue allied to black. Also in shades of green with grey and winter beige will also be modelled.

The Banks collection will—feature his new coat suits in which finger - length coats in medium weight fabrics are worn with matching suits, dresses or contrasting skirts.

Semi-fitting suits have easy relaxed styling in the jacket, bloused at the back. A number of classic suits will be featured.

One is a mid - grey canvas tweed trimmed with dark grey velvet. This is worn with a straight tailored coat in the same fabric, with feature a half-belt inset just below the waistline.

The Banks skirts are slim, designed with a pleated panel stitched to about knee-length. This is to allow ease movement at the same time hide the slits in the skirt.

GRACEFUL LINES

Short afternoon frocks and evening dress feature slender lines but a touch of grace is given the wearer by a flared panel in the back.

Fabrics for evening wear are fine and sheer. One outfit, which is almost transparent, is made of rayon jersey, romaine chiffon and chiffon.

Colors in these models are mainly black although mish shades and jade green are also popular.

For day wear, dress wools are featured in a light and fine material so that they can be easily draped. Colors range from pastels to dark sapphire and black.

Mr. Banks also will show a few short evening dresses, about 14 inches above the ground which are built over softly-bellshaped underskirts.

Persian pink and turquoise brocade dress is a typical model, worn under a lace satin coat lined with turquoise.

County Home Ladies Enjoy Motor Ride

CENTENARY — On Wednesday afternoon Centenary W.M.S. members Mrs. Percy Sutherland, Mrs. Harold Hancock, Mrs. Fred Edmondson, Mrs. Edgar Ray, Mrs. Mac Nobes and Mrs. Dawson Douglas drove their cars to the county home to take 20 ladies along with Mrs. J. T. Sargent, Mrs. S. Hubble and Mrs. H. G. McLean for a drive through the country.

Their route was up No. 2 highway to Trenton, north to Glen Miller to cross the new highway bridge and back down the 3rd concession of Sidney to the home of Mrs. Byron Harder.

As each guest entered the house, Mrs. Fred Aikens presented her with a corsage and Mrs. Hancock welcomed her to the dining room which was delightfully decorated with baskets of gladioli. The ladies were seated at card tables prettily centred with sweetpeas and nasturtiums in low bowls.

Mrs. Hancock led in a short devotional service, after which the ladies of Centenary W.M.S. served pink ice cream and angel food along with a refreshing cup of tea.

Mrs. J. T. Sargent expressed appreciation of all the ladies for the lovely drive and refreshments and Mrs. Richardson spoke on behalf of the ladies from the home who had enjoyed the kindly hospitality. Mrs. Kenneth Yorke spoke on behalf of herself and her husband, saying that these thoughtful outings helped them greatly in their work.

The ladies were then taken back to the Home and the Centenary ladies were thankful that they could give an afternoon of pleasure to the county's senior citizens.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

FRAGRANCE WILL MAKE YOU EVEN PRETTIER THAN YOU ARE

For outdoor activities and spectator sports wear, use light floral scents or a crisp, spicy one Do not overwhelm him with heavy fragrances.

That American women are the most beautiful in the world is becoming more and more an accepted fact. And what a very great compliment that is. For true beauty has to do with everything about a woman . . . her face, her figure, her personality, her home and family. And as every American woman knows, beauty doesn't "just happen". It is the result of knowing the importance of wearing the right cosmetics, clothes and fragrance products. For it is the correct combination of all of those things that results in real, lasting beauty. And every day more American women are learning about the extra "plus" to be gained in the constant wearing of fragrance, for it not only adds to a woman's physical attractiveness, but also provides greater depth to her personality and her confidence, so that she feels as well as looks prettier.

Have you ever noticed how, in a roomful of lovely women, a certain few seem to stand out as a little more beautiful than the rest? On closer examination, you almost always will find that those are the ladies who are wearing fragrance . . . the smart women who, with the use of a scent, have thereby created a special aura of femininity around themselves.

If you have been in the habit of wearing fragrance only on special occasions, like parties or for those all-too-rare evenings out, then you already have an appreciation of the nice things scent can do to and for you. Doesn't it make sense, then not to restrict your use of that marvelous aid to your prettiness to those once-in-awhile applications? By making fragrance a daily habit, you will find that not just for extraordinary events but all the time will you be prettier to see and be near.

This doesn't mean, necessarily that you will want to wear your most exotic oriental perfume for trips to the supermarket, or office, or when your best beau takes you to a ball game, any more than you would wear an elegant cocktail dress for those activities. But a light floral — or a crisp spicy — or clear woody-mossy-leafy scent would be just perfect for your normal daytime pursuits, and you still can reserve those more glamorous scents for evening wear. Or if you enjoy the idea of wearing one perfume all the time, as a kind of signature, try one of the moderns, or fruity blends.

If you have never tried wearing perfume every day, certainly this is the season, when you will want to look and feel your prettiest, to "test" the idea, both on yourself and those around you. Start by sampling the wearing of perfume with lipstick, so that each time you apply color to your lips, you will apply perfume, too, for scent never lasts longer on the skin than three or four hours. By re-applying your fragrance that often, you always will be surrounded with a feminine aura. And remember that a dab behind each ear is not nearly enough to make a fragrance impression on you or those with whom you come in contact. Make your "test" a fair one, first by wearing perfume every day, and too, applying it in sufficient quantity as to be noticed. Be sure to touch perfume to all your pulse spots — inside wrists, crook of the arm, throat, temples, behind each ear. Then just see how you and those near you notice "how pretty you are".

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

MAYBE YOUR PARENTS DON'T KNOW YOUR OTHER FRIENDS

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 15 and very unhappy at home because my parents are too strict with me. They allow me to date just one boy who is 19. He's asked me to marry him, but I'm not sure whether I'm in love with him or not, although I do like him very much.

Other boys ask me for dates, but I have to refuse because of my parents. They won't let me discuss this with them or anything else. It seems as though they know it all and I don't know anything.

I just don't know what to do. Sometimes I think I'll marry as soon as I get out of high school, which won't be too long.

Can you give me any advice?

— Janice

Dear Janice:

Have any of these other boys who ask you for dates been thoughtful enough to come to your home and give your parents a chance to become acquainted with them? Perhaps the 19-year-old fellow is the only boy they really know, which might be the reason they're willing for you to date him but not the others.

Next time any boy asks you to go out with him, explain that your parents are hesitant about having you go on dates and ask if he'll come around to see them and request permission himself for you to go with him. It he's a nice lad who will talk courteously and respectfully to your parents, it's quite likely they may change their minds and let you go.

As for marriage, tell this older fellow that you're not going to be ready to think about it for a number of years yet, so it's better not to even talk about it. And certainly put out of your mind the idea of marrying as soon as you get out of high school. To marry for no other reason than to escape from home is one of the biggest mistakes anyone can make. There are far better ways to solve this kind of problem than that.

Casual Handbag

By ALICK ALDEN

Smart sportswear, attractive casual clothes are musts in the well-rounded wardrobe, as is the right handbag to go with such outfits. Josef comes through with a beautiful bag that isn't too sporty, too vivacious, but one that is just right for general or suburban daytime dressing. It is of the stache bag genus and is of fine leather in a rich fruitwood tone. Pierced detail with pinked edge adds a softening note. The self leather covered frame has a wide opening and the pleated leather gussets add to the capacity of the bag. Quite a sophisticated casual, this one!

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. SEECKMAN

SHE SHOULD OPEN HER LIPS AND SAY "THANK YOU"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My birthday was the first of June, and a friend of mine sent me a gift. In my column I stated in it was a handkerchief with her initials embroidered on it. I remember that I had read in your column that it is not necessary to thank for a birthday card, and I took it for granted that this same rule would also apply to such a gift as one handkerchief. But yesterday a neat bib friend for the first time since my birthday (she had been away on a long vacation) and she was quite sarcastic about my not having written to thank her, said she had concluded I didn't like the handkerchief. Please give me your opinion about this. —A.

Do you really want my opinion? If so, here goes. You are a girl who hasn't a real sense of appreciation of friendly gestures made to you, of thoughtful gifts given to you. And, believe me, that's most unfortunate, for you're missing all the joy of saying a good, open-hearted "thank you." Why are you so afraid to say "thank you?" Apparently you have no inclination to express your appreciation for the thoughtfulness or for the gift of such a "simple" gift as "one handkerchief" . . .

I judge it must be a more valuable gift before you will part with even one little "thank you." This is no way to win friends and to keep them . . . as you're certainly finding out from this friend who was so kind to you on your birthday.

May I say, please, that you did not thank me in your column that "it is not necessary to thank for a birthday card." A birthday card is, I think, a charming and most thoughtful gift, and should certainly be thanked for, either verbally if you meet the sender soon, or even better, by telephoning or by writing a note of appreciation. And to thank for a handkerchief enclosed with the card is a must. My advice is: open your lips and put your heart and have a good time saying "Thank you." Try it . . . and see!

WEDDING PAGE MAY WEAR ETON SUIT, WHITE COLLAR, WHITE GLOVES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am to be married soon at a morning wedding. The flower girls is to wear a short dress, and I'm following your advice and having her wear short white gloves. What do you suggest the bride-to-be wear? And would you advise that he also wear white gloves? —Bride-to-be.

I suggest the 5½-year-old page (I'm glad you're having him as a page, rather than a ring-bearer) wear a white Eton suit with white collar is very becoming

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

I get "Woman and Home" (Great Britain) . . . and bought an extra one to send you . . . will you kindly comment on the cuts of pork or bacon we should ask for in Canada and anything else you think would help. I made the Bacon and Egg Baps and they were very good . . . I would like to try the veal and ham pie, but am at a loss about the baking dish . . . Mrs. W. G.

ANSWER:

You say you would like to make the veal and bacon pie. Since other readers will be concerned with curiosity to know what you and I are talking about I'll go through the method based on the magazine recipe and tell you what to ask for in a Canadian butcher shop and what kind of dish to use that is available in Canada. Thank you so much for the British magazine.

FRIDAY (Gessis)

Stuffed Baked Whitefish or Pickerel; Fried Green Tomatoes; Creamed Parsley Potatoes; Relish Bowl with Carrot Sticks, Celery, Sweet Pepper Rings, Tomatoes quartered, Cucumber wedges; Apple Dumpling with Lemon Sauce; Coffee.

ENGLISH VEAL AND BACON PIE

One and one-quarter lbs. plain flour (4½ to 4¾ cups unsifted), 1¼ gills water (⅝ cup), 7½ oz. bacon dripdings (1 cup less 1 tablespoon) or lard, (if lard is used add 2 teaspoons salt), a little beaten egg for the glaze. Bring just to boiling point the drippings and water. Immediately pour it over the flour in a bowl and stir until smooth. Using an overproof glass or aluminum pan (standard size) press pastry working from about half of it, formed into a ball, to cover bottom and sides to about ¼-inch thickness. (This dough made with hot water moulds very readily.) Cover the bottom of the pie with some of the fillings: 1 lb. lean diced cooked bacon (use boiled picnic shoulder that has been left over from a meal where you had it sliced hot or cold), 1¼ lbs. shoulder or shank veal (raw) ½ cup stock from cooking cottage roll, grated rind ½ lemon, 3 hard-cooked eggs. Add the pepper to the meat and stock spread half of it over bottom of pie. Arrange the 3 hard-cooked eggs in a straight line along the centre, keeping them in place with the filling. Spread remaining filling over. Pour an additional ½ cup stock over. Roll out remaining pastry for top, reserving a little for decorative leaves if desired. Seal edges well. Make a small steam gap at centre about 1-inch in diameter. Pastry leaves often border this. Brush top of pie with beaten egg. Bake 30 minutes at 400 deg. F. 30 minutes at 350 deg. and 1 hour at 325 deg. . Let cool 24 hours carefully remove from pan. (The clamped circle or oval moulds used in England make this easier, but I don't know where you would buy them here.) Dissolve 1 tablespoon gelatine in ¼ cup ham stock and stir over hot water to make it clear. Pour this through a funnel into the pie through the top gash. Tip the pie to make gelatine liquid flow all over the meat filling. Let cool until gelatine liquid is set. This pie is traditionally served cold in slices and will serve from 12 to 16.

to little gentlemen of this age. And yes, he should wear short white gloves, to go along with the chic of the flower girl. Then they'll both look as if they'd learned their know-how from dancing school! (The little page may wear a boutonniere of two very small flowers, bouvardia-fern style.)

To Pipe Alberta Natural Gas To California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sponsors of a $320,000,000 natural gas pipeline from Alberta to California and officials of Shell Oil Company have announced an agreement to buy from Shell a substantial part of the natural gas needed for the 1,300-mile pipeline.

During the first 10 years of gas delivery Shell will be paid more than $100,000,000, officials said. An estimated $15,000,000 will be paid the Alberta government in gas royalties.

Jack E. Horton, president of the newly formed Alberta and Southern Gas Co. Ltd., said the gas will be purchased for Pacific Gas and Electric Company of San Francisco for distribution in the California market.

Plans call for the project to go into operation in late 1960.

Jap Scientists Say Russian Test At High Altitude

TOKYO (Reuters) — Japanese meteorologists state that they have reason to believe that a nuclear explosion in Russia Aug. 22 was caused by a missile-borne device.

High-altitude shock waves were recorded at Kyoto University on that date.

The university said meters recorded shock waves from a Soviet nuclear explosion at a "very high altitude." It said the evidence, although not conclusive, pointed to the possibility that a missile carrying an atomic warhead had been tested.

Russia announced this week that it has tested an intercontinental ballistic missile which can reach any target on earth.

Man Charged With Murder Slashes Arms

WELLAND (CP)—Thomas Le Plante, 22, held in Welland County jail on a charge of murder, smashed a cup Wednesday and with the jagged edge inflicted deep gashes on his arms.

He was brought to hospital here by three provincial police officers where 60 stitches were required to close the wounds. He was then returned to his cell.

It was the second outburst by LaPlante who is awaiting trial in the slaying of Edwin Jones of Hamilton, whose battered and hacked body was found on the Thorold Township sideroad last July 11. Three weeks ago LaPlante tore out the plumbing in his cell.

Jones was a member of Jehovah Witnesses religious sect.

Natives Loot Diamond Plant

LONDON (Reuters)—A state of emergency has been declared in Britain's West African colony of Sierra Leone after armed Africans stormed the colony's main diamond plant at Yengena last weekend.

The Consolidated African Selection Trust said Wednesday night that "illicit diamond miners" spent 12 hours looting company stores and offices. Police quelled the disorders.

A spokesman for the trust, which holds a government monopoly for diamond mining over some 200 square miles in the colony, said the outbreak was the most serious incident we have ever experienced; it is in fact a breakdown in law and order."

Sunday School Lesson

World's Most Important Book

By ROY L. SMITH

When a committee of U.S. senators set out to select those five individuals who had most worthily served the nation as members of the senate, their task was extremely difficult, for in the course of the years scores of the ablest citizens of the nation had been chosen by the various states for that high honor and responsibility.

The government under which they lived had become thoroughly pagan in its outlook and the standards of social justice sank to almost unbelievably low levels, as did also the morals of the nation. It continued to be the dream of the prophetic party, however, that some day a godly and righteous king should sit upon the throne, and in preparation for that day the underground prophets undertook to prepare a legal code which they hoped might be accepted as the law of the land.

Drawing on all the records of Moses' laws and judgements, and applying the principles of social justice taught by Amos, Hosea, Isaiah, and Micah, the prophetic party prepared a statement which can almost be called "the first written constitution of human government".

HIDDEN IN DEBRIS

The young King Josiah came to the throne of Judah at the tender age of eight and his government was conducted for him by others until about the time he was 20 years of age. Then he assumed full responsibility himself.

In those years of the boyhood and youth he was trained for his responsibilities by devout teachers who instructed him in the ancient faith and lore of the nation. The result being that one of his first public acts was to order the cleaning and refurnishing of the Temple.

Seizing their opportunity, some members of the prohetic party hid their "book of the law" in the debris in the Temple, that as the Temple was cleaned it would come to light and get to the king's attention, and this is exactly how the matter worked out. And the moment he laid his eyes on it he was convinced that he had come upon something very important.

BOOK MADE LAW

The circumstances under which the book came to the attention of the king were especially fortunate. The high priest and a godly woman known as a prophetess, vouched for it as being in the law of God, divinely given and approved.

Immediately, therefore, the king caused it to be read to the people that they might know all the implications. He then announced that from that day forward it should be recognized as the law of the land, superseding even his own word and judgment as king. And thus there was established the first written contribution of the Hebrews.

According to the opinion of the best scholars, the original "book of the law" is that which is contained in the book of Deuteronomy, beginning with chapter 12 and continuing to chapter 26. Additional material was added later, and the constitution was expanded.

Considering the influence of the Bible on human history it can be said that this little book, which was its beginning, is the most important book ever written.

Up from the Rochester farm club of the American League are forwards Garry Collins, Earl Balfour and Gord Hamilgan and from other AHL clubs come forward Pete Conacher from Buffalo and goalie Gerry McNamara from Hershey.

From Winnipeg Warriors of the Western League, Leafs have invited defenceman Mel Price and forwards Hugh Barlow and Pat Hanigan.

Lightweight Frank Mahovlich from St. Michael's of Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series is considered Leafs' top prospect.

Yvon Durelle Wins by TKO

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Yvon Durelle, bleeding from both eyes floored Tun (Sugar) Jones of Plainfield, N. J., three times Thursday night to win an eight-round TKO in a scheduled 15-round boxing match.

Durelle, Canadian light heavy champion who gained national attention in June with a disputed draw decision against Tony Anthony in Detroit, weighed 177 for his bout against the 26-year-old Jones, who weighed 173½.

Durelle, from nearby Baie Ste. Anne, floored Jones three times in the eighth after seven rounds of hard-punching by both men. The end came at 2:15 of the eighth.

Manager Chris Shaban said Durelle would be ready for his Sept. 25 engagement in Detroit against German lightheavy Willie Besmanoff.

Listowel Leads Dutchmen 2-1

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Listowel Legionnaires, the Cinderella team of the Intercounty Senior League, are continuing their amazing play in the league finals. They bounced the favored St. Thomas Elgins in the semi-finals and now lead Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 2-1 in the best-of-seven finals.

Thursday night, in the bottom of the ninth, Bob Zister drove in Listowel's winning run in a 3-1 victory.

Zister's game - winning double came after catcher Jim Dickey walked and moved to second on Moe Parent's sacrifice. Red Dubrick popped out to short. Then Zister poled a double over left-fielder Joe Yonuzik's head.

TAKE 2-1 LEAD

In the Nickel Belt circuit, Creighton Indians hammered Copper Cliff Redmen 10-3 in the third game of their best-of-seven series for the senior baseball league semi-finals.

Indians, defending the title, now lead 2-1.

Coniston Red Sox and Garson Greyhounds meet tonight in the third game of the other Nickel Belt semi-final. Coniston leads 2-0.

Sport Anglers Will Double Next Few Years

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada may have 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 sport fishermen by 1960 who will take an annual catch of some 66,000,000 pounds of fish.

This forecast is made in a special study made by the fisheries department and the fisheries research board for the Gordon Economic Commission which issued it today.

Fresh - water sport fishermen and there were untold numbers who fished in salt water—25,000 in British Columbia alone.

Provincial forecasts were for a large increase in the number of anglers. The present sport catch of 33,000,000 pounds could be expected to be doubled by 1960 as developing transport made more waters available.

The significance of the sport fisheries will be found largely in the value of these transportation services and other tourist services that may be provided for the fishermen, rather than in the value of the sport fish they catch."

Therefore, "the maintenance of hatcheries and other effective management activities for the sport fisheries is likely to become increasingly important in Canada."

Lee Grills Wins Peewee Softball City Laurels

Lee Grills Dairy captured the Dr. Walters Memorial Trophy and the peewee city softball championship earlier this week by ousting the Rotary Club in the final series.

Grills won the series three games to one, climaxing the victory with a 16-13 decision after winning the first two games and dropping the third.

The club is coached by Jack O'Brien of the Belleville Fire Department. Members of the team are Danny Piperni, Jim Ross, Johnny Skinner, Jack Reppard, R. Fletcher, S. Argent, Ronnie St. Pierre, R. Soule, George Campbell, J. Miller, B. Semark, R. Watch, John Haslip, Paul Emory and David Livingston.

Jim Ross pitched Grills' 16-13 victory, stopping the Rotary Club on nine hits over the distance. He struck out seven and-issued free passes to three batters.

McLean hurled for Rotary, tagged for 16 safeties by the hard-hitting Grills squad. He fanned four while walking six.

The entire squad shared in the 23-hit attack with catcher Danny Piperni leading the way.

The team will be presented with the Dr. Walters Memorial Trophy which goes annually to the peewee softball champions of the city.

Comiskey Admits Making Offer For Sal Maglie

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—Brooklyn's Sal Maglie says nobody has talked to him directly about a possible sale to New York Yankees or Chicago White Sox.

"All I know is what I read in the papers," the veteran pitcher said Thursday.

"I'm very happy at Brooklyn but I'm just an employee. If they say i go, I go."

Yankees were reported Wednesday trying to get Maglie for the pennant stretch. But the White Sox' president, Chuck Comiskey said: "We have made a substantial offer for Maglie and also for Virgil Trucks of Kansas City."

Trappers Will Not Operate This Season

NORTH BAY (CP) — Operations of North Bay Trappers, Eastern Canada senior hockey finalists only five months ago, have been definitely suspended, manager Pete Palangio said Wednesday night.

The team extended the eventful Allan Cup champion Whitby Dunlops to seven games last spring.

"Due to the present financial circumstances and in view of our large deficit from last year," said Palangio, "we find it impossible to carry on longer."

Trappers are the second Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior southern group entry to suspend operations in the last few days, Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians announced their withdrawal recently because of financial difficulties.

Pool losses and an uncertain future now that travelling expenses will be greater for the newly-formed all-Ontario senior grouping were listed as the reason behind Trappers' withdrawal.

Quarterbacking Troubles Face Rough Riders And Argos This Weekend

Hal Ledyard of Ottawa Has Bruised Hips, Dublinski In Sick Bay With Sore Thumb

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quarterbacking problems face Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts as they prepare for Labor Day weekend Big Four football activity.

League-leading Rough Riders are expected to be without first string signal caller Hal Ledyard when they meet Montreal Alouettes Saturday in Montreal. Coach Frank Clair said badly bruised ribs picked up several weeks ago have lowered Ledyard's efficiency and he expects to go with understudy Tom Dilnutt. Dimitroff has performed as a defensive halfback in Ottawa's two games to date.

Tom Dublinski is a big question mark for Argonauts and they are not counting too heavily on the Dubber being available when they tangle with Hamilton Tiger-Cats Monday afternoon.

CHIPPED THUMB-BONE

The former Detroit Lion chipped a bone in the thumb of his throwing hand in the season opener and missed last week's game against Ottawa.

London and Toronto Balmy Beaches meet in Toronto Saturday afternoon in an Ontario Rugby Football Union contest. It will be the first league game for Indian Jack Jacobs since Toronto Beaches was booted out of the prove on the 58-13 drubbing they took from Garden City Seers last week.

If Ledyard doesn't play, Clair will use halfback Jim Rosebovo, now recovered from a training injury that kept him out his 12th important.

Import halfback Joel Wells and Canadian back Bill Tonegusso will be missing from the Montreal lineup—both with leg injuries. Wells, a highly-rated power runner from Arkansas, has yet to see Big Four action.

DOUBTFUL PITCHER

Tackle Billy Shipp has a back injury which makes him a doubtful starter. Joey Pal, all-star flying wing last year, joined the club this week but won't be ready.

Ottawa with two victories in two starts lead Montreal and Hamilton both of whom have a win and a loss. Toronto is in the cellar having dropped both their games.

C. R. Roberts is also expected to be among the Argo missing. The 200-pound lineman is expected to replace Len Black.

Roberts and Wilson are unable to play, Adolphus Frazier will be given an opportunity while Duane and George Doucette will share quarterbacking duties until Dublinski is out.

SAME LINEUP FOR CATS

Jim Trimble is not expected to make any major changes in his Tiger-Cat lineup. He said he would stick with all the import linemen and import backfielders with Bernie Faloney calling signals.

Jim Norman, a 245 - pound tackle from Hamilton's Bulldog, has been one of Hamilton's plums for this year. Norman spent 32 days in camp with the mysterious back ailment. Nobody knows what it is but it has been on to stop playing.

Bill Zock's Balmy Beach club will have to work out against Lords. Beaches have signed no Americans while Lords will dress eight imports. Jacobs originally intended to go with nine for financial reasons but when Americans voted Thursday to take a pay cut so 19 could be carried.

Unplayed Game May Decide Who Wins Flag

TORONTO (CP)—An unplayed game rarely decides a pennant winner but it did two years ago in the International Baseball League and it might happen again this season.

In 1955 Montreal Royals won the pennant by one-half game over Toronto Maple Leafs, who had a game rained out and were unable to play it because they did not meet the same opposition again that season Leafs finished the regular schedule with 153 games to their credit while the Royals had played 154.

This season Toronto again will play only 153 games. Buffalo Bisons, who are in first place by 11½ games over the second-place Leafs, have the extra game riding with them.

STOPPED BY CURFEW

Leafs and Marlins were not scheduled to meet each other again during the regular season and the game was removed from the records.

With a little more than one week left in the schedule, a few game series next week here between Leafs and Bisons could decide the pennant. Including Thursday night's games, Leafs have 12 contests left to play and Bisons 13.

A sweep of the series by either team would give it a decided edge. But should one of the teams take two of three in the series the unplayed Leaf-Miami game could have a bearing on the pennant winner.

Leafs also have seven games remaining at home while Bisons have three and four at Rochester. Leafs have a Monday open date scheduled for Buffalo.

Bisons play five games at Montreal and the five others here.

On the season, Leafs have defeated Rochester 10 times while losing five. They have a 10-7 won-lost record against Buffalo.

One thing the Toronto management is aiming at is a berth in the little world series which pits the International League champions against the winners of the American Association playoffs.

BATTLE FOR FOURTH

Neither Toronto nor Buffalo will find it a cinch to use Montreal or Rochester as a springboard to the pennant. Royals and Red Wings are engaged in a hot battle with Havana Sugar Kings for the fourth and last playoff berth.

Unpopular Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Charley Joseph, 158, New Orleans, Thursday night won a unanimous but unpopular decision over Charley (Tombstone) Smith, 158½, Los Angeles, and California welterweight champion, in a 10-round bout at Olympic Auditorium.

Smith, although fighting out of his division, had the advantage in height, reach and even weight. His eye bled in the first round.

Joseph, seventh ranking middleweight, suffered a severe cut over his left eye in the fourth and only after the ring doctor examined the cut was the fight allowed to proceed.

Go-Go Chicago White Sox Gone After Yankees Knock Them Over Three Straight

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The go-go Chicago White Sox are gone.

They put the heat on New York's slumping Yankees and the champs got hot, sweeping a three-game series and regaining a 6½-game American League lead with a 2-1 victory Thursday. Enos Slaughter's 11th - inning home run and five innings of one-hit shutout relief by sore-shouldered Whitey Ford did it.

Going into the set, White Sox had won six in a row and had their best—eight-decision Jim Wilson and Dick Donovan and southpaw Billy Pierce — rested and ready. Yankees, their pitching popped by Early, had lost five of seven on their final swing through the west.

A sweep would have put Sox within a few percentage points of Yanks and would have left the two clubs even in the loss column.

21 IS MAGIC NUMBER

The Bronx bandits, the Yankees' magic number is 22—any combination of New York victories and Chicago defeats totalling 22 games—still have to play one consecutive pennant; the eighth in nine years.

The double mop-up job was one of three games scheduled in the majors Thursday night in the American League. Boston downed Detroit 6-1 and Cleveland stopped Baltimore 4-3 before Baltimore by beating Orioles 13-4.

In the National League, where first-place Milwaukee also has a three-game series, the Braves resume play at Cincinnati tonight with Lew Burdette, second place Brooklyn is home to New York Giants. Third - place St. Louis is at Chicago.

BIG HOME RUNS

The big home run, as much a Yankee trade mark as ever, and clutch relief pitching swept White Sox out of town.

In the opener, it had been Yogi Berra's three-run homer in the eighth, cracked a 6-6 tie, and Bob Turley's relief that won it, 10-6.

In the second game, Hank Bauer's solo homer in the eighth provided the edge in a 2-1 victory as Turley again came on to save it.

In the finale, Bauer rapped his 16th home run in the third inning for the first Yank hit and then Slaughter's payoff punch beat reliever Bob Shaw after Shaw went all the way with an eight-hitter.

Bauer scored their run in the third-combining two of their four hits off starter Tom Sturdivant with Earl Torgeson's fly ball.

FORD IN RELIEF

Ford, the stubby southpaw who had been New York's ace a year ago but who's been sidelined by a persistent shoulder pain, came on in the seventh after Sturdivant lifted for a pinch-hitter. The only hit off Whitey, who struck out four while gaining on 84 record, was Larry Doby's single in the seventh.

Chicago had only his 15th victory on the third try for Red Sox, who completed the six hits. Boston's Frank Malzone drove in three runs, capping a two - run rally against loser Duke Markell with a sacrifice fly, and Jackie Jensen doubled home two.

Cleveland rapped four home runs—including two-run shots by Rocky Colavito and Woody Colavito while Mike Garcia was holding Baltimore to nine hits.

No Limit Seen On Grid Imports Within 2 Years

TORONTO (CP) — Unlimited importation of United States football players in Canada is less than two years away, Bill Ross, president of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union has predicted.

Ross said in an interview Wednesday he was not stating official Argonaut policy but merely giving his opinion as a close observer.

He said: "The way things are going I think we will have unlimited imports within two years. And I don't think the fans will object at all. They want better and better football and they'll demand it pretty soon."

Many club officials have said privately they believe they can field better teams at less salary expense by all-out importation.

The teams contend Canadian players are in a preferred position because the number of good ones is small. Consequently a club has to meet high salary demands of these players because they can't be replaced by competition for jobs.

WOULD CUT COSTS

Clubs maintain that all-out importation would cut salary costs because they can obtain better players for less money than they now are paying many of their Canadians.

James P. McCaffrey, general manager of Ottawa Rough Riders, last spring suggested that an unlimited importation of American linemen be allowed with 4 regulars maintained on halfbacks and quarterbacks.

The current average payroll for Canada's nine professional teams is estimated at more than $250,000.

Teams are limited to 12 imports on the field but carry unlimited numbers on reserve. The rest of the squad of 30 to 35 men are Canadians.

Import salaries are estimated to range between $7,000 and $15,000, with the Canadian player scale ranging from $3,000 for some rookies to the reported $11,000 paid to Normie Kwong of Edmonton.

ADJOURNS HEARING

NEW YORK (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Samuel S. Gerosa Tuesday adjourned until Sept. 16 a hearing on a motion for an order restraining New York Giants from moving their baseball franchise to San Francisco. The suit was brought by Julius November, an attorney who holds 10 shares of common and 50 shares of preferred stock in the Giants. He claims the move requires the approval of the stockholders.

Robinson Scores Decisive Victory in Nine-Day Battle

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Now I've got to concentrate on beating Carmen Basilio," said 'middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson today after scoring a decisive victory in the nine-day battle over theatre-television.

The crafty, veteran fighter said his winning fight was a mere guarantee for the closed circuit telecast "has been a great strain on me. I've lost weight and I've had to take sleeping pills. Now I've got to build up my strength. I don't want to disappoint Carmen on Sept. 23."

Robinson won decisively over both the promoting International Boxing Club and Theatre Network Television, Inc., at Thursday's five-hour meeting at the state athletic commission offices.

MET SUGAR RAY'S TERMS

He agreed again to defend his crown against Basilio at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23, after TNT president Nat Halpern met Robinson's terms on theatre-TV and the IBC spelled out the details for radio and movies.

Under the new theatre-TV pact, Robinson will collect a minimum guarantee of $250,000 from Telemeter Corp., favored by Sugar Ray, will be included in the deal. Basilio gets $60,000. Halpern said Carmen will be guaranteed a minimum of $110,000 against his 20 per cent. Robinson gets 45 per cent.

If the fight draws at least $750,000, as promoter James Norris expects it will, Robinson figures to collect over $600,000 and Basilio more than $200,000 with the gate, theatre-TV, radio and movies all included.

SHOPS FOR SLUGGER

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Lane, general manager of St. Louis Cardinals, was shopping around the American League Thursday for a hard-hitting outfielder who could give a lift to the slugging Cards.

Lane was talking with Yankee and White Sox officials and scanning the waiver lists for a player who "might give us a lift in September."

He was looking for some bench and admitted that the reserves had not been what either he or the team expected. Fred Hutchinson had hoped.

Calgary Stamps Unbeaten In Three Games Have Only One Contest Over Weekend

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Calgary Stampeders are sure of being in first place in the Western Interprovincial Football Union after the four-game Labor Day weekend schedule but three of the other four teams have an opportunity to grab a share of the top berth with them.

Coach Otis Douglas' Stamps, unbeaten in three games, play host to the winless Saskatchewan Roughriders Saturday night. Edmonton Eskimos, seeking their fourth straight Canadian title, entertain Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Alberta capital Monday night.

Blue Bombers, with one victory in four starts so far, play twice, kicking off the weekend with a game at Winnipeg against British Columbia Lions tonight.

Lions, with one win in three starts, play again Monday, battling Roughriders in Regina.

THE POSSIBILITIES

So it is possible for Edmonton, with two wins in three games so far, to match Calgary's six points if Stampeders lose to Saskatchewan.

Either Winnipeg or British Columbia could be Calgary by winning a pair.

Calgary Stampeders will not use quarterback Bobby Wirkowski, halfback Dean Renfro, tackle Ron Forzani and Ernie Warlick. The four were not included among the 34 American imports declared by Calgary Wednesday night but were put on the reserve list and can be involved in any of the 24 import changes allowed until Oct. 31.

BAACK 28, ILL

Saskatchewan may have to make an import change. Guard Ken Baack has come down with the flu and an infected midney.

Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy of Edmonton said a strained knee ligament suffered in Calgary last Saturday night by quarterback Don Getty "has us worried a most." Getty still has not resumed workouts.

But fullback Normie Kwong's bruised ribs are almost healed and halfback Rollie Miles, who had a sore back and halfback Earl Lunsford, who has seen no league action yet after suffering a strained ankle in a pre-season exhibition, are almost well again.

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you wish to find the best sport each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Havana Kings Knocked From First Division

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Red Wings didn't do anything Thursday but they can thank Richmond Vees for their being firmly ensconced in fourth place in the International League today. Vees tripped Havana Sugar Kings twice, knocking the Kings from the first division and a game behind Rochester.

Havana was on a strict run-scoring diet, getting only one as Richmond won 14-1 in a afternoon game and 1-0 in the night affair.

Miami Marlins and Columbus Jets split a doubleheader in the only other games. Columbus won the opener 3-0, with Marlins taking the nightcap 2-1.

THROWS TWO-HITTER

Richmond's Johnny James pitched a two-hit shutout in the night game at Havana, and batted in the only run with a single in the seventh inning. He had to be lifted in the eighth inning because of wildness. He walked six and hit two batsmen. Joe Hatten got it.

Willard Parsons, a Haligonian, checked Havana with six hits in the afternoon game, while Richmond got 17 off five Cuban hurlers.

Bob Blaylock's ninth - inning homer gave Miami and Saul Rogovin his 12th victory. Rogovin over Columbus after two Jets' homers and Marlins relief ace Dallas Pelgo in the opener.

Blaylock's blast broke a 1-1 tie that sent Jack Hall to defeat.

Ramon Mejias and R. C. Stevens hit homers for Vees, Mejias coming with one on that gave George O'Donnell the win. Pelgo pitched a five-hitter, O'Donnell a four-hitter.

Teuton Terror, Atkins Tackle the Kangaroos

Fritz von Erich, the Teuton Terror, and Fred Atkins, the Australian Hardrock, team up tonight at Belleville Memorial Arena to match wrestling holds and hard-chare-you against the sensational combo of Roy Heffernan and Al Costello.

The "Terror" and the "Rock" are the bad guys in case you haven't heard. They use every trick in the book and many that are not. Heffernan and Costello, billed as the "Fabulous Kangaroos" by their fans, are the heroes. And a more rugged pair of heroes you will never see. When these four tangle in the ring, along with the man in white who in most cases should also have a white cane, the fans can look forward to another full scale brawl.

The opening bout is scheduled for 9.00 p.m.

On the Tracks

FORT ERIE (CP)—J. P. Mackley's Black Record, urged on by Jockey Avelino Gomez, gave new and then came on again to beat the 22-to-1 shot, Finical, Thursday in the featured Crescent Purse before a crowd of 5,180.

Racing ends here Saturday with the $10,000 added Niagara Stakes and returns to Tuxedo courses for the balance of the season, opening Monday at Old Woodbine.

Black Record raced the last eighth of a mile with Finical, dropped behind slightly inside the stayed pole but came up with a burst to win by a neck in 1:11 3-5. First Aid finished third.

Two of the two others, on Windy Wilds in the first and with Light Traffic in the seventh.

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Hal Hursley of Hamilton has signed to coach St. Catharines Levers of the Niagara District Senior B Hockey League.

Hursley played with Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League for seven years.

Juniors Meet Niagara Falls OBA Playdowns

Niagara Falls will meet the Belleville Juniors here at the fairgrounds on Sunday afternoon at 3.30 in the first game of their OBA Junior "A" playdown series, it was announced this morning.

Belleville will make the return trip on the following weekend but at the present time it is not known whether that game will be played on Saturday or Sunday.

This is the All-Ontario semi-finals since only four teams remain in the title quest. The winners of the Belleville-Niagara Falls series, a two-of-three affair, will meet the victors of a similar series between Chatham and Hamilton for the provincial championship.

The Belleville team was organized a short while ago by the players themselves and did not participate in a league. They are paying all of their own expenses and would appreciate the support of the fans in the opening game here Sunday afternoon.

Included on the team roster is Teddy Batchelor, Gerry Guyer, Chuck Kingston, who organized the team, Gordie St. Louis, Ab Wright, Bobby Hull, Bill Foster, Jackie Elliott, Leo St. Denis, "Dobber" Walmsley, Cameron Bookard, Bob and Gordie Vaughan.

The team has practised several times a week for the past month and held the Prince Edward McFarland, a strong intermediate club, to a 4-4 tie in an exhibition game not long ago.

While the strength of the Niagara Falls team is unknown the local boys are expected to put up a strong fight in quest of the OBA title. Many of the players were members of last year's juvenile team which captured the provincial championship.

Storm Blowing Up

Unlimited Importation Only Two Years Away Says President of Argo Squad

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

A country - wide storm is blown up over a report that unlimited importation of American football players into Canada — to boost the standard of the Canadian game — is only two years away.

Bill Ross, president of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four, sparked the row in an interview Thursday, where he predicted that unlimited importation is less than two years away because fans want "better and better football and they'll demand it pretty soon."

Ross received mild support from James P. McCaffrey, general manager of Ottawa Rough Riders, who said: "I feel the Canadian players are getting too expensive. We can get better United States linemen for less money than we now pay for our Canadians."

AGAINST THE IDEA

But in football camps, both in the East and West, including Ottawa coach Frank Clair, there is firm stand against the suggestion.

Clair were united in agreeing unlimited importation would cut the incentive for young Canadians aspiring to play big time football.

Frank Ivy, coach of Edmonton Eskimos, three-time Grey Cup champions, and Jim Russell, president of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, were against the idea.

And Ben Jess Pringle, registrar of the Canadian Rugby Union's junior football committee, and Arnie Morrison, president of the Ottawa and District Football Conference, are unlimited importation of American players would spell the end of Canadian players.

IVY IS BLUNT

Said Ivy bluntly: "If the people don't want Canadian kids playing football in any league, then unlimited importation is the best way to stop them."

Jim Russell insisted that unlimited importation is less than two years away.

"I think there has been no forward thinking and planning put into the development of Canadian players that you will see it advanced, not curtailed" he said.

Frank Clair said he would not agree to unlimited importation. "We have many very good backs who are close to or just as good as Americans."

HEAVY PATROLLS

Canada's nine professional football teams spend an average of more than $1,000 a player every year.

Teams are allowed 12 imports on the field, but can carry unlimited numbers in reserve until mid-October. The rest of the 30 to 35-man squads are Canadians. Salaries range from $7,000 to $12,000 for imports while Canadians get from $2,000 to the reported $11,000 paid Edmonton's Normie Kwong.

New 8-Team Loop Proposed For Senior Play

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (CP)—Ty Smart, manager of Soo Indians, said Thursday a movement has started to organize a new eight-team Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior group.

Indians, along with Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds, North Bay Trappers and Sudbury Wolves formed the Senior NOHA last year. Wolves and Greyhounds entered a new all-Ontario senior circuit last week. Trappers said they would not operate this year and Indians refused to join the new league.

Smart listed Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Iron River, Ironwood, Copper Cliff, Temiskaming, Manchette, Mich., North Bay, and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., as possible entries.

U.S. Walker Cup Team Favored Over British

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—The favored United States Walker Cup team, backed by a record of nearly unbroken success in the British-American amateur golf rivalry, today sent a corps of hardened competitors against Britain's "team of the future."

Leading off for the U.S. in the opener of four Scotch foursome matches were Billy Joe Patton, the belting lumberman, and Rex Baxter, 21-year-old national intercollegiate champ.

Paired against them were lanky Joe Carr of Ireland and Dr. Frank Deighton of Scotland.

BRITISH GAMBLE

The decision of captain Gerald Micklem to spread his top players in different foursomes indicated an eagerness to try for early surprises.

For instance, he might have paired Carr with British amateur champion Reid Jack as the safest way to get at least one point today.

In the Scotch foursomes, partners from each team alternate strokes with one ball. The American players have won 16 of the 15 previous Walker Cup matches.

HITS DOUBLE CENTURY

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)—Bruce Lang, captain of the touring Ottawa Valley Cricket Council side, Thursday scored 203 runs in his side's first-wicket stand of 277 against Lincoln County All-Stars.

Ottawa declared at 365 for five and Lincoln had scored 119 for five when stumps were drawn.

Miiko Taka, Oriental Actress, Got Star Role by Chance

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It has all been a dream. Even if nothing else happened in my career, I would be satisfied."

This is the realistic statement by Miiko Taka, who suddenly found herself thrust from obscurity to the position of Marlon Brando's leading lady. And she faces the possibility of a return to obscurity with an Oriental calm.

"I realize there are not many opportunities for Oriental actresses in Hollywood," she remarked.

Miiko is that Hollywood rarity — a natural. She had no previous acting experience, not even in school ("I was always too shy.") But she was pronounced perfect for the role as Brando's sweetheart in James Michener's Sayonara.

CHANCE

She got the job purely by chance.

"A year ago I was attending the anhual Nisei Festival in Los Angeles," said Miiko, who was born in Seattle a year ago here.

It happened that a Warner Brothers talent scout was prowling the festival for the Sayonara part. The studio had looked for one in Japan, but couldn't find one who fit the part and could handle English. Warners was considering the casting of a non-Oriental, perhaps Audrey Hepburn.

The scout tabbed Miiko as a possibility, but she cast aside his proposal for an interview at the studio.

"But that weekend, I went to see the movie, The King and I," she related. "I was much impressed by the meeting of the two cultures—the East and the West.

WEST MEET' EAST

"I had also gone to Japan after the war to visit my parents' homeland, and had impressed me how traditional everything is over there, and how it is the reverse here. I thought there should be some meeting of the two ways of life. I had read Sayonara and thought perhaps the picture might help to bring that about."

So she went to the studio. Her first reading of the role was hesitant, but she impressed the bigwigs with her beauty and sincerity. When she read with Marlon Brando, she knew she did poorly.

"Then he took me into a room and told me to do the scene thinking of him as Marlon Brando," she recalled. "That seemed rather strange to me, but I tried it and it worked.

She got the job. She gave up her post as an office worker in a travel agency for $60 a week and moved into a star's dressing room at Warners.

Miiko seems tall for a Japanese girl—she's five feet six and well proportioned. She's 24, attended Los Angeles High School. During the war, she went with her family to a Japanese relocation camp at Gila Bend, Ariz.

At The Belle

Warners' Re-release of James Dean Films also Jayne Mansfield Wood and Sal Mineo.

In answer to popular demand Warner Bros. has decided to release the two films which paved the way for stardom for James Dean the winner of a special Best Actor Oscar nomination for "East of Eden", "East of Eden" and "Rebel Without a Cause". The double-feature program is running Today and Saturday at the Belle Theatre.

"East of Eden", which won an Academy Award nomination for Dean in his very first screen role, was filmed from the novel by John Steinbeck. It is concerned for Youth approaching manhood, whose love is rejected by his father and the dramatic problems that ensue. For his performance, Dean won the hearts of theatre goers all over the country and the first annual Audience Award poll as well.

Among the other splendid actors and actresses assembled and directed by Elia Kazan were Julie Harris, Raymond Massey, Burl Ives and Van Fleet.

Following his meteoric success in "East of Eden", Dean was cast as a troubled teenager in "Rebel Without a Cause", a timely drama of violence among the youth of today. His portrayal was said to have exerted a great deal of influence in better understanding of the nation's teenage problems.

Seen along with Dean in "Rebel Without a Cause", are in Technicolour are Natalie Wood and Sal Mineo.

"East of Eden" and "Rebel Without a Cause" are in Technicolor and CinemaScope.

'Your Hit Parade' Ready To Unveil New Look in Fall

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—That hardy old saw about "Hit Parade" is always perennial, Your Hit Parade, is ready to unveil a new sound and some new singers.

"I think you'll find a lot of subtle change," said Don Walker, the new band leader in preview summary.

The show's magic talent overhaul extends Sept. 7 in color television over the NBC network. Four new spotlight singers and a new slant on the music are chief elements of the show's biggest shakeup since the program hit TV in 1950. Prior to that it rolled up 15 years on radio.

"Previously there was a reworking of the format every three years or so," said one of the show's staff. "The TV model, however, hasn't changed until now."

BASIC AIM THE SAME

The basic aim, however, "is still the same—we'll be playing the top tunes."

Walker, 36 - year - old veteran composer and arranger involved with 76 Broadway shows in 20 years, discloses, however, that the band will no longer play the seven most popular ditties in imitation of the best-selling record version.

"Records have been getting loaded with more and more gimmicks," he says, "and it's impossible to imitate them in a studio." The approach now will be "more theatrical."

Best known of the group is 22-year-old Jill Corey, daughter of

Rookie Manager Back With Tigers Another Year

DETROIT (CP)—Detroit Tigers Thursday ended speculation on manager Jack Tighe's future by announcing the 44-year-ol rookie manager would be back in 1958.

"We are well pleased with Jack Tighe's work this season," said general manager John J. McHale. "He has done a good job and we made the announcement now so everyone can make plans for next season."

Tigers, picked to finish second in the American League, are now in fourth place.

Tighe's contract is believed to call for a salary of about $27,000.

The new pact is a one-year deal. Tigers long have had a policy against granting more than one-year contracts.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, August 31, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — This could be an interesting day if you help to make it so. If you are lackadaisical, however, you will probably look back on it to[illegible] as much time wasted in procrastination? You should have a pleasant day.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — There's no time like today for today's chores. Take everything in Taurus' inimitably philosophical manner. Don't be discouraged over disappointments; they come to all; are often blessings in disguise.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — You will have to work up more incentive and apply yourself steadily if you want to put this day over in a really big way. Avoid a tendency toward complacency, wasting effort on non-essentials. Think!

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — If you are not sure of the tactics or methods to use, review the situation again. And don't hesitate to ask the opinions of those with experience. But be neither unnerved nor pessimistic.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Hold that line! Wait before you voice that statement to be sure it isn't too sharp, short, critical—or ill-timed. You may save time and feelings by going a little slower.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — You may be tempted to change your course unwisely, or to shift from one task to another without giving sufficient time to either. Try to avoid this. Set yourself a steady pace and proceed with ease of manner.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Wishing won't accomplish anything; neither will unsteadily if you make it a habit. The same middle road followed consistently will carry you happily through. Hints to Virgo helpful now.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Tried and true methods will be best today. Do not go from one extreme to another. Make use of your fine talents to overcome obstacles, break down "stone walls."

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — You have especially fine planetary configurations today, but if others around you don't seem up to par, you may have to be extra patient, tolerant. Emphasize your happy disposition.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Don't speak too quickly. Get situations first, determine facts carefully. Be eager to improve in all departments and to use free time sensibly. You can make this a banner day.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Give some of your spare time to plans for the future, to analysis and better organization of your private affairs. Don't over-tax yourself but maintain an even pace in the interest of happiness and health.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — You are among the few today whose planetary aspects are very good. You will be able to do more than you think. Anyway, a'm high. Remember that others may feel hampered, so be patient.

You born today have splendid reasoning faculties; are keen, discriminating. You are instinctively constructive about everything and this trait causes you to be too critical of others at times. Be reminded that no one is perfect. You could excel in art, music, literature, home - making. In the latter connection, don't be too demanding.

STASSEN HURRIES

Before his plane took off from London, Stassen told reporters that delegates to the disarmament talks "are closer together now than we have been for the last 11 years."

Officials here, however, saw no reason for concluding optimism. Spokesmen at the state department tends to concern itself with the question of the future. Russians are up to in the light of the tough line they have taken since May 10. At that time they asserted they had successfully tested an intercontinental ballistic missile capable of hitting a target anywhere in the world. They followed this up Tuesday with a blast at Western disarmament proposals as presented up to that time.

In the same vein Thursday Zorin bluntly told Stassen and his Western colleagues that he saw nothing of value in the 11-point package proposition for a first-step disarmament agreement.

AFTER SOMETHING

The reaction suggested Moscow now is after objectives which it cannot reach through the London talks.

U.S. officials say the Russians want to avoid any agreement in the present five-power group to include several other countries, among them a bloc of neutrals from Eastern Europe and probably India. Though neutralist in over-all policy, India sometimes shares Soviet views on disarmament and Red China.

Another U.S. speculation is that Russia intends to be content harder than before its propaganda campaign for a long-term suspension of nuclear tests, apart from any other agreement to reduce and control armaments.

DRUGGISTS FACE

These are stores which will be prosecuted.

Dr. Morrell said he "hears rumors, and gets reports," of a barbiturates problem in Canada but it is very difficult to trace any of the rumors to get any proof.

The department is trying to obtain information to pin down where there is a problem, he said. The police can help by providing evidence.

"Rumors do not help the department," he said.

There are a "vast" number of drugs not on the prescription list, Dr. Morrell added. Many tranquilizers are not on the list because there is no evidence that they are misused or harmful to health.

NOT SERIOUS

K. E. C. Hanick, director of the narcotics control division of the health department, said there is a problem with narcotics in Canada, but the "problem is not serious."

He said a Senate committee report in the United States indicated that penalties be made more severe; that compulsory lengthy imprisonment be meted out to traffickers or addicts, and that penalties for pushers be imposed on second offenders.

TECHNOLOGICAL

For highways, the study says future developments probably will be in the field of improvement of their quality rather than their extension, with the main construction in the Canadian North.

Dealing with pipelines, it says it is expected Montreal and Toronto will eventually each be served by Canadian crude oil brought from the west to get their crude mainly by water.

Of the St. Lawrence Seaway, it says it is doubtful if vessels bring substantial transportation savings, though costs will not be estimated accurately now.

But it would cause some temporary dislocation and render some facilities obsolete.

Some of the Ontario ports which have benefited as milling in-transit points for grain would be adversely affected if others would be eliminated.

RAIL POSITION SCANNED

The study expresses some doubt as to whether railway freight rates could continue to be used as instruments of national policy. It says that the present government-backed "policy of rate equalization means losses incurred in some regions because of higher operating costs would have to be made up elsewhere. National objectives were becoming more and more difficult to achieve through rail rates, because of the loss of much of the railways' former monopoly position.

"Further attempts to do so can only result in a progressive weakening of the railways' ability to compete effectively with other carriers."

IRA MOVES AGAIN

BELFAST (Reuters) — Irish nationalists Thursday night blew up a small telephone exchange near Londonderry, cutting off service to 1,000 subscribers. Police said members of the outlawed Irish Republican Army touched off the explosion. Damage to the building and equipment was extensive. It was the first IRA incident in 10 days.

Natural Gas to Move Through New 650-Mile B.C. Pipeline Costing 17 Million by Sept.

COQUIHALLA, B. C. (CP)—Pipelines built through mountainous areas are scathing some of British Columbia's oldest legends—that the B.C. interior is full of vast, impenetrable fastnesses.

Four years ago Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company completed a 711-mile pipeline from Edmonton to Vancouver. The $80,000,000 line carries crude oil through Alberta prairies, the Canadian Rockies, the ranchlands of interior B.C. and the Fraser Valley.

"Although most of the line is through mountainous terrain," the company said at the time of building, "apart from the Cascade Range's Coquihalla Pass (125 miles east of Vancouver) and a few other critical places the location is reasonable for construction of a pipeline."

Now Westcoast Transmission Company has completed the first major natural gas pipeline to be built in Canada. Construction of the $170,000,000 line began in October, 1955, and gas will be moving through it by Sept. 1.

The 650-mile line starts in the Peace River country of northwestern Alberta and northeastern B.C. and ends at the International boundary 46 miles south east of Vancouver.

Through some stretches of the Coquihalla Pass, the 24-inch oil and 30-inch gas pipeline run side by side, occasionally cross.

D. R. Pfing, Westcoast's chief engineer, says the fact the builders encountered "no major difficulties will tend to dispel some preconceived ideas regarding the climate, terrain and remoteness of British Columbia."

Another company official described construction problems as "similar to those encountered in the small hills of New England and in the lowlands of some southern states.

Westcoast's line runs almost directly south through the province.

From the northern terminus at Fort St. John, B.C., in the Peace River grain - growing belt, the route swings south through low-level farming region of the Fraser Valley.

The 650-mile pipeline was divided into four sections or "spreads" for construction purposes, and the most difficult was considered to be the 110-mile southernmost leg.

The contractor on this spread, which includes a rugged stretch through the Coquihalla Pass, was Mannix, Limited, of Calgary.

When the spread's last pipe was welded in July superintendent Vic Williams—who gets home to his Oregon ranch for only a month in the winter—drew a long sigh of relief.

"No, this isn't the toughest line I've been on," he said. "I've seen worse in Virginia.

"But it's been bad enough lately," he said, looking over the side of a deep - rutted narrow mountain access road to the Coquihalla River, a trickle 4,500 feet below. The sun glinted on the Cascades' snow - capped peaks.

"This is the first day without rain we've had in three weeks," he said, slapping at a horde of mosquitoes. "But we've completed this spread without getting anyone killed. Not even a major accident."

More than 80 per cent of the terrain through which the pipeline passes is covered with forests of spruce, pine and fir.

There are seven major river crossings, five by aerial spans and two submerged, and 70 over smaller streams.

Although the route runs through nearly 500 miles of provincial and federal lands, contracts had to be negotiated with more than 1,150 B.C. landowners —whose holdings ranged from town lots to ranches of nearly 1,000,000 acres—to provide "easements," allowing the pipe to be laid.

The initial flow of the pipeline will be 400,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day, three-quarters of it to be export to the United States, mainly for Washington and Oregon.

B.C. communities from Fort St. John, down the Fraser and over to Kamloops, the Okanagan Valley and West Kootenays, and the lower B.C. mainland will have a new fuel. Industrial developments expected to be stimulated are pulp and paper, cement, metallurgical, chemical, processing and food-canning.

Some Hungarians Want to Return To Homeland

OTTAWA (CP)—Some of the 23,000 Hungarians who fled to Canada after the revolutionary uprisings in the homeland last November say they now want to go home. So the government has under consideration a plan to help them fly back, it was learned Friday.

Immigration and External affairs officials say the number involved is small. Roy Shaeffer, in Canada employed by the Polish legation to run its Hungarian affairs division, estimates the number at some 1,800.

Language and economic factors themselves cited as already-settled Hungarians they had been happy. But those without access to clubs and churches where to Hungarian was spoken and those who had to depend on officially provided interpreters, had encountered difficulty in settling.

Federal officials said it was bound to happen that in such a large group there would be some who would want to return. "If they could see how happy in Canada the country would be better off without them.

The plan under consideration is to make available the space in government - chartered aircraft going empty to Europe to pick up Hungarian refugees in Europe who are awaiting transportation to Canada.

Three or four flights are made each month by government-chartered Maritime Central Airways aircraft.

Complete Work Of Air Bridge

LONDON (CP) — Organizers of "air bridge to Canada" officially closed the books today on the largest emigrant airlift in aviation history.

With four weekend flights, three from London airport and one from Prestwick, the plan sponsored by the Canadian government and the transatlantic traffic carrying 17,000 persons to Toronto, Winnipeg, Montreal and Vancouver.

The plan to fly emigrants to Canada was conceived in February and the first flight took off March 15.

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: A large high pressure area responsible for fine weather shows little sign of movement over Ontario but warmer and more humid air is moving northward west of the Great Lakes causing rain and thunderstorms as far north as Lake Superior. On Sunday a more easterly movement of the warmer air will result in mostly cloudy skies with showers and scattered thunderstorms over Ontario.

Buyers Have 30 Years To Pay at Six P.C.

WASHINGTON (AP) — American legislators were streaming home today to get the verdict on their 1957 labors and to rest up for what probably will be a rough session when they reassemble next January.

The first session of the 85th United States Congress closed into final Friday with an history-like civil rights bill passed, but with much of President Eisenhower's Republican legislative program gone until next year.

Final adjournment came after the longest legislative session since 1951, during the Korean War.

Eisenhower last week expressed himself as "tremendously disappointed" by the failure of his first congressional session of his second term. Democrats hold 64 of the 96 seats in the Senate and 234 in the House.

But the weary senators and representatives could look back on an eight-month session that left its mark on many of the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine was approved by passage of the first civil rights bill in more than 80 years.

HOUSING PROBLEMS

In their 1958 election-year session they will be faced with a wide variety of major problems, many of them postponed from this year. These will include tax relief, extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, natural gas regulation, control of union welfare and pension funds, liberalization of the social security laws, farm relief and extension of the public housing program.

Democratic leaders disagreed with Eisenhower's assessment of disappointment.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said he believes that on reflection the president "will find that the record of this Congress was as fine as any he can recall and that it passed many substantial bills than the first session during his first administration."

House leader John McCormack of Massachusetts called it "one of the greatest congresses this country has ever had."

Railways Amend Rate Application

MONTREAL (CP) — The Railway Association of Canada Friday filed with the board of transport commissioners an amendment to its Brandtbridge application for an increase in freight rates.

The board was asked to consider the amendment would be 10 per cent higher than at present, with increases on a variety of 15 cents per ton on coal and coke.

The application now before the board was filed originally April 10, 1956, and was decided in part by two interim orders. Final hearing is scheduled Sept. 24.

Canadians Smoke Like Chimneys, Drink Like Fish, Statistics Show

LONDON (CP)—A British publication says Canadians smoke like chimneys, drink like fish and rank high among pre-world drug addicts. What's more, it has the statistics to prove it.

The survey published by The Economist shows Canadians smoke 5.8 pounds of tobacco per head every year, barely nosing out United States citizens at 5.7 pounds. Britons consumes 4.8 pounds while the Italian gets by on 3.2.

Belgians are the world champion beer-drinkers, putting away 30.8 gallons apiece annually to 22.8 for the average Australian, 21.5 for the New Zealander and 17.8 for the Briton. Canadians rank seventh with 13.3 gallons apiece, just ahead of the Americans' 11.1.

On hard stuff, Canadian needs 40 gallons of spirits a year to quench a thirst exceeded in intensity only by that of the American (.49 gallons), the German (.52), the Netherlander (.48) and the Australian (.46).

The Economist apologizes for putting Canada at the head of a 9-country list of drug addicts—figures are not available for Japan and the Middle East, where the rate is known to be higher, but says its lawless, ill-policed society its laws. It employs only 1.1 policemen to keep an eye on every 1,000 inhabitants while Frenchmen employ 3.0 and even the traditionally law-abiding Britons require 1.5.

RABBITS THAT WEIGH 17 POUNDS

Seven-year-old Debra Reach of Pomona, Calif., holds two Flemish giant rabbits, weighing 17 pounds each, and less than half grown. They will be exhibited at the rabbit show during the Pomona exposition, and if they aren't the best rabbits in the show, they will likely be the biggest.

Once-Powerful V. M. Molotov Banished to Outer Mongolia

MOSCOW (AP)—V. M. Molotov who won international prominence as chief of Soviet diplomats, was named today to the minor—and remote—diplomatic post of ambassador to Outer Mongolia.

The government announcement of the new job for the former premier and foreign minister was the second assignment of a loser in the recent Kremlin shakeup by Nikita Khrushchev. The Soviet Communist party chief earlier sent former premier George Malenkov off to run a power station in far-off Kazakhstan, just west of Mongolia.

Outer Mongolia's capital, Ulan Bator is about 3,000 miles from Moscow and almost 1,000 miles north of Peiping, the Red China capital.

As ambassador to the Mongolian People's Republic, Molotov technically will handle Russian foreign relations with a country of somewhat more than 1,000,000 people. A majority of the population are dwelling nomadic herdsmen, little advanced from the days when Genghis Khan set forth from Mongolia to scourge the civilized world.

Russia has been trying to get Mongolia into the United Nations, but many UN members refuse to recognize it as an independent state.

At 67, Molotov is reported in poor health. He is one of the few remaining "Old Bolsheviks" companions of Stalin. His record includes the premier's post from 1930 to 1941 and foreign ministment of the time from 1939 to 1953.

After Stalin died in 1953 Molotov began to slip from power. He was minister of state control in the July turnover came.

Molotov and Malenkov lost their communist party and government jobs after Khrushchev scuttled them at plotting against his leadership. Also ousted were Lazar Kaganovich, first deputy premier, and Dmitri Shepilov, foreign minister after Molotov and co-editor of Pravda.

The government said the fallen leaders would be used "according to their professional abilities."

There is a report that Kaganovich, long Russia's leading economic expert and industrial troubleshooter, has been assigned to run a cement factory in the Urals. There has been no word on a new job for Shepilov.

Diplomats in London regard Molotov's assignment as a political exile job aimed at keeping him away from Moscow contacts. The job is considered as having little importance, and diplomatic relations between Russia and Outer Mongolia are at a low ebb anyway.

A recent rumor had said Molotov would be named ambassador to Argentina. Observers noted, however, that in Mongolia he is 3,000 miles out of the way while still within complete Soviet power. Some thought that it soothe Molotov he might have been tempted to defect.

Red Rejection of Arms Plan Seen as Propaganda Blunder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some informed United States officials are saying privately that Russia blundered in its rejection under the Western proposal this week for a first-stage disarmament plan.

That view is based on the belief in official quarters that the disarmament plan left it caught up in the first round of an all-out propaganda fight, with a good chance for the effect of blame for the breakdown of negotiations at London.

Although the London talks have not actually ended, some official circles here think the point of breakdown has been reached.

Some authorities think even though all major points of the Western package of proposals to the Russians, it would have been a better move for Soviet delegate Valerin Zorin to receive the plan quietly and promise full consideration.

They suggest the possibility that the Russians may be preoccupied at the moment with some propaganda purpose other than developing a basis for disarmament agreement, or who is to blame for the situation in London.

One speculation is that with Eisenhower's announcement last Monday that he would go to the head of a new effort to get disarmament results and the tough line they have been following in the London talks recently, the Russians want to impress the rest of the world with their military power and their confidence in it.

Govt. Limits Souvenir Sale To Three Months

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has put a three-month time limit on the sale of souvenirs for the October visit to Ottawa of Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

A statement issued Friday by State Secretary Ellen Fairclough said designs bearing a facsimile graph or representation of the Queen, Prince Philip, the royal arms, royal crown and royal cypher may be offered for sale in Canada only from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31.

The announcement also said royal photographs and emblems may not be reproduced on articles of use, except scarves, kerchiefs and neckties; household linens and furnishing materials; paper or other material which may be used for wrapping purposes; adhesive tape, seals and labels and articles, utensils or containers designed to assist the sale of other articles.

Mrs. Fairclough said the statement summarized "existing policy governing the reproduction in the design of articles for sale and the display in newspapers, magazines or other publications, by commercial firms, of photographs or representations of Her Majesty the Queen or members of the Royal Family, or representations of royal emblems."

While the statement made no mention of penalties for violations of the policy, federal law officials said prosecutions could be launched under two sections of the Criminal Code.

FEDERAL SURPLUS IS $258,000,000 SAYS FLEMING

Fourth Highest In Govt's History

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government's 1956-57 budget surplus was more than twice former finance minister Harry Harris' original estimate and $34,000,000 less than his last prediction.

Final figures for the year ended last March 31, made public Friday, showed a surplus of $258,000,000 against $113,000,000 forecast by Mr. Harris in his last budget and $282,000,000 estimated by him last March.

It was the fourth-highest surplus in the government's history, exceeded only by the fiscal years that ended in 1947, 1948, and 1949. The top was the $678,000,000 of 1947-48.

Announcing the cleanup figures for the 1956-57 accounts, new Finance Minister Donald Fleming said the government took in $3,107,000,000 and had budget spending of $4,849,000,000.

CRITICIZES LIBERAL

In his first announcement of full fiscal year figures, the Progressive Conservative finance minister observed that the surplus would have been $258,000,000 had Mr. Harris tucked away a couple of $50,000,000 items into current budget accounts. Progressive Conservatives have considered should not be done.

It was for a reserve for losses on the realization of assets and the other a special government contribution to the civil service superannuation fund. These have been criticized by opponents on the ground they give effectively over a period of years, rather than the period of a single budget.

Conservatives have claimed that by charging up the $100,000,000 against one year's accounts, the Liberal government inherited a surplus of only the equivalent amount of potential tax cuts.

Hidden 11 Years, Mussolini's Body Finally Buried

PREDAPPIO, Italy (AP) — The dismembered body of Benito Mussolini, which had been hidden for 11 years, was reburied here today with a last die-hard Fascist salute.

A few hundred of the late dictator's old - time Fascists donned black shirts, formed ranks and black banners and kneeled before Il Duce's tomb with the old stiff-arm salute.

"We swear," they pledged aloud, "that we will continue to follow the teachings of Il Duce."

Then Mussolini's widow and two Mussolini sons bore took the funeral calmly. When the funeral mass began Donna Rachele stood pale shopping in the town church Mass gathered in St. Casciano cemetery.

Donna Rachele, 70 - year - old widow of the dictator, stood silently before the light - colored marble sarcophagus that contained two separate sacks the body of her husband who died with his mistress by a popular demonstration at the end of the war.

Will Not Even Qualify a Phrase Of His Criticism of Queen's Court

LONDON (Reuters)—Lord Altrincham, 33-year-old peer who claimed Britain's Queen's court, of Queen Elizabeth, today refused to withdraw the latest issue of his magazine the National and English Review.

"I stand every word that I wrote and I have no intention of withdrawing a picture of Lilibet Queen's home in Scotland, Balmoral Castle, on the cover, commented Lord Altrincham's 2,000-word rebuttal to his critics.

Altrincham denied that he had insulted the Queen when he referred to her style of speaking as "a pain in the neck", her personality as "unfortunate" and her speeches as that of "a priggish schoolgirl" and to the court as containing too many members of the "tweedy set."

He said that there was too little spontaneity in her public appearances, and that there is a fair and reasonable criticism," he said.

In other words, the Queen's own character is being overlaid by artificiality, which under her speech - writers are trying to create."

He also denied that in criticizing the composition of the court he was criticizing that the Queen's personal choice of friends. "I explicitly said that this was not a legitimate matter for public comment," the peer added.

Dust Wall Hits Soldiers 6 Miles From Atom Bomb

Most Elaborate Test Blast In Season's Series in U.S.

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., (AP) — A powerful atomic blast rocketed a 700-foot tower in a gigantic, purple - rimmed fireball today while a force of six clear-age infantry watched.

A wall of dust and an earthshaking shock wave hit the 7,000 foot soldiers taking part in the 1957 maneuver called the Desert Rock VI Exercise. Operation Plumbbob's 1957 set series.

The blast, 15th at the Yucca flat test site this year, came at 5:30 a.m. PDT (8:30 a.m. EDT).

The flash from the explosion was visible over a large area of the western United States.

Atomic scientists said that today's shot, named Smoky, was more powerful than the one which shattered Hiroshima in 1945. It was rated as being equal to more than 20,000 tons of TNT. Grass and trees at the test site area caught fire as the explosion lashed across the desert.

Troops originally slated to be in trenches only 4,500 yards from the tower, were pulled back the early morning hours, because of fallout problems. They are some 11,500 yards away from ground zero.

TEST RADIOACTIVITY

Part of the mushroom cloud rose from the churning fireball, rockets were fired into the area to help disperse radioactivity.

In addition to the military maneuvers, elaborate civil defense and scientific tests were conducted during and after the blast. Two hundred mice were imprisoned in French- and German-designed blast shelters constructed in the desert at varying ranges from the 700-foot tower. A contingent of fire chiefs were on hand to test decontamination equipment and clothing that will be exposed to the blast to test the effects of shock waves on humans.

PICK UP SOLDIERS

As soon as the blast area was pronounced safe from contamination big army helicopters roared over the desert, landed near the knoll and loaded aboard 700 soldiers, including a Canadian battalion.

The copters took the men to new positions in the blast area for manoeuvres the army said were to test tactical concepts which will fit the needs of nuclear warfare."

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Senate Friday officially set aside next Tuesday as the day it would begin debate on bills to grant statehood to Hawaii and Alaska.

Navstad States West Still Has Edge Over Reds

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad assured the West Friday it still has an edge over the Kremlin despite Russia's claim of firing an intercontinental ballistic missile.

The Allied supreme commander in Europe issued his statement, apparently to reassure the United States' NATO allies, as reports from Washington said the Russians had tested not one but at least four such missiles.

"I have no reason to doubt that the U.S.S.R. has tested a ballistic missile," Norstad's statement said. "However, an operational weapon for the range contemplated must still be a long way off.

"Meanwhile, the advantage rests, and will continue to rest, incontrovertibly with the NATO powers because of their clear superiority in manned aircraft.

"Likewise, too, the West is successfully bringing along longrange ballistic missiles in its own time. In the meantime, they will join the deterrent and there is, therefore, no reason for the NATO community to be disconcerted by the Soviet announcement."

The Allied commander said experience has shown that there always was a big time lag between testing a prototype and the production of ballistic missile which would be reliable at strategic range.

The shotgun used in the charges were filed against 40-year-old Nathanial Benson, who fired into a band of armed riders from which they demanded that he come out of the house.

ATTEMPT TO PASS COUNTERFEIT MONEY MAY BE MADE

City and provincial police were advised late Friday afternoon that a possible attempt to pass counterfeit money may be made after banks were closed.

The bills in $5, $10 and $20 denominations were said to be good reproductions although the color was a-bit on the light side. It was expected attempts to pass the counterfeit money would be made in the larger centres of the province.

HEAVY HOLIDAY TRAFFIC IN CITY

Despite a heavy influx of traffic which was expected to pass through the city last night, both provincial and city police reported no accidents of a serious nature.

The only mishap reported was at Marysville this morning involving two passenger cars. Damage was said to have been only a couple of dented fenders caused in a collision at the intersection of Highways No. 2 and 503 at Marysville.

Police Blotter

Break-ins continued to plague city police during the night with three entries made, one of which resulted in ten cases of cokes and $5 cash from a coke machine being taken.

Bishop Seeds on Station street was entered with desks and filing cabinets being ransacked and a ring of keys taken. Padlocks, poles, complete with lines and beds, as well as an expensive pair of binoculars being taken.

Third entry was at the Sea Cadet barracks where coke was taken and the coke machine forced to get at the money.

This impressive view of the shadow of Rome's historic Colliseum shows the carpet of light cast by torches held aloft by 30,000 youths, delegates to the Catholic Youth Workers' congress, as they marched through the gates, plus tens of thousands of spectators, jammed St. Peter's square to hear an address by Pope Pius XII.

Evidence on Assault Charge Against Union Member Heard

Charged with common assault against a local Grills Dairy milkman, Gerald Harrison, and the executive member of the Teamsters Union in Toronto, pleaded not guilty in city magistrate's court yesterday. Harrison was remanded until Wednesday afternoon for judgment.

The driver of the milk truck, John Fudge, testified he had delivered milk to the back entrance of the Grills dairy on the morning of August 21 and was leaving the lane, when he saw the accused and two other men standing in the entrance to the alleyway, attempting to block his exit.

He said that as he emerged from the alleyway, Harrison struck any Street two of the men, one being Harrison, came over to his truck and said that he was not driving it. He added that they struggled over the steering wheel while the truck was in motion and the accused grabbed his arms. "I shook him off and my hand came back on the wheel", Fudge stated.

At that time, Fudge testified, the truck was headed for the curb. During the struggle for the ignition keys, he said, the keys were broken off. The truck came to a stop by the entrance to the Bloor square, near the city police station.

Sgt. Doug Ellis of the city police force, took the witness box. He testified he was standing outside of the station, when he saw the truck leave the lane-way and make a left-hand turn onto McCaul Street. He said it seemed to him that the driver and the accused were fighting. He saw another man run up to the truck, he recalled, and just west of the station, one of them grabbed the steering wheel and pulled it to the right. Just before the truck stopped there, he said, the driver seemed to be warding off both men with his arms.

TRIED TO LAY COMPLAINT

Following this incident, Sgt. Ellis stated, a man went into the police station wishing to lay a complaint against Fudge, saying he tried to run him down.

The accused, George Harrison, was called to the witness box. He testified he and the other men noticed the truck in the laneway and proceeded up the alley toward it, hoping to persuade the driver to go with the strikers. Harrison said they did not intend to do any violence.

He continued by saying that as they got about 10 or 12 feet up the lane, Fudge proceeded to drive towards them. The accused said he flattened, "for self-agianst the wall since he did not believe the truck was going to stop. When the vehicle started by him, thinking there would not be ample room, he said he grabbed hold of the left side of the truck. He testified the truck did not slow down at this point, but another he declared, "it gained speed." With his hands on the side of the truck, he ran along beside it, getting into the vehicle just before it came to a stop, he said. When asked why he entered the truck Harrison said he did it to ask the driver why he tried to run him down. He declared he never laid a hand on Fudge.

Robert Askin, a Toronto milk deliverer and member of the union, was one of the men accompanying Harrison. He testified that from the window he saw the truck coming out of the laneway. "It was coming straight for us," he said, "and he didn't make any attempt to turn." He said he was a belief that Harrison had been run over.

Fudge stated that he had become by him he slipped into it, before it turned onto McAnnany Drive and put my hands back on the ignition off. He told the court that as the truck turned a basket filled with milk bottles slid by him out onto the street.

SAYS TRUCK STRUCK LEG

The third man of the trio was identified as Paul Penahoff, also a member of the union and a Toronto milk deliverer. Penahoff testified that when he saw the truck coming towards them in the alleyway he thought it was going to strike, until he saw the accused flatten himself against the wall. Then he attempted to get out of the lane. He said he front left fender of the truck struck his leg, spinning him around, before he had a chance to get completely free of its path.

After testimony was heard against Mr. Wills called an adjournment at which time the distance of the laneway, from the sidewalk to the back door of the restaurant, the width of the lane-way and the height and width of of the truck were measured.

In other court action, two young men, Gordon Riley, 19, and Kenneth John Reid, 23, were each sentenced to three months in the county jail on breaking and entering charges.

Both Stanley Reife, 20, charged with having stolen goods in his possession, were remanded to Tuesday for sentence.

A Napanee resident, Arthur Chamberlain, was fined $25 and costs or a charge of failure to obey a traffic signal, thus striking a pedestrian. His case was enlarged to Thursday.

Believe Thor Missile Given First Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A ballistic sister of the lightly regarded Jupiter intermediate missile may possibly be counted now among the United States' rocket weapons.

A missile of estimated 70-foot length — believed to be the air force — developed Thor — was successfully launched from heavily guarded Cape Canaveral Friday afternoon.

Observers four to eight miles from the launch site saw the white-hulled rocket roar straight up, part company with its booster section, then dive with the booster portion in long, seaward arc, plunging into the ocean in the cloudless sky.

Test center officials would say only that a missile was launched. If it was the Thor, the flight—if reliable nearly four minutes—was the first reported instance of a Thor rocket leaving the ground.

But the Senate Republican leader, William F. Knowland of California, said the Congress had left untouched much of the Eisenhower program, even though the president won an overwhelming personal endorsement at the polls last November.

DIFFERS FROM BRITISH

(Unlike the British or Canadian system, where a prime minister must have a working majority in Parliament, a U.S. president can be elected personally even though the House and Senate control goes to an opposing party. This is done under the American constitutional separation of the legislative and executive branches of the government.)

The 1957 session rang with cries of economy and budget-cutting, touched off last January by the president's submission of a record peacetime $71.8 billion budget of $71,800,000,000.

Congress ended up cutting a total of $4,900,000,000 off Eisenhower's appropriations requests—the largest reduction of any year since 1953.

Passage of the civil rights measure was regarded as the major accomplishment of the session, with several lawmakers arguing it was a reasonably strong bill despite amendments in the Senate.

In general the bill was aimed at establishing equal rights for Negroes. The southerners regarded imposition of such a law by the federal government as a violation of their states' rights.

Grandmother Rocks 93 Hours For New Record

TRURO, N.S. (CP) — A grey-haired woman of 52 knitted and read her way through 93 hours and eight minutes of rocking to claim the world rocking chair championship today.

Mrs. Ralph Weir began rocking Tuesday and outlasted three men and two other women in a contest sponsored by the Truro agricultural exhibition.

Telegrams of congratulation poured in to the grandmother of 16 children after she broke the record, set by a Quebec woman, at 8:08 a.m., AVT.

Mrs. Weir took an hour off when she learned she had won but planned to rock until noon "to get a good start on anyone who tries to beat me."

Contest rules allowed five minutes rest for each hour of rocking.

During the rockathon, she read magazines, ate and knitted and wore dark glasses to shield her eyes.

She saved most of her five-minute breaks to take a half-hour or an hour off at a time.

Another woman — 28-year-old Mrs. Elmer Stewart — stepped off her rocker at 4:30 a.m. today, sound asleep.

Dulles Seems to Be Dealing Cards From Bottom of Deck

WASHINGTON (CP) — State Secretary Dulles seems to be dealing from the bottom of the deck in his diplomatic poker game with Peiping over the question of whether United States newspaper men should be allowed to report news from Red China.

It now appears obvious that the astute state secretary despite his apparent readiness to do so, actually has no intention of permitting American reporters to enter the forbidden territory and write about the activities of the 600,000,000 Chinese who inhabit the largest Communist state on the globe.

At present, with 26 selected U. S. correspondents awaiting permission to go into the Far East two Curtain, the issue is stalled on the question of reciprocity—whether Peiping is to return with allow Red Chinese newspaper men to come to the United States.

WENT OUT OF WAY

This question might not have arisen had Dulles not gone out of his way to be accommodating. He was prepared to give China-bound passports to the American reporters, the Peiping government expect the same privileges for Chinese journalists.

There are many here who believe Dulles injected the reciprocity question into his announcement deliberately, knowing that Red China is supersensitive about their status as a "world power" and would take affront and react as they did.

Dulles later back-tracked to the point of saying he would consider applications from individual correspondents for visas. Not here, again, he added insult to injury. Any American visa would be stamped on a passport which is valid for any Chinese passport because the United States does not recognize the Peiping government.

Dulles is on firm ground when he cites the congressional ban—a law passed by Congress does forbid the entry of Communists into the United States. Presumably the same law makes exceptions possible for officials of state and the United States attorney general agree to such entry.

A LOOPHOLE?

This legal loophole in the law was applied in 1950 when a group of Polish musicians went before the United Nations to argue the Korean affair.

Many in the government's shilly-shallying over the issue has hint acquiesce in the charge often made in American newspaper editorials that Dulles is the prime architect of the policy of United States foreign policy.

There are suggestions here that Red China might open its doors to the newspaper men after it sees what effect publicity will gain from the presence of the 41 U.S. correspondents now visiting China after the Moscow Youth Festival.

Wheat-Selling Drive Planned By Government

OTTAWA (CP) — The government plans a vigorous wheat-selling campaign in the face of prospects that 1957 wheat production—though below average—will be more than double the over the 1,000,000,000 - bushel mark.

The wheat crop estimate made Friday by the bureau of statistics predicts that the 1957 crop year yield at a below-average 359,658,000 bushels. But it is expected that it could jump with the present carryover of 752,000,000 bushels—push holdings to 1,083,000,000 bushels.

Legalities Stop Chinese Newsmen Says Foster Dulles

Giving ground in his ban on allowing U.S. newsmen to travel in China, U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles declares his action stems from the Chinese suggestion that "their life may be endangered" if admitted into the U.S. Dulles said he was expressedly doubtful that any reporter from the Chinese capital would meet legal requirements for admission to the U.S.

RED REJECTION

However, the dominant feeling here is that world opinion is strongly in favor of obtaining some kind of disarmament agreement, and that the Soviet show of strength may backfire in the long run.

The Soviet attitude could, for a time, have a deterrent effect on Russia's position in the forthcoming United Nations General Assembly debate on Hungary and her "military suppression of the anti-Communist revolution there."

U.S. negotiator Harold Stassen who returned from London Friday indicated that he still is hopeful for an agreement, but state department officials do not share this view of the Soviet attitude.

"LIGHT OF LIGHT, ENLIGHTEN ME"

Light of light, enlighten me,
Now anew the day is dawning;
Sun of grace, the shadows flee,
Brighten Thou my Sabbath morning;
With Thy joyous sunshine blest,
Happy is my day of rest.

Let me with my heart today,
Holy, holy, holy, singing,
Rapt awhile from earth away,
All my soul to Thee upspring.
Have a foretaste, inly given,
How they worship Thee in Heaven.

Hence all care, all vanity!
For the day to God is holy;
Come, Thou glorious Majesty,
Deign to fill this temple lowly;
Naught today my soul shall move,
Simply resting in Thy love.

Some hymns owe their popularity to great messages. Others soared to fame on the wings of exquisite song.

Benjamin Schmolck's "Light of Light, Enlighten Me" had both beautiful words and music to carry it to the heights of public favor. Its tune is a chorale written by the great German musical genius, Johann Sebastian Bach.

The world was prepared to welcome the eighteenth century when Benjamin, a young German lad who had been attending school in London, came home one day to his pastor-father's home at Brauchitzdorf, Silesia. He was invited to speak from his father's pulpit on the Sunday following his arrival, and he accepted.

Benjamin's sermon made his father both happy and proud. He decided that the boy must study for the ministry and he arranged for his son's enrollment at the University of Leipsig.

In 1697, Benjamin was ordained and became assistant to his father at the Brauchitzdorf church. Five years later, he began a ministry of his own in the Friedenskirche at Schweidnitz, Silesia.

Even in this larger field, Benjamin found time to write hymns — beautiful religious gems that carried his music and fame all over Germany. It is said that he turned out nearly 1,200 songs in all. A good many of these have never been sung in any other tongue but German. Those that have been translated for English-speaking Christians have been so fine, however, that one cannot help wishing the translators had been more generous.

Most modern lists of favorite religious songs carry several of Benjamin Schmolck's gems and scarcely any ever omits the glorious hymn of Christian trust:

"My Jesus, as Thou wilt.
Oh, may Thy will be mine!
Into Thy hand of love
I would my all resign;
Through sorrow or thro' joy
Conduct me as Thine own,
And help me still to say,
'My Lord, Thy will be done'."

A Lift for Living

We Must Seek God's Approval

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Unless we take our price marks from a higher source than the general public, we are bound often to feel cheap.

What makes us feel cheap is what others think of us? It is usually hurt pride, isn't it? And the cure is to care more for our characters than for our reputations. When we look to God rather than to man for approval, slights and insults lose their sting because we are not so afraid of being hurt.

What are some of the situations which make us feel cheap? First, when we violate the social proprieties and do things that are "bad form". We like to be thought well of by others.

I was born on a farm in Ohio. It happens that asparagus was a delicacy never served at our table in my boyhood. When I was a young man of 22, I was entertained at a fashionable house. When the asparagus was served, I ate the tough and stringy white part and left the soft and tender green tips. I still blush when I think of the smiles on the faces of some guests at that table who saw my error.

But let's not worry too much about little errors of social etiquette. Remember how young Ben Franklin was laughed at when he arrived in Philadelphia, a poorly dressed and awkward youth. He lived to become Philadelphia's most famous citizen.

We desire to be accepted by those who lift us rather than lower us. We feel cheap when we do that which causes refined persons to look down on us.

But it is worse to choose lower associates so they will look up to us.

GIVE BEST TO HIGHEST

I knew a man who had such an inferiority complex he avoided the company of persons abler than himself. To build up his ego he went around with weaker companions. Thus he stunted his own personality. The only way to escape such feeling of cheapness is to give the best we have to the highest we know.

Also we feel cheap when we do something which makes us lose respect for ourselves. To forfeit our own self-respect is worse than to evoke the criticism of others.

Most of us must confess to occasions where we feel we made fools of ourselves. Perhaps we lost our reserve, became garrulous and talked too much. George Herbert once said: "A civil guest will no more talk than eat all the feast." Or maybe we lost our temper and said something we would give worlds to call back.

Some years ago on a train I saw two fine-looking men drink themselves into disgraceful befuddlement. When they reached the city to which they were going, the train was held up while they tried to find their overcoats and baggage. One got off at the suburban station of the city without his coat. It was zero weather and no doubt he soon cooled off. But when those two men, who looked like business executives, really cooled off, how cheap they must have felt.

When we look back at such disgraceful moments, we exclaim in disgust at ourselves, "Could I have done that?"

Yet just to feel humiliated is not enough. Humiliation turns us to remorse and remorse is a bitter rehashing of the bad that can't be undone. But God imparts the spirit of humility and lifts us from remorse to repentance.

The humbly repentant man does not sit looking at the bitter past. He turns away from that, and says, "Yes, it's bad, but that's over. God and I are going forward."

USING CHEAP METHODS

There is another situation which makes us feel cheap: when we use cheap methods to attain our ends. After we have been in any line of work for a while, we learn what we call "the tricks of the trade." And we learn also that we can get away with these tricks without being detected by those outside our specialty.

Suppose I am a teacher. As such, I am dedicated to imparting the truth. But there are pressure groups in my community. To please them I just keep quiet about some facts and slant my teaching in the trend desired.

Or suppose I am a preacher. To draw crowds I preach on safe subjects and avoid any controversial issues. People may not discover my cowardice, but down in my heart I know there is a yellow streak. And I feel cheap.

To keep from feeling cheap, be true to yourself and look to God.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

AERIAL MANOEUVRES

Barn Swallows are especially equipped for aerial manoeuvres, having flattened heads, very long, pointed wings, and tiny feet for light weight. No doubt you have watched these masters of stunt flying turning and twisting far above the earth, and dipping down to just touch the surface of a quiet lake so as to form little halos. Swallows' wings seem to fling around in all directions, yet each beat ends with the tips pointed almost straight back. Their manner of flight is exactly the opposite to that of Loons, which take the straightest possible course, and move their small wings regularly up and down.

Flying is no trouble at all to Swallows — they never land on the ground except to pick up nesting material, and do everything on the wing except sleep — Everything includes eating, drinking, courting, and mating. Those huge mouths of theirs with the enormous gape are used to scoop up flying insects, which constitute their entire food, and also water as they sweep over lakes and ponds. Indeed they barely stop when gathering mud for those small "bricks" that they use to build their homes, just grab a mouthful of mud in passing, or a few stems to hold the pellets together.

It is because of all this that Barn Swallows are able to migrate with ease particularly long distances, from those that breed in the Yukon and Alaska spend the winter in Argentina — 7,000 miles away. Over cities and farmland, over mountains and sea, over jungles of the southern continent they sail. They are not worried about speed: they progress in a leisurely manner. Unlike the great majority of birds, they are able to take the threat of darkness for resting because they feed as they fly. Swallows capture certain flying insects that no other birds get. That detailed flight which you must have noticed means that a fly is being chased — up and down, to the right or to the left.

Of course more miles are thus added to the already lengthy journey to South America. They travel the same route, but with characteristic zig-zagging, as do many other species: following the coast lines and rivers, flying over the West Indies. Most kinds of birds find the 250 mile crossing of the Caribbean Sea a long non-stop flight; but not the Barn Swallows. They can easily keep to the air, and are not obliged to rest while far from land. There is always available: it is only a matter of opening the mouth and in go the flies.

EXCUSE OUR DUST

Like Larry Hooper on the Lawrence Welk show, what Belleville needs is somebody to cook and wash and things.

Mostly wash and things. Seems like enough people are already stewing over this and that to take care of the cooking department.

The washing, though, has been all promise and no lick for these many weeks.

More than pastures and front lawns turn a dirty brown when the skies withhold their moisture. Dirt starts to gather on road and sidewalk. Roads get cleaned occasionally — by the street cleaning department and we suspect, by the wind that some of the speedier vehicles raise in passing. Said wind lifts the dirt — and deposits it on sidewalks. Sometimes the dirt gets swept back onto the roadway, to start another round trip. Sometimes, though, it just lies there and accumulates. Sometimes, though, it just lies there and accumulates. The dirt is about as handy at accumulating as rabbits, which have long held the all-time, all-class record in the accumulating department.

Places where the dirt lies thickest include bridges, particularly the south side of the Lower Bridge, where the job of installing a water main on the outside of the bridge has at last been finished but where a little extra debris seems to have accumulated. There are other spots, though, such as at the foot of hills, where sand piles tell a silent tale of last winter's efforts to make the sidewalks safe.

What the city needs right now is a darned good scrubbing — and the only way it is likely to get it is for the skies to empty their treasure of water they have hoarded all summer. A good rain would brighten more than country fields.

Not, mind you, that we are complaining about the city housekeeping. Indeed, just the other day we noted a couple of minor repair jobs, jobs so small that one wondered how the necessity for them was detected by a staff with a job as big as looking after the needs of a whole city. Probably the work was undertaken as the result of complaints of residents in the area, which just emphasizes the fact that the co-operation of citizens is necessary if we are to keep the city reasonably tidy. Perhaps a little co-operation with a broom would help on some sidewalks. The bridges, though, are the city's responsibility.

But a good rain would do a better job than a hundred brooms. Hope it comes before the next windstorm — or we'll be as dusty as an old attic.

EVERYTHING LEGAL LIKE

Benjamin Fine of the New York Times Service, writing from Nashville, Tenn., says that a campaign to intimidate Negroes who enrolled their children in white schools has begun there. The campaign, he says, has been organized by John Kasper, executive secretary of the Tennessee White Citizens Council. Kasper, says Fine, had announced that the organization would be organized into groups and that each of 13 Negro families involved would be visited by one of these groups. "He said that the Negroes will be warned that unless they withdraw their children from the white schools, they are likely to be shot, hanged, or their homes dynamited. Kasper urged all his followers to get their shotguns ready for any emergency," Fine writes.

Police Chief Douglas E. Hosse of Nashville is reported to have said as soon as a violation of the law takes place the necessary arrests will be made.

Is it no violation of the law for Kasper to assume to say that people will be shot, hanged or their homes dynamited and to organize groups to call at homes to make these threats?

NEW SOLOMON

Solomon had better move over. Governor Sir Patrick Renison of New Guiana is a new challenger for the title in the wisdom division.

Sir Patrick had a nasty little problem on his hands when supporters of Dr. Cheddi Jagan won nine out of 14 electoral seats in the recent legislative council election. Jagan had been jugged four years ago for allegedly trying to set up a Communist state. But here he was back again, with backing. What was the Governor to do, poor thing?

Well the Governor, who almost certainly has lacked the opportunities which Solomon enjoyed to understand women, nevertheless knows a thing or a dozen about them. He is reported to have submitted a list of cabinet posts to Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd, proposing that Jagan become minister of trade and industry — and that Jagan's wife be minister of labor, health and housing.

That seems to divide the house of Jagan rather neatly, and what happens to a house divided has been known to all since Solomon's time.

World's First Bank

Four thousand years ago, in the year 2089 B.C., the first known record of a loan was made. The great Babylonian king, Hammurabi, who reigned from 2123 to 2081 B.C. wrote up the first laws of his country. In these ancient decrees of Babylonia, in lines of 3%, Hammurabi were the roots of many present-day laws comments a Bank of Nova Scotia publication.

The first loan record was inscribed by a scribe into a clay tablet of Babylon and read — "Two shekels of silver have been borrowed by Nisa Schamach, the son of Adadrimeni, from the Sun-Priestess, Amat-Schamach, daughter of Warad-Enlil. He will pay the Sun God's interest. At the time of harvest he will pay back the sum and the interest upon it".

While there were no banks in Babylonia, certain people had the privilege for making loans. Interest rates were exorbitant, and a man could go to 20% interest on a money loan, and up to 33⅓% interest if he borrowed goods or cattle.

One singular pioneer in the art of financial dealing was King Croesus of Lydia (570-546 B.C.) from whom we get the expression "Rich as Croesus". He was the first king to issue gold and silver coins, minted and guaranteed at their face value by the state.

The Phoenicians also made a lasting contribution to the financial art when they adopted the Egyptian alphabet and used papyrus scrolls for banking and drawing up deeds and loans.

In the year 600 B.C. the Chinese established their first Banks in order to provide merchants and traders with funds as they travelled from one place to another. These funds, now called letters of credit, were brought by merchants at an interest rate of 3%. Drafts and discounts were also organized by the Shansi banks and of course the invention of paper is dated in the year 105 A.D. was perhaps the most important contribution ever made to banking in the history of mankind.

While Babylonia gave the world the first type of banking facilities, and the Chinese gave us the world's first organized bank, it was the Greeks who gave us the safety deposit system. When the various Greek states were at war with their neighbors or with foreign powers, they used their temples as a safe depository for their valuables. Strong religious laws, aided by superstitions and fears, combined to give the places of worship an atmosphere of financial security.

The word "bank" itself is of German origin and stems from "Banck" which was the term for joint stock tables for changing money. The Italians converted the word into "banco".

In Canada, there are today ten chartered banks, operating more than 10,000 branches from Perth to the Atlantic, and from Niagara to the Yukon. Sir Thomas Churchill and Dawson. Each chartered bank operates under a ten-year renewable government charter.

Emigrants Defended

Hamilton Spector

The Manchester Guardian has called upon British newspapers to task for giving publicity to "the grumbling home civil servant appointed after staying only a short time in Canada or Australia."

"They (the returning ones) prove mainly their own lack of adaptability," says the Guardian. "The worst returned emigrants are those who make prospects worse for those genuinely keen and intelligent emigrants from the British Isles whom the receiving governments welcome."

We find this is rather a harsh judgment on some of the small minority who return home. We who are firmly established in a country, whether it be Australia or Canada, and have no intension of leaving it, may forget that life is small step to begin a new life in an unfamiliar land — a step a great different, say, than serving overseas in the forces and having a benefit year added to everything for you short of tucking you in bed.

It is natural, we feel, that those who make frivolous excursions out of their lives, or to have plenty of that great lightener of all hardships — beer — in Toronto or Vancouver is no crime.

But there must be persons who, with the assistance of immigration personnel plus some doubtful thinking, have really believe that there were plenty of homes and jobs in Canada. Disillusioned and there were not — at the right rent or the right salary. Should they be blamed because they did not find these things, and refuse to be considered as to be treated as social problems?

Canada should be forgotten — England is a way of life, or of living. One returning emigrant is quoted as saying that Canada lacked home-type "pubs". He is quite right, and Canada lacks them. And it lacks also quite a bit of the graciousness to which he may have been accustomed at home.

We are not apologizing for Canada. There are opportunities and challenges here which must be encountered, grasped, enjoyed and appreciate. Perhaps some of the returning British Isles did not stay long enough to realize these things — and perhaps it is the fault of our less that we didn't help them realize them sooner.

But both countries are free. It took enterprise and initiative for many to come to Canada in the first place. Why should they be condemned for showing enough of these same qualities to return home if they want to?

Small Autos In Spotlight

Windsor Star

The automobile industry on this continent has one eye open for new models that are to be displayed. The other eye is on the increasing number of small cars now being sold.

The competition faced by the new models is not just among themselves. It also is with these smaller interlopers on the market. It is to meet that competition that is somewhat concerned.

This is apparent from the sales figures for the wee ones. And also by some of the big companies entering the field in the small car sales field themselves.

Some British and German models are exported on their own to Canada. Others are being imported either from overseas subsidiaries or through tie-ups between manufacturers on this continent and those in Europe. Even Japan has come to this continent makes its own small cars.

Why this increase in small car sales? Does it indicate a permanent trend?

The trend on this continent has been to bigger, faster, more powerful and more luxurious cars. This naturally has been accompanied by a rise in automobile prices.

Experts in the industry have argued people like the bigger cars. They point out, rightly, a discontent with the small, cramped car, more lavish model rather than a planned one. Even when customers is fascinated by the larger ones.

The experts probably are right about what people would like. But how many people really can afford? Possibly most would like to drive a Cadillac or its counterpart but cannot afford to. But few can afford one. Indeed, big numbers of people are even driving much more ordinary cars which they can't afford, either.

Recently we talked to a farmer who usually trades his car every two or three years. He now has an older model. "I can't afford to buy a new tractor and a $3,000 car", he said in a matter of fact way. He pointed out how his operating costs have gone up and are squeezing his profit margin between revenues and expenses.

Every small car sold replaces a larger one which might have been sold except for price. And, if this entry is a trend, that means that much less production and employment on this continent.

Higher tariffs to keep out these small cars would help but not the answer. That, in effect, would be forcing people to buy the larger cars even if they can't afford them.

The automobile industry on this continent is producing excellent vehicles. The ordinary model is better now, in many ways, than the luxury model of a few years ago. Perhaps it now can be classed, in varying degrees, as luxury models.

There is nothing wrong with these except the price. Most people may have luxury taste but lack the luxury price.

Hit by Experts

(Brandon Sun)

It is quite plain that car drivers should pass examinations. After all, if we are hit, we like to be done by one who knows how.

What's All This Psychology Stuff

Why do so many young men and women today need psychiatric treatment? Why do they get emotions destroy them?

Some argue that modern bluster, "Aah — all he needs is a good kick in the pants and a lot more honest work to do — pampered, that's all." Maybe so.

It is our mental misfortune that these youngsters have matured under a constant barrage of fears. Fear of the atom bomb in the press, radio, television, at home, in school, on the streets.

The national foundations to promote research in disease are guilty of having instilled deep fears in them, to raise money.

"Heart disease is the Number One Killer!" "Cancer Can Strike You." "Run out of tests will end up in a mental hospital." "Will this happen to you? Your child may be the victim." He said polio, multiple sclerosis, tuberculosis."

What sort of child will this fall to affect? Fear on all sides. Fear of war — the war to end all wars still polish off a few million nations. Fear of death on the highway. Fear of "Reds" under the sheets of every street corner. Fear in our youngsters walk to school.

And how can our sons and daughters be insulated against such a barrage? Who can do the job? Will it be we jittery parents, preoccupied as we are with our private fears? Fear of divorce, harm.

The answer is no, I'm afraid. It is up to the schools, the churches, the clubs, the service clubs, the fraternal orders, the press, radio, television, the movies, the theatres, the stage, the arts, the sciences, the professions, the trades, the labor unions, the industrial unions, the business associations, the chambers of commerce, the boards of trade, the municipal councils, the provincial legislatures, the federal parliament, the United Nations, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, the Y.M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A., the Y.M.H.A., the Y.W.H.A., the Boy Scouts, the Girl Guides, the Boys' Brigade, the Girls' Brigade, the Navy League, the Air Cadets, the Army Cadets, the Sea Cadets, the Canadian Legion, the Canadian Corps Association, the Canadian Red Cross Society, the Canadian Mental Health Association, the Canadian Cancer Society, the Canadian Heart Foundation, the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, the Canadian Polio Foundation, the Canadian Multiple Sclerosis Society, the Canadian Diabetes Association, the Canadian Epilepsy Association, the Canadian Hemophilia Association, the Canadian Kidney Foundation, the Canadian Leukemia Foundation, the Canadian Muscular Dystrophy Association, the Canadian Rheumatism Association, the Canadian Thrombosis Foundation, the Canadian Venereal Disease Association, the Canadian Blood Transfusion Service, the Canadian Hospital Association, the Canadian Medical Association, the Canadian Dental Association, the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, the Canadian Nursing Association, the Canadian Hospital Pharmacists Association, the Canadian Hospital Dietitians Association, the Canadian Hospital Physiotherapists Association, the Canadian Hospital Occupational Therapists Association, the Canadian Hospital Medical Record Librarians Association, the Canadian Hospital Social Workers Association, the Canadian Hospital Laboratory Technicians Association, the Canadian Hospital Radiographers Association, the Canadian Hospital Anesthetists Association, the Canadian Hospital Surgeons Association, the Canadian Hospital Physicians Association, the Canadian Hospital Pediatricians Association, the Canadian Hospital Obstetricians Association, the Canadian Hospital Gynecologists Association, the Canadian Hospital Urologists Association, the Canadian Hospital Ophthalmologists Association, the Canadian Hospital Otolaryngologists Association, the Canadian Hospital Dermatologists Association, the Canadian Hospital Psychiatrists Association, the Canadian Hospital Neurologists Association, the Canadian Hospital Orthopedists Association, the Canadian Hospital Plastic Surgeons

Here's Plan for Tapering-Off Rather Than an Abrupt Retirement

By THOMAS COLLINS

When you arrive within worrying distance of retirement, the man who decides what's going to happen to you is usually between 55 and 60.

He's one of the smart boys who has come up fast. He's only middle-aged. He's not too grown-up to play with — from age 15 to now. Remember?

So you can't expect anything but the rule book from him. If the bylaws say you go at 65, you go. It would be different if the boss were 72. He would be paternalistic. He would understand. But an ambitious 57-year-old executive wouldn't.

These aren't my thoughts. They belong to a 53-year-old executive vice president of a large department store. And out of them — I think is just possible — a new concept of retirement.

"A vice president of our company retired last November," he said. "It so happened that I live about four blocks from him. We went to the same church. We elected the same Red Cross drives, played golf on the same course. He was an important guy.

"Everybody in the neighborhood knew it. And he got to like it and the company retired him. Almost overnight he changed — in the view of the neighborhood — from an important guy to a romantic guy who sold new and deep-sea fishing.

"But he didn't want to go fishing. He puttered with his rose bushes and fired the gutters. He walked up to the drugstore and back again. He sat on the porch.

OLD MAN MORSE

"When grass-cutting time came this spring, he was no longer an important guy. He was a character. He was Old Man Morse. To us who worked, even to the children of the neighborhood, he was in six months, mind you — just Old Man Morse . . . a

And the executive vice president was moved to do something about retirement.

Here, in essence, is what he and his department heads:

1. Any man or woman who has worked for a living until age 60 or 65 can't suddenly be stopped from working. It is not humane. Even if it were, the normal mind and body can't adjust to it;

2. People must be tapered off from working — like tapering a hospital patient off narcotics. It's much the same thing;

3. Either we start the tapering process, or in time some labor union or the government will force us into it;

4. Therefore, we are setting up, as a legitimate expense of doing business, in a humane way, a series of outlying operations. In one neighborhood we will have a store, open from April to September. In another we will have a holiday shop, open from mid-January that will deal in Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving and Christmas supplies. In a third we will have a shop for children's games and toys. Others will try to keep open the y-ar around.

ALL ASSIGNED

5. Each employee of the store, at age 63, will be assigned to one of these outlying operations. Then at 65 these employees will be retired as usual, given their pensions, then offered a job in the particular operation they like. We negotiate with contractors, not as employees;

6. We expect to make money on the first 10 shops. The corporation taxes being what they are, we will not less than 50 cents on the dollar. And we will have taken care of Old Man Morse.

There is hardly a business anywhere that couldn't work out some similar plan for "tapering off" the people who gave it the best years of their lives.

Garden Notes

Don't Delay Pruning Until Spring

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Don't put off all your pruning jobs until spring. While shrubs are still in leaf cut out any dead, weak, unwanted growth. Corrective pruning makes the shrub sturdier as well as producing bigger and more colorful bloom.

Begin pruning when plants are two years old. Some shrubs require very little pruning. Take out a few of the inside branches on such shrubs as barberries to keep the centre open and they will need little else. Others may need only a few straggling branches and the dead flower heads cut off.

Spirea, mock orange, lilac, weigela and other spring flowering shrubs can be pruned any time after the flowers have faded, late blooming types should be pruned in the late fall, or early spring.

Old shrubs which have been neglected and have allowed out third of the oldest branches cut out at ground level, and any side growth that tends to destroy the symmetry of the bush. Do not cut off the tops of the branches so that the shrub looks as if it had a brush hair cut.

Butterfly bush (buddleia), a semi-herbaceous plant or shrub produces considerable growth each year. The flowers appear about mid-summer and are borne on the current year's wood. Many nurseries advise pruning the tops off to ground level each year. The shrub will have a better appearance and far more bloom if the tops are cut back to two and a half feet each fall. If the shrubs are in an open place mulch after soil freezes.

Flowering plum, almond and purple sand cherry should have all suckers cut off. These are grafted shrubs and the roots may be stronger than the top growth. The suckers may crowd out the grafted top.

Shrubs grown for their colorful bark such as dogwood should have some of the old wood cut out. The new growth will have bright colored bark.

RAMBLER ROSES

Rambler roses and some of the climbing roses should be pruned as soon as the flowers are faded. These roses bloom on one year old canes and the canes should be cut back each year. Take out more canes which grow from the base should be retained and trained to the trellis. Retain the strongest and cut off thin weak canes. On large flowered climbers cut off some of the old canes each year and train up the new. Retain a few of the best of the old canes and prune away side growth that has produced flowers this year.

Never prune away more than one third of any shrub at one time. Neglected ones should be pruned over a period of three years. Disinfect tools that have been used on diseased wood. Cut away dead wood first, then proceed with further pruning, if necessary. Use sharp tools and avoid open wound for fungi to enter. Avoid spread of disease by burning immediately infected wood, or wood containing infestations of insects.

Solidarity House, UAW Home In Detroit, Cost $1,250,000

DETROIT (AP) — "And this house, which is high, shall be an astonishment to everyone that passeth it."

The United Auto Workers Union proudly quotes this verse from Chronicles II to describe Solidarity House, its international headquarters on the Detroit River front.

Built six years ago at a cost of $1,250,000, Solidarity House is an ultra-modern structure of glass, aluminum, steel, brick and stone. An addition, costing $1,500,000 is nearing completion. It will add four and one-half storeys at some levels to the original three-storey centre.

Solidarity House with sleek beauty of contemporary architecture, contrasts with the UAW's former home in a drab brick building under the shadow of the huge General Motors building. Symbol of growth

Booth TV's Win Peewee Softball Zone Four Title

Booth Radio-TV's defeated Oshawa 20-10 in the Motor City last night to capture the Zone Four OASA peewee softball championship for the third consecutive year. It is not known at present who the Belleville squad will meet in the next round of the playdowns.

Booth's took the Oshawa series in five consecutive games after they had to come from behind for yesterday's victory. Oshawa held a 9-7 lead going into the fifth when Booth's broke away for ten runs to wrap it up.

This marks the fourth time in six years of competition that Booth's have won the zone championship, going to the provincial finals several times before being eliminated.

Ron Lloyd hurled the win, stopping Oshawa on nine hits. He set seven down on third strikes while he issued a pair.

Wayling was the Oshawa leading batter with 2-3 safeties. He issued free passes to three batters.

Hickey Denard paced the winners at the plate with three safeties, a double and two triples by Leo Mullins with two singles and a triple, and five doubles, a single and two other base knocks. Allan Mott clubbed a triple, a double and added a single, while Gary Wardle chipped in with 2-3. Rhinehart batteries: J. Ross and B. Boyle; Wayling and Gow.

14,900 Cars Produced in Aug.

WINDSOR (CP) — Canadian automobile manufacturers produced an estimated 14,900 cars and 4,100 trucks during August, Ward's Automotive Reports said the car total was down almost 50 per cent from the 28,603 cars which were made. The August 1956 output was 13,257 cars and 5,744 trucks.

The declines were attributed to the annual summer vacation and the runout of production of 1957 models by all manufacturers except Ford.

Ford is expected to terminate its 1957 production sometime late in September.

During the week 2,900 cars were produced and 1,229 trucks. Ford turned out 2,493 of these cars and 700 trucks.

If the dash panel tells you oil pressure is too low, get to your service station and find out why. Crippled engines have resulted when such warnings went unheeded.

Low pressure doesn't necessarily mean bearing trouble (usually the first fear). Fortunately, in many cases, the explanation is far simpler and, of course, not so expensive. For example, too sufficient oil causes low pressure with leakage, rather than high consumption, generally responsible.

Perhaps the oil itself thins out too much when the engine gets hot. Choosing a good grade of the right viscosity helps protect against this possibility, but any oil can become too thin if it's diluted by water or gas.

Additional possibilities include oil pump wear, a faulty pressure relief valve, or a clogged oil intake. Occasionally, it's found that an inaccurate oil pressure gauge or switch is the only trouble.

U.S. asks: "Why do so many car owners neglect to recommend a speed reduction on sharp curves?" Maybe they're aware this is a good safety practice, but where does the economy come into the picture?"

A: When you slow down, there is less tire resistance — thus you promote both tire and gas mileage.

D.C. writes: "Ever since I bought our new car two months ago, the fan has been noisy. My dealer has attempted to eliminate the racket by replacing the fan belt, lubricating the bearings, checking the alignment, fan blades, etc. Nothing you can help us?"

(A) A fan that has been made noisy by a faulty bearing is a noisy one. It's an uncommon trouble, of course, but an imperfect fan assembly escapes detection and slips through.

From C.L.: "After much searching to discover why my car's radio wasn't running smoothly, two of the distributor cap sockets that receive the spark plug cables were found loaded with corrosion. Why would this happen to two sockets while the others stay as clean as a whistle?"

(A) Probably because the plug cables were not inserted properly into those sockets. If a cable had pushed all the way in, there is an air gap between its terminal and the socket. This gap causes arcing or spark plug jump which brings on corrosion.

G.K. asks: "I drive a 1952 convertible and for the first time may be too much free play in the steering wheel. I can move the rim at least three inches without affecting the steering. Should I have a service station correct this?"

(A) Excessive steering wheel play of more than two inches is considered detrimental to safe steering control. Looseness and wear in the steering system are the likely cause of excessive play.

Douro Evens Juvenile Series With Frankford

FRANKFORD (Special) — A three-run Frankford rally fell short by one at Peterborough last night as the local juveniles dropped a 5-4 decision to Douro in their OASA Juvenile C playdown series.

The set is now tied at one game each with the third fixture slated for Frankford on Tuesday night at 6.00 p.m.

Douro held a 5-1 lead entering the sixth last night but Frankford scored three runs and had the tying and winning markers on base before the third out was recorded. The losers left 14 men stranded on base all night, their failure to hit in the clutches contributing greatly to the loss.

Bill Keating pitched for Douro, giving up 11 hits, fanning nine and walking four. Ray Phillips pitched for Frankford, giving up eight hits, whiffing four and passing five.

Bill Keating was the winner's high sticker with two home runs, one in the fourth with the sacks empty and another in the sixth with one on. Ross' circuit blast was the six's third. First three markers. Keating and Phillips, a pair of singles each getting one.

Douro: Keating and Dafoe had a triple and single each for Frankford while Gary Aquino and Bob Abbott picked up two singles. Pete Endicott, Bob Adams and Paul Patrick also hit safely.

But the Queen's choice of official advisers, he said, "must surely be open to comment and criticism."

The Queen's court, he said, should be a "microcosm of the Commonwealth." Instead, they are nearly all the products of one Commonwealth country (the United Kingdom).

Hinchey declared charges he had used the attack for personal publicity and to boost sales of his magazine.

The peer said that if the Queen's throne were ever seriously threatened, "she would have a more powerful ally in plain than her humble and devoted, but frank, vigilant and by tests, tried friend — myself — Ahrinchan."

Altrinchan urged the young monarch to reflect upon his criticisms of her before she makes her state visits to Canada and the United States.

He wrote:

"Wherever she goes, she has the power to help people and to make them happy, simply by being herself.

"She does not have to pretend to be a queen: she is the Queen. And the perfect modern queen is no haughty paragon, but a normal affectionate human being dedicated through its humanity and catholicity of her experience to the indestructible magic of her office."

Thomas Series was guest soloist.

Mrs. Percy McMullen attended the C.N.E. Monday. She was accompanied by Mrs. Sid Demorest and son, Herbie, Marmora.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Rubble entertained 40 guests last Sunday evening following the wedding rehearsal of their son, Richard Knapton and Miss June Sleeper.

The Week's News

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

For the first time since the June 10 general election, the House of Commons roster is complete. George Doucett, a former Progressive Conservative minister of highways in Ontario, was returned unopposed in a byelection in Lasalle, a riding situated southwest of Ottawa.

The seat became vacant when the member elected June 10, a Progressive Conservative, died. Doucett's election gave the government its 112th supporter in the 265-member House. The Liberals have 105.

WISCONSIN SURPRISE

There was the U.S. equivalent of a byelection in Wisconsin to fill the seat in the Senate left empty when Joseph McCarthy died. The result was a surprise, and a setback for President Eisenhower and the Republican party.

For the first time in 25 years, Wisconsin voters sent a Democrat to the Senate. William Proxmire, 41, defeated Walter Kohler, a former Republican governor of the state and brother of Eisenhower's wing of the party.

TRAIN BANDITRY

A rarity in modern crime — armed train robbery — occurred in the early hous of Wednesday near Ingersoll, Ont. Every Toronto night train but one was held up and looted. Only the train of Woodstock, locked up the mail clerks and, loaded with loot, dropped off the rails as it made a two-minute halt at Ingersoll. Police said the haul included $1,000 or more in cash.

DISARMAMENT CRISIS

There was anxiety about the world disarmament talks in London as headed. The Soviet Union made a startling speech rejecting the West's proposal for a two-year suspension of atomic tests in favor of a ban on all the Russians were preparing the ground for a walkout.

In a move to regain the initiative, the West put its entire effort on table—the two-year atomic test suspension proposal was only a part of the whole plan.

President Eisenhower said Soviet rejection of the world "emotionally to an indefinite future of immeasurable danger." Prime Minister Macmillan urged "redoubled sincerity and effort" to reach a disarmament accord.

NEW ACCESSORIES

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

New notions for the new season are many and varied. Shoes is the newest in belts, the calf set off by multi-stitch—two curved bands that offer a nice perch for a monogram and nickel buttons all around. The back movement marks the new fall millinery treatment. This hat is easily a cap with oversized loops forming a bow. The fabric is fake broadtail in black and white. Zig-zag treatment in black calf with an underlay of gray tweed gives a lengthening effect to the step-in pump.

Rhododendrons and azaleas are among the most showy plants that may be increased by layering. Scrape bark on underside of low growing branch, push into soil and weight down. When roots form, cut away from parent and proceed as with new plant.

LAMONT — MILLER

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Kitchener, the recent wedding was solemnized of Marbeth Helen Miller, daughter of Mrs. A. R. and the late Arthur J. Miller, R.C.N., of 120 Lamont, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lamont, Sleeper, of Port Elgin. The Rev. J. W. Pratt, of Trinity United Church, officiated.

Bride-to-Be Showered With Many Gifts

A happy occasion took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Cole, Coleman Street, when approximately 57 members and friends of the Bethesda Church choir met in honor one of the young ladies of the congregation, Miss June Whitaker, a September bride, with a miscellaneous shower.

June is a former student of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whitaker, Gordon Street, and has been up in the Alliance Sunday School and Church. For the past three years she has been a member of the Canadian Bible Institute of the Christian and Missionary Alliance at Three Hills, where she met her future bridegroom, Mr. Ronald Paul MacKinnon, who is a student at the college. Upon the completion of their course, they hope to take up work in the mission fields in the regions beyond Saskatchewan, they said.

The evening was spent in a social way, followed by a delightful sing-song led by Mrs. Jim McKay, with Mr. McKay at the piano, and a series of fun-provoking games, under the direction of Mrs. Theophus Agnew, with Miss Selma Warren assisting.

Following the program, Mrs. E. Mase gave an impromptu address and a lovely flower-bedecked church, which had been made by Mrs. Mase and Miss Eleanor Bangar, was carried in and placed before the guest of honor; the roof turned back disclosing the nave, capacity packed with gaily-wrapped and beribboned gifts which, thanking each giver as she did so. At the close, she expressed her appreciation, on behalf of herself and future husband, for the great kindnesses shown by soliciting their prayers for their work in the mission fields.

Refreshments concluded a delightful evening, preceded by the invocation by Mrs. Sackville

Queen Rules Out Fur Coats In Oct. Visit

LONDON (AP) — The Queen has ruled out fur coats and fur-lined coats for her coming Canada-United States tour — they might muffle her trim figure.

Her sitis will be fur-trimmed and so will her coats. But should the weather of Ottawa, New York Washington or Virginia be cold rather than the cool-sippy she expects, an emergency fur coat will be in the wardrobe.

The Queen's hats, mostly from France, as usual will be on the small side to allow full view of her rose - pink complexion and brown hair.

The hems of her skirts will be slightly higher, in line with the new trend in Paris.

Minister Gives 10 Commandments For Marriage

Otto J. Ritz, now a Green Bay, Wisconsin, youth and marriage counsellor, said:

Don't fall for the first one that comes along.

Don't be fooled by party manners — or lack of them.

Be careful of too wide a difference in social background.

Don't become serious unless you can be proud of him or her around your family and friends.

He may not be wealthy or extremely wise but be sure he is healthy physically and mentally.

Be sure he has grown up mentally.

Find someone whose religious sympathies parallel yours.

Be sure you have a good foundation for mutual interests!"

Before tying the marriage knot be sure the strings attached to mother are untied.

Avoid the one who can't take it.

Albury W.A. Holds Delectable Turkey Supper

The Albury W. A. started its fall activities with a turkey supper on Wednesday evening. There were not enough tickets to make it a success financially, but the supper was a "number one" hit. Few there were who didn't groan a little as they put the last mouthful, and at least one young fellow's belt refused to fasten.

Capable and attractive waitresses hovered near to fill the needs every wish.

The turkey was perfection, delicately tender and the dressing cranberries, salads, vegetables, delectable and in lovely flower-bedecked church, which had been made by Mrs. Mase and Miss Eleanor Bangar, was carried in and placed before the guest of honor; the roof turned back disclosing the nave, capacity packed with gaily-wrapped and beribboned gifts which, thanking each giver as she did so. At the close, she expressed her appreciation, on behalf of herself and future husband, for the great kindnesses shown by soliciting their prayers for their work in the mission fields.

Refreshments concluded a delightful evening, preceded by the invocation by Mrs. Sackville

The frock is made of a blend of cotton, silk and Cuplonl and has a simple flared skirt, three-quarter length sleeves and a black organza bow at the neckline of the tailored bodice. The colors are red and black, cognac and black, or royal and black.

This - - - and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

Today is the last day of August. Tomorrow is the first day of September. Now that, surely, is a very profound observation, isn't it? However each year at this time our thoughts turn to "school days, school days, dear old golden rule days" and possibly some of us understand more fully that our tomorrows bring the wisdom that evaded our todays. How many of us throughout the next few days will expound to the boys and girls or to ourselves that "they're the best days of your life - if you only knew it." Oh well. Oh well.

Then there are times such as the writing of this weekend's thought when we, in our frustration, wish we could come up with something new, brand new! something no one in the world ever said or thought of before. What would we do without John Bartlett? As an example we found ourselves repeating the old familiar ditty - "Thirty days has September" and so on. We turned to Bartlett. Listen to this, written in the sixteenth century.

"Thirty dayes hath Nouember
Aprill, June, and September.
February hath alone,
And all the rest have xxxi."

We discovered that there have been several versions. There is an old Latin version which goes

On March, July, October, May,
The ides are on the fifteenth day.

The Nones the seventh; all other months besides
Have two days less for Nones and Ides.

And so for this weekend thought we turn from the old last day of August to the new first day of September, school days and a new Canadian generation hoping that their renewes will be more promising than our todays indicate. Although we fail to come up with anything original we trust that the reminder of what we have done better leaves us something to remember as September leads us into the new school year.

The following is not "flash" but it is hoped that our readers who are members of the Women's Institute will be especially interested, as well as all women. Our Ceylon News Letter reports the following about the opening of the eighth Triennial Conference of the Associated Country Women of the World at Colombo, Ceylon. His Excellency, the Governor General of Ceylon, paid tribute to the Association's Vice-President, Lady De Soys of Ceylon, who has been W.I. for twenty years of the twenty-five year history of the movement. The founder and president of the constituent association in Ceylon is Dr. Mary Rytnam, who was born in Canada eighty-four years ago, is still with Ceylon, after giving sixty years of her life to the service of her adopted country.

His excellency, after assuring his feminine audience that Ceylon would be friends with all nations, went on to tell about the place of women in the life of this beautiful island Commonwealth country. He said: "A spend only five percent of our total budget on defence. We spend seventeen percent on education. We have free education up to and including university. The percentage of literacy is 65; 76 percent for men and fifty-three percent for women. Out of 50,000 teachers, 22,000 are women. Out of 2,500 university students 660 are women. Out of 3,650,000 voters 1,700,000 are women. Our Minister of Health is a woman. We have the finest mass movements, the Co-operate and Rural development. Out of 3,000,000 persons

Sight-Seeing From Airplane Reveals New World of Wonder

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

No one, least of all the airlines, has ever made any extravagant claims for the beauties of sight-seeing from the air, which is probably one reason why more emphasis has been placed on such things as cute stewardesses running up and down the aisles serving martinis-on-the-rocks than on looking out the window.

When it's possible to see anything at all, the ground three or four miles below looks too remote and two-dimensional to be of much interest to most travellers.

But to the initiated there is a whole world of wonder in the sky and actually a great deal more to see in the changing landscape below and the sky above than you may at first realize.

On a clear day the horizon is visible more than 100 miles away, which means you can take in many thousands of square miles at a casual glance. To know what you're looking at, there is an air atlas that most airlines stash away in the flight information folder in the pocket of the seat in front of you. This traces the airline's normal routes and highlights cities and sight-seeing attractions along the way.

Cities, particularly big ones and those you may be familiar with, offer one of the best treats. Large or small, the pattern of the downtown sections can be seen at one glance. The tall buildings scaled down by distance and the smaller cars inching along the ribbons of streets empty out to miniature exhibits at an exposition.

New York, particularly at dusk, when all of Manhattan Island seems to glow with the setting sun, and Los Angeles, with its conglomeration of lit-up suburbs twinkling for hundreds of miles in every direction, offer panoramas unmatched by anything earthly.

SURPRISING FEATURES

Surprising features stand out clearly in most cities. You probably gainfully employed, nearly 800,000 are women."

In conclusion, His Excellency said that he firmly believed that women were the chief custodians of world peace.

We have often heard that much of the great beauty of the Bay of Quinte land is a result of its gentle contours. A lady friend from Yorkshire came to Belleville, to visit her brother, minister to St. Andrew's church. He fell in love with his Bay of Quinte bride, late Miss Ruby Gofforth Hornsby was happy here. There was an affinity between the land and the man. They were both gentle. They were blessed and for this reason his and 7 wishes to pay tribute to rare communities shared by the country and a man, a gentleman. For reasons of health he moved to Picton where still within the district he had grown to love, he died last week. Many are the members of the younger generation who will cherish his quiet impact on their lives and his todays will linger on for many tomorrows as he slumbers in the earth he took to his heart.

GOOD GROOMING HINTS FOR THE JOB-SEEKER

Is applying for a position, your best recommendation is an attractive appearance.

This is the season when many girls who finished school in June and then took a well-deserved rest, are beginning to think about their first jobs. They're scanning want ads, registering with agencies and somewhere taking that first step toward what they hope will be successful careers. Any more power to them!

If you are one of these, please do remember that, to land the job you want, a good appearance is one of the finest recommendations you can have. Discussing the subject with Hollywood's fashion beauty authority, Max Factor, he emphasized the fact that this "recommendation" is one you will have to write for yourself. And, to help you do so, he gave us a list of ten "do's" and "don'ts" to pass along. Make them well, and your very first interview should prove resoundingly successful.

1. "Do" avoid extremes in dress. If you're job-hunting in a big city, choose dark tailored clothes, not a pastel cotton or print that passes for a formal dress.

2. In making your grooming fastlines, be exacting about freshly shampooed and tidy hair. The safest hair-do is a simple one, unless you're out after a glamour job in radio, films or fashion or sales promotion. Then, how you style your looks is your stock in trade, and is in itself an open door recommendation.

3. Make up to look feminine and pretty. Nothing will look prettier up more. To keep make-up from intending too much, take off almost as much as you put on. Settle for non-aggressive shades like pink lipstick.

4. It may be unpleasant to warn about pimples, but, says Factor, interviewers find these unattractive. If there is a blemish, for goodness' sake erase it with a make-up stick that fades it out with your make-up.

5. If nervousness, augmented by hot weather, is apt to cause you to perspire excessively, make sure this doesn't happen by using a dry mist spray deodorant.

Factor's simple "don'ts" add up to these valuable hints:

1. "Don't" dash out and buy brand new duds for that interview. No matter how effective, they'll prove to be distracting and make you ill at ease.

2. Don't be late for an interview. Get there ahead of time. Use the extra minutes for settling your composure.

3. Don't risk upsetting a neat, clean hairdo, application, by chewing gum or smoking while you're being interviewed.

4. Don't arrive with an untidy scrapbook for exhibit. If it isn't neat and orderly, don't show it. Don't let the interviewer see inside a messy handbag. Both things reveal sloppy personal habits he may dislike.

5. Don't be an eager beaver who tells too much, wants the job too anxiously. A casual attitude will get you farther, make a better and a more lasting impression.

INDIVIDUAL patties of ground meat can be flash-frozen unwrapped on a cookie sheet, then removed and put in a freezer bag for storage. This method makes each each hamburger available separately, without the bother of prying them loose from each other or from wrapping.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HAVE YOU ENOUGH INTERESTS, SUE?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 16, and for the past two years it seems that after I've gone out with a boy two or three times he never asks me to go out with him any more. Could you tell me what I'm doing wrong and how I can correct it?

I'm also very shy when out with a boy, so could you give me some advice about how to overcome my shyness?— Sue.

Dear Sue:

I think you've answered your own question right in your letter when you tell me that you're very shy. That almost certainly explains the trouble you have in keeping a boy interested. No doubt your shyness keeps you from being natural or, perhaps, even from talking so that you can't let go and just have a good time. And if you're not having a good time your date isn't, either.

The best way to get over being shy is to stop thinking about it. Almost certainly, when you're out with a boy you need wondering if you're doing or saying the right thing or whether he really likes to be with you or, not. If you could just stop self-consciousness and concentrate your mind on him, asking him questions about the things he enjoys and so create the opportunity for him to talk freely, things would go much better.

Another thing is, do you have enough interests of your own? Are things to talk about if he asks you what you enjoy doing? Have you a girl friend or two to join in the boy-and-girl activities at school and around town so that you're not always interested in some of the same things and can discuss them? Or does your shyness keep you from being active in such things? You seem interested in anything outside yourself. So think this over carefully and make up your mind to do something about it, if necessary.

I suggest, too, that you go to your public library and ask for some of the books, both fiction and teenage problems, including dating problems, you would like to have a list of some of these books, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will be very glad to send it to you. I'll also send you many pamphlets sure to be popular, if you'd like that.

YOU NEED TO DO SOME SELF-ANALYSIS

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I've been going past year and a half I've been seeing a great deal of a woman and, in fact, have discussed marriage with her.

The reason I say we've discussed marriage is that she is eight years older than I am, and both of us feel very uncertain as to how the marriage might work out.

What is your opinion? — Frank S.

Dear Frank:

Since you do not tell me either your age or that of the woman to whom you refer, it would be very hard for me to give you any definite answer to your question. Age differences matter more at certain times of life than at others.

In fact, it would be risky for me to give you a definite answer even if I knew your ages, because the question of whether marriage is likely to be happy or hazardous in cases where there are wide age differences, is particularly one which each man is older, is almost entirely one of the maturity, personality, attitude and interests of each.

If you're unusually mature for your age, for example, and if you and this woman have very similar interests, standards and attitudes, marriage might work out very successfully. But it actually, you are merely flattered because an older woman seems interested in you, that's something else again.

So do start analyzing on these points in as detached a way as you can and see where you come out. If you feel the two of you pass this test, I would say, take a chance.

AVOID REGRET BY BEING CAUTIOUS

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 18 and have been going steady for nearly a year with a boy of the same age. I'm very much in love with him and I'm sure he loves me as much as I love him.

He wants me to marry him as soon as I finish school, but we both large in your thoughts and crowd out the other.

As for your third and last question, I'd say that for a girl to tell a boy she loves him is unwise rather than wrong. Love, you should always remember, is the natural preliminary to marriage and it is very unwise for either a boy or girl to jump too quickly to the conclusion that marriage is the next step in a teenage relationship.

"You'll never be sorry if you're cautious and deliberate about a romance, but you run a big risk of being so if you aren't.

Tall Toque

By ALICE ALDEN

The toque is tall and impressive and is well represented in the leading collections. Whether fashioned of fabric, felt or fur, the tall line is the dominant one. Detail in many of the toques numbers the fabric and its manipulation, plus color, requires no extraneous adornment. Irene offers one such model from her new collection, a stitched toque of brilliant ruby red velour. Its crown is a series of tucks, with its tall sides and narrow oval of a crown, it craves no further trimming. Beautiful, indeed, with furs and pearls.

St. Drithelm Came Back to Life

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Sunday, September 1 — The Venerable Bede, the great English church historian, tells of the strange adventure of a saint named Drithelm, who died and came back to life.

In the year 693 Drithelm, who lived in Northumbria, died a natural death and his family and friends went quietly about the usual preparations for his burial. But on the morning set for the funeral Drithelm got up out of his coffin, hale and hearty. The mourners, except his wife, scattered in a hurry.

Drithelm at once reorganized his entire life on an entirely new basis. He divided his assets into thirds — one to his wife, one to his children, and one to the poor — and entered a monastery. His story of what happened while he was dead was not to be taken lightly. He would tell it only to persons who convinced him they were completely serious about it and were asking for help in their religious growth.

LED THROUGH VALLEY

In the other world, Drithelm said, he had been led "by one with shining countenance and bright garments" through a great valley where flames were on one side and ice on the other. Amid cries and lamentations men's souls were tossed to and fro, from flame to ice and back again.

From the valley he came out into a clear light and to a lovely field of flowers, men and women, clothed in white, were singing and rejoicing. This must be heaven, thought Drithelm, but he was taken on to a second field that looked like hell, for all its beauty, seem drab and bleak.

The guide's explanation was that the valley of fire and ice was for those who had repented at the moment of death, just in time to be saved. But when he got his second chance, he devoted his whole life to good works, in the hope of at least avoiding that awful valley.

NEW LEVELS OF DEDICATION

Also Sunday — Every year the U.S. National Council of Churches through its Department of Church and Economic Life, provides for the observance of Labor Sunday, the Sunday preceding Labor Day. The main feature of the observance is the Council's "Labor Sunday Message" which it sent to all member churches to be read at today's services.

This year's message, titled "New Levels of Dedication", calls for a "new dedication, rooted in our present economy of abundance, America has come a long way from the days when labor's chief concern was its struggle for recognition," the message says. It simply the occasion for friendly gestures from the workingman.

The 1957 message wastes no time on sentiment. It goes right into the perils of prosperity. Labor, it says, must develop a Christian conscience, must seek, along with management, a Christian perspective on the distribution and use of our great wealth of materials. In brief, labor must take its place and its responsibility.

One problem of the individual worker is to develop in his daily work a feeling of Christian "vocation," and the problem of the Church is to help its members to see in America's total economic complex a challenge.

The task of organized labor is to contribute to the solution of social and economic diseases as slums, unemployment, delinquency, and the problems of education without discrimination, the creative use of manpower, and the extension of American abundance to the world.

The message says, in conclusion, "Let us on this Labor Sunday dedicate ourselves to renewed efforts to meet these opportunities and challenges of this new age — secure, with God's grace and guidance, that our material abundance will truly serve His purpose."

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. SEECKMAN

A THANK-YOU NOTE FOR A PRESENT FROM A FAMILY FRIEND

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A man friend of our family has just sent me a beautiful gift, and now I would like your help, please, in writing a thank-you note to him.

In the first sentence tell him how very much you appreciate his kind thought . . . then thank him for the gift, mentioning it specifically by name (not just "your gift"), and say enthusiastic things about definite features of the gift. For example, you might write something like this, to make him feel he had selected "just the right gift":

Dear Bill,

What a very kind and thoughtful friend you are to send me such a beautiful gift that brings me such happiness! The desk portfolio is a beauty, such handsome leather and a perfect size. You're really a mind - reader, for I have always had a definite needed this most convenient portfolio . . . although I never dreamed I'd own such a handsome one. Thank you, thank you for your good thought.

I'll be looking to see you soon, and we send our friendliest greetings.

Sincerely.

INCLUDING COMPLICATED DETAILS IN MARRIAGE announcement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please help me with the wording of our marriage announcement? I want to send to newspapers? The details are rather complicated. Ever since I was graduated from college I have lived and worked in New York. My only relative here is my paternal grandmother. I love her dearly, but she is a semi-invalid and so cannot make any plans about my wedding. My mother and father were killed in an auto accident when I was a baby, so I never paid any attention to my only brother and me. My brother is married and has been living in a suburb near New York, and he and his wife will be married and his wife will be my matron of honor. The parents of my groom-to-be want to give a wedding for he his best man. We are to have a small, simple wedding in the church of which we are both members, will greet our guests in the church, and we will have no reception. With all this, how do you word the line the announcement? — E.M.S.

You could like a very simple, spirited girl . . . all good wishes to you for your happiness now and always. A formal announcement might read: "The marriage of Miss Ruth Ann Smith to Mr. Thomas Robinson, of New York, took place yesterday afternoon at the church [give address if you wish], the Reverend officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Arthur Lee Smith, of Scarsdale, New York, and Mrs. Arthur Lee Smith was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ann Robinson, of Chicago, was best man. Mrs. Robinson is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Browne of ——, and of Mr. Robert Edwin Smith, of ——. Mr. Robinson is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson, of ——."

Note 1: Add any addresses you wish; yours, the bridegroom's, your grandmother's, your brother's.

Note 2: Add information, if you wish, of schools, colleges, and your and your bridegroom's present positions.

Readers Saturday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

Question: You and your column continue to be such a pleasure to me, I just must write and tell you so. I have finally figured out why it has so much appeal. It is just like getting a letter from home, and we have that every day! Is a real treat, isn't it? We readers feel that we know you and your family and friends and love to get more news, especially when little "Schmoker" creeps in. Oh yes, your recipes and cooking tips are welcome too! If I do not mention them you will have a "Mary Moore's Cook Book" of my own.

May I offer you a couple of recipes that may fit into your column? The first is a large quantity one:

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

SATURDAY

English Veal and Bacon Pie (see Friday); Salad bowl of Pickles, Tomatoes, Onions, Lettuce, Cucumbers; Peach Crumb with Cinnamon; Tea.

Labor Day MONDAY

Chili Con Carne (see Wednesday); Garlic and Poppy Seed Dressing for Slaw; Fresh Fruit; Coffee; Applesauce Cake (see Wednesday.

OATMEAL MUFFIN MIX (balanced meal-type) — 2 cups rolled oats sifted all-purpose flour, 1 1-3 cups sifted whole wheat flour, 2 tablespoon salt, 1¼ cups shortening, 5½ cups rolled oats, uncooked. Sift together twice flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening until the particles are the size of rice grains. Add rolled oats and blend. Store in covered containers. This amount will make 75 small muffins.

MUFFIN TREATS (using Oatmeal Muffin Mix)—Two cups oatmeal muffin mix, 1 egg, beaten, 2-3 cup milk. Grease 12 medium-sized muffin cups. Add beaten egg and milk to muffin mix; stirring lightly until combined. Fill greased cups 2-3 full. Add ingredients that follow for special variations. Bake in hot oven 400 deg. Fahr. for 15 to 20 minutes.

VARIATIONS: Bacon and Honey—Place a few bits of cooked bacon in the centre of each muffin before baking. Two or three minutes before muffins are completely baked remove them from oven and brush with honey-butter (1 tablespoon honey blended with 1 tablespoon butter). Return to oven and finish baking.

Spice Topped—Combine ¼ cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, 2 teaspoons flour and butter. Sprinkle over muffins before baking.

Marmalade-Glazed — Place ½ teaspoon marmalade or jam on top of each muffin before baking.

That's it Mary, but I would like to add that I find this almost as useful as Louise's Basic Mix. Using the proportions you gave and allowing for the sugar, I have made waffles, pancakes, puddings and pudding toppings; baked cobbler-style, of course. Sometimes I add wheat germ just before baking.—(signed) Aileen G.

ANSWER: Aileen, I have cut your letter in half. Because of its length I am being selfish and giving our readers the benefit of your splendid idea without giving you what you asked for. I will mail direct to you the bread, etc. as you requested.

PLEASANT WAITING

By VERA WINSTON

It's good to see so many manufacturers of maternity clothes turning out things that, with but slight alteration, can be worn after the blessed event. The maternity dress shown here is of gray yarn-dyed worsted and is sleeveless, with middy effect. It zips at one side. The jacket reaches to a little below the middy hem' and with the pleated dress of the skirt adds up to a smart suit. The white faille collar is detachable.

Hal Kanter Welcome Addition To the Entertainment Scene

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — To the comedy is concerned. He said he confirmed devotee of the belly laugh, a man like Hal Kanter is a welcome addition to the entertainment scene.

I must confess that I am an advocate of the belly laugh. Not the grin, the titter, the giggle nor the chuckle, but the kind of laugh that comes from deep down and is able to rock the room. That sort of laugh came in the slapstick days of silent films, in the wacky comedies of the '30s and even in the early days of TV, before familiarity bred boredom.

Kanter helped provide at least two classic laugh - getting TV shows—Ed Wynn's hilarious half-hours several years back and George Gobel's first two seasons.

TURNS TO MOVIES

Kanter has now turned to movies, directing the new comedy team of Rowan and Martin in Once Upon a Horse. I asked him if he would ever return to TV.

"I am returning—to put on a special show for NBC," he reported. "But as to returning on a steady basis, I don't know."

He admitted that he found the movies more satisfying as far as head disappears, then pops out of his collar, etc.

"The gags take time to stage, but they're worth the expense," he sighed. "They are the sort of thing you could never do in TV, because you don't have the time for trick stuff or can't do it except on film."

Therein lies the difference between TV and movie comedy, he pointed out. Except for a few bits of simple slapstick—pies, palmer kisses, etc.—TV comedy relies mostly on words.

"You can't time gags on TV," Kanter said. "You can't be sure that your business will come off at the right time."

Movie comedy can rely on both word and action, thus achieving the fullest potential—aaaah, the belly laugh.

On the Tracks

FORT ERIE (CP) — Jockey Avalino Gomez rode four winners here Friday, bringing his total for this Fort Erie meeting to 76. He was just beaten for his fifth in the last race when Isabelle closed smartly to score a narrow decision over the Gomez-ridden Kentucky Home.

The Cuban's winners came on Nocturno and Ace Rocket, the daily double which paid $16.30. Squire John in the sixth and Cessford in the seventh.

CHICAGO (AP) — Kentucky Derby winner Iron Liege and Kerr Stable's Round Table, both gunning for three-year-old honors head a field of eight starters in today's $100,000 added American Derby at Washington Park.

If all eight start, the race will be worth $145,800 with the winner getting $100,900. Iron Liege was a questionable starter for the mile and three-sixteenths race on grass since trainer Jimmy Jones doesn't care for turf racing.

Riding Iron Liege will be Bill Hartack, the leading U.S. jockey who has 270 victories including 23 stake triumphs.

Aboard Round Table will be Willie Shoemaker, second to Hartack this year with 225 wins. Both Iron Liege and Round Table expected to go off at 8-to-5, will carry 126 pounds.

Spahn And Sanford Close To Completing Pair Of Proud Hurling Jobs

Braves' Lefty Wins Seventh In Row in Beating Redlegs; Mantle, Williams Battle Close

By ED WILKS
The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warren Spahn, an old hand at 36, and Jack Sanford, a rookie at 28, are a step closer to completing a pair of proud pitching projects now that they've bagged the National League lead with 17 victories apiece.

Spahn, Milwaukee's steady southpaw who claimed the 230th success of a 13-year career with a 9-5 decision at Cincinnati Friday night, can become the second major league lefty ever to win 20 or more eight times.

And Sanford, a righthander who spent seven years in the minors before coming up with Philadelphia, is within range of becoming the first rookie to win 20 in the National League since 1947 after beating Pittsburgh 4-2.

SEVENTH STRAIGHT

Spahn won his seventh in a row, but needed relief help as Braves retained their seven-game lead. Brooklyn split a pair with a 10-0 job on New York Giants behind Don Drysdale's three - hitter. Third-place St. Louis stayed 7 back with a 2-1 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Spahn, already the leading 20-game winner among National League southpaws, can match the modern (post 1900) high set by Lefty Grove of the Philadelphia League with the old Philadelphia Athletics and Sox.

Spahn had the help of four home runs to beat Redlegs for the seventh time this year, six this year. But he left in the seventh after giving up eight of Cincinnati's nine hits.

THREE RELIEVERS

Don McMahon, Bob Trowbridge and Taylor Phillips worked in relief before Redlegs, now 3-18 against Spahn, finally gave in with the bases loaded in the ninth.

Sanford, who has lost five while Spahn has lost four, pitched with an eight-hitter in pursuit of a rookie - year 20 wins, last achieved by Larry Jansen of New York Giants.

Phils completed their scoring in three innings, with Gran Hamner driving in two runs, then left it to Sanford to stir - fanning struck out six and now has fanned every team but Chicago — clipping each of the rest at least twice. The defeat dropped Pirates out of a mathematical chance for the NL pennant.

WINS HIS 10TH

Drysdale, Dodgers' top winner, allowed only singles and retired the last 21 he faced while winning his 14th and fourth shutout. The Dodgers, who had lost 11 of their last seven with Giants, had 12 hits, including homers by Don Hodges, Charlie Neal and Carl Furillo. Neal's three - run shot sealed an 11th defeat for Giants are Ruben Gomez in the second.

Southpaw Wilmer Mizell won his sixth for Cards, fanning 11 that sent Cubs to a league strikeout record with 913. They had set the old mark with 906 in 1953. Rookie Moe Drabowsky struck outtime, but lost his 13th on two singles and Del Ennis' sacrifice fly in the ninth.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Don't let anyone tell you we are out of it," said Al Lopez, manager of the lagging Chicago White Sox. "We have been a comeback club all season." Lopez, whose club had just lost three straight to the American League leading New York Yankees, watched his charges in hitting support of a three - hitter Friday night's game with the seventh-place Kansas City Athletics.

Three hours later his players had shown more eloquently than Lopez could speak that the White Sox won't overhaul Yankees—barring a miracle.

They couldn't fathom the southpaw pitching repertoire of the As Alex Kellner and collapsed when ever they had a chance to knock in runs. Eight of them struck out. Minnie Minoso, their leading run producer, whiffed three times. Sox left nine men stranded on the bases and lost, 3-1.

TAKES LOSS TOO

In the afternoon, Yankees had lost to Washington, 4-3, and their league lead was cut to six games. Chicago's loss put it back in fourth.

The hitting race between leader Ted Williams of Boston and the Yankees' Mickey Mantle narrowed to a single point.

Mantle, celebrating his 25th birthday, was 1-for-5, losing two points for a .377 average as Red Sox defeated Baltimore 11-5. Ted was 3-for-4 in New York's loss but failed to gain his lead again as with his 34th while picking up three points and closing to .376. In the other game Cleveland closed to within four percentage points of Chicago by trouncing Kansas City 6-5, 10-inning victory over Tigers.

Lopez explained that the hits just didn't come for his club as Athletics' veteran Kellner enable bunch of lucky shots that fell just out of the reach of his admittedly expert fielders.

57 GAMES TO PLAY

The Yankees will come against Kansas City either and Lopez hopes to keep his chances glimmering. His team has only 27 more games to play. Lopez didn't say whether he thought a 6½ game margin could be picked up in 57 games.

As scored two runs in the third on a walk, Vic Power's double, Jim Finigan's fly to Jim Zernial's Bob Keegan gave up eight hits and lost his seventh. Kellner six-hit Sox for his sixth.

Senators collected extra bases on six of their hits but failed to get Yost tripling for a run in the fourth and hitting one of seven doubles in a three-run fifth that handed Bobby Shantz his fourth victim. Two of the long hits got that way as Mantle, his sore legs apparently healed, failed to catch up with the ball in centre. Chuck Stobbs (2-7) won it with Bud Byerly's relief.

TED IN TEARS

Williams wrapped to tears by a pre-game birthday party by fans in Baltimore, where he'll go for the last at bat—an infield single on a close play. Red Sox scored five runs in the fifth on Jackie Jensen's home run, as Bob Porter field was his fourth with a six-hitter. He lost a shutout in the ninth.

Al Smith's two-run double beat Billy Hoeft for Indians. Tigers, held to one hit by Cal McLish and trailing 4-3 with two out in the ninth, tied it on an error and Charlie Maxwell's single off Vito Valentinetti won in relief.

Robinson Stows Away Law Books For Ring Work

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. Y. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson stowed away his law books and donned the gloves again Friday in preparation for his now onagain middleweight title defence against Carmen Basilio, Sept. 23.

Robinson boxed two rounds in his first workout at his training camp since Aug. 18. Sugar Ray was in fine spirits and he gave sparmate Lee Williams a good going over in both rounds. Robinson worked out occasionally at New York gym while he settled his contract complaints with the International Boxing Club.

The middleweight champion, hoping to make up lost time, plans to box again Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Usually he takes Monday off.

Ralph Dupas Scores Easy Win Over Busso

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Ralph Dupas of New Orleans scored a unanimous decision over Johnny Busso of New York Friday night in a stirring 10-round battle at Miami Beach Auditorium.

Both judges and referee Billy Regan gave the edge to the New Orleans lightweight. Both were lightning fast but Busso, 25-to-1 underdog at fight time, rallied in the late rounds in the opinion of many ringsiders.

Dupas started slowly but later came on fast and scored with body-blows. Busso relied mainly on lefts and rights to the head. There were no knockdowns. Busso's nose bled a bit early in the fight. His handlers said afterward they wanted a rematch.

Dupas is ranked fourth in the world and Busso ranks fifth in 10th. Dupas weighed 140½ and Busso checked in at 141¾ pounds.

Penalties, Injuries Nearly Lose Contest for Winnipeg

By STAN McCABE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers overcame a rash of penalties and injuries to lose players Friday night to score a 35-14 victory over British Columbia Lions in a Western Interprovincial Football Union game here before 18,442 fans.

Bombers now are in a second-place tie with Edmonton Eskimos, each having two wins and one loss. The defeat left Lions with one victory in four starts.

The league - leading Calgary Stampeders could fatten their margin over the second-place Bombers Saturday when they tackle fourth victory in Calgary against Saskatchewan Roughriders, winless in three starts in the only game scheduled.

BOMBERS HAVE BALANCE

Bombers ran as well - balanced attack, travelling 201 yards on the ground and 161 through the air. Halfback Don McNamara scored one touchdown on a drive from the second line while ends Ernie Pitts and Dennis Shaw picked up a touchdown apiece on passes. Halfback Ken Ploen converted two.

Fullback Bob Columbia, touchdowns were scored by halfback Primo Villanueva and fullback Don Wade, on passes from Maury Duncan converting both. Duncan tangled in a fight with the first quarter but trailed 16-13 at the half. After a scoreless third, the seven scored 22 points in the final quarter.

It was Wade's win for Bombers. McNamara and fullback Bob Davenport were sidelined by foul leg ligaments and coach Bud Grant said after the game that Davenport will be out for the season.

Miami Marlins Battle Wings For Fourth Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for the fourth and last spot in the International League playoffs is heading for a photo finish with Rochester, Miami and Havana in strongest contention and Montreal within striking distance.

Miami Marlins took advantage of Rochester and Havana defeats Friday night and moved into a tie for fourth place with Rochester by trouncing Columbus 4-0 with John Powers driving in all of the runs. The pace-setting Buffalo Bisons lengthened their lead over Toronto to two games with a 4-3 and 4-2 victories over Montreal, the last a 12-inning affair.

The first game, a Richmond game, slated for seven innings, went to before Havana defeated Tompkins singled Stu Locklin home. The Marlins sewed up the second in the eighth when they scored two runs.

HOMER WITH SHUTOUT

Don Johnson racked up his 15th pitching victory with a six-hitter as the Marlins' mates banged the Red Wings. Gene Green's two-run homer accounted for his shutout. Rocky Nelson scored both Toronto runs, the second on a 15th - inning homer in eighth.

Powers scored three of Columbus' runs with a homer and then sent the final tally across as he grounded out in the ninth.

Bill Tuttle and Ray Noble supplied most of the fireworks lighting fast but Busso, 25-to-1 underdog at fight time, rallied in the late rounds in the opinion of many ringsiders.

Dupas started slowly but later came on fast and scored with body-blows. Busso relied mainly on lefts and rights to the head. There were no knockdowns. Busso's nose bled a bit early in the fight. His handlers said afterward they wanted a rematch.

Dupas is ranked fourth in the world and Busso ranks fifth in 10th. Dupas weighed 140½ and Busso checked in at 141¾ pounds.

Will Waive Rule

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Athletic Commissioner Merv McKenzie feels three days do little to discourage athletes like Toronto heavyweight boxer George Chuvalo.

Chuvalo, 19, is scheduled to meet Pittsburgh's Bob Baker at Maple Leaf Gardens Sept. 9 in a 10-round match, three days before his 20th birthday.

Under OAC rules, a boxer can't go more than eight rounds until he's 20.

McKenzie Friday announced he will waive the rule since Chuvalo is so close to the mark.

Penalties, Injuries Nearly Lose Contest for Winnipeg

By STAN McCABE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers overcame a rash of penalties and injuries to lose players Friday night to score a 35-14 victory over British Columbia Lions in a Western Interprovincial Football Union game here before 18,442 fans.

Bombers now are in a second-place tie with Edmonton Eskimos, each having two wins and one loss. The defeat left Lions with one victory in four starts.

The league - leading Calgary Stampeders could fatten their margin over the second-place Bombers Saturday when they tackle fourth victory in Calgary against Saskatchewan Roughriders, winless in three starts in the only game scheduled.

BOMBERS HAVE BALANCE

Bombers ran as well - balanced attack, travelling 201 yards on the ground and 161 through the air. Halfback Don McNamara scored one touchdown on a drive from the second line while ends Ernie Pitts and Dennis Shaw picked up a touchdown apiece on passes. Halfback Ken Ploen converted two.

Fullback Bob Columbia, touchdowns were scored by halfback Primo Villanueva and fullback Don Wade, on passes from Maury Duncan converting both. Duncan tangled in a fight with the first quarter but trailed 16-13 at the half. After a scoreless third, the seven scored 22 points in the final quarter.

It was Wade's win for Bombers. McNamara and fullback Bob Davenport were sidelined by foul leg ligaments and coach Bud Grant said after the game that Davenport will be out for the season.

Kangaroo Judo Chop Stops Dunlop, He Stops Battle

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Referee Al "Bunny" Dunlop laid Heffernan may not have a slapped in front of Kangaroo double judo chop in the third double judo chop in the third fall of last night's wrestling main event and apparently decided that was enough for one night. He staggered to his feet, wind flying bodies, and ended the evening activities by calling the match "no contest".

Thus the Fabulous Kangaroos, Al Costello and Roy Heffernan, settled for a draw with the team of Fritz von Erich and Fred Atkins but Referee did not like the decision, the villians did not like it and the fans did not like it either. Dunlop didn't blame him, 'cause Daddy-oh, as our boy Elvis would say, that ref was "all shook up".

Now listen man, we're not tryin' to scuff your blue suedes. This quartet made for a mean rumble, so the peacemaker blew the whistle on the group and cut-tail for points west.

The whole affair shaped up like one of Hitchcock's gang-rumbles. The first rumble took place in the ring, the second in the square on the bell cut loose. Fritz and his right-hand muscle man, Fred Atkins, bagged the "Pretty Boy" Heffernan like they figured he carried a fat wallet.

Fritz used the boots like a seasoned vet. In fact Heffernan applied the tag-rope around that neck twice while Fritz used the boots and knees 'til Roy just crumbled. Man, he's ready for the pad. And the fans bagga the quick three overs, Roy with the German paint and crash top. This one took only six minutes, a club record even for this mean combo.

Costello worked his way into bad man's territory again to open the second but these rile-up goodies were only baiting a trap. Even a rook like myself could see that. Heff shot out of an ambush like a real juiced-up rod and floored these mean cats with twin-judos. From then on, she's a ree rumble.

Al and Roy caught both inlaws with terrific back-breaking dangling. They put the knuckles and pipes to Fritz and Fred in no uncertain manner. Now this

Rough Riders Play Alouettes Without Crack Quarterback

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ottawa Rough Riders, currently setting the pace in the second Big Four football season, open the club's stacked single-game series today as they try for their third successive win.

Riders' chances look a notch above following definite word that Hal Ledyard, their first-string quarterback who is on the limp with injured shin, will not play today when they meet Ottawa Montreal for their first meeting against Alouettes. He was hurt in a pre-season exhibition game but was patched up for action in the first two league games against Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Toronto Argonauts.

Other Big Four action during the Labor Day weekend sends Hamilton Tiger-Cats into Montreal for second place with one win and one tie each, against the two winless Argonauts in Hamilton Monday.

THREE OHFU GAMES

Three weekend games are on tap in OHFU with the visit of Toronto Balmy Beaches playoffs Boots to London Lords in Tuesday night's game. Boots team to turn to London for a game Monday night. Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen will make their season debut in Sarnia against Sarnia Imperials.

The only previous OHFU game so far saw Toronto Golden Senior wallloping Beacher 58-12. The Toronto club is forced to go without any league games because of financial difficulties.

The big thing about Ottawa's free-wheeling offence is being entrusted entirely to sharp-passing Tom Dublinski, who started the quarterback job with Ledyard in Riders' first two encounters.

Halfback Jim Rosebero will be making his first league appearance for Riders. He has been out with a bone chip.

Montreal will have Billy Shipp, who has been troubled with a groin injury, at tackle. Coach Peahead Walker said "It be touch and go today I guess that's goodnight for him. He's the key to our line problem at the moment."

Import halfback Joel Wells, who has yet to see league action, and Canadian back Bill Tosoguno, are still out with leg injuries.

Argonauts' chances improved when it was announced that quarterback Tom Dublinski would be available. The Dobber missed the opener against Ottawa —the result of a chipped thumb and a muscle pulled during the season-opener. Dublinski worked out with the team Friday. Pool said he is in condition to play.

DOUBTFUL STARTER

C. R. Roberts, Argos' breakaway runner, will be used sparingly to play and going in his place will be Adolphus Frazier, Jim Kitchener or Jim Kitchener. Waterloo Dutchmen will make their season debut in Sarnia against Imperials.

FLOYD CRAWFORD

Defenceman Floyd Crawford signed his contract for the 1957-58 season with the Belleville McFarlands last night, bringing to eight the number of players under contract.

Crawford was one of the leaders in high scoring centremen with the Macs last season, sharing the goals lead with Whitby rearguard Harry Sinden. Each scored 11 goals and Crawford added 28 assists. The smooth-skating defenceman joins teammates Ike Hildebrand, Gordie Bell, Mel Bonnell, Jerry Toppazzini, Mickie Menard, Johnny Muretich, Wayne Brown in the fold.

British Squad Far From Beaten For Walker Cup

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Worried American amateur golf aces, hoping for only one point going into the final round, wondered today whether Charlie Sifford slipped a stick-talking diplomat into their Walker Cup entourage.

The team that was supposed to be here just for experience—the widely-advertised discovery of Rex Sain's well wishers—found itself today in the strangest mid-match position the British squad has occupied in 25 years.

This was the judgment of captain Gerald Micklem of Great Britain after his spunky young squad won one Scotch foursome match, tied another and dropped a pair at drenched Minikahda course.

KEPT THEIR HEADS

Micklem was delighted by the first day's show. "We are relieved to see the boys keep their heads after the morning round. When we haven't in the past we've lost everything."

Heading into the second day, he said, Britain was "in the best position since 1947." Britain has only one victory in 15 Walker Cup appearances, that in 1938.

The 3-1 lead was considerably less than the Americans were expecting after Friday's eight singles matches. The odds, however, were still heavily with the United States despite a growing suspicion that the British squad has designs on really taking about the future.

The American casualties in the opening round were Arnold Blum of Macon, Ga., and Chuck Kocsis of Detroit, who lost to the English amateur champion Reid Jack and Douglas Sewell.

NO-POINT TIE

The Britons got a no-point tie out of the match between their Alec Shepperson and Guy Wolstenholme and Hillman Robbins and Mason Rudolph.

Dorothy Joe Pelton of Morganton, N.C., teamed with 21-year-old Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex., to register a three-zone 3-and-1 victory over Britain's Joe Carr and Dr. Frank Deighton, while Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor of Pomona, Calif., and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., downed Philip Scrutton and 20-year-old Alan Russell, Sandy.

The banner match in today's 36-hole singles was the scrap between Pat Fletcher, favorably recognized as the U.S. best, and Jack Nicklaus, 17-year-old Columbus, O., schoolboy who has been termed the "next Bobby Jones."

Argo Halfback Boyd Carter Has Become Canadian Citizen

TORONTO (CP) — Halfback Boyd Carter, signed this year by Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union as an American import, learned recently he is of Canadian parentage and Friday was sworn in as a Canadian citizen.

The 23-year-old two-way player from Santa Monica Junior College in California said he began wondering about his status several weeks ago and with club's permission started to investigate.

He found that his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cole, were Canadians born in Winnipeg. His father died, his mother married an American, Garfield Carter, and Boyd took his stepfather's name. He said that because his father was a Canadian he was considered a citizen of both countries.

EXPECTS NO PROTESTS

Carter's status as a Canadian allows Argos to keep one more American. Coach Lou Eisenhauer said he doesn't expect protests from other clubs.

Carter flew to his home in Santa Monica, Calif., last Sunday and talked the question over with his wife. He returned and he flew to Winnipeg to obtain proof of his parents' birth. He returned back in Toronto Friday and carried on to Ottawa where he was sworn in as a Canadian. He is back in Toronto in time for practice.

The 175-pound Carter was a junior All - American while at Santa Monica. He was voted the player of the year in his conference as a halfback. He scored and caught 74 passes for 1,287 yards.

Carter took a third-down pass from Tom Dublinski and scored his first touchdown as a pro in the season - opener against Montreal. He had been cool mainly in a defensive role and has come up with several key interceptions.

Lew Hayman, Argonaut general manager, said "it took a secret trouble from other clubs. There is nothing sneaky about it and everything is above board."

Two other Big Four clubs have former Americans playing as Canadians. Wayne Scott of Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Herb Trawick of Montreal Alouettes have been in Canada at least five years and have taken out citizenship papers.

Linesman Says He Was Kicked While on Ground

TORONTO (CP) — William Mack, a Toronto National Soccer League linesman, said in court Friday he "lay in agony" on the pitch during a July 20 soccer game after being tripped and kicked by two players and was then attacked by spectators.

The game between White Eagles and Italo-Canadians was abandoned after 2,000 spectators surged onto the field protesting about a goal.

Ukrainian players Walter Zahulnyi, 27, and Walter Zahulnyi, 33, appeared in court charged with assault causing bodily harm.

He said he ran upfield signalling a goal and was tripped by Zahulnyi1.

He said he got up and found himself surrounded by players and fans who jostled him. He said Dychowski kicked him in the groin.

Magistrate Taylor adjourned trial until Sept. 3 because certain counsel's last witness—a doctor—was not present.

Discount Will Cost Jockey Club About $90,000

FORT ERIE (CP) — Discount on American money will cost the Ontario Jockey Club close to $90,000, more than double last year's loss, officials said Friday.

Fans have wagered close to $17,000,000 at Fort Erie track this year and a large amount of it has been in American funds. The discount hovers around 10 per cent—up from three per cent last year.

Last year the OJC lost $38,000 when $17,022,344 was wagered during the 42-racing meeting.

The loss results when tickets are bought with American funds and payoffs made with Canadian money.

Officials say they can't afford to stock up on U.S. dollars and hold them until a more favorable exchange rate would allow them to regain losses.

Timbermen Win First Game of Finals by 11-4

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Bob Allen scored four goals to lead Peterborough Timbermen to an 11-4 victory Friday night over Long Branch Pontiacs in the first game of the best-of-seven Eastern Canada senior lacrosse finals.

Ike Hildebrand and Bud MacDougal with two and Mickey Rock Bailey and Bob Curtis with single scores were other Peterborough scorers.

Lorie Tomchishen scored three and George Kapasi and Pete Ruse once each for the losers.

Action continues Monday in Long Branch.

Powerboats Set

DETROIT (AP) — Powerboats that run up to 160 m.p.h. in straightaways were set for the Silver Cup race on the Detroit River today.

An Detroit boat was withdrawn to hold down the size of the field and three Detroit entries were doubtful starters. Chuck Thompson took his 160-mph Short Circuit's hull repairs have not been completed, defending champion Miss II. will make qualify and Such Crust III had propeller trouble.

PLAY CRICKET DRAW

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Ottawa Valley and Niagara Peninsula Friday drew in a two-day exhibition cricket match.

Ottawa took first innings lead Thursday declaring at 305 for five wickets. Niagara made 119 for five at close of play. Declaring on Friday they added 103 and were all out for 222.

The peninsula XI opened the second innings and knocked off the 201 for eight declaration. Ottawa, needing 56 to win with 20 minutes left for play, replied with 54.

Campbell Hopes To Set Mark in Canada Next Yr.

By RICHARD RAYMOND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The possibility that the next world's water speed record may be set in Canada emerged Friday when Bandit's Ronald Campbell, present record holder, said he hopes to return to this country next year for a record attempt.

Campbell, who drove his jet-powered Bluebird at about 130 miles an hour in a demonstration at the Canadian National Exhibition Friday, said he had planned to make an attempt near Picton, Ont., after the CNE, but decided against it because of insufficient sets of calm water and lack of bases for their talls which enable them to cling to the rocks of the stream bottom.

Thus, to fish them in fairly shallow water, in the game of a cliff off these hooks. When this is done, the helgrammites can be fished right down on the stream bottom without having the hook fouled among the rocks.

One day we drove to one of our favorite pools and found a fisherman standing at the base of the cliffs, all of them half-fishing, with the tops of the rocks showing. Knowing, from such observation, that many of them make mistakes, here are some tips that may come in handy, particularly for the beginners.

Many years ago, when my son Dick was a little boy, too small to handle a big bass-bug rod, we used to fish the head-waters of the Delaware River, using fish-grannies mostly for bait. These big larvae, as you know, have hooks at the back and front ends, bases of their tails

For Monday, Sept. 2, 1957

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Particularly good matrimonial conditions now. Especially favored are all sound business and occupational matters, children's activities, government and community interests. Keep a steady pace.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Mild influences. You can have to give yourself an extra push and concentrate heavily on your goals. If you do, you can expect at least some returns that will please both you and others.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Your influences, while not overly stimulating, are fairly generous, so use them well. Don't expect too much and you will be agreeably surprised at the results. Your special abilities encouraged.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Be discreet about private affairs; don't divulge matters you may regret later. Avoid rashness, carelessness, an over-critical attitude.

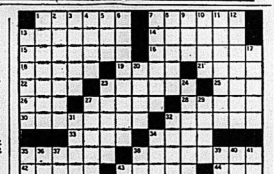
July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—Working toward a worthwhile goal is more fun than resting between activities, unless, of course rest is needed. Curb emotions now, and avoid impulsive speech. Some returns may come later.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Caution is stressed now. Don't be distrustful, control annoyance, avoid friction. You can make headway if you are reasonable in your expectations.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Well-directed effort will be needed for best results now. Be careful with whom you fraternize — especially if you run with glib-talking people. Make the most of all good offers, however.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Tendencies toward extremes, troublesome influences and tension prevail now. Don't let yourself be upset. You have a strong will; use it to maintain calmness and confidence.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Avoid, speculation risky ventures, over-estimation of values; guard against misplaced confidence and misjudgment — all likely temptors now. You can win out by being your innately straightforward self.



December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Be careful in new enterprises; don't chafe at restrictions. Use your best judgment in all things. Don't permit depression or dissatisfaction to mar this day—or any day.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Progress indicated in most lines. You can gain more through firmness, experimentation, enterprise and independent action. Your imagination and perception should be heightened now.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—With the excellent aspects shown on your chart today, it would be a shame to waste one waking minute. Voyaging, dealing through others, general gain indicated.

You born today, of Virgo, are expressive, perceptive and discerning, but sometimes squander your energies; may be hypercritical. Shy away from untidy places and people; you are innately neat, and can neither achieve nor be happy in squalid surroundings. Avoid tension and fretting when things don't go your way. You can become skilled in the literary and artistic fields; in fact, in any line where originality and conventional effort are special requirements. Sensitive.

RECORDS CLEARED

BOSTON (AP)—The state of Massachusetts has wiped from the books the convictions of six women unjustly accused of being witches 265 years ago. Governor Foster P. Furcolo signed legislation Wednesday night clearing Ann Pudeator, Bridget Bishop, Suzanne Martin, Alice Parker, Margaret Scott and Wilmot Reed, all convicted in a colonial court and hanged during the 17th-century witchcraft hysteria in Salem, Mass.

West Germany Will Elect New Bundestag on Sept. 15

BONN (Reuters) — West Germany will vote Sept. 15 to elect a new Bundestag, lower house of the federal parliament, under an electoral law which gives them two votes 'each and leaves uncertain exactly how many members there will be in the new house.

There are 35,000,000 people on the electoral register, almost 2,000,000 more than at the time of the last general election in 1953.

The electoral law is a new one, passed in 1956 after much controversy between the advocates of single-member constituencies on the British model, and those who favor proportional representation. The result is a mixture, with proportional representation dominating, often described here as "personalized proportional representation."

DOUBLE VOTE

It works like this: When the voter goes to the voting station, he is presented with a voting slip divided into two sections.

On one side is a list of names of candidates for his constituency showing their parties.

On the other is a list of parties who are putting up candidates in the federal state in which the constituency is situated.

The voter marks a cross against a name in the first section. This is his "first vote," and counts in the constituency for the candidate he has chosen. The candidate with the highest number of "first votes" is elected.

PARTY CHOICE

In the second section, the voter marks the party of his choice. This is the "second vote," and counts for a poll at state level, which will determine the number of seats each party wins in the state, by proportional representation.

From this, the number of seats the party in question has won by direct vote in the constituencies is subtracted. The seats left over are filled from a state list of candidates presented by the party.

To take an example: Out of 150,000 votes cast in a state, one party gets 50,000. The state sends 12 members to the Bundestag, so the party has a right to four of the 12 seats.

The party has won two seats in the constituencies, so the two candidates at the head of its state list also are elected.

But if the party had won five seats in the constituencies, they would not have one taken away, although proportional representation would make them entitled to only four. The additional member stays elected, and the total number of deputies in the Bundestag is increased by one.

NO BERLIN VOTE

Theoretically, the 79 federal states (excluding Berlin which is still under four - power control) will send 494 members to the new Bundestag, but it may be a few more because of this peculiarity.

The theoretical total is higher by 10 than that of the last election. This is because the Saarland, which in 1953 was still an autonomous territory, was integrated politically with West Germany on Jan. 1 this year, and will elect 10 members to the new house.

West Berlin will be represented in the new house as in the old by 22 non-voting members nominated by the West Berlin city council, each party having a number of seats proportional to its council voting strength.

Wholesale Price Index Remains Steady in July

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's general wholesale price index remained practically unchanged in July, rising to 228.2 from 228 in June, the Bureau of Statistics said Friday.

The index, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, was .7 per cent higher than last July. In the 12-month period from July, 1955, to July, 1956, the increase was 3.8 per cent.

Earlier this month the bureau said the consumer price index in June rose to a record 121.9, due mainly to higher food costs. This index, based on 1949 equalling 100, reflects retail prices.

Four of the eight component groups in the wholesale index—animal, textile, iron and chemical products—moved higher in July. However, only animal products showed a significant increase, rising to 245.8 from 214.6. The upward movement of the other three was less than one per cent.

The index of Canadian farm product prices at terminal markets rose 2.1 per cent in July to 212.7 from 208.4. Animal products advanced to 270.2 from 262.2 and field products increased to 155.1 from 144.6.
